"The captain and crew did everything in their power to restore order. They told the panic-stricken passengers that the boat was well able to ride the storm and asked them to listen to the steady pounding of the engines, but it was a long time before order was restored. Most of the women became hysterical when they realized that death was no longer before them. They laughed and cried by turns. I never felt more relieved in my life than I did when the boat plowed her way past Niagara-on-the-Lake and on up the river. As I said before, I hope never to repeat the experience."

Mr. E. Rose, who was on board, was spoken to by The World correspondent. On reading the statement in The Buffalo News, he said: "Yes, I was on board, but things were not quite so serious as represented. The seas were tremendous, but the Chicora behaved splendidly and every possible credit is due to the officers and crew of the steamer for the able manner in which they handled the staunch craft."

DONGOLA CAPTURED.

Dervishes Twice Defeated Outside the Place.

The Tribesmen Fought Stubbornly Against the British Expedition at El Frim, But the Artillery and Rapid-Firing Guns Proved Too Much for Them.

Cairo, Sept. 20.—A despatch from the Anglo-Egyptian expedition states that Dongola, the objective point of the expedition, has been taken without meeting with any resistance from the Dervishes, the place being unoccupied. The town of El Hafir, north of Dongola, to which place the Dervishes retreated yesterday, was captured after a hot engagement. After the place had fallen into the hands of the expedition, the Egyptians captured 27 grain-laden boats, the loss of which will prove a severe blow to the Dervishes. The latter made desperate attempts to recapture the boats, but a heavy fire was poured into them by the troops and the gun boats, and they were finally compelled to abandon their attempts to regain possession of the boats and their cargoes. After their defeat the entire Dervish force retreated southwards upon Dongola. At the same time the expedition's steamers started for the same place, and, being the quicker, reached there before the Dervishes. The city was found to be deserted by warriors and the steamers at once landed a force of infantry to hold it until the arrival of the main body of the expedition.

At the time the despatch was sent the Dervishes were approaching Dongola overland and scouts reported that they were carrying many of their wounded with them. Included among the wounded are some of the most noted chiefs.

It is said that as the Dervishes are without food or other stores, they will make a most desperate attempt to again get possession of Dongola.

El Hafir was not taken by the troops until after a most stubborn resistance on the part of the Dervishes. The riflemen of the latter fought behind well-made mud forts and in trenches. These defences, however, were soon wrecked by the heavy fire of the Egyptian artillery, and the Maxim battery, that was manned by the Connaught Rangers. The Dervishes stood the fire bravely, but were finally compelled to withdraw.

Their cavalry took no part in the engagement, remaining some distance off in the desert watching the result of the battle. When the British and Egyptians landed, the entire force retreated southward. The capture of the place was hailed with delight by the natives, who have long been harried by the dervishes. They shouted, danced and sang in a frenzied manner and hailed the expedition as their deliverers.

London, Sept. 20.—The correspondent of the Daily News, who is with the Soudan expedition, telegraphs that in the attack on El Hafir the dervishes were outwitted. They all advanced on land to meet the troops, thus permitting the gunboats to slip past the town, sink one of their steamers, and hurry on to Dongola. When the Dervishes saw the move they turned and tried to overtake the gunboats and save Dongola, but the land forces of the expedition headed them off. The Staffordshire regiment will follow the gunboats to Dongola, and thus the dervishes will be placed between two fires.

Wad Bishara, the leader of the dervishes, was wounded at El Hafir. He was carried outside the range of the guns. A prisoner states that when he saw that he was defeated he exclaimed: "Allah is against me."

Notwithstanding the statement of the Government that Dongola was the objective point of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition, the London newspapers concur in the opinion that, now Dongola has been taken, the expedition will proceed to the re-conquest of the entire Soudan.

NED CRANE KILLS HIMSELF.

The Pitcher Who Helped the Torontos Win the Championship in 1887 Takes Chloral in Rochester.

Rochester, N.Y., Sept. 20.—Edward N. Crane, who was in his day one of the finest baseball pitchers in the country, ended his life at Congress Hall Saturday night. He had been drinking heavily of late, and became despondent. Several times he had threatened to commit suicide, but his friends had bolstered him up and tried to keep him cheerful. When this support failed and he was about to be turned out of the room that he occupied, he decided on suicide. An empty bottle of chloral found on the dresser this morning told the story. Ed. Crane has for 12 years been prominently identified with the national game. He first sprang into prominence in 1887, when he pitched a phenomenal series and won the International championship for Toronto. He was eagerly sought after the next year, and went to New York for a princely sum. He won the championship of the world for New York over the St. Louis Browns, the champions of the American Association. He duplicated his phenomenal work the next year. Since that time he has done some steady playing, but for the past two years his work has been ragged. In 1895 he was released by Toronto, and played the season out with Rochester. This year he began with Providence, was thrown to Springfield, and was then left in the lurch. He was engaged as an umpire by President Powers, but did not give satisfaction. Since that time he has been given over to dissipation. The body of the dead man will probably be taken to Boston for burial, where his parents live. His wife and 4-year-old child are in Chicago. The coroner will hold an inquest to-morrow.

A WHEELMAN KILLED.

John Burk of Buffalo Happened in Front of a Trolley and Lost His Life.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sept. 20.—John Burk of Buffalo, a wheelman, aged 20, while riding from here to that city, was instantly killed by an electric car on the Buffalo and Niagara Falls line a mile this side of Lasalle at 5 o'clock this afternoon. He was crossing the track when struck and his body was terribly mangled.

President Isaac Lewis of Sabina, Ohio, is highly respected all through that section. He has lived in Clinton Co. 75 years, and has been president of the Sabina Bank 20 years. He gladly testifies to the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and what he says is worthy attention. All brain workers find Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiarly adapted to their needs. It makes pure, rich, red blood, and from this comes nerve, mental, bodily and digestive strength.

DEFEATING ECONOMY.

The present session of Parliament was an urgent one called for the specific purpose of passing the estimates—and too, the estimates prepared by the Finance Minister of the late Government—and it was intended that it should last less than 30 days, which would save the great expense of paying the full sessional indemnity of $1000 to each member. If the session had lasted less than thirty days the total cost of the session would have been about $50,000. Now, seeing that by the obstruction, or at least waste of time of the House by the Opposition, the total cost of the session will be about $250,000, five times greater than the Government calculated. There is no doubt that the cost of the prolonged session is due entirely to the action of the Opposition, called Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition. The time of the House was wasted by useless debates. Against common sense, against the wishes of honourable and sensible members of the Opposition, Mr. Foster, who, it seems, had no faith in the estimates prepared by himself last session and submitted for ratification at this, brought up a long debate upon the subject of the Government's action in respect of Governor-General's warrants, a motion that even Conservatives felt it their duty to oppose. The flood of talk that inundated our legislative halls had little reference to the estimates. The discussion forced by the Opposition, was not pertinent to the special occasion for which the House was called. While the subjects pitchforked in the arena of debate were in themselves, and under other circumstances, legitimate enough, they would have lost nothing by being deferred. They were not of pressing importance, and the only object that excused their introduction was the desire to prolong the session so that the full sessional indemnity of $1,000 could be drawn. Of course the Government has a majority, that under normal circumstances gives them control of the House, except in the duration of a session; but there are certain rules by virtue of which, apart from the application of the cloture, a minority can obstruct the desire of the Government to shorten the session. Though the Opposition may not be solely to blame, yet there is no doubt that their action is mainly to blame for thwarting the desire of the Liberal Government for a short and therefore comparatively inexpensive session. The Opposition were more anxious to draw their thousands of dollars of sessional indemnity than to promote the interests of the country and reduce the expenditure. The late government were responsible for the extra expense of a session last winter which there was no legal warrant for holding, and largely the same men now in the Opposition are guilty of prolonging a session to such an extent as to increase the cost five fold. If the Opposition had permitted the estimates to pass—and this could have been effected with the fullest legitimate discussion—the session would have closed within the thirty days and the country would have been saved about $200,000.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Minister of Public Works promises that there shall be no more entries in the public accounts for "medical comforts," such as brandy, whiskey, ale, etc., after the manner of recent times. It is to be feared that under Liberal rule the Auditor General's report will cease to be in some points an amusing document, as well as one of a grave and business nature.

THE Globe says,—We announced during the North Grey campaign that the school question was practically settled, and that the Liberal Government would not attempt to pass any Federal legislation dealing with the subject. We made that statement in good faith; it was accurate, and it remains accurate. Our contemporaries who are now snarling at the Government and manufacturing "deadlocks" and "crises" will probably not have long to wait for convincing evidence of the truth of the Globe's statement. There will be no coercion under Laurier.

THE result of the investigation into the conduct of the Hansard translators who where reported to have taken an offensively demonstrative part in the recent election, is a complete refutation of the Tory falsehood that the government is relentlessly chopping off heads. The most extreme forbearance was shown, and a reluctance to take severe measures albeit highly deserved. The same was seen in the matter of the sessional clerks, and the Speaker seems to have shut his eyes to a very great deal in order to be as lenient as possible. There are a good many who may thank the saints supernal that the watchword of the government is not "to the victors belong the spoils." There has been provocation enough in countless cases, says the Ottawa Free Press, which we will not name, for the dismissal of a good many more who richly deserve decapitation for their offensive partizanship during the recent election.

CANADA'S PACIFIC FISHERIES.

(Victoria Pioneer.)

Closely connected with the management of our fisheries is a question affecting the Department of Customs. We refer to the extensive smuggling now being carried on in British Columbia waters. We note that at a meeting of the Victoria Board of Trade on Monday last the following resolution in reference to the above subject was adopted.

Whereas, United States schooners are employed in Canadian waters and took during the past season at least 2,000,000 pounds of halibut, besides destroying a large number of immature fish; and whereas our fishermen in exporting a similar quantity of halibut to the United States had to pay duty amounting to $10,000; and whereas it has been brought to public notice through the medium of the press and other sources that smuggling of merchandise continues on a large scale by foreign vessels in British Columbia waters: Be it resolved that this board bring this grievance before the Department of Marine and Fisheries at Ottawa, with a request that a revenue cutter be placed in our northern waters at once for the purpose of protecting the deep sea fisheries and preventing the aforesaid breach of the customs law, and that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the city's representatives at Ottawa.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

The meeting was full of confidence and a determination to make the Liberals take their proper place as leaders in Glengarry was markedly manifest. Messrs. SAILORS CRUELLY ABUSED

Kicked and Beaten by Officers and Bitten by a Dog Trained for the Purpose.

Boston, Sept. 18.—The crew of the British ship Warrior, which arrived here last night, appeared at the office of the English Consul here and made charges against the officers of the vessel. All are agreed that they have suffered kicks and blows from the mate, second mate and steward. They tell of a savage wolfhound trained to jump on them at the command of the officers and bite them. They exhibit sores from blows and bites. They were glad to reach port and are reluctant to go back to their vessel, fearing more violence now that they have brought their grievances to the attention of the Consul.

The Warrior is a full-rigged ship of 1600 tons burden and hails from Pictou, N.S. Her captain, A. J. Kitchen, has sailed her twelve years. The crew charge that he has aided and abetted the alleged cruelty of Mate Buchanan, Second Mate William Howard and Steward James McDonald. The ship left Rio de Janeiro Dec. 5 and went to Cebu, in the Philippine Islands, for a cargo. When the vessel had been a few days out of Rio de Janeiro it is alleged that one of the crew, Martin Viversen, was attacked with a sheath knife by the steward, who also set the dog on him and kicked him in the ear. Viversen now claims to be deaf on account of that treatment and exhibits numerous scars. The crew assert that the boatswain, who died from a fever, as the captain supposed, was buried alive. Just before he was sewn up in the canvas he was seen to move his head and roll his eyes. The captain, it is stated, did not see the man and, under the direction of the other officers, the body was cast into the water, in spite of the protests of the crew.

At Cebu another member of the crew, Harry Nelson, says that he was attacked by the second officer and chased with a knife. Nelson jumped overboard, and the second officer threw the knife after him. He swam to the mainland and laid his case before the British Consul the next day, but that official could do nothing for him, and Nelson was obliged to return to the ship.

The crew have some money due them, but the captain says he will not pay them off until the present trouble has been settled. The men want to be paid off at once. The crew did not mutiny on the voyage, and claim they bore their alleged hard treatment patiently, hoping for redress as soon as they reached Boston. They say the dog was as good as three men in keeping them in terror.

Captain Kitchen came into the British Consul's office this morning while the crew were gathered there. "I do not know anything about these stories," he said. "The crew gave no signs of discontent during the voyage. Of course, I did not go to the forecastle and hear the yarns they were telling there."

The captain would make no statement further than this.

RAIN STOPPED THEM.

Cycle Races at Manhattan Beach Close Suddenly

AND EVEERYBODY WAS DRENCHED

Cannon Ball's Sensational Win of the Half-Mile Handicap—Butler, Cooper and Johnson Were in It—Australian Cricketers Have a Strong Lead at Philadelphia.

New York, Sept. 19.—A heavy thunderstorm, accompanied by a terrific downpour of rain, brought the National Circuit race meet of the Quill Club wheelmen at Manhattan Beach to a sudden close this afternoon.

An attempt was made to start the two-mile amateur handicap, but the riders were forced to get under shelter. About 5000 people were present, and as both sides of the covered stand were open the wind blew the rain into every portion of the stands, and the occupants were drenched. The dressing room at the far side of the track was very nearly blown down, and, the riders, trainers and helpers were wet through.

The final heat of the half-mile professional handicap furnished the most exciting contest of the day. Rounding the bend into the stretch all were bunched except Bald, who was last. There seemed to be no possibility of the Buffalo man getting through, but he rode a most extraordinary zigzag course, and not only got through the pocket, but won by two lengths. Inches separated the others.

The mile professional invitation, best two out of three heats, was not decided, as the storm interfered after four heats had been run off. Bald won the first heat, with Johnson second and Cooper third. The second heat went to Johnson, who won by a few inches from Butler, Cooper again taking third. Butler, Johnson and Cooper was the order in the third. In the fourth heat Bald and Butler collided just after rounding the first turn, both going down. Bald remounted at once and rode on, but Butler did not remount until after he had walked as far as the training quarters. At the finish Butler was first, Cooper second, Bald third and Johnson fourth. The referee disqualified Bald for having fouled Butler and disqualified Butler because he had not ridden the entire distance. Therefore only Johnson and Cooper remained to ride in the final heat.

Jimmy Michael made an attempt to lower Pete Berlo's record of 3.43 2-5 for two miles, but the Welsh wonder was badly paced and could only do 3.51. The one mile professional five-mile championship of the Metropolitan district, and the one mile amateur time trial races were not run off.

Summaries:

Half-mile handicap, professional—Won by E. C. Bald, Buffalo (scratch); E. A. McDuffie, Boston (20 yards), 2; W. Coleman, Boston (30 yards), 3. Time 1.00 1-3.

AUSTRALIANS WELL AHEAD.

The Antipodeans Prove Too Heavy for Uncle Sam's Cricketers.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—The three days' cricket match between the Australians and the picked Philadelphia team, which was started yesterday, was continued to-day on the grounds of the Germantown Club at Mannheim. The cloudy weather and frequent rains of the past several days gave way to bright sunshine and excessively high temperature. The attendance was much larger than yesterday, the crowd at 3 o'clock numbering about 5000.

In yesterday's play the Australians completed their first innings for a total score of 192, and the Philadelphians had lost one wicket for nine runs. The local men took up their innings to-day where they left off yesterday, and the rapidity with which their earlier wickets went down was most disappointing to their admirers. Trumble and Giffen, the two Australian bowlers, who trundled through the entire innings, seemed to have the crack local batsmen at their mercy. The first six wickets were down for the insignificant score of 40, and this included the loss of Patterson, Bohlen and Noble, from whom much had been expected. The combined score of the three men was 23 runs, of which Noble got 15. E. W. Clark, jr., who is a batsman of reputation, saved that reputation and his side from humiliation by making a splendid stand. He went to bat seventh on the list and carried his bat out for a cleanly-placed 38, and in this time saw the score for his side raised from 40 to 123. H. I. Brown was a valuable partner to Clark, and gave a grand exhibition of hard hitting, several of his hits being to the boundary line for fours.

The Philadelphians had to make 73 runs to avoid a follow-on in their innings, and before Clark made his stand there was every prospect for them doing so.

When the side was retired luncheon was partaken of, and then the Australians went in for their second innings. Iredale and Darling were sent as their first representatives, and they treated the spectators to as pretty an exhibition of free hitting and high-class defence as has been seen on the grounds for many a day. Iredale, however, when he had scored four, with a total of 13, gave Cregar a chance to retire him on a hit into the latter's hands at mid-on, but Cregar let the ball get away. This proved costly, as the pair were not separated until they had scored 78 runs, when Iredale was caught by King off Clark. Darling continued his good work until he had reached 60, and aided his side up to a total of 114, his being the fourth wicket down. From this point to the end the bowling of King, Clark, Bailey and Brown was of a first-class order, and kept the batsmen's attention pretty well confined to a defence of their wickets, and runs became much harder to get. Giffen did some pretty hitting and carried out his bat, he in the meantime losing three of his partners. At 5.10 o'clock, when the Australians had lost nine wickets for 163 runs, stumps were drawn for the day. The game will be resumed on Monday.

BUTCHERED THE MONKS.

Philippine Rebels Captured a Monastery and Used Their Knives—Public Execution of Captured Insurgents.

Madrid, Sept. 20.—A despatch to The Imparicial from Hong Kong says that the rebels at Cavite, Philippine Islands, captured the monastery there and massacred the monks, putting them to death with knives. Spanish warships afterwards started a bombardment of the rebel position, but the shots fell short and no harm was done to the insurgents. The despatch adds that over 100 rebels who had been captured by Spaniards were flung into a small dungeon at Manila. The next morning 54 of the prisoners were found dead, they having been suffocated during the night. The Spaniards, with the object of striking terror among the sympathizers of the rebels, made it a practice to execute their prisoners publicly. The men are taken out in batches and shot before the eyes of anyone who desires to witness their death. The despatch further says that the rebels are making headway in the interior.

ST. LUKE'S HARVEST FESTIVAL.

Biographical Sketch of Rev. Wm. Prall, S. T. D.

The annual Harvest Festival services in connection with St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, will be held Friday evening next when the sermon will be delivered by Hon. and Rev. William Prall, S. T. D., concerning whom the Globe publishes the following biographical sketch:

Hon. and Rev. Wm. Prall, S.T.D., is a leading and very popular divine from the city of Detroit. There is no room for error as to Dr. Prall's nationality; he is unmistakably an American, and he rejoices in the possession to a rich degree of that eloquence of speech and quaintness of humour which are so often found in Americans of learning and culture as to deserve to be reckoned almost typical. Dr. Prall's life has been a varied one, for, before entering the sacred ministry, he had not only taken a double University course in Germany and in the United States, but he had been called to the American bar, and attained some degree of eminence in the legal profession; he had also taken an active interest in politics, and honourably discharged his duty to the State as a member of the Legislature of New Jersey. At the present time he holds a rectory (St. John's, Detroit), which has sent two of his predecessors to occupy the high office of Bishop, and it is by no means improbable that Dr. Prall may some day have to follow the example of the Bishops of Wisconsin and of Nebraska in this regard.

BURGLARS IN MILLBROOK.

AN ATTEMPT MADE TO ENTER THE POSTOFFICE.

Mr. R. Ruddy Disperses the Gang at the Point of His Revolver—The Kit of the Burglars in Postmaster's Possession.

From our own Correspondent.

A daring attempt was made to burglarize the Millbrook post office at about 3 a.m., Saturday. The burglars had just got nicely started their work, however, when they were disturbed by Barrister R. Ruddy, who has sleeping apartments above, and who caused them to flee, leaving their outfit behind them.

Mr. Ruddy's law office is above the post office, in the new Kells, Fowler & Co.'s block, and he has sleeping apartments behind his office.

He was awakened by some noise below, but at first paid no attention to it, thinking that it was, perhaps, Postmaster Vance, but as the noise continued he decided to get up and investigate. On going over to his own vault, which is a continuation of the one below, he could hear men talking, also the sound of the drilling at the vault down-stairs.

Mr. Ruddy now began to realise what was taking place, and, started to his back window, which happened to be up. On looking down he was rather startled to find a man standing on guard at the back door. "What are you doing there," cried Mr. Ruddy, with an air of authority, and on receiving no reply sent a thirty two calibre bullet whizzing by the "gentleman's" head below.

In an instant the gang dispersed. Mr. Ruddy hurriedly dressed himself and started up to Chief Handley's and after arousing Mr. Vance, the Postmaster started down to make further investigations. The back window had been pried open with a bar of steel from A. Orr's blacksmith shop and an entrance gained into the building. A door was then smashed in, in order to get into the office proper and a glance at the vault told the rest. There securely fastened to the door was a drill that they had not time to remove. A three-eighths inch hole was nearly drilled through the door and they would have accomplished their intentions.

The drill which they used for the purpose is certainly a curiosity. It was fastened with two small chains to the handle and combination respectively in order to keep it to its place. It can be taken apart and put in one's pocket. Even the crank which drives the drill is in several parts.

Mr. Vance was kept busy all day showing people the machine that has no doubt done effective work in the past and of which he is now the proud possessor.

Strangers were seen lurking around the outskirts of the village on Friday and one of them was bold enough to ask a boy how many policemen there was in the town and also if there was a night watchmen.

On being told that there was no night watchman and never thinking of anyone above the post office they thought they could accomplish their work with ease. Had they succeeded they would, we understand, have had quite a "pull" and Mr. Ruddy is receiving great praise for the way he foiled them in their attempt.

PERSONAL.

Miss Rutherford has returned after visiting friends in Cobourg.

Mrs. R. B. Stott, of Port Hope, is visiting her relatives and friends in town for a few days.

The numerous friends of Mrs. (Judge) Weller will regret to learn of her serious illness.

Mr. Jos. Begley left this morning for Ottawa, where he will attend the C.M.B.A. convention.

The Port Hope Times says: Mr. G. Gumpricht, Peterborough, was in town yesterday.

Mr. Ed. Roy, who has been seriously ill at the Belleville Hospital, is reported as being greatly improved.

Mr. George Boyler, a former Peterborough boy, but now of Chicago, is home on a visit to his relatives.

Miss Maggie Collins of Ottawa, who has been visiting friends in Peterborough and vicinity, returned home to-day.

Mr. Pete Simons, Peterborough's popular and unapproachable merchant tailor, left this morning to visit relatives in Oswego.

The Port Hope Guide says: Messrs. Lytle and Walker of the Peterborough Bicycle Club, wheeled to town yesterday to see the road race.

—Miss Margaret Scanlan, sister of Rev. Father Scanlan of the Catherdral, died yesterday in Grafton. Rev. Father Scanlan is attending the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gilchrist (Hall, Gilchrist & Co.,) leave this evening for Orillia, to attend the funeral of Mr. Gilchrist's father, which takes place to-morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. John Manville of New York, and Mrs. J. C. Kells of Millbrook, have returned home after visiting with Mrs. Joseph Armstrong, 19 Gilmour street.

The following registered this morning at the Peterborough Business College for a full course: Miss M. Wherry and Miss D. Emelle of town, and Mr. W. Potter, of Kingston.

Mrs. Joseph Gommingenger, of Rochester; Mrs. R. V. Hartley, Batavia, N.Y., and Mrs. C. W. Hartley, Rome, N.Y., are guests at the residence of Mr. J. J. Hartley, Antrim street.

The Kingston Whig in a recent issue in speaking of the Myra Collins' troupe says: Several comic songs were introduced between the acts, most of which were new to the audience. Mr. Dan Simons did some remarkable dancing in which he showed his marvellous skill as a contortionist. He twisted himself in all shapes. He was called back several times.

In an article in Saturday's Globe on athletics at McGill University, Montreal, reference is made as follows to an athlete who is particularly well known in Peterborough:—"The college games of 1895 developed a surprise. Mr. W. A. Moore—a Toronto boy—secured the championship, winning the Governors' Trophy, the M.A.A.A.'s medal and other valuable prizes. His success, which has been strictly confined to school games, has been very marked throughout. At the Model School, in this city, he twice won the championship; and followed this up with similar honours at Upper Canada College. His trophies make quite an imposing array. He is the son of Mr. John T. Moore, of Moore Park, and has chosen electrical engineering, etc., as his pursuit. He has finished a practical electrical course at the Canadian General Works at Peterborough, and will continue his studies in the well-equipped science faculty of McGill. Young Moore has been a life-long abstainer from liquor and tobacco in all their forms, and therefore his physical powers have not been impaired by these indulgences. His successes consequently have a moral significance as indeed have the successes of most athletes.

Why not buy from Grafton & Co., and save fully 20 per cent, besides buying better-made, better-fitting Suits and Overcoats.

You bring us Royal cheeR.

—The horse market at present is very dull. The demand is for carriage horses of rangy good stepping qualities, but the supply is very poor. Prices are good for right animals.

—The Grand Trunk passenger coaches are, one by one, going through a thorough renovation, being newly painted on the outside. The new colour is similar to that on Pullman cars.

—Announcing marriages by banns has not been customary in recent years in Protestant churches, but one is reported from near Tweed, where a Methodist minister announced from the pulpit the coming marriage of two young couples.

—At this season of the year horses suffer on account of sore backs. Local horsemen report that a very simple and effective remedy is to use pure, cold water freely with a sponge every time the saddle is removed, and in a short time the backs become hardened and tough. Cabmen and teamsters who try it are delighted with the result.

—The Belleville Intelligencer says: Freak squirrels promise to be plenty again this year. Yesterday Mr. Scholes shot a black squirrel, which is a delicate drab colour throughout. Mr. Wm. Ward has sent to Mr. Munro, to be set up, a chestnut coloured black squirrel, which has a remarkably fine tail of rather lighter colour than the body, and a red squirrel with a white tail.

—Harry Lindley and his Dramatic Company open a three nights' engagement at the Opera House, commencing to night. The company is bigger and better than ever. In Belleville they were greeted by packed houses nightly and the press spoke very highly of the entertainment. Prices 10, 20 and 30c. Seats on sale at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

—The Peterborough police have a chance of making $250 if they arrest or furnish information that will lead to the arrest of J. E. Basset, a defaulting bookkeeper of Swift & Co., packers, of Chicago, who embezzled $4,000. A circular furnished Chief Rossel describes Basset as 27 years old, 5 ft. 10 or 11 in., slim build, weighs 140 or 150 lbs., dark complexion and dark hair. He was last seen in Chicago on August 29. He has a very expressive dark eyes and is a neat dresser.

WARRANT OUT FOR RUSH

Wanted as Accomplice in the Lingard Murder.

Cobourg Star.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Fred Rush, on a charge of murder.

Rush was a companion of young Prentiss, now under sentence of death for the murder of old man Lingard. The evidence disclosed the fact that Rush, who is two years older than Prentiss, urged the prisoner on to do the deed and advised him to lay the gun on the fence and shoot the whole family. The Criminal Code says that an accessory before a murder is as bad as the murderer himself, and now Rush will have to stand his trial with the almost certainty of conviction staring him in the face.

This accounts for Rush not being called as witness for Prentiss in the recent trial.

The warrant has been placed in Chief Rankin's hands for execution, but Rush cannot be found. However, when the crown gets after a fellow in these days by the telegraph and telephone, it is almost impossible to avoid being caught.

Meantime Prentiss is awaiting death on the 17th December, with wonderful fortitude. He is not brazen in his demeanor, but strong-willed enough to view his surroundings in a serious, common sense way. After receiving the sentence of the court, Prentiss was taken to the goal, but before his guards could remove him, several ladies crowded around him, smothering him with kisses and embracing him. Prentiss did not seem to think much of this sort of sympathy and appealed to the guards to get him away. The prisoner is the sole occupant of a cell and corridor on the south side upstairs. The death watch has been placed upon him, Guard John McIntosh being with him all day and William Jakes all night.

The prisoner sent for Mr. C. Lawes and Rev. Mr. Bartlett, with whom to advise on spiritual matters. These gentlemen pay frequent visits to him, and accord to him all the comfort and solace that religion affords. The prisoner says that most criminals in his position would accept Christ at the last moment, because of the doom that awaits them; Prentiss is desirous of becoming a Christian because of sin itself and without regard to consequences. Several parties have applied for permission to attend the prisoner, and instruct him in their peculiar form of faith, amongst these are the Plymouth Brethren of Port Hope.

The prisoner has plenty of room for exercise, and spends his time in walking, conversing and reading a little story issued by the Humane Society, entitled "Black Beauty." He has not much hope of a reprieve, and is taking the Judge's advice to prepare for the worst. In the meantime his solicitors have prepared the petitions for pardon, and they will be in circulation for signature right away.

Prentiss thinks he has had a fair trial and has no complaint to make of judge or jury, but Mr. Clute's reference to him as a coward seems to have nettled him. He says he will show Mr. Clute whether he will die like a coward or not. Gaoler Snelgrove and Mrs. Snelgrove are unremitting in their kindness to the condemned man—services which he acknowledges with profuse thanks.

FROM THE CAMP.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

BRIGADE CAMP, Kingston,
Sept. 21st, 1896.

Never was there a more orderly, well constructed camp for military instruction than the present one opening on Tuesday, the 15th. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the health and spirits of the men are excellent and surprising progress made at the knowledge of the new drill, and one of the most interesting and instructive practices of becoming acquainted in the Lee-Enfield Rifle, which is a wonderful weapon to understand at first, but after a little experience, proves itself no more intricate than the old Snider. The scores made at the butts were good from the new recruits. The companies in the 45th, 47th and 4th Hussars, which make up about 900 men, are all chiefly young recruits which accounts for the good order of the camp. A few from each of the corps were sent home, being beyond the age and height laid down. A very interesting and profitable service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. McMillain, of Lindsay. The 45th leaves on Thursday night to be present at Lindsay on Friday, Sept. 25th, to attend Lord Aberdeen's reception at Lindsay Fair.

STABBING AT MADOC.

John Stoneberg Was Severely Wounded by Ben. Hobson.

A serious stabbing affray took place at Madoc on Friday night about ten o'clock. There was a lacrosse match in the afternoon between Peterborough and Madoc teams and there was considerable jubilation on the part of the people of the village on the success of their team. When the Peterborough boys were starting for the station to take their train for home and when the crowd was in front of the town hall a tough character named Ben Hobson, who was drunk, attacked John Stoneberg and stabbed him in the groin with a large knife, inflicting a very serious wound.

Hobson was at once seized by Jim Collings and Tom Kirk, who overpowered him and took the knife from him. He was at once placed in custody.

Stoneberg, who is a man about twenty-three years of age, when picked up from the walk where he fell, was found to be very weak from loss of blood. Drs. Sutton, Dafoe and Harrison were summoned and used every endeavour to make the young man easy, but his life is despaired of.

Hobson, who did the stabbing, is a dissolute character hailing from Malone. He has served a term in penitentiary and is very quarrelsome when drunk. He tried to pick a fight with several parties before he ran against Stoneberg.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Rev. Carl Smith delivered a most interesting sermon on "The Harvest" last evening in St. John's.

The Murray street B. Y. U. of C. E. will hold a musical evening to-night, to which all are cordially invited.

Miss Montgomery took the solo work very effectively last night in St. Paul's in the anthem "Guard While I Sleep."

The pleasing anthem which was sung in St. Paul's church yesterday morning was entitled "Come ye Faithful People Come."

Next Sunday the Park street Baptists celebrate the anniversary of the opening of their church. Rev. F. S. Tapscott, of Toronto, will preach both morning and evening and address an open session of the school in the afternoon. On Monday evening a tea and programme will be given. Rev. C. E. McLeod, of Gilmour Memorial church, and Rev. J. W. Kirkpatrick, of Bailleboro, will be present at this meeting.

HIGH-HAT LAW.

One Has Gone Into Operation in Louisiana That Works All Right.

(New Orleans Times-Democrat.)

The high theater hat law passed by the Louisiana Legislature at its last session seems to have attracted more attention abroad than any bill passed, than even the new charter for New Orleans or the new election law, and it is everywhere being received with the greatest enthusiasm, as a model act, which it would be well for the other States to imitate. It has the merit, too, as our contemporaries show, of being a practical law, for it has been tested in our theaters. It has afforded no discomfort or inconvenience to the ladies, and has been accepted by them, not only without protest, but in a spirit which shows that they appreciate its merits as well as the men. Such a law, the papers North, South, East and West agree, can be and ought to be put in operation in every city in the country.

The Atlanta Journal speaks enthusiastically of the new law as being a recognition of the new condition of affairs, when the rights of men are placed on an equality with those of women. "In this day of woman's rights," it says:—

"We find now and then a champion of the rights of men. One of these appeared in the Louisiana Legislature last winter and endeared himself to the hearts of a host of his fellow-citizens. He introduced a bill prohibiting the wearing of high hats in theatres and other places of amusement where an admission fee was charged. The author of this benevolent measure was at first subjected to the sneers of women and the ridicule of men. But he was not to be driven from his noble purpose. In advocating his bill he pictured the sufferings of the man who sits at the theatre behind huge feminine headgear and his words went home to many of his colleagues. The bill was passed and the humane Governor of Louisiana approved of it. A few days ago the law went into effect. We are happy to say that the women of Louisiana have bowed gracefully to the decree that they must not obstruct the view of others in theaters by millinery monstrosities. When they enter places of public amusement now they quietly and unresistingly remove their hats and receive cheaks for them. The ladies are content and the men are simply delighted. Louisiana has led the way in a reform which is destined to sweep the land and to contribute hugely to the happiness of mankind."

The astonishing thing about the whole affair is how easily the new law was put into operation, without the slightest protest or opposition, for which result our theatre managers deserve much credit. It is incredible now that we should have suffered the inconvenience of high, theater hats so long when the evil was so easily remedied. Louisiana's experience in this matter seems to have satisfied the other States, and the Journal is correct in its prediction that this reform will soon over the land, and contribute to the happiness of mankind.

PETERBOROUGH CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

OPENING DAY GIVES PROMISE OF GREAT SUCCESS.

Grand Array of Entries—Ahead of Any Other Year—Splendid Programme For Tuesday Afternoon And Evening.

FIRST DAY—MONDAY.

This is the first day of the Central Exhibition and the splendid weather with which it opens is likely to continue—our equinoctial gales that came on Saturday are things of the past and there is every indication of "Queen's weather" for the visit of the Queen's representative.

The first day devoted to the placing of exhibits—indicates that in all respects this exhibition will be greatly ahead of other years. The entries in all the departments are 3,000, about 800 in advance of all previous exhibitions—the live stock entries alone reaching over 800.

The grounds and exhibition presented a most animated spectacle all this morning, teams, tents and miscellaneous exhibition bric-a-brac contending for precedence. The interior exhibits were placed at an early hour and the judges in these departments completed their work this afternoon.

The horse ring is in complete shape, and in all respects there is promise of a great day to morrow, when His Excellency, Lord Aberdeen will formally declare the exhibition open. A paragraph indicating the movements of their Excellencies during their stay in town will be found in another column.

TO MORROW'S PROGRAMME.

The following is the official programme or to-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon and evening:

Lord and Lady Aberdeen will open the exhibition at 2 o'clock sharp. There will be a reception tent on the grounds for ladies who desire the honour of meeting Lady Aberdeen.

Mr. Thomas Dunn, Peterborough's favourite baritone, will sing to the vast multitude.

Fire Brigade Band in attendance afternoon and evening.

The street cars below Charlotte street, which began running to-day, will run 5-minute tripe.

BAILLIEBORO ORDINATION.

(Canadian Baptist.)

Rev. J. W. Kirkpatrick, pastor of Bailliboro Baptist church, was, on Tuesday, Sept. 3rd, ordained into the Gospel ministry. The Council was called together by request of the above church, and, on assembling, appointed Dr. C. Goodspeed, D. D., Moderator, and C. H. Shutt, clerk. The following delegates reported:—Bailleboro, Brethren Riddle, Jewison and Herbert Sneyd; Belleville, Rev. Y. Cowsert and Bro. Greg; Campbellford, Pastor D. E. Kendall and Rev. Mr. Barker; Cobourg, Pastor C. H. Shutt and Deacon Tapscott; Colborne, Brethren Alger and Morrow; Gilmour Memorial, Rev. C. E. McLeod and Brethren Graham and Scott; Haldimand, Rev. T. Watson and Deacon Platt Hinman; Peterborough, Murray street, E. A. Stanley; Peterborough, Park street, Brethren A.G. Graverand and A. Jackson; Port Hope, Rev. P. K. Dayfoot, M. A., Brethren Hansman and Edmonds; College street church, Toronto, Dr. C. Goodspeed, D.D.; Eglinton church, Toronto, Pastor Riggs. Visiting brethren were on motion admitted to the Council, which, as constituted, was accepted by the Bailliieboro church. Pastor Kirkpatrick related his Christian experience, call to the ministry, and views of Christian doctrine. After a rather severe examination the council adjourned. On reassembling, they declared that his statements with regard to his conversion and call to the ministry were perfectly satisfactory. They likewise could fellowship his views and Bible doctrine, which were thought to be Scriptural. His candidature being received, the ordination was proceeded with in the evening. The opening exercises were conducted by Pastor D. Kendall. The ordination sermon was preached by Rev. P. K. Dayfoot. Rev. Mr. Barker offered prayer, after which Rev. V. Cowsert gave "The Charge to the Candidate;" Dr. Goodspeed, "The Charge to the Church," and Pastor Watson extended "The Right Hand of Fellowship" to Bro. Kirkpatrick, who then pronounced the benediction. Thus ended a meeting in which the Spirit of God was manifestly present to the strengthening and upbuilding of His "elect."

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

District Superintendent Fitzhugh gives it out that 55,000 excursionists went to Toronto by the G. T. R. during the Industrial Fair, and the C. P. R. announce the number that went by their line as 25,000, making a total of 80,000.

According to the Bancroft Times there is a strong probability that the Central Ontario R. R. will be extended to that village in the near future, and connect there with the L. B. & O. R. R.

The G. T. R. management has decided to abolish the stores system. Hereafter monthly requisition will be sent in by those having charge of departments, and the goods wanted will be purchased by agents, cash being paid. The supply dealers will be told where to ship the stuff and it will be shipped direct to the place required, the shipper paying freight as on any other goods.

ADVERTISE IN "THE EXAMINER."

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. One man in a hundred is perfectly healthy. The other 99 have some digestive trouble, and perhaps more than 50 per cent. of these could trace their trouble to that most prevalent evil—constipation. It's a simple thing of itself, but like many simple things, it may grow and become complicated. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. There is no reason save that of carelessness why it should cause the trouble that it does. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. Nature is not a dray-horse and should not be overworked. Nature is systematic. Some little thing may interfere with the system, and cause serious derangement. The removal of this little impediment sets the wheels working again without any trouble.

This is exactly what Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. The use of the "Pellets" doesn't derange the system in any way, and once it is in order, you can stop taking them. There are unscrupulous druggists, who will tell you that something else is "just as good." They are mistaken—or worse. Whether they are ignorant or untruthful matters little to you if you do not get the "Pellets." Insist on getting what you ask for.

MICHAEL'S GREAT RIDE.

The Little Welshman Breaks Records at Manhattan Beach and Bowls Over Starbuck and Weinig.

New York, Sept. 18.—The bicycle race meeting, which was held at the Manhattan Beach track this afternoon, mainly for the purpose of deciding the trial heats of the race meet of the Quill Club Wheelmen of America to-morrow, furnished an unexpected treat to the 1500 spectators. The star of the afternoon was Jimmy Michael, the Welsh wonder, who in the hour competition race succeeded in making almost an entirely new set of figures for this country in an hour race, and broke all American competition records from nine to 27 miles, inclusive. He raised the American hour record of 27 miles 185 yards, made by Titus at Springfield last year, to 27 miles 1180 yards.

The little Welshman is a veritable wonder, being only 19 years old and weighing but 98 pounds. He seemed like a pigmy as he stood by the side of his two rivals, Starbuck of Philadelphia and Weinig of Buffalo, at the start. Each of the riders had his own pacemakers. Sextettes, quintettes, quads, triplets and tandems performed the pacemaking, which was very poorly done, except in the case of the Jollan brothers, the French trio, who were accustomed to the work.

At the crack of the pistol Weinig went to the front, Michael taking second place and Starbuck bringing up the rear. The first mile was reeled off in 2.06 3-5, in the order named, which was kept up until after passing the second mile in 4.10. Then Michael rushed to the front, paced by the Jollan triplet. The little Britisher hung closely behind his pacemakers, and quickly had a quarter lap lead on Weinig, who was nearly half a lap in front of Starbuck. The latter was very badly paced. Michael passed the three miles in 6.12 1-5. Before the four miles was made in 8.22 he had nearly half a lap to the good on Weinig, and had Starbuck overlapped. The Welshman continued to reel off the miles in great fashion, riding at an easy gait and sitting up much straighter than the home cracks. Five mile was hulshed in 10.20 4-5, and six miles in 12.35. The seventh mile was timed at 14.34 2-3, and the eighth at 16.35 3-5. Then Michael came up to Weinig and had a lap and three-quarters on Starbuck. The Englishman covered nine miles in 18.44 1-5, creating a new American competition record, as were all his times from that on. He lowered Titus' special 10-mile record, made on this track last year, by 9 2-5 sec., covering the distance in 20.49 2-5. There was very little difference in the position of the riders until the 13th mile was made, when Starbuck commenced to make up some ground.

Michael's time for 11 miles was 22.58 3-5; 12 miles, 25.11; 13 miles, 27.23; 14 miles, 29.26 1-5. After 15 miles were done by Michael in 31.34 3-5, Starbuck caught and passed Weinig, on whom Michael had gained two laps when he finished 16 miles in 33.41 1-5. Starbuck got somewhat better pacing from this stage. He commenced to overhaul Michael slowly, and lapped Weinig at 19 miles.

The Buffalo man quit at 20 miles. Starbuck then commenced riding like a demon, and the crowd cheered his plucky endeavor. The little Welshman did not seem to increase his pace materially, although he appeared to be very fresh. The Philadelphian let out an extra link, and at the end of the 21st mile was nearly level, but still a lap to the bad. On the second lap of the 22nd mile Starbuck caught the Welshman, and, amidst a tremendous burst of applause, passed him and set out to lower the lead of a lap. Michael began to exert himself, however, and for the next two miles he hung on to his sextet, which kept in turn just behind Starbuck and his quad. After passing the 25th mile a tandem took up Starbuck at a clipping pace, and he quickly cut down Michael's lead to three-quarters of a lap.

There was great excitement on the 26th mile, as Starbuck was gaining on the Britisher materially. The latter's sextet wanted to raise the pace, but the little fellow demurred. Starbuck was only a little more than half a lap behind on the last lap. Entering the first lap of the last mile Starbuck was fast cutting down the Englishman, and on the next lap he gained about 150 yards. It was a grand race for the last lap, probably the most exciting ever seen in this country. Foot by foot Starbuck drew up along the back stretch, and at the far turn he was not more than 150 yards behind and coming very fast. Michael did not attempt to leave his sextet, and turned into the straight about 100 yards in front of the American. The latter made a splendid effort up the straight, while the people on the stands cheered him to the echo. Starbuck made his machine fairly jump towards the goal, and was rapidly coming up to the European crack. The distance to the finish was too short, however, and Michael crossed the line a winner by 35 yards. As it was, the winner's wonderful performance, considering his age and size, was almost lost sight of in the general admiration for the splendid pluck of the Philadelphian. The times, while not world's records, were very good, as a strong wind was either in the teeth of or across the riders nearly the whole distance. Michael's times from 17 to 27 miles were as follows: 17, 35.48 1-5; 18, 37.36 3-5; 19, 40.06 3-5; 20, 42.17; 21, 44.20; 22, 46.44; 23, 48.37 2-5; 24, 51.06 3-5; 25, 53.13; 26, 55.33 2-5; 27, 57.50 3-5. The world's hour record is 31 miles 5 yards.

The other races were all productive of good sport. The final heats will be run off to-morrow, when Michael will try for the world's record at 10 miles.

THE TRADE RETURNS

Exports for August Show a Substantial Increase.

AN INCREASE ALSO IN IMPORTS

A Government Caucus—Western Delegates Wait Upon the Controller of Inland Revenue in Reference to Grain Standards—Railway Project—Other News From Ottawa.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—A statement of the goods exported from the Dominion for the month of August will appear in to-morrow's Official Gazette. It shows that the produce of Canada exported was $11,130,012, compared with $11,779,326 for August, 1895. The total exports for the last month were $13,173,562, as against $12,448,823 for August, 1895, or an increase of $924,739. The imports for the same time were $11,082,373, compared with $11,028,065 for August, 1895. The duty collected was $1,312,739, or an increase of $14,306 over the same month in 1895.

There was a lengthy Liberal caucus this morning, at which Mr. Scriver presided. The subject of the dismissals of partisan civil serants was discussed and the necessity for retrenchment owing to the bad financial condition in which the Government found affairs on taking office.

Notice will appear in to-morrow's Gazette of the application of the Crown Point Gold Mining Company of Toronto for letters patent of incorporation. The applicants are Messrs. George Gooderham, T. G. Blackstock, and George A. Stimson, Toronto; J. A. Finch, Spokane, and V. D. Williamson, Rossland. The capital is fixed at $1,000,000.000 in 1,000,000 shares.

The Edmonton Greenlees Company, furs, hats, etc., apply for incorporation. Head office in Montreal. Capital $100,000.

The Controller of Inland Revenue has been waited upon during the past two or three days by representatives from Manitoba and British Columbia with reference to the grain standards. The Government is disposed to carry out the wishes of the Farmers' Convention of Manitoba and to increase the standard of No. 1 hard to 75 per cent. of hard red fife, with a minimum weight of 61 lbs. to the bushel, instead of two-thirds hard red fife and a weight of 60 lbs. to the bushel, as the standard exists to-day. In the case of No. 2 hard the proposal is to make the minimum weight 60 lbs. to the bushel, instead of 58 lbs., the quantity of red fife, namely, two-thirds, remaining the same. Opposition has developed amongst Boards of Trade to this proposal, and before the Government does anything, Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg boards will be given an opportunity of airing their views.

Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, left for Toronto and Niagara camp to-night. He will return to the city on Monday. While in Toronto he will receive a local deputation, which is anxious to consult him about the case of Col Hamilton of the Q. O. R., but the Minister says he cannot take up the case until after the session.

Mr. J. E. Ruddick of the Dairy Commissioner's staff has just returned to the city after the season's work in Manitoba and British Columbia. Mr. Ruddick enters the service of the Ontario Government shortly as principal of the dairy school at Kingston.

The St. John delegation, which is here to urge the claims of that port for a winter service, had an interview with Mr. Blair to-day, and will see the Government to-morrow. An order-in-council has not yet passed renewing the subsidy to the Allans for the Portland service, but it is not unlikely that the order will go through, Grand Trunk influence being strongly exerted in its favor.

Mr. Blakey of Pictou, N. S., to-day presented to the Minister of Trade and Commerce a request asking that the duty on clock and watch cases should be reduced from 30 to 10 per cent.

Mayor Tuckett of Hamilton and a number of aldermen are here to-day to protest against the building of a portion of the T., H. and B. across the Desjardins Canal, which will cut the city of Hamilton off from the surrounding country. They met the Railway Committee of the Privy Council this morning.

Messrs. Gemmill & May, solicitors, this city, give notice in The Canada Gazette to-morrow of application on behalf of the British Columbia Southern Railway Company to Parliament at its next session for an Act to declare the company's undertaking to be one for the general advantage of Canada; also for power to extend the company's line of railway from its present authorized terminus in the Crow's Nest Pass easterly to MacLeod and Lethbridge, in the Province of Alberta. This company was incorporated by Act of the Legislature of British Columbia and authorized to build a line of railway from the Crow's Nest Pass to the Pacific coast. The Provincial Legislature has subsidized the line with a land grant of four millions of acres, including the coal lands in the Crow's Nest Pass district.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

HOW THE SUN LIFE
FULFILS ITS PROMISES.

A Matured 10 Year Endowment.

Profits Paid by the SUN 21 per. cent more than the Estimates.

The following letter, which speak for itself, was received by the under signed this morning from a gentleman in Brockville, whose ten year endowment which he held in the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada matured last week and was paid him. The Sun is modest in promises but UNEQUALLED IN RESULTS. The public are benefitted by results, not by promises unfulfilled

BROCKVILLE, November 7th, 1895.

W. H. HILL, Mgr. Central Ontario Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, Peterborough, Ontario:—

DEAR SIR.—I should have acknowledged the receipt of yours enclosing cheque for endowment policy No. 12,371 before, only I wanted to write something more than a mere receipt. I am pleased to hear of the continued prosperity of the "SUN" and it speaks well for your Company when the profits are greater (by 21 per cent.) than you as the Company's representative promised or rather estimated, as was the case with this policy.

I hope your Company will continue to prosper and I often regret that I do not carry more Insurance than I am doing. I might have carried twice as much as I do when at Minden without any great effort, still what little I do carry I feel is perfectly safe being in the "SUN."

I must thank you for your promptness and kindness regarding this policy just settled. I hope we will both be alive and well when the new one I now hold will be due in 1905 and assuring you of very best wishes, I remain,

Yours Sincerely,
(Signed) F. R. C.

The above voluntary testimonial is significant and shows in a most practical way the SUN'S standing as a profit paying institution.

The Danger is Averted by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

ALL ABOUT SPONGES.

INTERESTING INFORMATION CONCERNING THEM.

Sponges That Are Hives of Industry With Streets and Alleys—How the Sponge Reproduces Its Species—Methods of the Scientific Culturist.

It is asserted by a Greek gentleman named Charalampos Chorphios that if proper measures were taken, the sponge fishery of Florida could be restored to the highest productiveness within a few years. Unquestionably a considerable appropriation of money would be required, but it would be trifling compared with the cash value of the augmented crops.

The sponge reproduces its species by means of spores, corresponding to eggs, which are set free in the water. After being "hatched," the young ones swim about for a while, eventually attaching themselves to a rock or other object.

The mature sponge also produces little buds, which detach themselves from the parent and float away to begin life on their own account. The scientific culturist, however, makes use of neither of these natural processes.

The method he adopts is extremely simple, though requiring care and skill. Traveling over the fishing grounds in a boat. He pulls the sponge to the surface with a hook on the end of a long pole. The freshly tackled sponge is not taken out of the water, but is held beneath the surface, while the operator cuts it into pieces.

The knife used is as sharp as a razor so that as little injury as possible shall be done to the tissues of the sponge. The animal is cut up in such a manner that each piece shall retain a part of the original external surface. Finally each fragment is fastened to a bit of stone by a wire and is then dropped to the bottom.

In shoal water an easier and preferable method is to thrust a small splinter of wood through each fragment and stick it into the bottom. In this way a number of sponges are made out of a single sponge. Some of the fragmentary ones die, but the great majority of them survive. For three or four months they seem to be sickly, but at the end of that time they recover and begin to grow with surprising rapidity. The planting must always be done where the sponges will not be rolled about by the waves.

There are thousands of species of sponges, but only half a dozen have any commercial value. There used to be much dispute as to whether these creatures were animal or vegetable, but science has decided them to belong to the former kingdom, being very low down and degraded relatives of the corals.

The fact is that a sponge, like the coral, is a colony of little animals which occupy a sort of apartment house together. The animals are called "polyps," and each of them being both male and female, every individual in the community is in a position to rear a family on its own hook. The sponge in nature is a fleshy and somewhat jelly-like body; only the skeleton figures in commerce. The commercial sponges have horny skeletons, but there are ever so many species which have glass-like or limey frames.

The next time you use a sponge, examine it, and you will find that the surface is covered with holes. Toward the top these holes are much larger. The whole mass is pervaded by a system of channels. When the animal is alive water is kept constantly flowing through these channels by means of minute, hair-like appendages which the little polyps agitate. The water is thus drawn in through the small holes and ejected from the big holes at the top.

It brings with it animalcules and other food that is required for the support of the colony. The channels above described are the streets and alleyways of the polyp town. If you look at a living sponge in shallow water you will see that there is a continual bubbling above it, caused by the income and outgo of the water through the canals.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion, common diseases, but hard to cure with ordinary remedies, yield readily to Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound.

W. H. Buckingham, 396 King St. East, Hamilton, Ont., says:—"I was troubled with Dyspepsia and Indigestion for a long time, and could get no relief until I tried Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound, which cured me, and I cannot speak too highly in its praise."

Be Agreeable.

The otherwise good man who lacks politeness or assumes a gruff, repellant manner really sacrifices a part of his gifts, for very few people will discover his good qualities under his repulsive manners. Those who do may have patience to bear with him, knowing that his heart is right, but others will judge him by his manners, and finding him disagreeable, will avoid intimacy with him. It is not enough, therefore, to be just or kind hearted, one should also be agreeable in manner, and it requires very little effort to be so. The foundation of agreeable manners is thoughtful consideration of others, or true politeness. This does not imply any necessary sacrifice of frankness and honesty. It does not mean that one shall not contradict or dispute, but it does mean that when a contradiction is made necessary it shall be expressed courteously and in this kind of politeness, for in so far offensively. Everyone should cultivate as it helps to make one agreeable, it extends his opportunities for usefulness and helps to make one agreeable, it extends his opportunities for usefulness and helps to give full play to his other good qualities.—Baltimore Sun.

A Colony of Vegetarians.

At Oranienburg, near Berlin, a colony of vegetarians was started some years ago, and is growing slowly but steadily. Founded in 1893 by seven enthusiasts on the subject, there are at present 47 homesteads where 37 families and 10 single men have built houses and raise their cabbage. Outside of the vegetables necessary for their own food, they have planted 35,000 fruit trees, and 15,000 berry bushes, and have fenced in the entire property with a hedge of hazel nuts. From a financial standpoint they are doing very well because they realize excellent prices for the products of their truck farms, the quality of the vegetables raised by them being the best to be obtained.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N.Y.

House Gown From La Maison Kriegck.

Some of the most attractive fashions are shown in the tea gowns and gowns to wear in the house. From Kriegck is a particularly smart gown of silvery gray glace taffeta. The skirt is very full, gored and is trimmed around the bottom with a quilled flounce of shirred mousseline de soie. This flounce is put on in pointed festoons, and at the lowest point of each festoon is a bow of ribbon. The waist has a corselet of guipure, which reaches to the bust, and opens over a flounce of shirred mousseline de soie put on in shells. The sleeves are quite full, and finished with a flounce also, and the collar too is made of a little flounce, which does not quite meet at the throat, but is finished with a bow of satin ribbon. All the trimmings of the mousseline de soie and ribbon can either be black or of the same shade as the gown itself, but black is smarter and more effective.

A Use for Old Tacks.

Keep your old tacks. They are useful in cleaning jars or bottles. Half fill the jars with hot soapsuds, put in the tacks, shake vigorously and rinse them.

Sure to Win.

The people recognize and appreciate real merit. That is why Hood's Sarsaparilla has the largest sales in the world. Merit in medicine means the power to cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures—absolutely, permanently cures. It is the One True Blood Purifier. Its superior merit is an established fact, and merit wins.

Hood's Pills are easy to take, easy to operate. Cure indigestion, headache.

Suddenly Attacked.

Children are often attacked suddenly by painful and dangerous colic, cramps, diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, etc. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt and sure cure which should always be kept in the house.

Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup removes worms of all kinds from children or adults.

Trimming Fall Hats.

Tail feathers from the bird of paradise ornament many of the fall hats, and a new effect in blue and green called the peacock is immensely fashionable. This is a combination of dark blue fancy straw shaded to green and then literally loaded with tulle in blue and green, black feathers and magenta roses. It is very handsome and suitable for any occasion. The trimming on this season's hat is surely going to be all on the back and the fashion of having flowers laid next to the hair will be as much used as in midsummer. A determination to introduce the poke bonnet is quite evident, and with the front of these filled in under the brim they will be vastly becoming and will be much affected by the ingenue.

With Invalids.

Yes! with invalids the appetite is capricious and needs coaxing, that is just the reason they improve so rapidly under Scott's Emulsion, which is as palatable as cream.

Found at Last.

A liver pill that is small and sure, that acts gently, quickly and thoroughly, that does not gripe. Laxa-Liver Pills possess these qualities, being composed of strictly vegetable laxative and liver medicines, and are a sure cure for liver complaint, constipation, sick headache, etc.

AQUATIC.

The Orillia News-Letter says:—"The Peterborough papers claim that the sports of that town and Orillia put $2,000 of the $2,500 purse which Gaudaur staked against Stanbury's money. The facts of the case are that Mr. J. W. Smith, of Orillia was chiefly instrumental in getting up the stake. Mr. Smith contributed $250 to the stake, and all the expenses of the champion, the latter being about $750. On these $100 was received from Staobury. Four other Orillians made up $400, and the balance of $1,250 was made up as follows:—R. Dissette, $250; J. W. St. John, Boston, $250; John Laxton, Toronto, $100; J. Phelan, Peterborough, $100. It will thus be seen that Mr. Smith contributed four times as much as any outsider, and that of $2,200 stake and expenses Orillia found two-thirds of it. There is, therfore, little justification for Peterborough pluming itself."

The News-Letter is a little out in its facts of the case. In the first place the Mr. Smith, who was chiefly instrumental in getting up the stake, is not of, Orillia, but of Peterborough. Then again it was not one but fifteen hundred dollars which was raised in Peterborough.

THE WHEEL.

Little Jimmie Michaels, the Welsh wonder, won the hour race at the National circuit meet of the Quill Club Wheelmen on Friday in New York. Little Michaels took the honour of the victory, but J. F. Starbuck, the American, carried off the honours of the race in the eyes of many. Michaels and Starbuck finished but 40 yards apart and Weinig, of Buffalo, quit at the middle of the race with a nose bleed. Each of the riders had pace-makers, several each, quint, quad, triplet and tandem machines being on the track and ready to pick up the men who dropped. As a matter of fact, each man was individually paced throughout the contest, which was the most exciting in the history of cycling in this country, and demonstrated that without doubt the long distance paced races so popular in foreign countries may be made equally so in this country if managed as well as that of to day.

Michaels won the race with 28 miles less 100 yards to his credit and Starbuck but 40 yards to his rear. Unfortunately the exact number of yards could not be secured as the appointment of markers had been neglected. The American record was lowered from the 10 mile mark to the finish, but the world's record was not nearly reached at any time, owing to the pacing, which in this country is not the scientific marvel that is seen in foreign lands, where the pace-makers are specially trained for the work.

The marvellous part of the ride of Starbuck was the fact that the man was at one time a lap and a half back of little Michaels, and that he pulled up by grand work and not only made up the lost half lap, but got away from the foreigner again in the last five miles, all but beating him. He was knotted in the muscles in the first five miles, being an old man comparatively with Michaels, who is but twenty years old.

When once loosened up Starbuck carried the crowd with him as he sprinted again and again, and as he gained yard after yard on his mighty opponent, mighty in deeds but not in size. Michael's weight is but 115, his size is hardly that of the average 10 year old school boy, and with but this size to back him he rides a 98 gear, one of the most wonderful features in connection with his work. He is game at following pace, and would have ridden much farther with better pace today. Starbuck used an 88 gear and Weinig used a 92 gear, leading up and including the three miles.

One thing that was demonstrated in the race was the fact that the triplet and tandem machines are best for fast work. It was a tandem manned by Fred Allen and mate that pulled Starbuck away from Michaels and his triplet team in starting the regaining of the lost lap. The times of the ride briefly summarized are as follows:

First mile, from standing start, 2.06 3-5; next mile, 4.08 2-5; five miles, 10 29 4 5; 10, 20.49; 15, 34.31 2 5; 20, 42.17; American record for 20 miles, 43.40 2 5; 25 mile time, 53.18; record is 55 06; 27 miles, 56 50 3 5, the record being 59.46 1-5.

Titus' record for the hour, made at Springfield is 27 miles, 195 yards, and the world's hour record is 31 miles, 5 yards.

THE TURF.

Mr. Fred Jones says that a very exciting time was experienced in Porty Perry on Tuesday night after the races. It was too dark for the book-makers to pay their losses when the 2.27 race was over, so they announced that the cashing of tickets would take place at the St. Charles hotel. The boys who invested had no suspicion of foul play, as the book-makers were to operate again on Wednesday, but word was carried up town that the book-makers who hail from Kingston and Ogdensburg, were leaving on the 8 o'clock train. The talent made a race to the station to see if it were true, and sure enough there were the fellows ready to depart southward. A number of betters went aboard the train and hauled the book-makers off, and one seised their cash box. One fakir, who had nothing to do with the book making, but who probably had other sins to answer for and feared mobbing, sought refuge in the water closet, but his action in doing so only served to call attention to him, and he was dragged forth a prisoner and held as one of the hostages until the tickets were redeemed. Some of the book-makers showed fight, but were thumped in short order. The whole gang, cash box and all, were taken to the St. Charles, and there the winning tickets were redeemed. Then the fellows were allowed to depart for the south without let or hinderance.

Three of the largest of the Toronto Bicycle Clubs are discussing the advisability of withdrawing from the C.W.A. There are others who will follow them if they withdraw.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

The following is the continuation of the special exhibits at the Lakefield Fair, on Thursday.

THE CANADA CARRIAGE CO.

Mr. W. J. Doughty of Warsaw, who represents the Canada Carriage Co., of Brockville, exhibited three single two-seated cutters, and a rubber-tired top buggy, which attracted the attention of farmers and horsemen generally. The cutters shown formed part of the company's exhibit at the Toronto Fair, and were excellent specimens of the carriage-builders' skill and workmanship. Solid comfort was apparently one of the chief objects sought in the general construction, elegance and design of these cutters. The easy, reclining backs and large roomy seats, were comfortably upholstered in a dark blue serviceable fabric, and the curves and corners padded for restful, easy riding. The front seat is adjustable, and can be turned over and used as a foot rest when not used for the children. The ornamental rail is nickel-plated on brass, and handsomely designed. The company make a special feature of their new shafting rod for attaching to the shafts, which can be changed in a few moments for driving in narrow or wide roads. The handsome top buggy shown had many points of excellence about it, both in the body, gearing and top that stamped it as an outfit for style, speed, comfort and strength. But the newest novelty about it was the pneumatic tires with which it is provided, similar to a bicycle. The heavy rubber band is solidly and securely fitted with steel plates on each wheel, which renders it a smooth and noiseless rider. These rubber-tired buggies are fast coming into use in Eastern Ontario and give excellent satisfaction. Mr. Doughty does a large business in the county with the Carnegie Carriage Co.'s goods, and reports having sold 45 of their rigs this summer.

NOXON BROS.' IMPLEMENTS.

Mr. W. J. Doughty, of Warsaw, also represents the Noxon Bros. Manufacturing Co., of Ingersoll, manufacturers of cultivating, seeding and harvesting machinery. The Company were not exhibitors at the Fair, but their general agent, Mr. T. H. McLean took advantage of the occasion and was on the grounds in the interests of the firm. The Noxon Co. is one of the pioneer agricultural implement makers of Canada, having been established in 1856. They have branch warehouses in Toronto, Montreal and London, commanding a large business all over the Dominion. The Noxon machines have kept on cutting their way to success by a constant striving to make the most of the knowledge gained by close and careful observation of the wants of the farmers. It seems that the farmers of Peterborough are also getting acquainted with their machines. Mr. Doughty, of Warsaw, is one of their most active agents, he having disposed of 50 of their machines last season. Quite a number of good orders for drills and binders were received at this fair.

R. GRAHAM & SONS.

One of the leading events in the village stores which specially attracted the attention of the lady visitors, was the formal millinery opening of Messrs. R. Graham & Son. The display of fall hats and bonnets, ribbons, feathers, flowers, artifical birds, and other novelties, drew many admirers to their showrooms, and quite a number of good orders were left by the ladies. Miss Gordon, the head milliner, is a painstaking and effective saleslady, possessed of good style and tact, were amply shown in the handsomely dressed show rooms, as well as by the display of tastefully trimmed millinery.

EYES WILL FADE.

And Americans Become a Sightless Race if Electric Dights are Not Improved.

A New York oculist says that the Americans are of all civilized nations the most reckless in the use and neglect of their eyesight. He maintains that if a halt is not called on the practice of using electric lights without ground glass shades not only will the eyes of this generation be seriously injured but eventually a race of almost sightless men and women will be developed. The effect produced upon the eye by the naked light, or loop, is a paralysis of the function of the retina, and is exactly similar to the so called snow blindness. A temporary remedy is proposed in the placing of the incandescent lights higher so as to be further from the eye, and the use of ground glass or other globes that will give more or less diffused light.

But this experiment insists that the real cure lies in a more sweeping measure. He adds: "The proper thing to do is to abolish electric lamps altogether. Their general use has been of too short a duration for us to realize the actual extent of their injury to the human eye, but if they continue to be used we shall realize our mistake only when it is too late. What should be used are fluorescent tubes which cost no more than the present electric lights and which give a steady light. In fact I would not be surprised to see fluorescent tubes in general use throughout New York city within a year.

Although this prophecy is probably somewhat premature it may be said that arrangements are now being made to light a city block entirely by phosphorescent tubes, and there is no doubt that in the near future 'etheric' light will become the favourite medium of illumination for interior if not for exterior use. It is equally certain that the general introduction of this light will be of vast benefit in promoting the improvement of the national eyesight.—G. H. G., in Pittsburg Dispatch.

ANOTHER TILT AT IT

Sir Charles Tupper Again Attacks Lord Aberdeen.

CALLED DOWN BY THE SPEAKER

The Ex-Premier Vented His Soreness Until Mr. Edgar Brought Him to Time—The Premier on Behalf of the Government Accepts Full Responsibility.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—Hon. Edward Blake was in the House to-day and was given a seat of honor to the right of Mr. Speaker. Hon. John Costigan also was in his place, having just returned from his trip to the Dublin convention.

Mr. Paterson, answering Mr. Charlton, said the total amount of duties collected upon the import of ales, beer, wines and spirituous liquors for the past fiscal year was $2,241,000. Of this amount spirituous liquors contributed $1,942,724.

Mr. Foster ascertained from Mr. Fisher that the total cost of the buildings on the Experimental Farm at Ottawa was $176,012.

Dr. Sproule was informed by Mr. Fisher that an exhibit of hogs was sent from the Experimental Farm to the fair at Three Rivers, the cost of transportation being borne by the Government.

Mr. Tarte informed Major McLennan that the contract for the Reformatory at Alexandria was entered into with Mr. Bourque on the 7th March, 1896, for the sum of $95,000. Only one progress estimate for $2490 had been paid. The work was progressing and the contractor has not signified his intention of not fulfilling his contract. Mr. Adams, Clerk of Works, had been dismissed on account of the slow progress of the work not requiring a clerk.

Mr. Bergeron learned from Mr. Blair that the estimated cost of the Soulanges Canal was $4,750,000. The total amount expended up to Sept. 18 was $2,279,977. At the present rate of progress it would take in the neighborhood of 20 years to complete the work. (Laughter.)

Mr. McNeill asked the Finance Minister how soon he expected to be in a position to pay employes of the Government Printing Bureau. Mr. Fielding said he hoped to have a supply bill through by to-morrow night. It would be quicker to do that than to take a special vote.

Mr. Davin called attention to a matter that he claimed concerned the dignity of the House. In The Toronto Globe of Saturday there appeared an editorial headed "The Salary Grab," which sought to place on the Opposition the responsibility for the House sitting over 30 days. He said he did not know how it would be possible to use language strong enough to characterise the injustice to that article.

The House went into committee of supply on the Customs appropriation amounting to $811,100. Objection was taken by the Opposition to voting the amount in bulk, and the Government consented to abide by the details of the appropriations as contained in the appendix to the estimates.

Mr. Clancy asked if the position of Collector of Customs at Wallaceburg had been filled and Mr. Wallace asked about the collector at Berlin.

Mr. Paterson understood that they had. He did not know if the officers had been notified of their appointments. This reply led to a discussion regarding appointments sanctioned by His Excellency before the late Government went out.

Mr. Laurier said that Lord Aberdeen had approved of all the appointments except those which came within these categories: First, new offices, second, those vacant over 12 months; third, vacancies caused by superannuation. Many officers appointed had probably not been notified owing to the large number of orders which had gone through and the vast amount of work thereby thrown on the Privy Council office.

By consent of both sides, after dinner Sir Charles Tupper rose to call attention to the circumstances under which the resignation of the late administration took place. He began by remarking on the advantage possessed by the British and Canadian constitution as compared with that of the United States, that the head of the nation was entirely free from and above party associations. "I take it for granted," he said, "that the gentlemen who form the present Government of Canada are necessarily responsible for every act that the Governor-General has committed. (Mr. Laurier: Hear, hear.) Therefore, that will relieve me at once from the disagreeable necessity of saying a single word in disparagement of His Excellency, because the First Minister and his colleagues on assuming office were necessarily and naturally obliged to assume all the responsibility for every act of His Excellency from the time of the crisis which ensued upon the general election."

Sir Charles drew particular attention to the following sentence in Lord Aberdeen's memorandum: "After taking every means in my power to inform myself, it is impossible for me to ignore the probability that in the event of your deciding to meet Parliament the present administration will fail to secure the support of the House of Commons." Upon this Sir Charles commented thus: "There are no means which His Excellency, without violating the constitution of this country, could take to inform himself of the position in which the Government stood. I take the ground that under our system of parliamentary government, the Governor-General, no more than Her Majesty, can take no means of informing himself except by his constitutional advisers and the voice of Parliament." The leader of the Opposition then read from a large number of English authorities, from Alexander Mackenzie's letter in 1878 and from The Globe newspaper of the same date, to show that precedent fully justified a Ministry defeated at the polls in performing the ordinary duties of administration and meeting Parliament. This might have been the better course. In that case a vote of credit might have been asked for from Parliament, and the Conservatives would have offered no opposition to its being granted, even before the formation of a new Government.

Sir Charles then drew attention to the statement by His Excellency that "the business to be transacted by Parliament (the granting of supplies), though foreseen and not in character exceptional, is urgent," and contrasted this with the subsequent position assumed by the present Government that the purposes for which money was obtained by Governor-General's warrants were unforeseen and exceptional. He did not in the least wish to criticise His Excellency for signing the warrants presented to him, but he wanted to know how the present administration reconciled these two positions, for which they were equally responsible. Lord Aberdeen's statement that the Government of Sir Mackenzie Bowell had failed in its legislation was challenged by Sir Charles as misleading, unless accompanied by an explanation of the circumstances, and in giving this explanation the leader of the Opposition vigorously condemned the unpatriotic course taken by the Liberal obstructionists in the last Parliament.

He denied Lord Aberdeen's statement that the acts of the Tupper administration were in an unusual degree provisional. Every authority, English and Canadian, was against any such position, and Sir Charles described the Governor-General as looking at this matter with eyes that the strongest partisan on the Ministerial benches could not surpass.

This provoked loud cries of "Order!" from the supporters of the Government, and the Speaker rose and said: "I am exceedingly reluctant to interfere in any way whatever in this debate, especially as the leader of the Government has frankly avowed entire responsibility for the acts of His Excellency, but I am inclined to think that the last observation of the hon. gentleman, in which he accuses the Governor-General of partisanship, is out of order. (Government cheers.) The rule prohibits any hon. member from speaking disrespectfully of the Governor-General. I am sure the hon. member does not desire to do so and he is very near to infringing upon the rule of the House."

Sir Charles Tupper: I bow with all deference to your decision, and I shall be as careful as possible to obey the rules of this House, and try not to say anything disrespectfully of the Governor-General, but I am speaking of the representatives who are here (pointing to the Government benches). I have already given you the authority, and the Prime Minister has frankly and openly, as he was bound to do, assumed the full and entire responsibility for every page, every sentence, every word in this memorandum.

Mr. Laurier: Speak of the First Minister.

Sir Charles Tupper: Well, I am afraid the shoulders of the First Minister are hardly broad enough to bear all this. However, when I referred to that, I did not charge His Excellency with being a partisan, but I charge this, that if he had been a partisan, if this communication had been directed to the First Minister by the strongest partisan on that side of the House, I said he could not have placed this in a stronger or more unjustifiable manner. I say that under the circumstances on which His Excellency called upon me to become his adviser, with the knowledge of the position I occupied in this House and in the party, if His Excellency was not prepared to give the fullest and most unqualified confidence until I ceased to be his Minister, he had no right to call upon me at all.

Having called upon me, I maintain that I was entitled to enjoy that confidence, and that a more fatal precedent could not be established in this country than that the executive head can go behind his ministers and take outside information. (Opposition cheers.) No more fatal precedent, in my judgment, could be established, and it is one that if followed will deprive Canada of those glorious British institutions it is our pride and duty to preserve. Sir Charles went at great length into British precedents to prove that he was entitled to possess His Excellency's confidence.

IN THE UPPER HOUSE

Sir Mackenzie Bowell on a Globe Editorial.

HE WAS SEEKING FOR INFORMATION

Sir Oliver Mowat Replied That the Government Had Nothing to Do With Newspaper Reports—Counsel Appointed for Canadian Sealers' Claims—Other Ottawa Notes.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—In the Senate this afternoon, before the orders of the day were called, Sir Mackenzie Bowell drew the attention of the leader of the Government to an editorial paragraph, which appeared in The Globe of Saturday last, in which it was stated that the announcement made during the North Grey campaign that the Manitoba school question was practically settled, and that it was not the intention of the Dominion Government to introduce any legislation on the subject this session, was correct now as it was then. Sir Mackenzie wanted to know if this announcement of the "accredited organ of the Government" was correct.

Sir Oliver Mowat said the Government had nothing to do with reports published in newspapers. The school question was in precisely the same position in which it was when last spoken of in the Senate.

When Senator McCallum's bill to amend the railway act came on for the committee stage, Sir Oliver Mowat suggested several amendments to the first section.

Senator McCallum said the bill had been drafted by Sir John Abbott, one of the greatest Canadian lawyers. He would rather see the bill defeated than have it amended as proposed.

Sir Oliver Mowat said he had only been trying to assist Senator McCallum to make the bill workable, and since the suggestions had not been acceptable he would withdraw them. The bill was then adopted clause by clause by the committee without amendment, after which Sir Oliver stated that he approved of the purpose of the bill as affording a cheaper local means of having disputes respecting drainage across railway lines settled. As the bill stood, however, it was wholly unworkable, and contained provisions which would never be accepted by the House of Commons.

The bill was read a third time on division.

On the third reading of the bill to authorize the appointment of judges to the Supreme Court ad hoc in certain cases, Sir Mackenzie Bowell enquired what progress was being made with the Behring Sea arbitration? The reason he asked was that one of the Supreme Court judges was an arbitrator in the case. He wanted to know if the Dominion Government had appointed a counsel to look after the interests of those who suffered through the seizure of sealing vessels by the United States authorities.

Sir Oliver Mowat said negotiations had been going on in reference to the matter, but no day of trial had yet been fixed. The Dominion Government had appointed counsel to look after the interest of the claimants.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell: Mr. Peters of Prince Edward Island, and a legal gentleman from Montreal, whose name I have forgotten.

The bill was then read a third time.

A bill to incorporate the Wesleyan Methodist Conference of Canada was read a second time after some discussion as to the propriety of incorporating the sect under the name used in the bill, and with all the extensive powers asked for.

On the second reading of a bill to incorporate the Hudson Bay and Pacific Railway Company, Senator Power said he did not think Parliament ought to pass a bill authorizing the construction of a railway through a barren region of ice and snow. The scheme could only have originated in the brain of an inmate of a lunatic asylum. If incorporated the company would do as the Hudson Bay Railway Company had done, apply to Parliament for a subsidy to construct their line.

Senators Boulton and Lougheed deprecated wild and extravagant statements being made about schemes for the development of the Northwest. The reports of such speeches if they reached Great Britain might do much to deter nglish capitalists from investing in bona fide enterprises to develop the great western country. The bill was read a second time.

Bills to renew and amend the Acts respecting the St. Clair and Erie Ship Canal Company, and to confirm an agreement between the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railway Companies, were read a second time.

Mr. Laurier has received the following cablegram from Mr. James Huddart, London: "Our fast Atlantic tenders provide for steamships carrying 2500 tons of freight, besides a full load of passengers and coal. We are credibly informed that the Allans' proposed steamers will cost less than half ours. Our steamships, as designed, are approved by eminent experts."

Messrs. Nugent, Bole and Watson, who comprise the Winnipeg delegation, had luncheon with Mr. Laurier to-day. Mr. Nugent goes to New York from here, and Mr. Bole leaves for Toronto to-night on his way back to Winnipeg. Mr. Watson will leave here to-morrow for Winnipeg. It is generally believed that Attorney-General Sifton of Manitoba will be the next Minister of the Interior.

His Grace Archbishop Langevin of St. Boniface, who has recently returned from Rome, accompanied by Bishop Grandin and several missionary fathers of the Northwest, visited the University yesterday and assisted at high mass. Archbishop Langevin preached, dwelling particularly on the school question. All the course of his remarks he said it gave him very great consolation to know that the holy father approved of the stand taken by the Canadian bishops in regard to the Manitoba school question, that the question was one of principle, and could only be settled according to the laws of justice. Those people who imagine that they would bury the grievances of the minority were profoundly mistaken.

Hundreds of letters from business men all over Canada have been received at the Department of Trade and Commerce in reply to the circular sent out some little time ago on matters relating to the commercial movements from Canada.

SWISS CHEESE.

Use of Partly Skimmed Milk—Small Dairies can Make Swiss Cheese—How to Make and the After Care.

In a German dairy it has been found that Swiss cheese from partly skimmed milk is practicable from small quantities of milk. For all kinds of hard, round cheese, a round kettle is best to work in, because it shapes the curd into a round loaf, leaving the mass intact. While making the curd, a small quantity at a time is detrimental to correct fermentation. Strain the warm morning's milk into the the kettle, skim the evening's milk and add to the first. Heat to 68 or 70 degrees and coagulate in 20 to 35 minutes. Cut with the curd knife from top to bottom and crosswise into about two-inch square pieces. Turn the mass upside down to insure even temperature, using the ladle. Cut the sticks into the length of a hand, reduce with the breaker to the size of good-shaped beans; leave it to settle a second, then stir up and proceed to cook; stir constantly and heat to 116 to 118 degrees; keep stirring till the curd squeaks when churned, and leave it to settle. Have a flat lid, larger than the cheese is expected to be, slanting enough to give the whey a chance to drain, and adjust the hoop. If the curd is small it may be taken out with the hands alone and placed on the cloth into the hoop; if larger the best way is to catch it by using the cloth. Adjust evenly and be careful to have the curd higher than the hoop; cover with another lid and press with anything that comes handy, a long wooden lever for instance. After six to eight hours increase the pressure about one-third the weight of the cheese, press for 24 hours, and during the time of pressing change the cloth occasionally. Should any bulging occur trim off with a sharp knife, and tighten the hoop if necessary. When taken out of the press it sometimes requires a bandage around it to keep it in good shape. Turn the salt at first daily, then once in two days, then twice a week and so on. If the rim is too soft increase quantity of salt, if is thick and hard less salt; keep the sides well supplied to have them firm; rub off with a clean cloth before turning, and keep the shelves clean and dry, else the cheese is apt to turn red and be otherwise discoloured. The most favourable temperature in the cellar is 36 to 42 deg., when ripe a little lower temperature is better. It is marketable in from 6 to 10 months.

It May Convince You.

Are You Interested in Your Own Welfare?

The world has no sympathy with the individual who is skeptical, and who, in the face of facts and startling proofs, still maintains that he is right.

Skeptics are frequently found on sick beds, and many of them go down to the grave with the idea that they have done their duty and lived well. Such individuals, while they live, positively injure their families, and are a source of danger to the community in which they live.

The following facts — extracts from a letter written by Mr. Joseph Payea, Smith's Falls, Ont., may convince some of the most hardened skeptics who are suffering and sick, and who, up to the present, have not found a cure for their troubles.

"I suffered for six years, and was attended by eight different doctors, but got no relief until I used Paine's Celery Compound. I have taken in all ten bottles of this wonderful medicine, and am now well and strong. I write in order to let others know the value of Paine's Celery Compound, a remedy that is worth its weight in gold."

It matters not how bad your case may be, poor, helpless sufferer, Paine's Celery Compound will give you quick relief, and will surely bring you that condition of health that all sensible people wish to enjoy. If your physician has failed, despair not; life is sweet and precious. You may make yourself well and strong if you but use the same means that Mr. Payea employed to rid himself of disease. See that your druggist or dealer gives you the right medicine; be sure to get "Paine's," as there are vile imitations sold in some quarters.

Bryce, of Toronto, Canada, Chairman of the Committee on River Conservancy Boards of Supervision, presented the report of the committee. Dr. Wyatt Johnson, of Montreal, bacteriologist to the Provincial Board of Health of Quebec, presented a paper on "The Serum Diagnosis Test for Typhoid Fever." Dr. Johnson gave the practical results of his personal work in diagnosing typhoid fever cases from drops of blood. His address was exceedingly interesting.

Dr. J. Eliot Woodbridge, of Cleveland, Ohio, presented an interesting paper on "Prophylaxis of Typhoid Fever." He stated, in opening his paper, that the cost of typhoid fever in actual money was $32,125,000 per annum in this country alone. Every case of typhoid fever, he said, was traceable to either the drinking of infected water, or the eating of infected food. He said it was a subject that called for Government legislation to procure a pure water supply and to prevent the dumping of refuse into the water upon which the people are depending for drinking.

He spoke of the rivers in the United States and Canada and of the manner in which the water supply was contaminated through the indifference of some cities to the welfare of other cities and towns farther down the rivers, which caught the result of the refuse dumped in upper portions of the rivers, which was carried by the current to places farther down.

This municipal selfishness, said he, should be checked by Government action. It was the only preventive. "Typhoid," said he, "is a water-born disease, and to the purity of the water supply we must look for the only stamping out of the terrible disease."

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

WHO IS THIS MAN?

Found in the Welland Canal—Who is Charles James Ross, Whose Name Was in the Prayer Book?

Welland, Sept. 19.—(Special)—The steamer Rosemount, bound down the canal, reported at the bridge here at noon to-day having seen a body floating in the canal about a mile south of this place. The coroner was notified and a search party found the body near the M.C.R. bridge. An inquest was called this afternoon, but the identity of the man could not be found. An English Church prayer book, with the name of Charles James Ross, a memorandum containing the same name and an entry of some money received, a ten-cent piece and an empty purse, were found in the pockets. Deceased was a young man about 20 years of age. He was dressed in a faded blue serge suit, working shoes and black peaked cap. Was of dark complexion, 5 feet 6 inches, weight about 125 pounds. He had been in the water several days, as decomposition had set in. He is unknown in the vicinity and the probable cause of death was by accidentally or intentionally falling off a passing boat, whose crew, thinking he had deserted, failed to report the matter. The inquest was postponed until Tuesday evening.

ANOTHER TILT AT IT.

to make appointments after the general elections. Mr. Mackenzie, after his defeat at the polls in 1878, made 116 appointments, including several important judgeships and increases of salary, and not one of them was left unsigned by Lord Dufferin. (Cheers.) He showed that the late Government had not made an undue number of appointments. They were legitimate vacancies, which the Government had the right to fill. The present Ministry could do no more to undermine parliamentary government if they yielded the point that the Governor-General, in the teeth of all parliamentary precedent, could be allowed to declare to his constitutional advisers what they should do or what they should not do. (Cheers.)

Dealing with Lord Aberdeen's reflections on the Senate and judges, he (Sir Charles) said the best answer was that given by Sir Oliver Mowat a few days ago. No better instance of the unwisdom of the executive head of a country going to other sources for advice than his legitimate advisers could be furnished than by what Lord Aberdeen said of the Senate. In place of there being 78 Senators, as His Excellency said, the full number was 81, and instead of there being only five Liberals in the Upper House, there were 16. He paid a high tribute to the character of the Senate, and defended the proposed re-appointments of Messrs. Desjardins and Angers on the ground that, as they stepped out of the Senate to enter the service of the Crown, there was no reason why they should not be put back. (Hear, hear.)

Adverting to Lord Aberdeen's statements about the judges, he said if they meant anything they amounted to a declaration that there was not a Liberal judge on the bench in Canada. He (Sir Charles) said there was no Liberal judge in Canada, neither was there a Conservative judge on the bench. (Opposition cheers.) He could only express his regret that His Excellency should have gone to a secret informant for his advice, and placed reliance on statements that were unfounded. (Cries of "Order.")

The Speaker, rising, said he thought this was an imputation against His Excellency.

Sir Charles Tupper said he would quote His Excellency's words. He says he has been "told"—I am not commenting or reflecting on His Excellency; I am commenting entirely as to the question of the responsibility assumed.

Mr. Laurier: The hon. gentleman has been speaking altogether of the secret informant of His Excellency.

The Speaker said he thought the hon. gentleman was implying something disrespectful to His Excellency.

Sir Charles Tupper: I am afraid, if you will permit me to say, that the imputation comes from the chair. (Loud cries of "Order.")

Mr. Speaker: I cannot allow that from any hon. member of the House. The decisions which I make on a question of this kind, which is so exceedingly difficult, may be right or wrong. In my judgment they are right and not unfair to either party in the House. I am sure both sides of the House desire to maintain the rule that in this chamber the Governor-General must not be spoken of disrespectfully.

Sir Charles Tupper said he bowed with great deference to the Speaker's ruling. He was certain it did not arise from the slightest desire to limit the discussion. He did not propose to conclude his observations with a motion, because if he did it would only intensify the position to have a majority of the House solemnly declaring in favor of what he believed to be an infringement of our parliamentary institutions. He believed that both parties should unite in maintaining those institutions, which had made England what she is to-day, and which, having been adopted in Canada, had inspired all classes with respect and confidence. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Laurier said it was evident, when a Liberal-Conservative attempted to fly Liberal colors, the result was deplorable. On July 8, the country thought Sir Charles Tupper and his colleagues had loyally accepted the verdict of the people, but such did not now appear to be the case. It was evident the hon. gentleman was willing to be kicked once more. The Opposition leader had the boldness to come to Parliament and to ask Parliament implicitly to censure the Governor-General. Here was his (Mr. Laurier's) answer to His Excellency. The Governor-General had committed no wrong to the people of Canada. (Ministerial cheers. He went further. He was fulfilling the commission which Her Majesty had entrusted to him. He made himself the custodian and champion of the rights of the people of Canada. (Loud Ministerial cheers.) He twitted Conservatives with a new-found zeal on constitutional procedure. Now their leader was objecting because they were unable to fill the Senate with his friends and all the offices with his creatures. The fact was, Sir Charles had been promising his friends positions all over, having told them that he was sure to carry the country. But defeat came and His Excellency declined to appoint the Senators and make certain appointments to the civil service. Sir Charles contended that His Excellency could only know of the result of the elections through his advisers. Well, His Excellency learned the result from his Premier, because the Conservative press of June 25, two days after the election, contained an interview with Sir Charles, in which the latter admitted the defeat—"the disaster," and surely, continued Mr. Laurier, Sir Charles could not have been so disrespectful as not to inform His Excellency as soon as he informed the newspapers, and, having told His Excellency, the Governor-General had rightly declined to assent to any appointments other than those of routine, for had he not said on the 25th to the newspapers that in a few days, so soon as routine business had been transacted he would resign? (Ministerial cheers.)

As to the right of the defeated Government to meet Parliament, he admitted that, but at the same time the Government was responsible under the modern practise to the people from whom Parliament got its mandate. He quoted recent precedents for the resignation of a Government after defeat at the polls without waiting to meet Parliament. True, Lord Salisbury, in 1892, preferred to meet Parliament, there being doubt about the exact result of the elections. There was no doubt, he contended, in the case of Sir Charles as to the right to appoint Senators after defeat, essential in England, according to Todd, such appointments should have previously been sanctioned by the Crown, then the honor of the Crown having been pledged, the Government's successors would be bound to make the appointments. This would have been the case had Sir Charles informed His Excellency before the election, that if Mr. Angers were defeated he should be re-appointed to the Senate. And such was different from the House of Lords in that it was limited as to its membership. The Senate was already crammed with Conservatives, because for 18 years the Conservatives had disregarded the spirit of the constitution, which called for the appointment of representatives of both parties equally. Therefore, with the promise that the Liberals if returned would appoint an Ontario leader to the Senate, every man who has in his breast the elements of justice would approve of His Excellency's course in refusing to fill a vacancy which would embarrass the Government.

As to the bench, without aspersing it as a whole, he (Mr. Laurier) would say that for 18 years appointments thereto had been made not for judicial fitness, but as reward for party service. Judges were but human, they unconsciously retained their party traits, and anyone who had to do with political cases in the courts knew this was so. The Supreme Court of the United States had in the Presidential election case of Tilden and Hayes shown its partiality, and could it be pretended that Canadians are better than the people of other countries? As to the case of Mr. Payne, Mr. Laurier only referred to it to remark that Sir Charles had done an injustice to Mr. Magee and His Excellency, in refusing the advice of Sir Charles Tupper, simply refused to act illegally. And, too, Sir Charles had misrepresented to His Excellency the circumstances under which Parliament had refrained from passing estimates last session.

But this argument cannot apply to the present case. We have had the words of the hon. gentleman opposite, Sir Charles Tupper, that two days after the elections he said he knew he had been defeated. Well, if he knew he had been defeated, in the view of the precedents I have quoted, he had only one course to take, and that was to discharge all routine business, then take his cane, gloves and hat and walk out and make place for another. This is the only view, in my estimation, which the question can admit of. This is the view which His Excellency took, and this is the iew which the advisers of His Excellency are prepared to maintain, not only on the floor of Parliament, but to maintain also with great confidence of success all over the country. It is a view which is in consonance with the rights of the people such as we understand them at the present time. The hon. gentleman (Sir Charles Tupper) made another point. He stated that although defeated, the outgoing administration had the right to appoint Senators, because, as he says, it is acknowledged in England that the outgoing administration has the right to appoint peers. But there is a qualification upon this. Does the right of the outgoing administration go so far as the hon. gentleman has stated? Does the right of the outgoing administration in England go to the extent without qualification of appointing peers? It does not, as I understand it. Let me quote an authority upon this subject. Todd says: "The moment it was proved that these peerages had really been agreed to by the outgoing Ministry, they having taken the pleasure of the Crown on the point, that moment the Ministers in power agreed to confirm the grant, and thus respected the engagements of their predecessors."

I can understand that if the outgoing administration before the election had taken the precaution to have advised the Crown of nominating Mr. So-and-So to the House of Lords, and if the Crown, under such circumstances, was pledged, that it was the duty of the new Ministry to fulfil these obligations, since the honor of the Crown was pledged to them. But does the hon. gentleman (Sir Charles) pretend that he had obtained the sanction of the Crown to the appointment of Mr. Angers, or of Mr. Desjardins, or of Mr. Nat White, or of Mr. Gooderham? He cannot pretend anything of the kind. If the hon. gentleman had told His Excellency before the election, "I have advised Mr. Angers to resign in the Senate, but I warn your Excellency that if he is defeated by the people I shall claim the privilege of reappointing him to the Senate," and if His Excellency had agreed to such an extraordinary bargain as that, because it would be nothing short of a bargain, then I can understand that the hon. gentleman would have some ground to stand upon. But he pretends nothing of the kind, and his argument therefore is untenable.

There is another point of difference, and what is it? I am glad, for my part, that we should be able to compare the Canadian Senate to the House of Lords, but there is an immense difference between them, as the hon. gentleman knows. The number of the Senators is limited, and therefore if the Senate is crammed with one party the incoming administration might find it an absolute impossibility to carry on its legislation. On the other hand, the House of Lords is not limited in number, and if the outgoing administration were to make appointments which would be embarrassing to the incoming administration, then the incoming administration has the right of suggesting and making other appointments. There is no similar feature in the Senate here. But there is something more. The hon. gentleman (Sir Charles Tupper) is strong upon the constitution. I charge here against him and his party that so far as the Senate of Canada is concerned they have all along, for the last eighteen years, disregarded the constitution of Canada in the nature of the appointments which they made to that branch of the Legislature. It was one of the well-understood principles at Confederation—and the hon. gentleman referred a moment ago to the debates of the Quebec convention—it was one of the well-understood principles then, that if the Senate was not elective and if it was to be appointed by the Crown, then both political parties should be equally represented on the floor of the Senate. The hon. gentleman has forgotten that rule in practice, although it cannot have escaped his memory.

Mr. Laurier concluded as follows: "The hon. gentleman to-day comes before Parliament for what, to vindicate the constitution? No, sir. The complaint of the hon. gentleman is the last wail of the disappointed office-grabber. All this quibbling and equivocating and pettifogging and hair-splitting is absolutely meaningless, unless there were behind it some moral wrong. But moral wrong there is none in this case. His Excellency committed no harm to anybody and conferred a great benefit upon this nation, because he showed that in this nineteenth century, under the British crown and by the aid of the British crown, the people shall have the government of the people, by the people and for the people. And for this all true Canadians will revere the name of Aberdeen for ever and for ever. (Loud Liberal cheers.

The subject then dropped and the House went into committee of supply and made good progress.

A STEEL COMBINE.

Wrought Iron and Steel Pipe Manufacturers of the U.S. Will Join Together With a Capital of $50,000,000.

New York, Sept. 21.—An evening paper says: Another combination is about to be formed, to consist of the wrought-iron and steel-pipe manufacturers of Pennsylvania. Representatives of the concerns interested will meet to-morrow at the Hotel Waldorf for that purpose, and if the preliminary arrangements are carried through the combination will be on the same lines as the Bessemer Steel-Producers' Association, which was formed in this city last spring.

At present there are 39 plants in America manufacturing wrought-iron and steel pipe, cold drawn seamless tubing and steel-riveted pipe. It is understood that the proposed combination will include the wrought-iron and steel-pipe plants in the country, to the number of 27. About 21 mills are in working condition and have a capacity of about 1,000,000 tons annually. The capital invested is very large, aggregating very nearly $50,000,000.

Last Night at the Opera House.

The Harry Lindley Company opened a three nights' engagement here last evening. The company is an exceptionally good one. Mr. Lindley is, of course, the star, but he is well supported by the other members of the company. Messrs. C. P. Lewis, J. E. Lewis, E. Lee, W. M. Marsh and Adelaide Secord took their parts exceptionally well last evening. Mr. Harry Lindley as Barney Maguire, greatly amused the house which he kept constantly in an uproar of laughter.

Increased Freight Traffic.

The improvement in the freight traffic on the Grand Trunk is so great that the present staff of trainmen between Belleville and Brockville cannot successfully cope with it. Trainmaster Irwin has therefore put on two additional gangs. This means promotions to the position of conductors of Messrs. To fill the places of these spare men as many new hands will be hired.

The Dragoons.

The Canadian Dragoons, under charge of Major Lessard, arrived yesterday afternoon, and the magnificent appearance of the forty men on their splendid steeds, attracted a big crowd at the station, as they paraded from there to the Huffman House. The stables were visited by hundreds this morning, as the animals are beasts such as the eyes of every true horseman would love to dwell upon. This afternoon their exercises on the grounds proved to be marvels of military skill and the horsemanship displayed was indeed something remarkable.

BANQUET AT THE ORIENTAL.

LADY ABERDEEN'S ADDRESS IN ST. PAUL'S.

The Scene at the Exhibition Grounds—An Address to His Excellency—His Reply—Great Attendance of Visitors—The Exhibition Now in Full Swing—A Great Success Assured.

The second and important day of the Peterborough Central Exhibition opened rather unauspiciously. Last night we had a heavy rain fall, but this morning the clouds were rainless and later in the day the clouds cleared away and the sun showed his welcome face.

The chief event of the day was the formal opening of the exhibition by His Excellency, Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada. His Excellency and party consisting of Lady Aberdeen, David Erskine, Esq., of the Royal Scotts Archers, A. D. C., and Capt. Wilberforce, of the "Queen's Boys," A.D.C., arrived by special cars attached to the regular C.P.R. morning express. The car conveying His Excellency's party consisted of the palace car, "Victoria," and another car, 1008.

At 10.30 o'clock the Reception Committee, consisting of Mr. W. H. Moore, chairman; H. Phelan, secretary, and Jas. Stevenson, ex-M.P., James Kendry, M.P., J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., Mr. Geo. E. Elliott, President of the Central Exhibition, waited upon their Excellencies and the vice-regal party was conveyed in carriages, first to the Nicholls hospital, where they were received by the lady superintendent, Miss Bolster, and the Chairman of the Board, Mr. Richard Hall. Their Excellencies were very much pleased with the order and system of management of the hospital, and so expressed themselves.

The next visit was paid to Hazel Brae, the girls' branch of the Barnardo Homes, where the party was received by the ladies in charge, and all the children drawn up in line. The children were decorated with Canada's national emblem, the maple leaf. As the vice-regal party entered the children sang "God Save the Queen." After viewing the establishment His Lordship gave a brief address, in which he expressed the pleasure of himself and Lady Aberdeen at seeing so many children from England, Ireland and Scotland, under such favourable circumstances. He expressed the for their future welfare, and hoped that the excellent training they were receiving would be a real blessing to them in their future lives. At the special request of their Excellencies the children were given a half holiday by Miss Code. On the departure of the vice-regal party the children, with great heartiness, sang "We Shall Meet at Jesus' Feet."

From here the party and their escort drove to St. Joseph's Hospital, Ashburnham, where they were received by the Lady Superior and His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Dr. McGrath. The hospital was visited, and Lady Aberdeen showed her characteristically kindly interest in the patients by extending their special favours.

From here the party drove to St. Paul's church, where Lady Aberdeen delivered an address. Mayor Yelland escorted her ladyship to the doors of the church, where she was taken in hand by Mrs. Jas. Kendry and Mrs. J. R. Stratton, and escorted to the platform from which she delivered her address.

LADY ABERDEEN'S ADDRESS.

So large and represented a ladies' gathering never before assembled in St. Paul's church as gathered there this morning to hear Her Excellency, Lady Aberdeen, give an address, explanatory of the formation of the National Council of Women. The big edifice was crowded from the main floor to the gallery half an hour before Her Excellency arrived and many seats had to be placed in the aisles to accommodate those who were anxious to hear what she had to say and to form an opinion for themselves of her, concerning whom the newspapers have said so much.

The ladies spared no effort to beautify the interior of the church and the choir loft railing and pulpit were almost completely hidden by the beautiful floral decorations.

ON THE ENTRANCE of Lady Aberdeen into the church the National Anthem was played by Miss Mary Grant and those assembled rose until the party reached the platform.

Mrs. Kendry introduced Her Excellency to the large audience and explained that Her Ladyship had graciously acceded to the request to make an address.

In opening her address Lady Aberdeen expressed her great surprise and gratification at meeting so many ladies, as she had anticipated a quiet little conference with a few in regard to the forming of a local branch of the National Council of Women.

One of the greatest happinesses which had come to Her Ladyship, she stated, was the whole-heartedness with which others assisted her in endeavouring to do something to advance the welfare of Canada and and helpfulness which had been extended to her on every side in her on efforts.

The formation of the National Council of Women was the result of a very general movement throughout the world in this direction. It had been felt that much more could be done by united work than by plodding along individually.

In the year of 1888, she stated, a number of women assembled in Washington to endeavour to form one great organization to embrace all women in the United States. Representatives were present from various parts of the world, and all went home on the understanding that an effort was to be made in regard to benefitting the human race through home influence. A perfect organization was not formed, however, until at the World's Fair, when representatives were present from fully thirty different countries. A number of earnest women from Canada were there.

IT WAS THEN DECIDED to permanently organize a Canadian Council and later on she, herself, was elected to the Presidency. From this time the movement has spread until there were now about twenty Councils in Canada. It was found that it was well to have a link between the willing workers who were so anxious to make the homes brighter.

LADY ABERDEEN.

Greater unity was the aim of the society for the purpose of promoting the influence of the Golden Rule in the households of Canada.

When a local Council is formed a meeting is convened of all the different societies, etc., in the entire district. If the general feeling seems to be that it is for the good of the district that a Council be formed, invitations are sent to each of the organizations with whom affiliation is desirable, asking them to federate.

THE EXECUTIVE

is generally formed of the president's of each association, and at the meetings reports are handed in from the different societies stating what work they have accomplished and what they found most difficult. In the latter case the interest and assistance of the other societies was always proffered.

The case of women prisoners formed one of the chief things in which the councils were interested. The introduction of manual education into the schools was another thing to work for. If lessons in cooking and sewing were given in the public schools, it would tend to make many a home brighter in the future. It was now possible to have this manual instruction introduced in any school in Ontario. The appointment of women factory inspectors had been the result of the work of the Council. It could be seen at once for the well being of female factory hands that a woman inspecter should look after their interests.

The National Council formed of all the local councils meets once a year, and from the results of its conferences the members had been greatly benefitted.

The sale of vicious literature of a nature calculated to poison the minds of the young, had been greatly curbed by the efforts of the different councils, when the great harm which was being done was explained to the representatives at the meeting of the National Council.

In closing Lady Aberdeen made a few most affecting remarks concerning the duty of the wives and mothers towards those who were nearest and dearest to them, and appealed strongly to the ladies to use all their influence in the home, the basis where all the grand work of regenerating the world must begin.

ABERDEEN.

Lady Aberdeen, with her sweet winsomeness made a very great impression indeed upon the ladies assembled. Her address was not that of a platform speaker but rather that of a wife and mother conferring with an assemblage of wives and mothers and, as such, her words sank very deeply into the hearts of her hearers.

THE LUNCHEON AT THE ORIENTAL.

His Excellency and staff and the committee of escort arrived at the Oriental Hotel where luncheon was served. The banquetting hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion and a splendid menu was presented with a completeness and taste that reflected the greatest credit upon the management of this popular hoteirie The laying of the tables and the decorations were first class. A delicate compliment to the guest of the day was the presence of a fine bouquet of Scotch heather at the cover of His Excellency. This was contributed by the secretary of St. Andrew's Society to whom the heather had been sent from the old land. The appointments of this luncheon were pronounced by a Globe representative who has followed the tour, to be the of any of the series. The menu was of the most select and elegant character and the service was excellent. About 150 guests, representing past and present representatives in Parliament, Legislature and County and Town Councils sat down. Mr. W. H. Moore presided. After the removal of the cloth, the first toast proposed was "The Queen," which was received with the usual royal enthusiasm, the company singing with great fervor "God Save The Queen to the accompaniment of the Fifty-seventh Battalion Band, which was stationed in the rotenda of the hotel outside the dining room and furnished excellently played selections during the progress of the banquet.

Mr. Moore, in a few eulogistic words, proposed the toast "The Governor-General of Canada," which was received with the most enthusiastic demonstrations of approval. In introducing the toast Mr. Moore stated that, in addition to the eminent official, qualities that distinguished Lord Aberdeen, he had shown his faith in the future of Canada by becoming a land owner in our great Northwest.

Lord Aberdeen in rising to reply, was greeted with a reception whose exceptional cordiality showed how high a place he holds in the esteem of the people. He returned his most cordial thanks and expressed his earnest appreciation for the that had been accorded him in Peterborough. He expressed his great pleasure at meeting and becoming acquainted with the prominent and representative citizens of the town and county. It afforded him the greatest pleasure to visit Peterborough, a most important and progressive town, and though, owing to progressing civic improvements, the town did not present its best appearance, he was glad to know that those improvements were of the highest and most important character. Referring to the provincial portion of the Dominion, His Lordship spoke of the great timber wealth and paid a warm tribute to the Ontario Government for its admirable and far-seeing policy of preserving the forest wealth of the Province, both from unnecessary destruction in the course of commercial development, and also in the admirable measures taken to prevent the destruction of timber by forest fires. His Excellency concluded amidst enthusiastic cheers, by heartily wishing continued success and prosperity to the good town of Peterborough.

Mr. John Burnham, ex-M.P., made a highly humourous and pithy speech in proposing the toast of the HOUSE OF COMMONS AND LOCAL LEGISLATURE.

Mr. Jas. Kendry, M. P., briefly acknowledged the toast, referring to the character and composition of the House of Commons and its evident devotion to the promotion of the interests of the country.

Mr. Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., in responding for the Legislature, spoke highly of the good town of Peterborough, (cheers) its thrift and importance, and to his own long career in the Legislature under Sir Oliver Mowat.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., in speaking to the toast referred to the hearty manner in which the Governor-General had been received, and said the welcome was due as well to his representative capacity as to his high personal qualities. He emphasized the importance of the representative character of our institutions, suggesting the idea that in this respect the smallest representative body was of equal importance to the highest legislature of the realm.

The vice-regal party which was joined at the hotel by Lady Aberdeen, then proceeded, escorted by the Royal Canadian Dragoons, to the Exhibition Grounds, where an immense and enthusiastic crowd awaited their coming.

As the vice-regal party, accompanied by the Reception Committee, drove up to the gate, the guard of honour, under Capt. Miller, Capt. Clegg and Lieut. McGill, formed up at the gate, and on the order gave the general salute. The carriages, escorted by a detachment from the Royal Canadian Dragoons, drove around the ring to platform where the party assembled.

Mr. George Elliott, President of the Association, made a few brief remarks, thanking Their Excellencies for being present to open the Exhibition and stating that he had no doubt but that the attendance this year exceeded that at any of the previous exhibitions.

Mr. W. H. Moore then read the following address of welcome :—

To His Excellency, the Right Honourable, the Earl of Aberdeen, Governor General of the Dominion of Canada :

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,—On behalf of the Town and County of Peterborough and of the Directors of the Peterborough Central Exhibition we take great pleasure in most cordially welcoming you to the town and county and to these grounds and to formally express our thankfulness for your great kindness in being present to formally open our twelfth annual exhibition.

We would also express to you, Her personal representative our unalterable and loyal devotion to the person and crown of Her Most Gracious Majesty, of whose great empire it is our pride to form no unimportant part.

Our gratitude for your presence on this occasion is none the less because your visit is one of a long series of a similar character to different parts of this province, a circumstance which affords gratifying evidence of your personal interest in the promotion of the most important industries of our country, and a proof that your elevated conception of responsibility in respect of your high office can be met by no mere perfunctory and routine discharge of your gubernatorial duties.

While we are naturally proud of the distinction conferred upon us by your present visit, and by the evidence of kindly interest in our welfare which it affords, we can feel but gratification in knowing that we are not alone specially favoured by these circumstances which are only consistent with a record of a public and private career in the Motherland, distinguished by a prominent participation in the support of measures and institutions tending to promote the social and material welfare of the people.

We would now with special pleasure the solicitude Your Excellency has always evinced in the advancement of the great agricultural interest, conjoined as it is, with proof of your practical faith in the future of this great Dominion by becoming an owner of lands in our Northwest, an enterprise which shows that even the promotion of your personal advantage is made the medium of extending great and practical benefits to others.

We would also beg to be permitted to include in our heartfelt welcome your amiable Countess, who has untiringly co-operated with and, if the expression may be allowed, competed with, yourself in numerous projects aiming to benefit and uplift the people, in respect of whom your relations created responsibility; and to express the hope that Your Excellency and Lady Aberdeen may long be spared in health and happiness to continue the course of beneficention and usefulness that has so conspicuously marked the past of your lives.

WM. YELLAND,
Mayor of the Town of Peterborough.
JAMES MIDDLETON,
Warden of the County of Peterborough.
GEO. E. ELLIOTT,
President Central Exhibition.

His Excellency, in reply, expressed his sincere thanks for the loyal manifestation and hearty greeting. In kindness of expression and neatness of wording the address, in his opinion, could not have been surpassed. It was very pleasant to be greeted in this manner and to participate in an exhibition of this nature. He referred especially to the farming interests. In most parts of the world there had been a great depression, but it was a great encouragement to see that the Ontario farmers were bearing up in a very hopeful and courageous spirit, owing, no doubt, to the fertility of the Ontario soil. He saw no long faces in this part of Canada. Farming here was evidently a success. The McKinley tariff had no ill effect but on the contrary the difficulty had been in a large measure overcome by the great revival of trade with the Mother Country. He closed by again offering his thanks for the exceeding cordiality of his greeting.

His Excellency then declared the Exhibition formally opened, after which a large number of those convenient to the platform took advantage of the opportunity of being presented to the Governor General and the Countess of Aberdeen.

THE INTERIOR EXHIBIT.

The exhibit in the main building was in all general respects superior to those of other years.

In the fine art section there was a very creditable display. In oils the exhibit of landscapes, figures and other pictures, while not very large was distinguished by several excellent specimens, which in drawing, colouring and composition indicated the possession and expression of promising artistic qualities.

There was a large collection of crayon photographs, exhibited by a Toronto firm. Prominent among the portraits were those of Lord and Lady Aberdeen.

Water colours were very fairly represented, some excellent work being shown in figures, landscapes and flowers. The paintings on silk were well done, the flowers that formed the subjects being very naturally reproduced. A collection of crayon sketches showed considerable freedom in drawing. The specimens of writing by school children indicated that this branch of school instruction has not been neglected.

Opposite the fine arts department is the dairy department, the proximity of position being perhaps being justified by the cognate processes of drawing that are the first steps in both. Considering that this is an important centre of the best cheese making district in the province, perhaps the display of cheese was by not unduly large, but the quality was of a uniformly high grade of excellence, so much so that the judge had great difficulty in deciding in the matter of awarding the prizes. Some home-made cheese, though doubtless carefully made, demonstrated by comparison at least one fact, that the co-operative system of manufacture is best adapted to to securing high quality and uniformity of quality in cheese. An excellent display of butter was made, and the exhibit was comparatively larger than that of cheese.

The splendid display of grain testified to the excellence of the crops, at least with some farmers, this season. The exibit was large and of excellent quality in all kinds.

Roots and vegetables did not make a very good showing, though the quantity was abundant enough. The dry season was unfavourable to root crops generally, still there were some fine baskets of enormous potatoes shown, and some gigantic squash were worthy of special admiration.

In the domestic department there was a fine show of home-made bread of apparently excellent quality, canned fruits, pickles, maple sugar, honey, etc., etc. But in the field, or rather orchard, of fruit there was a lavishly magnificent layout. Hundreds of pyramids of apples, grand enough to form the subject of another temptation to another mother Eve were displayed on tables around two sides of the second floor of the main building. While the apples in their quantity, as well as quality, were of a high grade of superiority, yet pears and grapes were of such high excellence as to very creditably share the honours. Among the grapes was a trophy of bunches from the vineyards of Mr. E. B. Edwards, not for competition. They were of the Niagara variety and in completeness of cluster and uniformity of berry were splendid specimens of this luscious fruit.

On this floor was found a very fine display of ladies' work. Though the quantity displayed was not so large perhaps as that of other years the quality was greatly superior. In this department a case containing a collection of fine and fancy needle work and lace making was shown (not for competition) by Miss Melville. In delicate excellence of work, as well as in artistic and effective arrangement this collection set lady visitors into ecstacies of admiration. While speaking of ladies handiwork, mention may be made of a decidedly contrasting specimen of feminine handicraft—though not a very common employment of the gentler sex. This was a splendid specimen of wood carving done by Mrs. H. S. Greenwood, town, who, by the way is a daughter of Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere, Minister of Inland Revenue in Mr. Laurier's cabinet. The article on exhibition is a hall settle in oak, and the design and execution of the elaborate ornamentation is of a virile and artistic character that makes the work in question a marvel of design and execution. The same artist shows a fancy chair artistically decorated with burnt wood engraving in a manner that reflects the greatest credit upon the skill and artistic temperament of the fair executant. On this floor are very clever specimens of willow work by Mr. Geo. Armstrong, whose skill deserves additional commendation from the fact of his imperfect vision.

Mr. Elcome, the taxidermist, shows also a clever array of specimens of his skill.

In flowers, growing and cut, there was a keen competition. The chief exhibitors were Messrs. Jordan Bros. and Mr. James Head, though there were several amateurs, who pushed them closely for honours. The display of cut flowers was excellent and the competition was very keen. A beautiful collection of hand and table bouquets testified to the sharp rivalry that characterized these classes.

On the first floor of the main building Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap men, and Grafton & Co., had their usual excellent exhibitions of the capacities of their respective establishments, tastefully displayed.

Mr. S. Moyer, town, exhibited specimens of the Dobbin Down Draught Stove Drums, and Mr. T. M. D. Croly shows his spruce-lined dry air cold storage refrigerator. Messrs. Fortye & Harper show a fine assortment of Gurney & Co's Oxford Ranges and Stoves. Mr. George E. Dies, agent for the R. S. William's Piano Coy., shows several of the fine pianos of this firm, and in the west compartment Miss Rudkins has a beautiful display of the special features of her establishment on George street.

IT has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop. There is no reason why the lungs should remain weak. Weak lungs predispose a child to consumption. They provide a place for germs to settle. That is all that is necessary. Once let the germs of disease gain a foot-hold, and they increase with a deadly rapidity. Pretty soon the blood is full of them, and so loses its healthfulness and its strength-giving qualities. If the weakness is in some other organ, the disease will show itself in that organ. The germ will get into the blood, just the same, and the body will begin to lose strength. We speak particularly of consumption because it is most common—because it causes more than one-sixth of all deaths in the world.

If there is a weak and crumbly spot in the foundation of a house, the owner clears out the decaying material, supplants it with new, strong stuff. That's all there is to do. That's all that's necessary.

That is exactly the thing to do with the lungs. Keep them full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be in the body. It exterminates them completely and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. It supplies the needed nutriment to all the tissues and makes sound, healthy flesh.

There are some interesting facts about it told in one chapter of Dr. Pierce's great work, "Common Sense Medical Adviser." This book of 1008 pages will be sent free on receipt of thirty-one (31) one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. STORM ON LAKE SUPERIOR.

The Steamer Alaska Lost Her Headway. Fell Into the Trough of the Sea and Was Roughly Buffeted.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 19.—Terrific storms are raging on Lake Superior, accompanied by snow and hail. The gale is from the northwest, and as there was little warning of its approach considerable anxiety is felt for the safety of much shipping caught out on the lake. When off Big Bay Point in the storm last night a steam pipe on the steamer Alaska burst. Nothing could be done to repair it until the steam was exhausted. The vessel lost her headway, fell into the trough of the sea and experienced the roughest handling in her history, as a terrible sea was running. The entire cargo between decks, consisting chiefly of paving cement, cocoanut oil, molasses and patent medicines, was ruined, filling the deck with a thick, viscid mixture. The machinery was slightly damaged by the breaking of small pipes and connecting rods. The bulwarks were knocked out by the rolling barrels of cement, and the forward rail had to be cut away in order to drop the starboard anchor while lying to to repair the burst pipe.

LIVELY TIME AT CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, Sept. 20.—The steamer Yukon, loaded with iron ore, stranded yesterday on the beach 200 feet from shore, and all efforts to pull her off proved unavailing. The ship was scuttled and will not be taken off for several days.

Yesterday was the most exciting day that has been experienced in the local harbor for several years. The life saving crew had all the work it could attend to. Several disasters resulted from the storm and vesselmen and passengers were badly scared, but no lives were lost. The tug Gregory, which went to assist the Yukon, was disabled and had to be towed to shore. Captain Vosburg of the Gregory was at the wheel and had his arm broken.

The yacht Matt P. was rescued by the life saving crew and two more boats were saved from disaster.

Like Ordinary Mortals Subject to Kidney Disease but Easily Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Nesbitt, a county constable of this place having suffered for a long time with kidney disease, he became aware that the doctor called it Diabetes, and incurable. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

GEN. GROSVENOR'S COUNT.

He Shows 278 Votes, or 54 More Than Necessary to Elect, Which are Practically Sure for McKinley.

Athens, O., Sept. 20.—General Grosvenor to-night gave out a table of estimates of the probable result of the Presidential election at the request of certain members of the press in the East. He said: "The six New England States, with 30 electoral votes, will go to McKinley, so I have my tables as follows: New England 30, New York 36, New Jersey 10, Maryland 8, Delaware 3, Pennsylvania 32, West Virginia 6, Ohio 23, Indiana 15, Illinois 24, Michigan 14, Wisconsin 12, Iowa, 13, Minnesota 9, South Dakota 4, Kentucky 13, Oregon 4, Washington 4, California 9; total 278. Here is a total of 278 votes, or 54 more than sufficient to elect, all of which are practically sure for McKinley.

"Next I come to some States which are still in doubt, but which, under the high tide of Republican success now sweeping over the country, will be almost sure to vote for McKinley; if not all of them, at least a very large proportion of them, to wit: Kansas 10, Nebraska 8, North Carolina 11, North Dakota 3, Wyoming 3; total 35.

"Here are 35 electoral votes from which McKinley will surely receive enough to make good any accident that may befall the total of 278.

"Of the remaining States—Louisiana 8, Tennessee 12, Missouri 17, Texas 15, Virginia 12; total 64—one or more are in the line of possibility, I might almost say reasonable probability.

"I concede to Bryan: Alabama 11, Arkansas 8, Colorado 4, Florida 4, Georgia 13, Idaho 3, Mississippi 9, Montana 3, Nevada 3, South Carolina 9, Utah 3. These are practically sure for the opposition, although there may be a possible dispute even along the line."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a secret preparation. Any physician may have the formula on application. The secret of its success as a medicine lies in its extraordinary power to cleanse the blood of impurities and cure the most deep-seated cases of blood-disease.

McCORMICK IS FOR GOLD.

The Chicago Harvester Firm Said to Have Instructed Their Agents to Peddle Sound Money Literature.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—The Democratic Committee claimed yesterday to have received a copy of a circular letter, which had been sent by the McCormick Harvesting Machine Company of Chicago, to its agents throughout the West, telling them to supply their travelers with gold literature and instruct them to use it among the farmers, the same as advertising matter of the firm. J. A. Wilson, the agent of the company at Carthage, Mo., who received one of the letters, is said to have replied as follows: "You are on a cold trail. Missouri will give Bryan 60,000 majority. If these letters are written by authority of your company, any Missouri former who uses a McCormick harvester deserves to sell his wheat for 40 cents a bushel."

Ben. F. Shively, the Democratic nominee for Governor of Indiana, conferred with the campaign managers about the work in his state. F. S. Fletcher of Jaskson, Tenn., was a caller. He is a Bryan supporter, but he admitted that the nominee would run 50,000 behind the nominee for Governor, ex-Governor Taylor, ascribing the loss to the growth of the gold sentiment in Tennessee. In the Memphis district, he said, Congressman Josiah Patterson, the regular Democratic nominee, was supporting Bryan, but talking for gold on the stump. He said, however, that Bryan would carry the state by 20,000.

THACHER WILL GO THE TICKET.

Albany, N.Y., Sept. 20.—John Boyd Thacher, nominee of the Democratic State Convention for Governor, has addressed a letter to the chairman of the State Committee. He states that he will vote for Bryan and Sewall, but that he has not changed his views on the silver question, and stands now where he did with the New York delegates in June. He assumes that the convention which nominated him was aware of his position.

TWEED TOPICS.

Mrs. James Davenport Makes a Statement for the Benefit of Others.

Mrs. Davenport is well-known in Tweed, and this is how she spoke to our representative concerning Doan's Kidney Pills. Said Mrs. Davenport:—

"I have suffered for some years from dizziness, puffing under the eyes, pains in the side and back, sleeplessness, poor appetite, and, in fact, was in a bad state generally.

"I took two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at P. K. Newton's drugstore, and experienced immediate relief from their use.

"I am now very much better indeed; appetite improved, pain almost disappeared and I feel stronger and healthier in every particular.

"I can heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney trouble."

Calais, Maine, Sept. 20.—John Sullivan, was arrested in Alexander, Me., early this morning by a posse of police from this city. Sullivan is wanted in New Brunswick. He is suspected of being implicated in the murder of Mrs. Eliza Dutcher and her son Harris at Meadowsbrook, near Moncton, N.B., some days ago. Sullivan left Moncton the morning after the murder and was located through letters from Moncton addressed to Frank McDonald, Milltown, Maine. Yesterday a man called for a letter for this address and he was followed to Alexander, where Sullivan was found in bed and arrested without resistance. Sullivan refuses to make any statement, except to assert his innocence. He says he will not go back voluntarily. An application for requisition papers will be made tomorrow.

The Danger is Averted by Using

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

A FISHERMAN'S WORK

INTERESTING INFORMATION ABOUT THE USE OF THE GILL NET.

Deep Fishing in the Great Canadian Lakes—How the Long Lines of Fine Meshes Are Dropped to Great Depths —Taking Up the Varied Catch.

By far the greater part of the fishing of the great lakes is done with the gill net and pound net. A few lake trout are taken with the hook and line through the ice every winter and by trolling on the shoals in the fall, but the bulk of the fish are caught with these two nets. The pound net is a comparatively recent invention and came into use about thirty or forty years ago, but the gill net has been used since the early part of the century.

The gill net is about five feet in width and 250 to 300 feet in length and is made of linen thread As it comes from the manufacturers it is gathered together in a string, wound into balls and sold by the pound. The first thing that the fisherman does with it is to "string it up"—that is, to fasten a stout cord to each edge in such a way that the meshes are held open. When set the net forms a sort of fence standing on the bottom of the lake, each end being anchored with a large stone and marked by a buoy, which floats on the surface of the water. To keep it upright, one edge is provided with floats and the other with sinkers. "Corks and leads," as they are called, are usually used for this purpose and are placed opposite each other, ten or twelve feet apart.

As a general thing the "cork" is not really a cork at all, but is made of the bark of the whitewood or some other tree—sometimes of cedar wood—and is prepared by boiling in linseed oil until it is almost impervious to water. It is round and is about six inches long and an inch and a half in diameter. A hole penetrates it from end to end and the cord on the upper edge of the net is passed through it. The lead is considerably smaller, but has much the same shape and is fastened to the other edge of the net in the same manner. Stones and home-made cedar floats are used by some fishermen instead of corks and lead, each one being tied to the net with a bit of light cord. The stones are three or four inches long, such as can be picked up on the shore almost anywhere.

The home-made floats are always of white cedar and are shaped somewhat like a cigar, greatly elongated, slightly flattened and pointed at one end. They are a little over two feet in length and an inch and a half in width and are made of this shape because they are easily handled when the net is being raised and because the fisherman has an idea that they are less likely to scare the fish than more bulky pieces of wood. Not being coated with oil, they soon become water-soaked, and have to be taken ashore every few days to dry. When in use the larger end of each float is fastened to the net by the string and the other end points straight up toward the surface and lifts on the net with a buoyancy which is sufficient to keep it upright, but not enough to lift the stones from the bottom. A stick called the brail-stick is usually fastened across the end of the net to act as a stretcher.

The thread of which the meshes are made is so fine that the fish, swimming along near the bottom in search of food, does not notice it in the dim light, and the first thing he knows he is caught by the gills or fins and can neither go ahead nor back out. It is the fact that fish are so often caught by the gills that gives its name to this form of net. The smaller fish often go through without being caught unless, as sometimes happens to the trout and herring, they have their mouths open and one of the threads catches between their lips or in their teeth. Then they struggle until they generally get themselves hopelessly tangled up. A very diminutive herring will sometimes make a worse snarl than will a ten-pound whitefish.

Of course the size of the fish that are taken depends mainly on the size of the meshes, the large mesh nets taking very few small fish. Of late years the law has forbidden the use of a very fine mesh in order to prevent the killing of fish that are only half grown. The mesh is usually described by giving the combined length of two of its sides, a three-inch mesh being an inch and a half square. No fisherman is allowed to use anything smaller than a four and one-quarter-inch mesh for taking whitefish and trout.

The buoy which is placed at each end of the net is generally a long pole with a large block of wood fastened to it near the middle. The rope which runs down to the anchor stone draws one end down and makes the other stand up out of the water, and to the upper end there is generally fastened a small flag, a branch of a tree or some other object which is easily seen from a distance.

When the fisherman is ready to "raise" he always notes the direction of the wind and begins at the leeward end of the net. If he started at the windward end his boat would be liable to drift along faster than he could haul in and the net would become badly tangled. If the wind is at right angles to the net he has little to choose between the two buoys and raising is apt to be a difficult matter in such a case if it blows very hard. Running up to the buoy he lays hold of the net and begins to pull it up hand over hand. The first thing that appears is the anchor stone, then the forked rope that runs to the ends of the brail stick, then the stick itself and then the net.

The net is not allowed to remain spread out, but as soon as the fisherman has fairly got hold of it he gathers it together and handles it just as if it were a rope, usually coiling it in a box which stands beside him. Gathering the net together in a string not only makes it easier to handle but also prevents its becoming tangled, for if it was not done the floats and sinkers would be certain to catch in the meshes and there would soon be a snarl which might require hours to straighten out.

As each fish appears the fisherman pauses for a moment—and sometimes for several moments—to extricate him from the meshes of the net. They are of all kinds and sizes, some dead and some alive. Now it is a big trout with dark back, mottled gray sides and white belly. He has tried to force his way through, and, as the threads slipped back over his head and shoulders (if one may speak of a fish as having shoulders) to where his body is larger, they drew tighter and tighter until he was fairly squeezed to death. The meshes hold him so firmly that it takes some time to get him out. Now it is a whitefish, the finest flavored fish in the world. Then comes a little herring, caught by his mouth and still squirming, his silvery scales gleaming so brightly that one sees him while he is still far down below the surface, and fancies that something big is coming. After him comes another trout, alive and held only by his lower jaw and one gill. He, too, had his mouth open and the threads have caught in his sharp, thorn-like, backward-pointing teeth and held him fast. He doesn't like it a bit, and is still making desperate efforts to get away. Then come more whitefish, a lawyer, a sucker and occasionally a long stretch of empty netting.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N.Y.

In some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is rapid. For this reason we put up a 50c. size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children.

In other conditions gain must be slow, sometimes almost imperceptible, health can't be built up in a day. For this Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment, food rather than medicine, food prepared for tired and weak digestions.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD

Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporizing measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why, should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

IT WOULD MEAN WAR

If Britain Fired a Single Shot Against Turkey.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE POWERS

Which Binds England Not to Take Action in Turkey—All Troops in Southern Russia Ready for Active Service—Black Sea Fleet on a War Footing.

Constantinople, Sept. 21.—The Porte has received an official report stating that 600 persons were killed in the recent disturbances at Eguin, in the Diarbekr district of Armenia. The Kurds attacked the Armenian quarter of the town, pillaged and burned the houses, and killed as many of the inhabitants as they could find. Numbers of the Armenians succeeded in making their escape to the mountains. The town of Eguin purchased immunity from invasion by the Kurds in 1895, and the people were not molested at that time, though massacres occurred on all sides. The report says it is feared that the massacres will soon take place in other districts of Anatolia.

It is feared here that the massacre at Eguin is the beginning of a fresh series of massacres in Armenia, which was anticipated after the massacres which have just been ended here.

A special Cabinet meeting has been held at the Palace in order to consider plans for completing the defences of the Dardanelles as proposed by the Russian General Tschikatcheff, who inspected these fortifications some time ago.

Artim Pasha, the Turkish Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs, has been instructed to accomplish the reconciliation of the Government with the Armenians, the means suggested being that the Armenians should send an address to the Sultan praying for protection, asserting that the Armenians are always loyal, and condemning the agitators.

A PROTEST.

Manchester, Sept. 21.—Eight thousand persons attended a meeting here yesterday to protest against the Turkish treatment of the Armenians. The Bishop of Manchester presided at the meeting.

BOMBS FOUND.

Constantinople, Sept. 21.—The following articles were among the explosives discovered yesterday at Pera: Five monster bombs of a diameter of 28 centimetres (about 11 inches), and weighing 13 kilograms (about 28 lbs. 10 1-2 ounces), 21 of smaller sizes, four boxes of dynamite, 28 bottles of nitroglycerine, 40 yards of tarred cotton ignition fuses, three suspicious boxes.

A LIVERPOOL MEETING.

London, Sept. 21.—Mr. Gladstone is announced to speak at a meeting to be held in Liverpool on Thursday to protest against the Armenian atrocities. Lord Derby will preside over the meeting.

MORE MASSACRES.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Minister Terrell cables the State Department that he is advised from Harpoot that serious massacres have occurred at Kock and Seazs.

IF BRITAIN FIRED A SHOT

It Would Mean a European War, Owing to an Agreement Between the Powers.

London, Sept. 21.—At a meeting held to-night in Shoreditch to protest against the massacre of Christians by Turks, a most important announcement was made, which it is believed puts an end to all conjecture regarding the action that might be taken by the British Government in the direction of putting an end to the massacres by force, or deposing the Sultan. The statement was made by John Lowles, member of the House of Commons for the Haggerston division of Shoreditch. He said that if England had a free hand in the matter, very few days would elapse before there would be a change in Turkey. He then added that he was authorized by the Foreign Office to say that Great Britain was confronted by an agreement between the three powers, that if she attacked Turkey on any excuse or pretext she would have to face that combination. If she fired a single shot or took action alone, it would mean that at that moment there would be a European war.

RUSSIA PREPARES FOR WAR.

Black Sea Fleet Put on a War Footing and Troops Ready for Active Service.

London, Sept. 21.—The Times will to-morrow publish a despatch from Sebastopol, saying that the Russian Black Sea fleet has been put on a war footing, and that three battalions of infantry have embarked. Part of the fleet is cruising off Otchakoff, at the mouth of the Dnieper River, 40 miles from Odessa, under orders that if its commander receives a telegram from M. Nelidoff, the Rusian Ambassador to Turkey, it must join the remainder of the fleet leaving Sebastopol, and go direct to the Bosphorus. The despatch adds that all the troops in south Russia are ready for active service.

The Champion Sculler Cheered in Toronto.

FIREWORKS AND MUSIC GALORE.

Cycling, Boating and Athletic Clubs in Line—A Purse of $700 in Gold Presented Along With a Flattering Address—The Orillia Boy Carries His Honors Modestly.

Toronto, Sept. 23.

Rome of old never accorded to a Caesar or an Antony, returning victorious from the provinces, such a brilliant triumphal procession as that which the Queen City last night tendered Jacob G. Gaudaur, back from the scene of his prowess on the Thames. As at the Olympic games the Greeks greeted their heroes with acclamations and crowned them with wreaths of laurel, so did the people of Toronto, even as one man, yester evening do homage to the champion oarsman of the world.

From the moment of his entry into the city by boat at the foot of Yonge-street, until four hours later he sought the quietude of his hotel, Gaudaur's every movement was watched by thousands upon thousands of enthusiastic citizens. The nine miles of city streets through which he was conducted amidst inspiriting music and blazing fireworks, and followed by a great string of illuminated trolley cars, and fantastically-decorated bicycles, were simply thronged with men, women and children. And those who welcomed the champion were not confined to any class or classes. From the least to the greatest the people of our city joined in applauding the man who, in honoring himself, has brought honor to Canada.

The demonstration wound up with the presentation of a handsome purse to the champion and a series of congratulatory addresses delivered from the bandstand in Queen's Park.

ON THE STEAMER CORONA.

A Party of 500 Went Over and Took the Champion Aboard at Lewiston.

About 500 greeted the champion on his arrival at Lewiston. The Chicora carried 100 over in the early morning and the rest went across at 2 o'clock on the Corona. Jake was informally greeted by everyone on shore, and shortly after the return journey on the Corona started several speakers told him how he had honored his country by capturing the championship.

The 48th Highlanders' band, under Leader Thomas Griffin, was on the Corona both ways, and played a splendid assortment of popular airs. Jake was greeted with the Maple Leaf at Lewiston and everyone cheered.

It was at the dock at Niagara-on-the-Lake that excitement reigned supreme. As the Corona drew up the band of the 12th Royal Rangers and about 100 volunteers and officers of the same regiment and the 35th Battalion were there to cheer the great sculler. While the boat lay to, the band struck up the "Maple Leaf," "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," "Rule Britannia," and then everyone on the dock demanded a speech from Jake, who was on the bridge. Aloft the aquatic giant was at his best. He thanked everyone for the great reception. He was proud to win the championship for Canada. He would retain the title as long as it lay in his power.

"And when I lay down the sculls," he wound up, "I earnestly hope that some other Canadian will take it and defend it."

All the ladies were introduced to Mr. Gaudaur on the boat. Among them was Miss Gaudaur, who warmly welcomed her famous brother, and then the crowd gave a rousing cheer for the champion's handsome sister. Jake mingled among the passengers two hours coming home, and although the water was rough the pleasant time and incidental excitement gave everyone good sea legs. There was little or no sickness.

Gaudaur had nothing to say of the future, only that all his championship races would be rowed in Canada. He goes to Orillia to-night, where his welcome will be formally given on Friday.

Speaking of the race, it was a hard one, he admitted, but after getting well under way, the issue was never in doubt, in his mind at least. He rowed in a Clasper shell with English sculls, and he cannot speak too highly of the outfit. His opponent sat in a Swaddel. It will be remembered that Hanlan rowed his races in England years ago in shells made by Swaddel & Winship. The last-named is now foreman in Clasper's establishment, while a son of Swaddel at present conducts the old business.

THE SCENE ON FRONT-STREET.

Enormous Crowds Assembled to Welcome Canada's Own Jake Gaudaur.

Front-street, east of Church, presented a livelier appearance at half-past 8 last night than it has, perhaps, at any time before. The long line of illuminated cars that had assembled for their jubilant human freight stretched along the street away past the City Hall. The cars presented a most pleasing sight, the iridescent effects from the thousands of colored lamps lighting up the pleased and expectant faces of the immense crowd that had been in waiting for over an hour for the coming of the champion. Fireworks had been supplied in abundance to the occupants of the special cars. Some of these got into the hands of the ubiquitous small boy, who commenced to blaze away Roman candles before the committee had intended. The small boys' example was taken up by the shivering occupants of the cars, and they amused themselves by firing blue balls into the upper windows, which were crowded with ladies and their escorts. Harry Piper rushed around for a while to stop the undue pyrotechnic display, and by the time he had accomplished his mission the bands of the Queen's Own and 48th Highlanders were heard rendering the invigorating strains of "See, the Conquering Hero Comes."

After a squad of mounted policemen had made an aperture in the crowd, a drag drove up, and on the box was the world's champion oarsman. He was received with deafening cheers. In response to which he waved his hat again and again. He was assisted from his elevated position on the drag to the gaily-decorated car, on which was the shell that he rowed his famous race in, and brought back to Canada the laurels which Ned Hanlan nobly held for so long. The car which contained the champion and his shell was in itself a grand feature of the procession. It was simply a great mass of the glorious maple leaf in all of its prettiest shades. The shell appeared to the floating on the pretty foliage, and the effect was grand. The champion took up his position standing on a platform at the bow of the shell. Apparently he endeavored to say something, but his voice was drowned amid the deafening shouts of welcome and the continuous cheers of the vast throng.

The whole of the car procession by this time was a mass of sparks and other attributes to fireworks. Strong-lunged men, young and old, joined in singing "The Maple Leaf," "Rule, Britannia," "The Red, White and Blue," and "God Save the Queen," and amid all this clamor the procession moved off.

The route taken was right along Front to York, thence to King. Thousands and thousands of people lined the streets, and, as soon as the first car, its front emblazoned with the word, "Moonlight," appeared in sight, the people began to cheer. As the procession passed Yonge-street Patrol-Sergeant Dilworth and his squad of police had a hard task to force the immense crowd back from the car tracks. The Grenadiers' Band, on the first car, led the procession, followed by a car containing the Mayor, the aldermen, members of the committee and newspaper men. Prominent people, guests of the committee, filled the next car, and then came the big maple leaf float, containing the champion and his boat. Then there was a procession of bicyclists in all kinds of calithumpian attire.

The Toronto Rowing Club's two cars came next. They were beautifully decorated with blue and white bunting and national flags.

The cars were crowded with fellow-club members of the famous oarsmen, to whom tribute was being tendered. Along the side of the first car was a streamer containing the words, "Welcome To Gaudaur. Toronto Rowing Club, 1854-1896."

The Argonauts' car followed. They had a band all their own. It was composed of Trombone Barker and Drummer Brooke, and its efforts were fortunately drowned by the noise made by the occupants of the car.

Next to the Argonauts were the Don Rowing Club, in a car gaily decorated with banners and streamers, announcing welcome to the champion.

Another mixed crowd of bicyclists, big and little, were sandwiched in between the Dons and the next car.

Prominent yachtsmen of the Royal Toronto Sailing Club made up a lot of the number.

Then came the Athenaeum Cycling Club in a very fancy car, followed by another containing the Toronto Bicycle Club members. The sturdy road riders of the Royal Canadian Bicycle Club were in the next car, while a number of their fellow-members wheeled it in company with the Ramblers' Cycling Club, who followed with an excellent turnout of wheels gaily decorated with Chinese lanterns and pretty bunting.

After a long stretch of bicycles came the Gore Vale Football Club on a car. Then there were a number of cars marked: "Public cars, fares 50c, to be donated to the Gaudaur purse." These cars were not very well patronised; but, to be charitable, let it be supposed that it was the cold night that kept them from being crowded.

The band of the Queen's Own and the Queen's Own Bugle Band were in the next car. Then came the champion Elm Lacrosse Club, in, perhaps, the prettiest car in the whole procession. It was a mass of leaves, flags and bunting, and on top of the car, extending almost to the trolley wire, was a handsome banner of welcome to the champion oarsman.

The Church Boys' Brigade followed, and if their car was not the most handsomely decorated, it was, perhaps, the most noisy and jubilant. The Checkers Lacrosse Club were in a car next, and they were followed by the car of the National Yacht and Skiff Club. Then came another big procession of bicyclists, and in their wake the Kilties' pipers and two cars containing members of the Caledonian Society and the 48th Highlanders.

Following the Scotchmen was a car crowded with enthusiastic Young Grits, the rear of their conveyance being adorned with a striking likeness of the Premier.

This ended the street car portion of the procession, and then came about 500 bicycle men. The Queen City Club, with their plug hats, black clothes and white ties, were a striking feature, and the Wanderers ably contributed to the festivities by well-intentioned efforts in the way of blowing tin horns. The rest of the bicyclists were composed of members of the various clubs, and particularly the Tourists made a good showing. Fun was created amongst them by those wheelers who had taken the trouble to deck themselves up as new women, burlesque negroes and other absurd costumes. One man was dressed as Mephisto.

The procession continued along King to Sherbourne, to Bloor, to Spadina, to King, to Yonge, to College, to Queen's Park. All along the route the people had turned out in vast numbers, and to them the champion could only raise his hat and smile appreciation of their cordial welcome.

Arrived at Queen's Park-avenue, the champion descended from the decorated float upon which he had toured the streets and was conducted by a procession of tally-hos to the platform in Queen's Park. As he approached the stand the band rendered "The Maple Leaf" in spirited fashion.

Gaudaur's appearance upon the platform was the signal for a great outburst of applause from the thousands who there awaited his coming. The stand was hung with fantastically colored Chinese lanterns, and above the platform were placed two huge portraits, one of Edward Hanlan, labelled, "World's Champion, 1878," and one of Jake Gaudaur, bearing the inscription, "World's Champion, 1896." Beneath the pictures were seated the champion and ex-champion, and among those who stood near were: Mayor Fleming, E. F. Clarke, M.P., E. B. Osler, M.P., Ald. O. B. Sheppard, Harry Piper, ex-Ald. John Shaw, E. King Dodds, Harry Good, T. A. World, J. S. Willison, John Laxton and R. B. Ryckman.

By way of opening the proceedings, the Mayor said: "I have now the honor to introduce Mr. Jacob Gaudaur, champion oarsman of the world." (Cheers.)

Proceeding, His Worship stated that 20 years ago Toronto had secured the sculling championship of the world through the prowess of Edward Hanlan. In 1896 Toronto and the Dominion of Canada had been brought prominently before the world by the victories of Mr. William O'Connor. And now, 10 years later, the City of Toronto and the Dominion of Canada were again brought prominently before the world by the triumph of J. G. Gaudaur. To-night they were participating in one of the biggest demonstrations ever accorded any man in Canada.

The Mayor then, amidst tremendous cheering, presented the champion with the following address, handsomely framed and illuminated:

"To Jacob G. Gaudaur;

"Dear Sir,—On behalf of the citizens of the City of Toronto, the Queen City of the West, we desire to offer you our heartiest congratulations upon your recent victory and obtaining the much-coveted distinction of champion oarsman of the world. When the welcome news was flashed across the broad waters of the Atlantic that one of Canada's hardy sons had again won this great distinction and honor, a glad throb of delight swept the country from end to end. As a slight appreciation felt by your countrymen, they ask you to accept this expression of their esteem, with the accompanying purse, and they beg to assure you of their sincere wishes that you will ever be ready to defend the honorable title you have gained for yourself and our beloved Canada, the land of the maple leaf.

"Robert J. Fleming, Mayor; Thomas A. E. World, secretary; R. L. Patterson, treasurer.

"Toronto, Sept. 22, 1896."

Mr. R. L. Patterson next handed Gaudaur a marked cheque for $700, stating that this would be followed by a larger one in a few days, as contributions were still being received.

Now the champion sculler arose to his feet, and the people had a chance to hear him talk. In a manly, straightforward manner, and without any apparent nervousness, Gaudaur said: "Gentlemen and brother-Canadians,—I am not much of a speech-maker. I am proud of bringing back the championship to Canada, and when back the championship to Canada, and when my turn comes to lay down the sculls, I hope another will be ready to take them up on behalf of Canada."

He concluded by saying that he would now give Hanlan a chance to say a few words.

The ex-champion came in for a hearty round of applause. He assured the gathering that he was very proud that Jacob G. Gaudaur had brought back to Canada the championship, which he (the speaker) had lost in Australia. He paid a tribute to the sportsmanship of the Antipodeans, and stated that he had simply done the best he could when out there. Gaudaur had said that he was not good at speech-making, but when he (the speaker) first won fame as an oarsman he was not good at talking, either. Since then he had made many after-dinner speeches. Perhaps if he had not attended so many banquets and dinners he would be a better oarsman than he was now. If that were so, he hoped Gaudaur would never become a good after-dinner speaker. He hoped that when Gaudaur retired Canada would have another champion to take his place.

Mayor Fleming here stated that Gaudaur had been presented with an address and a purse, and he had now to announce a third presentation. His wife had to-day presented him with a splendid boy. Being corrected by some in the crowd: His Worship stated that it was not a boy, it was a girl. The Mayor made a further announcement that Gaudaur undertook to row anyone that might challenge him on Toronto Bay.

His Worship then presented the champion with a bouquet of roses from the Tourists' Cycling Club.

Mr. E. B. Osler, M.P., being then called upon, stated that it gave him much pleasure to add to the testimonies to Gaudaur. He and Mr. E. F. Clarke represented Canada in welcoming the new champion. Canadians could do no greater honor or good to their country than by encouraging sportsmanship and applauding manly athletes like Jacob G. Gaudaur.

Mr. E. F. Clarke, M.P., said he had never before had the opportunity of addressing an audience from a platform on which sat a champion and an ex-champion oarsman of the world. Canada needed such men. He remarked that for years past the fight for the championship of the world in sculling had been carried on by different sections of the Anglo-Saxon race, all under the one flag. When Gaudaur had been as long a champion as Hanlan he would doubtless be as good a speaker.

Mayor Jupp of Orillia expressed his pleasure at being present on such an occasion. He had not expected such a tremendous demonstration in Toronto. If any man had striven for the honor he had gained it was Jacob G. Gaudaur. Ten years ago he had been defeated on the Thames, but, nothing daunted, he had come back, and year after year patiently paddled up and down the Narrows until another opportunity came. If anybody was to wrest the championship from Gaudaur he hoped it would be a Torontonian.

Ex-Ald. John Shaw joined his voice in the chorus of plaudits. He was sorry to see the Mayor was fast developing sporting proclivities. Boating was the most popular sport in Canada, not even excepting bicycling. He would ride a wheel himself as soon as the Mayor put down the cinder paths.

A voice: "And gives us Sunday cars."

Mr. E. B. Ryckman felt that no city taxes had ever been expended in a better way than in getting up this demonstration. He spoke of the prowess of Canada in all lines of sport throughout the present year.

Ald. Sheppard said that he considered Gaudaur a typical Canadian. None of his family had ever left Canada.

THE TARIFF POLICY

Discussed in the House of Commons Yesterday.

THE EX-MINISTER OF FINANCE

Wants the Government to Bring Down a Revised Tariff Forthwith and Moves a Resolution to That End—Vigorous Reply of Sir Richard Cartwright.

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—In the House this afternoon Mr. Rogers, the Patron member, introduced a bill respecting the Senate and Commons. The bill, he explained, came under the head of one of the planks of "our" platform. The Patrons felt that the masses of the people were under the control of the railway companies, who were a shrewd people, who granted no favors to anybody, without the expectation of benefit in return. The people should not be under compliment to the railway companies for anything. The feeling of the country is that Parliament is influenced to some extent by this matter of passes, and something should be done about it. The press of both parties were in favor of action, and it was in the interest of the Government that they should take it up.

After the orders of the day Mr. Foster took up the tariff question and made a long speech, in which he advocated an immediate declaration by the Government of its policy in regard to the tariff. He said honorable gentlemen opposite had for 18 years pursued a policy of uncompromising hostility to the protective principle. Yet time with its softening influences and pressure of party hand, brought these gentlemen in a few years from being the strongest and most rabid opponents of protection to a belief in an opposite doctrine, whatever that doctrine for the time being might be. Successive resolutions in the House proved it. Yet, ever and anon, gentlemen outside say that when these honorable gentlemen come to revise the tariff next year, the Govrnment will not destroy the principle of protection, nor eradicate the practice of protection from the statute books of the country. It, therefore, became necessary to review this mass of anti-protection declaration in order to show that if sincere therein the Government could not but eliminate the protective system

After further arguments which he has frequently voiced in the House and on the hustings, Mr. Foster continued:

When Mr. Laurier comes down with his revision, will his new tariff be a revenue tariff with every vestige of protection eliminated? He will find it difficult to square his theories of 20 years with the demands of honest common sense in dealing with the basic facts of the tariff.

What Mr. Laurier should have done was to have had his tariff ready and down and passed at the present session—(Ministerial cries of dissent)—with a principle established such as the Liberals last declared for. A tariff could be framed in ten days. The delay was due either to party inaptitude or to party tactics, and for either it was not justiable to paralyze the business interests of the country for one moment.

Six o'clock.

Mr. Foster, continuing after recess, said Mr. Laurier might have no particular interest in this matter, but in this country, from British Columbia to Cape Breton, men who toiled from early morning until late at night, although Mr. Blair had no particular love for that kind of creature—(Opposition cheers)—had a deep interest in this matter, and farmers, had they not also a deep and abiding interest in this question? If labor ceases to be employed labor ceases to buy. (Hear, hear.) Hence purchases of farmers' products would be diminished. To-day there was $400,000,000 of capital invested in the manufacturing industries of this country, and the men who had invested this money had a right to ask Mr. Laurier not to keep them on the ragged edge of uncertainty for six or nine months longer, to the great loss of business and the utter negation of the employment of fresh capital in this country, merely to suit his party advantage.

It was the duty of the Government to make a full and frank admission of their intentions now, so that manufacturers and business men might be able to arrange their business to meet the inevitable change when it may come.

Mr. Campbell (Kent): What is it?

Mr. Foster concluded by moving the following resolutions:

"That since 1875, the Liberal party in Canada has in the main evinced uncompromising hostility to the principle and practice of protection as applied to the producing interests of Canada. That, during the period, the leaders and organs of the party have from time to time advocated: (a) Commercial union with the United States. (b) continental free trade, (c) unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, with discrimination against Great Britain and other countries, (d) free trade as practised in Great Britain, and (e) tariff for revenue only, in which there should be no vestige of protection.

"That the authoritative platform of the Liberal party in 1893 declared that the customs tariff of the Dominion should be based, not as now, upon the 'protective principle,' which it denounced as radically unsound and unjust to the masses of the people, and resolved as the conviction of the party, 'That any tariff changes founded on that principle must fail to afford any substantial relief from the burdens under which the country labors.'

"That the Government, through its leader, has announced its determination not to introduce any measure dealing with the tariff during the present session.

"That the platform of the Liberal party and the utterances of the leader of the party and its principal organs and supporters have led the country to believe that a radical change is imminent in the principle upon which the revision of the tariff is to be based.

"That the uncertainty and delay consequent upon these announcements will result in great disturbance in business and serious loss to the commercial and producing interests of the country.

"That this House, while willing to allow reasonable time to perfect details, is of the opinion that a declaration of the principle upon which the Government propose to base their tariff revision should be at once made, and that no tariff will be wise or satisfactory which does not proceed upon the basis of an adequate and sufficient protection for the producing interests of the country."

Sir Richard Cartwright replied. At the outset he twitted Mr. Foster with having forgotten after dinner his remarks during the afternoon. First, he had declared the necessity for an immediate production of the new tariff, while after dinner he urged care and deliberation in dealing with that "great institution," the protective policy. There are certain conditions in which a tariff can be brought down in ten days, and these are when the Finance Minister is the mouthpiece of combinesters and the Ministry their paid agents. But it is different with a Government, carefully considering the weighty project as it deserves. The Conservatives in 1878 took six or seven months to bring down their tariff, and before Mr. Foster understood his tariff revision in 1893 he conducted an inquiry lasting over months. First, the present Government must ascertain the exact needs of the public service. Great was Mr. Laurier's responsibility as Premier, and against none could the charge of being an academic theorist be levelled more properly than against Mr. Foster, with his proposal of a tariff revision in ten days. The importers, Sir Richard contended, were not complaining at the delay. As for the N. P., it had been a ghastly failure—it has heaped up debt, retarded settlement of the Northwest, and prevented an increase of population. It had succeeded in breeding the grossest political corruption that had been known in any country. While now Mr. Foster railed against reciprocity, the Conservatives for years held it up as a thing greatly to be desired. The Liberals admitted it to be a good thing, but they admitted also that it takes two to make a bargain, and, owing to the hostility created by the late Government, it would take the present Government some time to renew confidence and prepare the way for reciprocity. Sir Richard read the resolution of the Liberal convention, and declared the party intended to carry out its revision upon those lines, and would not be bullied into haste in doing it. Sir Richard ridiculed the industrial census showing, and declared that prices were lower and times harder than in 1878. Nevertheless, he did not take such a pessimistic view as Mr. Foster. (Opposition laughter.) He thought with the debt reduced and taxation burdens reduced Canadians could compete with any people. Had the Government rattled ahead with a tariff, Mr. Foster would have denounced them. The business people of the country would not quarrel with the Government for proceeding deliberately and carefully with tariff revision.

Sir Charles Tupper asked for information regarding the progress on the Manitoba school question and when the writs for Brandon and Saskatchewan would be issued.

Mr. Laurier replied in regard to the Manitoba school question: "I have no information to give to the House further than what I gave some days ago. With regard to the writ for Saskatchewan, a difficulty has occurred which the Government is considering, in order to dispense with the revision now going on, or whether there should be a new revision of lists before the election is held. The Government is awaiting the advice of the Minister of Justice, and hope to be able to give an answer in a few days. As to the writ for Brandon, we expect to have it issued at some time from to-day." (Laughter, and voices: "What does that mean?")

Mr. Davin spoke at some length, after which Mr. Moore moved the adjournment of the debate, which was carried.

The supply bill for $9,723,000 passed its third reading.

The House adjourned at 12.15 a.m.

NORDHEIMER DIVORCE GRANTED.

The Senate Committee Reported Favorably on the Application—Judge Weatherbee for the Senate—Other Notes.

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—The Senate Committee on Divorce to-day decided to report favorably upon the application of Mr. Albert Nordheimer of Toronto for a divorce from his wife. Only two witnesses were called by the committee, Mr. Nordheimer and his brother-in-law, Mr. Arthur Van-Koughnet. Conclusive testimony was forthcoming that Mrs. Nordheimer is now living in connection with one William Cranston, jr., as his wife. She had procured a divorce in North Dakota some months ago. The committee were unanimous in their finding.

A report is current here that Judge Weatherbee of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia is to receive the vacant Nova Scotia Senatorship, and that to the judicial vacancy thereby created Mr. Fraser, M.P. for Guysboro, will be appointed.

Representations have been made to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries that many of the fishermen along the Great Lakes are in rather straightened conditions through the slim results that have attended their season's operations. In the Great Lakes, by law, the close season is now on for all important commercial fishing, but permission has been granted to carry on herring fishing throughout the month of November. This is rather an important concession, as herring are in good demand at this season of the year.

AFTER THE AUDITORS NOW.!

The Guelph City Council is Not Yet Through with the Harvey Case—Papers and Books Handed Over.

Guelph, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—All the papers and books in connection with the Harvey case were handed over to the County Crown Attorney to-day, consisting of the proceedings before the magistrate and the books held by Richard Mitchell, acting treasurer, which are cash books, waterworks rolls and bank books. Mr. Harvey has not yet elected how he will be tried.

At the City Council meeting Monday evening, the late auditors of the city came in for their innings in connection with the audit of the city accounts during Harvey's term of office, and after the subject was well ventilated the following motion was put and carried:

"That the Mayor and Ald. Taylor be a committee to consult with the City Solicitor as to the advisability of the Corporation of the City of Guelph taking proceedings against the local auditors employed by the Corporation during the term of the late treasurer for all moneys paid them for their services as auditors."

And the end is not yet.

THE GRAND OLD MAN

Writes a Letter on the Armenian Question.

THE OBJECT TO AROUSE FRANCE

He Tells a French Editor That the People of Great Britain are More United in Sentiment on This Matter Than They Were Over the Bulgarian Atrocities.

London, Sept. 22.—The Chronicle will to-morrow publish a long letter from Mr. Gladstone, addressed to M. Maurice Leudet of The Paris Figaro. The letter was written in response to an appeal made by M. Leudet to Mr. Gladstone to arouse the French press in behalf of the Armenians. Mr. Gladstone, after expressing his diffidence in complying with the request, declares his belief that the population of Great Britain are more united in sentiment and more thoroughly roused by the present outrages in Turkey, than they were by the atrocities in Bulgaria in 1876. Continuing he says: "The question whether effect can be given to the national indignation is now in the balance and will probably soon be decided. I have read in some Austrian newspapers an affected scruple against sole action by any one state in a European crisis, but there are two first-class powers who will not make that scruple their own. One of these is Russia, who, in 1878 earned lasting honors by liberating Bulgaria and helping onward the freedom and security of the other Balkan states. The other power is France, who, in 1840, took up the cause of Egypt and pushed it single-handed to the verge of a European war. She wisely forebore to bring about that horrible transcendent calamity, but I gravely doubt whether she was not right and the combined powers wrong in their policy of that period."

Mr. Gladstone proceeds to denounce the "great assassin" and continues: "For more than a year he has triumphed over the diplomacy of the six powers. They have been laid prostrate at his feet. There is no parallel in history to the humiliation they have so patiently borne. He has therefore had every encouragement to continue a course that has been crowned with much success. The impending question seems to be not whether, but when and where, he will proceed to his next murderous exploits. The question for Europe and each power is whether he shall be permitted to swell by more myriads the tremendous totals of his victims. In other years when I possessed power I did my best to promote the concert of Europe, but I sorrowfully admit that all the good done in Turkey during the last twenty years was done, not by it, but more nearly despite it."

The letter concludes by expressing the hope that the French people will pursue a policy worthy of their greatness, their fame, and the high place they have held in European Christian history.

A CONSTABLE TALKS.

Like Ordinary Mortals Subject to Kidney Disease but Easily Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Nesbitt, a county constable of this place having suffered for a long time with kidney disease, he became aware that the doctor called it Diabetes, and incurable. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

Admiral Suckling's Widow.

The widow of Admiral Suckling, who has just died at Ramsey, England, has for some years been the only surviving widow of an actual participator in the battle of Trafalgar. Besides that she had other claims to distinction. She had reached the venerable age of ninety-one, was ill for only two days, and till then her daily paper, her needlework, her afternoon drive, and her evening game at chess had not lost their interest for her.

The Curly Coiffure.

The severely plain arrangement of the hair is going out and a growing tendency to have soft curls and waves is noticed. Pompadour effects are new, and above all, don't have one of those hard protuberances known as Diana's knot; they are away out of date; the figure eight or an elaboration of this is the thing now worn, either high or low.

CUT IN TWO BY A TRAIN.

Oliver Almo, a Thirteen-Year-Old Hamilton Boy's Awful Fate.

Hamilton, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Oliver Almo, the 13-year-old son of Thomas Almo, employed in the gas works and residing on Catharine-street north, near the Grand Trunk bridge, was killed tonight by a G. T. R. train. Shortly before 7 o'clock, in company with two other boys, he jumped onto a slowly moving freight going to the station, and it is said that the boys were putting on the brakes, when the conductor saw them and went toward them. The boys ran to get off and Almo fell between the cars. The train passed over him, cutting him in two above the legs. The conductor did not know the accident happened and the train went on. An inquest will be held.

NEVER HEARD OF.

A Single Instance in Which Dodd's Kidney Pills Failed to Cure Kidney Disease.

Mount Forest (Special) Sept. 21.—The proprietor of the Queen's Hotel of this town declares that he has every reason to believe, that any claim made by the people who are advertising and selling Dodd's Kidney Pills is true. These people were the first to inform, and instruct him as to the cause of his long continued suffering from extreme nervousness. He says that "unable to obtain any relief from other sources, that it was on account of reading the particulars of other cures that his confidence was gained." Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills were all that were required to complete his cure.

FINE WEATHER SWELLED THE CROWD OF SIGHTSEERS.

What Was Going on in the Ring Yesterday Afternoon and in the Evening—The Livestock Exhibit Exceeds in Numbers That of Last Year—The Prize List in Part.

After the Exhibition had been formally opened by His Excellency the Governor General, yesterday afternoon, there was a general rush for the ring side, and it was there that an idea might be gained of the size of the crowd. It extended all the way around the big ring, and at no place was less than four or five deep, while at points of vantage there were scores standing one behind the other. The grand stand was packed to its uttermost capacity and the crowd on both sides of it was so dense that it was impossible to push through it.

THE DRAGOONS.

The military manoeuvre of the Royal Canadian Dragoons were very greatly admired. The musical ride was something which few had seen before though everyone has heard of it. As the music changed the horses advanced from the walk to the trot, then to the canter, and lastly to a gallop, and the manner in which they kept time to the music so perfectly was a matter of general comment. A number of pretty figures were gone through after which the lance exercise was given by the members of the troops on horseback. The jumping by the horses was also exceptionally fine. They went over the hurdles first in single file, then by twos, fours and eights. The last manoeuvre was especially thrilling, as it is a splendid sight to see a squad of such fine animals come down at the hurdles in a bunch and take the hurdles in unison.

THE VICTORIA CROSS

race was very interesting to witness. In this the troopers jumped their horses over the hurdles and rescued fallen comrades under fire. The fallen comrades were dummies, which had to be picked up and thrown across the saddle. The re-mounting of the horses was very difficult, as the dummy had to be kept in position until the trooper was again in his saddle, after which the hurdles were again jumped. The tent pegging contest gave the troopers an opportunity of showing their expertness with the lance as they were required to pick up pegs from the ground by running the point of the lance into them, whilst their horses were at full gallop. The swordsmen had a chance of giving an exhibition of skill by hacking off the head of a dummy, as their horses were in the act of jumping the hurdles. Every manoeuvre executed by the Dragoons, being something entirely new to this district, was fraught with interest and the Directors are to be congratulated on securing an attraction of a nature to concentrate the attention of everyone when they were in the ring. The horses used were magnificent specimens of their class. The troopers are a set of fine looking, well made young fellows.

THE BABY SHOW

Proved of sufficient attraction to even draw many away from contemplating the movements of the Dragoons. The Baby Show is now an established institution in connection with the Exhibition being originated by the enterprising Gough Bros. the mammoth clothing firm. Every year the interest in the show increases, and yesterday the entry list was bigger than ever. There were babies of every class exhibited, from the delicate angel-faced little beauty to the big bouncing boy, who crowed with all his might to win Gough Bros'. prize. As there were fully a score of entries, and as each and every mother naturally thinks her baby should have taken first place, the judges, to avoid complications, desire not to have their names published. Mrs. Grant, of Douro, is the happy mother of the grand looking baby who was decided to be entitled to the prize, and there is a ten dollar dress waiting for her at Gough's, as well as a ten dollar suit for her husband and a five dollar gold piece for the baby.

THE LABELLE BROTHERS

gave an exceptionally fine performance on the flying trapese and the slack wire, their feats of balancing being greatly admired. At one time one of the brothers was balancing on a chair which was on the trapese fully thirty feet from the ground, when he suddenly gave a shout and allowed the chair to fall to the ground whilst he caught the ropes with his feet. A prolonged shriek went up from the ladies in the grand stand, and even Major Lessard, of the Dragoons, was startled out of his soldier's imperturbality [illegible] trick.

THE DANCING GI[illegible]

received a great welcome ev[illegible] time they made their appearance on the platform, and they were certainly very graceful in the different numbers which they presented. They have a number of very pretty dances, in all of which their high kicking figures to considerable extent. The girls undoubtedly prove a strong drawing card and although a number have since spoken in terms of condemnation of the dancers, yet there were few, indeed, of those present who turned their eyes away when they were executing their numbers on the stage.

THE HORSE RACES,

of course, again called the crowd to the ring side, but the three-minute trot was dull and uninteresting, as in each heat it was a procession, with Fred S in the lead. If the Directors wish to make these races a stronger drawing card the purses will have to be enlarged in order to draw a few outside horses to the grounds and make the contests closer and more exciting. There is no doubt that speeding in the ring is one of the strongest drawing cards which the Directors can hang out, if the contests are at all exciting. The summary of the three minute trot is as appended:—

Fred S, Martin Canners	1 1 1
Ray Nigh, Nattrass (Millbrook)	2 2 2
Hal Priester, Crets (Cobourg)	3 3 3

The running race was of far more interest and proved very close for the place, although, of course, when Jones' Nettle Wood was let out she had no difficulty at all in winning first money. Fred Jones' other little running mare, Jessie B., took second place by virtue of winning the first heat. Four heats were necessary to decide the race, which resulted as follows:

Nettie Wood, Fred Jones	2 1 1 1
Jessie B, Fred Jones	1 3 4 5
Minnie L, C Lane	4 2 3 2
Maud E, R Hill	3 4 2 3
Gipsy Bell, English	5 5 5 4

The Fire Brigade Band was present throughout the afternoon and played at intervals with its accustomed dash and finish.

The Vice-Regal party took its departure from the grounds shortly before 4 o'clock, after walking through the main building and being driven around the grounds.

The Reception Committee accompanied their Excellencies to their private cars, and remained with them until the 4.25 C.P.R. express bore them away westward.

IN THE EVENING

there was a far larger attendance than was looked for, as the weather was bitterly cold on the grounds and the thermometer indicated that it was below the freezing point. However, hundreds turned out wrapped up in winter coats and wraps, and the exhibition was well patronized. The Dragoons again executed a number of evolutions and the dancers and acrobats were again to the fore, the stage being splendidly illuminated by Mr. R. M. Roy's big search light. Mr. Thos. Dunn sang two splendid solos in his usual form, and his magnificent baritone notes sounded to good advantage on the frosty night air, although it must have been somewhat hard on the singer. Several balloons were sent up and the usual display of fireworks took place. The grounds were well lit up, as was the interior of the main building, which was thronged all evening.

THIRD DAY—WEDNESDAY.

The success of the Peterborough Central Exhibition, which is the best of the series, received a great impetus from the proceedings of yesterday; the presence of Lord and Lady Aberdeen doubtless contributing to the attraction of the largest attendance for one day in the history of the exhibition. Judging by the receipts at the gate the aggregate attendance was between six and seven thousand, and but for the threatening aspect of the weather there is no doubt but that the attendance would have reached the ten thousand mark.

The third day broke beautifully bright and clear, and the fair grounds presented a very creditable appearance. Of course the morning brought very few visitors, but about one o'clock the visitors began to arrive and the speeding events and special attractions were witnessed by large crowds.

The cattle pens were visited by large numbers, the specially fine character of the stock eliciting great admiration.

The Exhibit of Horses.

In the livestock department the success of the Central is particularly emphasized. In horses there was a grand exhibit in all the chief classes. The entries were a few short of a hundred larger than those of the previous year. Some magnificent animals were exhibited.

THOROUGHBREDS.

In thoroughbred horses the chief exhibitors were Messrs. J. W. Whitfield, J. L. Paterson, Ira Natrass and T. H. Hassard. There was not a large exhibit but the animals were excellent.

In the roadster class the principal exhibitors were Messrs. W. B. Stewart, Peter Drummond, J. L. Patterson, Chas. Caldwell, W. J. Tully, S. Matchett, S. Dyell, F. Birdsall & Son, Wm. Graham, Weston Wallis, J. E. Henderson, J. W. Walker, Jas. Baptie, Geo. McWilliams, Sandfield Staples, W. Fallis, A. Paterson, Ira Natrass, A. Cameron, John Haygarth, Jonathan Smith, T. H. Hassard and John Breckenridge.

CARRIAGE HORSES.

In the carriage horse class the following exhibitors competed, Messrs. W. Fisher, W. B. Stewart, Peter Drummond, J. W. Whitfield, F. E. Kline, L. M. Westington, S. T. Millburn, J. R. Kindred, Jas. Wood, J. E. Henderson, R. Hutchinson, J. L. Patterson, Chas. Caldwell, Jas. Bushel, Stewart Bros., Richard Swan, W. J. Tully, W. W. Shearer, John Bell, H. P. OUTSIDE EXHIBITS.

There was not, for genuine exhibition purposes, a very large display in the grounds outside of the main building. There was, of course, the usual collection of speculative enterprises and booths for the vending of various forms of refreshments. In the matter of outside display the yearly outside show was not as attractive as usual.

PETER HAMILTON COMPANY.

One display that is always a feature at at every Central, and one that is a centre of attraction, especially to the farmers, is the splendid exhibit of splendid agricultural implements and machinery made by the Peter Hamilton Agricultural Company. This year's display was in extent equal to that of any other, and in interest in excess of other years, including, as it does, some marked new improvements that mark the work of this progressive establishment from season to season—always keeping them in the front ranks. The exhibit this year was placed just east of the main building and was in charge of Messrs. A. R. Nicholls and T. E. Fitzgerald. Their fine display consisted of an Alsike clover attachment for a mower, a table which catches, collects and preserves the seed which is shelled out, a Crown mower, a Royal mower, the Leader seeders, which combines the latest improvements, and is one of the decided new improvements which are presented for the benefit of the farmers this season. Along side this was the Ideal seeder. The other exhibits included spring tooth cultivator, with adjustable arms, No. 4 straw cutter, ploughs No. 4, 7, and 8, I.X.L. and combination, also a Star gang plough, No. 3 straw cutter, pulper and slicer combined, improved Tiger Hay Rake, a scuffler, a turnip drill, spring tooth and diamond harrows, and last, though by no means least, a Hamilton Light Steel Binder, one of the very best machines of the kind made in the country to-day. In fact superior excellence distinguishes all the machinery and implements made by their establishment, and this emphasizes the high esteem their machinery enjoys with the farmers of the country.

Messrs. Coughlan Bros. made a fine display of artistics monuments and grave stones made at their establishment on Hunter street.

Oak Hall Clothing Store occupies a tent on the grounds well filled with an exhibition stock of their superior clothing.

The Singer Sewing Machine tent contains a fine display of the several machines and beautiful specimens of the work they can accomplish.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

FORTYE & HARPER'S STOVE DISPLAY.

One of the most interesting stove and range exhibits ever shown in this district was made by the new stove and hardware firm, Messrs. Fortye & Harper, of No. 390 George street. Their introduction to the public through the medium of the newspapers, during the past few weeks has been marked with such striking and novel publicity that the new firm has been talked into notriety all over the town with unusual prominence. But their magnificent display at the fair was "a great ad." It will, no doubt, be as far-reaching in its circulation as the thousands of visitors from all parts of the district who admired it can sow it broadcast, and must have left a good impression of the enterprise and aggressiveness of the active members of the new firm.

The display occupied a prominent position just inside the building, at the main entrance on the south side. Its boundaries were clearly defined by the name of the firm and the magical word "Oxford" being painted in effective coloured lettering all round it, which marked out the unusual large section it occupied.

There was a full collection of cooking stoves, steel ranges, base burners, heaters, furnaces and kitchen utensils, manufactured by the Gurney Foundry Co. of Toronto, and were fine representations of the "Oxford" line of goods, for which Fortye & Harper have secured the sole agency here. These goods were all most seasonable, for the cold winds of autumn that prevailed reminded one that the heating and cooking problem must soon be solved, and the task did not seem difficult before such an exhibit as this one. One of the best methods of testing the popularity of the "Oxford" ranges was to pause in the crowds that collected round this section and listen to the encomiums passed. One lady caused a ripple of laughter among her friends by saying:—"I always feel like using some strong expressions when I try to express my admiration of the "Oxford" ranges.

Mr. Jas. Harper represented the firm, and explained the special features claimed for these ranges. The "Duchess of Oxford," he said, gives perfect satisfaction as bakers and water heaters. They have large reservoirs and handsome high shelf, beautifully ornamented. Coal or wood can be used, and they can be easily and quickly regulated. A patent flue keeps the heat in the oven uniform throughout; they are specially economical in the use of fuel. They have every new and useful labour saving contrivance that can be found. The "Oxford Rival" is another fine baker, attractive in design and low in price. It is built with or without reservoir, and has one of the largest ovens and fire boxes of any stove of its class on the market.

The display of beautifully finished and highly polished nickel plated heaters was greatly admired. The "Countess of Oxford," B series, is a most artistic heater, and chaste in appearance. It is made with and without oven. Its strong features are: the duplex revolving grate, extra heavy rotating fire pot, which may be removed through the front doors when repairs become necessary. It is a double heater, and has the additional advantage that the cold air can be drawn from the floor or outside of building. The ovens are large, quick working and capable of cooking for any ordinary sized family. Withal it is very economical, easily started and easily checked. Another heater which has achieved phenomenal success is the "Oxford Air Tight." It is also a beautiful piece of architecture and an ornament to any parlor. It is substantially a small furnace surrounded by an open casing. Hard or soft coal or coke may be burned. It responds readily to the draft and lights up quickly, and is especially adapted for those requiring an early breakfast.

One of the best wood stoves shown is the "Triple Heater." It occupies little room, and yet it has all the elements of a furnace. It uses no more fuel than a box stove, but circulates the air of the whole house. This heater is made to last, as its weight is over 400 pounds.

There were also shown three fine specimens of the Gurney Foundry Company's "Oxford" hot air furnaces, similar to those now in use in Peterborough. What is wanted in a furnace is, first of all, a good heater; but it must also be economical in fuel. In the construction of the Oxford furnaces both these advantages have been secured to a large extent. The fire pots are made very heavy, cast in three sections, with sand cup joints to allow for contraction and expansion. The workmanship and material are of the best, and are now so extensively used throughout the Dominion that little more need be said of their merits.

THE FAIR NOW IN FULL BLAST.

The exhibit contained a number of copper boilers, nickel tea kettles and other kitchen utensils, the superiority of which were fully commented upon by many of the visitors. Much credit is due to Mr. Jas. Harper for the skilful manner in which the exhibit was arranged, and the practical knowledge he displayed in conveying required information. An abundance of interesting printed matter was on hand and freely distributed, including a very novel souvenir in the shape of a match box with the firm's card thereon.

GOUGH BROS., THE CLOTHIERS.

Directly opposite, was the big exposition of ready made clothing, made by Gough Bros., the Wonderful Cheap Men, of Peterborough, Lindsay and Port Hope. Bigger and bigger every years grows this big firm's aspirations, and the pyramid rises higher and higher as these hustlers broaden their boarders and add new territory to their syndicate of stores. In extent and variety this display of clothing was the greatest that Central Fair visitors ever saw. Nothing emphasized this more than the time it took to get around to examine the whole exhibit. The fascination of low prices held the admiring crowds as they moved slowly around discussing the figures.

There is life in an overcoat just now and the all-round man is not complete without one. The display of overcoats "lined up grandly." Light, heavy and medium for boys', youths' and men's Freize Overcoats in brown, grey, oxford and black, fur coats in various cold-shedding skins. Ulsters started at $3.90, and in the various new styles in all sizes you have not only the finished fit, but also the desired shape, shade and pattern which you may consider most becoming as well. A printed bannerette, "Keep the Prices Down," was suspended from the display, and as if to enforce the practical utility of this plank in the Gough platform, every overcoat and suit was labelled with prices in plain figures—prices in each case which must have provoked the wonder of the thousands of visitors who inspected the display. Tweed suits with the figures, $2.75, $3.50, $4.50, $5.50, which any ordinary judge would have considered good value at one-third more money. A rough estimate of what the bare cloth and trimmings must cost left little margin for the making. Boys' suits were ticketed 98c, and boys' overcoats $1.50. The marvel of it all is, that this large amount of clothing was never missed out of their regular stock in their regular business premises on George street. The buying power of this organization must be even greater than is generally believed.

It must be remembered that this mammoth display was an exposition of Gough Bros. clothing only, which forms but one of the heavy lines of different classes of goods wholesaled and retailed by the firm. "Gough Bros. cover all.' Theirs is an "electric" store. They gather together under one roof great stocks of boots and shoes, hats, underwear and gentlemen's furnishings. Had they undertaken to make a general exhibit of all the departments contained in their large stores on George street, they would have been compelled to have gone outside.

The whole display was well worked out and the effectiveness of the dressing was a lesson in artistic arrangement, such as is frequently to be seen in the massive and artistically dressed show windows of the firm. The principal credit of this part of the display is due to Mr. W. T. Merrell. Red first prize tickets decorated the exhibit, which was enhanced and enlivened with gaily coloured badges, dressed figures and other attractive devices. The firm's gorgeous palace car was in parade all day, and the name of the firm was conspicuously displayed in every corner of the fair.

R. S. WILLIAMS & SONS. PIANOS.

Following up the energy and enterprise displayed by this long-established firm of piano manufacturers in establishing a new branch store and musical warerooms in Peterborough, comes another additional evidence in their fine exhibit at this fair. This prominent exhibit took immensely, as evidenced by the crowds which visited it. The Williams piano is an old favourite in Peterborough. These instruments have for years given entire satisfaction on this continent and throughout Great Britain. No pains have been spared on the R. S. Williams & Sons piano to make it the instrument of a master. The actions are the best that money can procure, and are the actions used in the highest grade American pianos. All the other parts of these instruments are equally as good, so that they can be placed alongside of any make in the world with a confidence that a competent and impartial critic will award them the palm.

The four beautiful specimens shown at the Fair consisted of two special pianos which were exhibited at the Toronto fair, with French birl walnut cases, handsomely carved and designed. The other two pianos were finished, one in Circassion wood, the other is fancy walnut and raised carved work. A beautiful feature in these instruments is the double rolling fold board and music desks. The company claim for their pianos a specially light touch and a splendid action, the most harmonious effects being produced with ease and certainty. The vast manufacturing facilities of the firm and the million capital at their back puts them in a position to achieve results which are quite unattainable by many other piano builders. The aim and determination of the company has been to turn out the best piano that money, material and skilled labour can produce. The Peterborough branch, under the energetic management of Mr. Geo. E. Dies, is attracting a large business. Our music-loving citizens are taking advantage of the privileges they now enjoy of buying high-grade pianos right at their own doors at factory prices. The special advantages to local purchasers are important, and the staff of assistants are kept busily employed throughout the district supplying the constant demands. A six octavo Dougherty organ, with plain case, was also shown and much admired. The exhibit was skillfully arranged and richly decorated. Prof. Ball and others were engaged for the occasion, and played to large audiences in a free musical exhibition, assisted by the popular baritone singer, Mr. Thomas Dunn, and others.

COUGHLIN BROS., MONUMENTAL WORKS, HUNTER STREET, WEST.

One of the most expensive and attractive exhibits that was to be seen on the grounds was made by this firm, consisting of the newest productions in monuments—sarcophagis, cottage, cross and ball designs—made of granite from quarries in Europe, America and our own famous New Brunswick granites. They also displayed some handsome designs in pink, white and blue marbles, some of the carvings for which were very much admired, especially a dead dove lying with extended wings at a stump of a tree. They also showed samples of the art of lettering, in which this firm prides itself. This firm has been in the trade for twenty years and are both practical marble men. They have also carried on business in Toronto for a number of years and erected some of the handsomest monuments in Mount Pleasant, St. James and St. Michael cemeteries in that city. They have also erected many of the best designs in both our cemeteries here, as well as in the surrounding country. They are painstaking students of their trade and have the newest and handsomest designs to show their customers. They are also monumental architects and can design plans and draw specifications for large or small monuments to suit the taste and requirements of their patrons. At their wareroome, on Hunter street west, they carry a large stock, to which they invite intending purchasers, and are prepared to quote the lowest prices. Early orders are advised before the winter sets in. Their experience and reliability should warrant those in need of anything in their line to consult them before placing their orders.

The firm secured one good sale through their exhibit, having disposed of the cottage monument in red granite to Councillor Sawers. The prospect of other sales is good.

OAK HALL CLOTHING.

Oak Hall held their reception in a large square tent 16x24, next to Lady Aberdeen's reception tent. Such close proximity to the vice-regal quarters gave Oak Hall unusual prominence, and their exhibit of clothing was, in consequence, "the observed of all observers." No one who came to the fair could go away without seeing Oak Hall's clothing exhibit. Their collection of stylish clothing was arranged in the centre of the tent, in the form of a four-storied, four squared pyramid shape. This arrangement gave prominent effect to all sides of the display, and permitted of comfortable aisles to walk around and inspect the goods. With such a display of their clothing dressed and decorated in the skilful and gay manner in which it was, no one could fail to be impressed with the novelty of the idea and its usefulness as an advertising medium.

There seems to be no longer any doubt in the minds of wise buyers that Oak Hall clothing is all that is claimed for it. The firm are striking for a district trade in this section of Ontario, but most especially for the finest. The samples shown were among the best clothing in the market. There was an array of heavy lines of ulsters and overcoats that did not fail to attract entioed eyes. They were made from Irish and Canadian Freize, English Beaver and Scotch and Irish Tweed. Some were beautifully lined with neat, warm looking patterns, others with fibre chamois, which gave a light but very warm coat. In men's fine suits, first class samples were shown in black worsteds and Scotch tweeds of the newest patterns. These were fashionably cut and showed very superior finish. In boys' clothing the firm specially pride themselves. They like to display their boys' special outfits, and in a good light, like what they had, they showed off well. But you can't see these suits by reading about them, although they are worthy of description. Several neat little suits, well dressed on wax figures, took the eye. One neat coat was a reefer in dark blue Chinchelle, latest New York style, double breasted, with sailor collar and heavy military braid. Another was a blue peajacet with brass buttons, warm and stylish looking. A "Middy" suit was very neatly made, trimmed with gold braid, with regulation sailor pants. Oak Hall's manufacturing conforms to the highest standard, and their policy is to buy and sell only merchandize of the most thoroughly reliable character. The superiority of fabrics and finish, the fullness and reliability of Serges and the general high character of goods is scrupulously maintained here, as well as all over Canada where their branch houses are planted. For over twenty years the Oak Halls have been recognized as the leading clothiers of Ontario, and branches are now found established in Hamilton, Toronto, London, St. Catharines, Windsor and other live business places. The immense clothing factory of the Sandford Manufacturing Company of Hamilton supplys all the Oak Hall branches, and the magnitude of their business is one of the wonders of the commercial world. Oak Hall had no middlemen's profits to pay, because the stock comes direct from their own factory at manufacturers' prices.

Oak Hall was awarded three diplomas—one for the best display of tweed suits, one for the best display of overcoats, and one for general display of fine clothing.

Mr. Wattam, the business manager, was well satisfied with the result of his display. "Yes, it has paid us well to be here; it would pay us well even if we did not make a sale; but we have made a lot of sales and secured a lot of prospect, which are satisfactory proof on hand." This was the response Mr. Wattam made to a question yesterday. The exhibit was arranged by Jas. Best and Dan. Menzies, and reflected credit on their tasteful dressing. A graceful setting to the exhibit was the introduction of a number of flowering begonias, foliage plants, etc, set in decorated flower pots at each corner of the squares, which was the handiwork of Miss Tremble, the accountant of the firm.

Two large fancy ballons were successfully set off on the grounds in the evening, bearing the Oak Hall message to the clouds, and producing a startling effect.

EXHIBITION NOTES.

The music of the Fire Brigade Band was greatly appreciated.

The order on the grounds has been excellent, day and night.

Several fakirs tried to work skin games but they were promptly suppressed.

Mr. H. C. Winch has on exhibition a pet deer, enclosed in a pen by itself, which was a great attraction.

Major Lessard, of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, says the Peterborough Central grounds were the best and most suitable for the purpose of the many they have exhibited on.

During the presentation of the address to His Excellency, on the Exhibition grounds, Miss Alberta Gooding presented Lady Aberdeen with a very handsome bouquet.

Another creditable exhibit in the fine arts department was free hand drawing made by Miss Meta Clark, of McGill street, Toronto, who shows wonderful aptitude for a girl of 8 years.

In the hundred yards foot race on the Exhibition track last night in front of the grand stand Walter Jackson took first and George Riley, second. The race was run off in heats, Riley taking the first and Jackson the next two.

The beautiful floral decorations in St. Paul's church, yesterday morning, are largely due to the kindness of Mr. Cobb in supplying flowers and assisting the ladies in arranging them.

Mr. Thomas Dunn's two solos, last evening, proved the most enjoyable feature of the evening's entertainment. His clear articulation enabled every word to be heard in the furthermost parts of the big ring. His selections were received with very lusty applause.

In the notes of yesterday's visit to the main building omission was made of special mention of the paintings by Miss Annie Simons, who made an extensive exhibit in both oils and water colours. Her large size oils, "St. Cecelia" and "On the Watch," a sea scene, showed great artistic skill, while her numerous water colours, also showed unusual artistic talent and delicacy of treatment.

After Lady Aberdeen's address yesterday, in St. Paul's Church, she was accompanied by Mr. Erskine, her aide, Mrs. James Kendry and Mrs. J. R. Stratton and drove to the residence of Mr. James Stevenson, Simcoe street, where Lady Aberdeen and a number of friends partook of an elaborate luncheon. The following ladies were invited to attend the luncheon:—Mrs. Wm. Yelland, Mrs. James Middleton, Mrs. George E. Elliott, Mrs. Birdsall, Mrs. J. Crane, Mrs. W. J. Green, Mrs. James Dennistoun, Mrs. W. H. Moore, Mrs. James A. Hall, Mrs. James Kendry, Mrs. J. R. Stratton and Miss Stevenson. At the close of the luncheon Miss Clementi presented Lady Aberdeen with a beautiful bouquet.

OTONABEE.

Lord Aberdeen Meets an Old Neighbour.

At the Central Exhibition yesterday, Mrs. Wm. Drummond, ne Miss Knox, had the honour of an introduction to Lord Aberdeen. Mrs. Drummond was born on the Baillie estate in Scotland, the material brace of Lord Aberdeen's family. Her father and grandfather and family were tenants on the estate, Berwickshire, Scotland, for seventy years, their farm being about half a mile from the castle. Mrs. Drummond and Lord Aberdeen had an interesting "crack" over old times, His Lordship asking numerous questions about the family of the Knox's and the old tenants of the estate.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Edith Evans and Mr. Fred. Adams.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon, at the residence of Mr. Enos D. Evans, No. 44 Patterson street, when his youngest daughter, Miss Edith, was united in marriage to Mr. Fred Adams, of the Welland Vale Bicycle Works, St. Catharines.

The bride, who was most tastily gowned in a gray tweed travelling suit, was assisted by Miss Bertha Wills, and the groom was supported by Mr. Russell Evans, of Niagara Falls, brother of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Carl Smith, of St. John's church.

After partaking of a tastefully prepared wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Adams left on the afternoon express for their new home in St. Catharines.

Mr. Adams was formerly employed in the Canadian General Electric Works here, and has many friends in town. During his residence in town he was a valued member of the lacrosse club.

"In many respects Cassidy's ride is a remarkable performance. Unlike the riders who started from scratch, who alternated in making the pace, he had to ride practically unpaced the whole distance. The time would have been considered akin to marvellous if he had ridden the twenty miles over a free course, but the fact that he had to ride in a blinding cloud of dust, treading his way here and there through straggling bunches of riders, over a road honeycombed with ruts and holes, makes it a truly great achievement. Cassidy has quite a reputation as a track rider, and has beaten all the best men in the amateur ranks at one time or another during the season."—Toronto Globe.

PULLMAN HOUSE

Frank Fairen, PROPRIETOR. | 38 George Street Peterborough.

Fresh air and exercise are all right, Boys, but you want a little something occasionally for the stomach's sake. You can always count on getting it good at the Pullman. But be temperate, Boys, and let your motto be "moderation."

Healthy, happy children make better men and women of us all. A man is hardly himself until he has the development that responsibility brings. After the child comes, the father and mother both plan and promise what shall be done with it. A little care and a little planning before birth is often more important than anything that can be done after.

On the mother's health and strength depend the life and the future of the children. A weak and sickly woman cannot bear strong and healthy children—as well expect figs from thistles. Most of the weakness of women is utterly inexcusable. Proper care and proper medicine will cure almost any disorder of the feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been tested in thirty years of practice. It is healing, soothing, strengthening. It is perfectly natural in its operation and effect. By its use, thousands of weak women have been made strong and healthy—have been made the mothers of strong and healthy children. Taken during gestation, it makes childbirth easy and almost painless and insures the well being of both mother and child.

The following letter is only one of thousands of similar ones:

Mrs. FLORENCE WHITE, of Victor, W. Va., writes: "I commenced using the 'Favorite Prescription' when half through my period of pregnancy. I used four bottles and felt like another woman. My time of labor was easy and rapid. I have a dear, strong, healthy little boy baby."

Mrs. Florence White

Dr. Pierce's celebrated book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," will be sent free to any address on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only. The book contains 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, and is of inestimable value to every woman. A veritable medical library, in one volume. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

LI'S YELLOW JACKET.

HAS BEEN SEIZED UPON BY THE PARIS DRESSMAKERS.

And Now Pretty Women Will Have a New Negligee Garment Fashioned After the Famous Official Dress of the Oriental Viceroy.

Li Hung Chang has invented a new fashion. But he didn't do it intentionally. It is the newest negligee garment for women, but when the society maid and matron are told how bewitchingly they look in it they have not so much the distinguished Li to thang as a certain Parisian couteuriere.

When Li was in Paris of course he wore his far-famed yellow jacket. His much-prized three-eyed peacock feather was also in evidence, and after Li's departure from the French capital Worth showed to a few of his favored customers the most unique Parisian novelty of the hour—the Li Hung Chang tea jacket. It is modelled after Li's own official yellow jacket, but one doesn't have to be a Viceroy to wear it. A pretty woman will answer the purpose just as well.

Not only has Worth made fashionable China's most celebrated decoration, the yellow jacket, but he has also given distinction to the Celestial Empire's other noted insignia of honor, the three-eyed peacock feather.

The new tea jacket is elaborately embroiderd with pacock feathers, and the old superstition of their being unlucky is fast being forgotten.

The jacket itself is a skilful combination of Chinese and Parisian ideas. It is a loose-fitting coat reaching a few inches below the line, and is admirably adapted for lounging purposes. Gay yellow silk of a rich quality is the material of which it is made. The jacket hangs straight and full from the collar both back and front, fastening invisibly in front.

AFTER LI'S YELLOW JACKET.

At the neck is a dashing yellow silk bow, which is tied with long ends reaching below the jacket itself. These ends are gorgeously embroidered with three-eyed peacock feathers; the eyes are formed of glistening jewels. The idea of the large bow with its flowing ends is exclusively French. Li Hung Chang's jacket is finished at the neck with nothing but a straight collar band.

The new tea jacket has the front also embroidered with peacock feathers, and a band of these embroidered jewel-studded feathers also edge the flowing sleeves.

There is nothing French about the sleeves. They are wholly and entirely Chinese. They are made of exactly square pieces of silk, and are plain, full and flowing, the typical Chinese sleeve. Not only are they finished outside with an embroidered band of peacock feathers, but the same design is worked on the inside of the sleeve at the edge.

This Li Hung Chang tea jacket may be made to order in any color the fair customer may choose, but if carried out in its original design it must be in yellow.

But to be quite correct the fashionable woman should have her new tea jacket made of the yellow silk imported direct from China. This will cost more, but in the end will pay, as the weave of the silk shows plainly its Chinese origin, and its wearing capacity is unequalled. To a woman with dark skin and black or dark brown hair this yellow jacket will be most becoming. It is well for those who are obliged to practice some economy in the purchase of their new gowns that the peacock feathers on their tea jacket are embroidered. The three-eyed peacock feather which is the unique decoration of the Chinese Viceroy is extremely rare. Feather merchants say they are very hard to find. Their scarcity would make them altogether beyond the reach of the general public if a demand set in for their use in dress. Moreover, they would not lend themselves to the folds of the silk so well.

A Chinese lady could only look upon this tea jacket from afar. She might be in danger of having her head unceremoniously chopped off if she wore it, so much importance is attached to China's insignia of honor.

A Canadian or French woman may select the color of her gown to harmonize with her complexion, but the little Chinese ladies are not allowed any such privilege. But it is safe to assert that they are not grieved very much over the fact that they cannot wear this new yellow jacket. Think how it would look with their sallow skins.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a secret preparation. Any physician may have the formula on application. The secret of its success as a medicine lies in its extraordinary power to cleanse the blood of impurities and cure the most deep-seated cases of blood-disease.

IT'S RUBBERLY'S WAY.

Full Particulars Set Down for You to Follow or Avoid.

Rubberly thought that he was having one of the most trying days in his experience, and the rest of the family knew that they were. It was Sunday, and so hot that the leaves curled, the asphalt blistered and the shingles warped, says the Detroit Free Press.

The first thing Rubberly did after rising was to make a plunge into the bath tub, but he was out again as though he had set down on a red hot stove, and madder than a wet hen.

"Who in thunder set this trap for me?" he yelled through the slightly opened door, though there was no difficulty in hearing him all over that end of town. "Who filled this tub with ice water? The shock's bound to give me pneumonia or quick consumption, but it's little that any one about this establishment cares. Send up the brandy, some red pepper and a blanket. If I didn't know enough to produce a reaction there's not a doctor in the city that could get here in time to do any good."

After shouting around for his underclothes, wanting to know where they had hidden his shirt this time, vowing that his best suit had disappeared and announcing sarcastically that of course no one had touched his slippers, but that they had just walked away from force of habit, he came down stairs looking as though he had been boiled and put in his time at breakfast serving notice that he was going to have system in that family or break up housekeeping.

"Where's that paper," he roared as he went through all the rooms as though looking for fire. He calmed down for a few minutes, when the paper was handed to him from under his nose, but broke forth afresh after he had thrown himself on the lounge "O, of course. The very pages I wanted are gone. You women read the fashions, take the society gossip and don't care a continental what becomes of the rest of the paper."

"Here are the sporting pages," said his wife sweetly, and then Rubberly fumed because she'd given the thing away to the whole family. An hour later, when a friend called in a buggy to take Rubberly riding, it took the wife, five children and all the hired help to find his hat and gloves. When he came back it was to raise a storm because they had let him go away without a handkerchief, and when Mrs Rubberly pulled one out of his coat pocket he accused her of flim-flamming him. Now, he has big placards in all parts of the house: "A place for everything and everything in its place." But he has the same difficulty in finding his things that he always had and always will have.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philantrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various forms resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. The Danger is Averted by Using

"Nearly forty years ago, after some weeks of sickness, my hair turned gray and began falling out so rapidly that I was threatened with immediate baldness. Hearing Ayer's Hair Vigor highly spoken of, I commenced using this preparation, and was so well satisfied with the result that I have never tried any other kind of dressing. It stopped the hair from falling out, stimulated a new growth of hair, and kept the scalp free from dandruff. Only an occasional application is now needed to keep my hair of good, natural color. I never hesitate to recommend any of Ayer's medicines to my friends."—Mrs. H. M. HAIGHT, Avoca, Neb.

TAILOR-MADE GIRL.

THE NEW ONE FOR THE FALL OF THE YEAR OF GRACE, 1896.

Severity Gives Way Somewhat to Elaborate Fixings—Plain Skirt With Novel Accessories—The Materials and Variations to Suit the Wearer.

There is a new tailor-made girl this fall. She has lost much of her severity of style and has actually consented to give up her stiff linen collars and cuffs and her much-beloved waistcoat.

The new tailor-made gown, fashioned strictly up-to-date, must have the small sleeve and the plain skirt. But then, if made severely plain, it would be a costume few women would dare attempt. The dictators of fashion have realized this, hence the new tailor-made gown for the fall of '96.

Strictly speaking, there are two new general styles for tailor-made costumes this season. Both have the small sleeve and plain skirt, but one is made with a basque and flaring collar and is referred to as elaborate, while the other is extremely military in design and is almost as plain as last year's tailor-made frock. Every tailor-made girl should own a costume made after each of these designs.

All the best tailor-made gowns this year have what is called the plain skirt. It hangs straight and plain in front, without gores, the fullness all drawn toward the back. Last season's skirt, even though tailor-made, had many a ripple.

The basque is another novel feature of the new tailor-made gown. It fits rather tightly over the hips, rippling a trifle at the back, or it opens directly in the back, folding over in revers, which are frequently fastened with tiny buttons.

The collar is perhaps the most unique part of the costume. Instead of being an inconspicuous coat collar as of old, it is a decidedly flaring affair, well stiffened and most conspicuous. It is a collar suggestive of the Elisabethan ruff, and seems out of place on a tailor-made gown. But Paris favors it; therefore it will be worn. As the season advances, however, it is sure to be modified.

One of the latest French models for an early fall tailor-made costume is shown in the illustration. It is elaborate for a tailor-made gown, and expensive. The material is basket cloth in a firm close weave. It is brown in color.

The skirt is plain, measures but four and a half yards around and has its fullness toward the back, where it hangs in unconventional plaits. The coat is of the same material as the skirt, made tight-fitting, but cut to show a vest of red cloth. At the sides from the bust line the basket cloth is cut in straps, showing a band of red cloth between each strap. Below the waist line is the basque, which is nearly tight-fitting until it reaches the back. It is lined with changeable brown and red taffeta silk. The collar is first a cloth stock in red, then over that is a flaring collar of the brown basket cloth. This flaring collar is very high at the back sides.

The upper part of this coat waist has much the appearance of an Eton jacket. It is outlined with a narrow design of black braid. The sleeve is the coat sleeve, small and tight fitting enough to become a source of terror to the slender-armed woman. However, it is put in with a slight fullness at the shoulder, and is elaborately braided, with the hope, no doubt, of counteracting its odd and unbecoming effect. Another of its peculiarities is its flaring cuff, which falls well over the hand.

This costume is also effective with a fawn color vest, while in black and white it is equally stylish.

It is a model fit for the tailor-made girl's best gown.

All the tailor-made skirts hang perfectly, and the secret of this is due to their lining. Nothing but the best silk is used for this purpose. A good quality of changeable taffeta is most in favor. It will frequently happen this fall that the lining of a tailor gown will be equally as expensive as the material itself.

The material used for a tailor-made gown should always be selected with special care. As it is but little adorned, the success of the gown depends largely upon its quality and color.

The Downtrodden Hindoo Woman.

The report of a Hindoo woman lawyer conducting the defence in a murder trial at Poona is a story to make the young legal women of America green with envy. None of them has yet attained the distinction of a murder case, and here is Miss Lorabji, who took her degree at Oxford, England, only three years ago, triumphantly clearing her client from the ugly charge. Miss Lorabji is the only woman lawyer in Asia. She is not allowed to practice in the courts in the native states, but Poona is in British territory.—New York Journal.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N.Y.

How the Owl Wrung Its Own Neck.

One boy who has just returned from a two weeks' vacation has learned something about owls. When he first reached camp he often heard the solemn "Hoo, hoo, hoo" of owls in the woods, but although he went out several times to hunt for them with his air gun, he never succeeded in shooting any of them.

"Oh, you can't kill 'em with that gun," said the country caretaker of the camp, who was an odd fellow, full of jokes. "Their feathers are too thick. It takes a pretty good shot to kill an owl."

George, for that was the boy's name, listened intently.

"But I tell you what you can do," continued the caretaker, "you can make 'em wring their own necks."

"Oh, you're joking."

"No, I ain't; honest injin. When you see an owl just you walk around the tree where he's roostin' and he'll keep turnin' his head so's to watch you until he twists it clear off. Fact."

Although George was a little skeptical, he resolved to try the plan at the first opportunity, and as luck would have it, he saw an owl that very afternoon sitting on a dry stub not far from the camp. Immediately he began to walk around it at a distance of 100 feet or more. And, just as the caretaker had said, the owl's eyes followed him steadily as he walked, its head twisting and twisting until George was sure it would drop off. Round and round George toiled in the sunshine until he was tired out.

"I don't see how that owl can breathe with its neck twisted that way," he said.

At last he gave it up, and the owl's big eyes followed him until he disappeared. When he reached the camp he told the caretaker about his experience, and the caretaker laughed until the tears ran down his face.

"I was just jokin'," he said, and then he explained how the owl turned its head halfway round and then, more quickly than the eye could follow, turned it back and fixed its eyes on the intruder. Thus it gave an impression of wringing its neck. George can't be fooled that way again.

The bride who dreams of fairies the night before her marriage will be thrice blessed.

Ship marriages are considered anything but lucky. Get married on land, or don't get married at all.

No bride or groom should be given a telegram while on the way to church. It is positively a sign of evil.

If the wedding ring is dropped during the ceremony the bride may as well wish herself unborn, for she will always have evil luck.

Kiss a bride right after the ceremoney, and before the newly-made husband has had a chance to do so, and you will have excellent luck throughout the year.

THEY WON ON PINK FLYERS.

The McCready Pink Flyers have added another record to their already long list of victories. In the R. Q. T. road race at Toronto, H. Cassidy, on his McCready Pink Flyer, broke the 20 mile record, doing the distance in 59.08. Unlike the riders who started from scratch, who alternated in making the pace, he had to ride practically unpaced the whole distance. The time would have been considered skin to marvellous if he had ridden the 20 miles over a free course, but the fact that he had to ride in a blinding cloud of dust, threading his way here and there through straggling bunches of riders, over a road honeycombed with ruts and holes, makes it a truly great achievement. Cassidy has quite a reputation as a track rider, and has beaten all the best men in the amateur ranks at one time or another during the season. F. Graves, also on a McCready, won the second time prize.

OBITUARY.

The Souris Plaindealer of Thursday, Sept. 17th, speaks as follows concerning the death of a former resident of the county:

The sudden death of Mrs. John Deyell on last Sunday afternoon came as a shock to the people of Souris and district, and it was with something more than regret that they heard of the sad event. On Saturday, the day preceding her death, Mrs. Deyell, then in her usual health, which was never very robust, prepared a wreath of white flowers to place upon the coffin of the dead Mary Wenman who, like all the other members of the family, was a most intimate friend, and had been since their arrival in the country. Accordingly a little before noon on Sunday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Deyell drove out to Mr. Wenman's, a distance of six or seven miles. A few minutes after their arrival Mrs. Deyell had a slight seizure but thought nothing of it. A very little later the real summons came. Medical resistance was sent for and the members of the family at Souris with all haste. The doctor arrived in time to witness a painless and peaceful departure, but the others were not to see her again in life—a sudden and heart breaking separation from a mother who was idolized by every member of her family.

Of such a woman as Mrs. Deyell and of such a death as hers, it is difficult to write. Perhaps little will suffice. She was a tender, true, sympathetic and thoroughly Christian woman and one absolutely without fear of death. She was idolized by her husband and sons and daughter, loved by every intimate friend, and respected by all. Her mission on earth seemed to be to do good, to comfort, to draw together in the home circle and to assist by unobstrusive charity every poor or unfortunate one who came within her knowledge, Mrs. Deyell's maiden name was Letitia Jane Fitzgerald, and she was born in South Monaghan, Ontario, Dec. 28, 1845. The family is one of the oldest and traces direct descent from that Fitzgerald who helped to conquer Ireland for the English Edward I, about the end of the 12th century. She was married to John Deyell in 1862. Besides her bereaved husband, John Deyell, the members of the family who mourn her loss here are a daughter, Mrs. J. E. Mann, and two sons, J. Fred, recently married at Whitby, and who arrived home with his bride but two days before his mother's death, and Gerald, druggist in Sherrin & Co.'s. In Ontario three brothers and one sister will regret their powerlessness to reach here in time to be present at the funeral.

The funeral took place from the Deyell residence at 10 a.m. on Wednesday. The Rev. A. E. Driscoll, pastor of Knox church, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Matheson, of St Lukes', conducted a beautiful and appropriate ceremony. The coffin was covered with beautiful wreaths of white flowers, the three largest and most beautiful given by the members of the Christian Endeavour of Knox church, by the ladies of the W.C. T. U. and by the ladies of St. Lukes', respectively. The pall bearers were Mr. F. V. Young, Mr. Robert Steele, Mr. Geo. McCulloch, Mr. Wm. Wenman, Mr. Herbert Achison, and Mr. W. G. McLaren.

GOVERNMENT'S MAJORITY WAS 37

And the Liberals Started the National Anthem, the Conservatives Joining in Lustily—Hon. Mr. Foster's Tariff Amendment Knocked Out by 113 to 76.

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—The House of Commons was divided for the second time at the conclusion of to-day's debate, and the Government's majority was 37. The Opposition was not satisfied with the vote on the Governor-General's warrants the other week. So Mr. Foster bent his skill to the framing of a resolution on the tariff issue, which was expected to show just where the division lines of the House are. The result is that the majority of 34 on the previous division is to-night increased to 37. All the independents, including Mr. Ross Robertson of East Toronto, voted with the Government, Mr. McGillivray, who has told everybody that he would not sit in the seat which he admits is his by reason of ballot-stuffing, was not strong enough to withstand the appeals which his party made so that the majority might be as small as possible. There has seldom been such a scene of excitement and exuberance in the chamber at the conclusion of a vote. The Ministerialists cheered and sang and cheered again. The Opposition, unused to their position, showed a good deal of bad temper. The outcome of this bad temper was that when the House went into Committee of Supply the leaders of the Opposition refused for a time to allow the Interior estimates to be passed until the Government should find a Minister of the Interior for the vacant portfolio. Out of this arose a deadlock between the parties which threatened to result in an all-night sitting, but which was eventually arranged.

Two private bills were introduced, one respecting the St. Catharines and Niagara Central Railway Company, by Mr. Lount, and the second respecting the South Shore Railway, by Mr. Charlton.

Mr. Fisher gave notice of a bill which he will introduce to-morrow to amend the Dairy Products Act. While on the lines of Major McLennan's bill, the measure goes further and provides for the branding of butter as well as cheese.

The budget debate was resumed by Mr. Moore, who represents the border county of Stanstead. Mr. Moore made an exceedingly long speech to a comparatively empty House. All the arguments that have been heard for the last dozen years or more in support of the Conservative trade policy were incorporated in the effort of Mr. Moore. In the midst of his speech Black Rod arrived and summoned the Commons to the Senate side, where Sir Henry Strong, Deputy Governor, assented to the supply bill. Mr. Moore declared amongst other things that Canada could not obtain a reciprocity treaty with the United States on honorable terms. He said that a renewal of the treaty of 1854, if it were possible, would be a great injury to the farmers of Canada, because they were the competitors of the American farmers.

Mr. Charlton, replying to Mr. Foster's attack yesterday upon the Government's tariff policy, said it was premature and absurd. The Government had not had an opportunity of formulating their policy. When it had done so it would be time enough to disagree with it, and in all human probability Mr. Foster would disagree with it. But up to the present there had been no time to take up the business of tariff reform. This session was called for the purpose of granting the supplies for carrying on the public services. That was the first duty which lay before the new Government. What the House should do was to give the Government the supplies they required and to say to them, "Go ahead now and find out what you want to do; formulate your policy, and when it is ready call us together at the earliest possible moment and submit it to us." That was the rational proceeding. But here the House was asked to censure the Government because within 40 days a tariff measure was not ready. Haste or premature action would have been wrong and might have resulted in consequences which could not be retrieved. He believed the manufacturers and business men of Canada are in a trustful mood toward the Government, believing that what will be done will be in the best interests of all business classes. (Applause.) The Premier had given the keynote the other day when he quoted Lincoln's immortal words that this was to be a Government of the people, by the people, for the people. Mr. Charlton declared ironically that he did not suppose Mr. Foster wished to create a business panic, but that would be the effect if the business community put faith or belief in his statements and prophecies.

Going on to speak of the method of negotiating a treaty, he said he hoped if the Liberal Government sent a representative to Washington it would not be necessary for the British Ambassador to intercede to obtain for him an interview because of the resentment entertained by the Washington Government on account of the way it had been made a political catspaw of in elections. This drive was at Sir Charles Tupper's proceeding in 1891.

Sir Charles, rising, denied that there was any truth in it.

Mr. Charlton replied that this phase of these 1891 negotiations was not in the official correspondence, but it was the topic of conversation in Congressional circles in Washington. He and Sir Charles came into verbal collision again over those abortive negotiations before he proceeded with the next portion of his speech. Mr. Charlton reviewed the circumstances of the Washington fiasco of 1891. He expressed the belief that no more important task confronted the Government today than that of endeavoring to effect a satisfactory treaty with the United States. The Liberal party realized the necessity of striving to promote the prosperity of Canada. Another consideration that the Liberal party would keep in view was the probable effect the initiation of this policy would have upon the relations between Great Britain and the United States. Mr. Charlton, alluding to the demand of Mr. Foster for an immediate declaration upon the trade question, said that a tariff measure should not be brought down until it had been maturely considered. The Government was bound to take the interest of the farmer into consideration in framing a tariff.

Mr. Kloepfer (South Wellington) followed in his maiden speech. He took the ground that the manufacturers had not adequate protection under the present tariff, citing, for instance, the duties on carriage hardware and sewing machines. It seemed as if the Government were going to take plenty of time in which to arrange their tariff, although the Liberals knew all about it at election times. (Laughter.)

Mr. Wood (Hamilton): How many sewing machine factories were there in Canada when the N. P. commenced and how many are there to-day?

Sir Charles Tupper: This is the first occasion I have known a gentleman addressing the House for the first time to be interrupted in his speech. (Cheers.)

Mr. Kloepfer: I will answer him. Any intelligent man should know what he asks. (Laughter and cheers.) There may not be as many sewing machine factories in the country to-day as there were some years ago, because the demand has been largely met, and the demand to-day is largely to replace machines worn out. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Kloepfer concluded by urging the Government to indicate to what extent its tariff revision would go.

Mr. Henry (South Brant) also made his maiden speech. Dealing with the tariff, he said: Mr. Foster made no charge against the Government's policy, because they had no policy to propound. (Hear, hear.) The only gleam of hope had come from Mr. Frost earlier in the session, when he stated that the manufacturers would be protected. In his (Mr. Henry's) judgment, it would be better if the Government were to take the House into its confidence now, rather than to pour their policy into the ears of a private member. (Hear, hear.) Referring to Sir Richard Cartwright's speech, he twitted that honorable member for his disappointment in not having been made Finance Minister. He had missed that goal, but had been given the honor of criticising the late Finance Minister. (Opposition laughter.) Mr. Foster had laid down clearly the lines upon which the Government should act. All that he (Mr. Henry) would say was that if the present Government came down with a genuine national policy, calculated to afford protection to Canadian industries, the measure would receive his support.

Mr. John Ross Robertson said if this resolution proposed to censure the Government for having a trade policy ready in four weeks he would cheerfully support it, but as it proposed to censure the Government for not having a trade policy ready in four weeks he must reluctantly oppose it. (Liberal cheers.) He was not now, never was, and never would be in sympathy with the trade policy of the Liberal party. (Opposition cheers.) The Liberal party did not win its election on its trade policy, and he was hopeful the Government would be mindful of this in framing their tariff policy. Only a Government of fools would undertake to bring down a ready-made tariff policy inside of four or six weeks. The Government might think their campaign promises were important—(Liberal cheers)—but more important still were the interests that would be ruined by the hasty and rash fulfilment of those campaign promises. (Prolonged Conservative cheers.) Reasonable delay, in his judgment, was not objectionable. In this case it was a sign of wisdom. It was better for the Government to be inconsistent than unjust. The Government were dealing with industries in which millions were invested and thousands of men employed, hence the country would overlook some delay. The people, who put the Liberal party on the Government side of the House, were competent to put them out if they trifled with the trade interests of Canada. He was a Conservative representing a Conservative constituency, and it was his duty to remember that that constituency had shown its independence by electing him and it expected him to show this. He believed he reflected the views of the prominent Conservatives of East Toronto—not the machine men whom he buried under an avalanche on June 23—but men who composed the bone and sinew of the Conservative party, men who had the general welfare of the country at heart. He hoped his voice would always be heard on the side of right, that never above his head would the crack of the party whip be heard. To the electors of East Toronto he was responsible, and to them he would render account. (Applause.)

Mr. Henderson followed. He urged the Government not to do anything that would throw the Canadian markets open to the Americans. He said that the home market of Toronto is three times as large as the entire export trade to the States, and concluded by calling for such a declaration of policy as would enable the producers of Canada to continue their operations without fear of disturbance.

After a brief speech from Mr. Bell (Pictou) the House at midnight divided on Mr. Foster's amendment, which was negatived by 113 to 76, a majority of 37 for the Government. The vote was received with loud Ministerial cheers and the singing of "God Save the Queen," in which the Conservatives lustily joined.

Yeas—Beattie, Bell (Addington), Bell (Pictou), Bennett, Bergeron, Bethune, Blanchard, Boisvert, Borden (Halifax), Broder, Cargill, Caron (Sir Adolphe), Carscallen, Cargrain, Clancy, Clarke, Cochrane, Corby, Costigan, Craig, Davin, Dimock, Dugas, Dupont, Earle, Foster, Ganong, Gillies, Gilmour, Gulliet, Hackett, Haggart, Hale, Henderson, Henry, Hodgins, Knulbach, Klock, Kloepfer, LaRivière, Macdonald (King's), Macdonald (Winnipeg), Maclean, McAlister, McCleary, McCorquick, McGillivray, McInerney, McLennan (Glengarry), McNeill, Mariotte, Martin, Mills, Monk, Montague, Moore, Morin, Oder, Powell, Prior, Quinn, Reid, Robinson, Roche, Rosamond, Scougrau, Sproule, Taylor, Tisdale, Tupper (Sir Charles), Tupper (Sir Charles Hibbert), Tyrwhitt, Wallace, Wilson, Wood (Brockville). Total 76.

Nays—Angers, Bain, Bazinet, Beausoleil, Belth', Belcourt, Bernier, Blair, Borden (King's), Bostock, Bourassa, Bourbonnais, Britton, Brodeur, Brown, Bruneau, Burrett, Calvert, Cameron, Carroll, Cartwright (Sir Richard), Casey, Charlton, Choquette, Christie, Copp, Davies, Dechene, Desnarais, Devlin, Dobell, Domville, Douglas, Dupre, Dyment, Ellis, Erb, Ethier, Favel, Featherston, Fielding, Flset, Fisher, Fitzpatrick, Flint, Fraser (Guysboro), Fraser (Lambton), Frost, Gauthier, Geoffrion, Gibson, Godbout, Guay, Haley, Harwood, Harley, Joly de Lotbiniere (Sir Henri), Landerkin, Lang, Laurier, Lavergne, Legris, Lemieux, Lister Livingston, Logan, Lount, Macdonald (Huron), Macdonnell (Selkirk), Mackie, Macpherson, McGregor, McHugh, McInnes, McIsaac, McLennan (Inverness), McMillan, McMullen, Madore, Maxwell, Meigs, Mignault, Moset, Morrison, Mulock, Oliver, Parmalee, Paterson, Penny, Pettet, Prefontaine, Ratz, Richardson, Rinfret, Robertson, Rogers, Russell, Savard, Scriver, Semple, Somerville, Stenson, Stubbs, Sutherland, Talbot, Tarte, Tolmie, Tucker, Turcotte, Wood (Hamilton), Yeo. Total 113.

Following are the pairs for the amendment against it: Ingram with McCarthy, Poupore with Langelier, Hughes with Pouliot, Jendry with Campbell, Roddick with Edwards, McLaren with Cowan, Lloyd with Hutchinson, Chauvin with Fortin.

When the result had been announced, and Deputy Speaker Brodeur had taken the chair in Committee of Supply, there was an ebullition of the part of the Ministerial members, who drowned out the Opposition cries of "order" by rising and singing "God Save the Queen." It was followed by three tremendous cheers, which were faintly echoed by the Opposition. The utmost disorder prevailed.

When partial quiet had been restored, Col. Tisdale asked if it were in order for members to sing and cheer when the Speaker was in the chair of the House, or the Deputy Speaker in the chair of Committee of Supply.

Mr. Fielding said there were exceptional reasons to-day why the members of the House might be permitted to sing "God Save the Queen."

Mr. Choquette: When they're beaten they don't care for the Queen.

While the chamber was yet in a commotion and the chairman was trying, not very effectually, to quiet the bustle of shifting members and the buzz of conversation, Mr. Foster, rising and speaking with strong annoyance in his voice, declared that unless the chair had authority to maintain order the committee could not do business. "Keep your temper," some one called out, in a not very soothing voice from the Government side. Mr. Foster's eye fell upon Dr. Landerkin, who happened to be one of those members who were standing in front of the first row of Ministerial desks. The doctor was laughing, and the irate ex-Minister, with increasing temper, asked whether "this mob rule was to prevail." "The Opposition," he stormed, "has some rights, and one of them is that they are not to be insulted in the presence of the chair."

This outburst was greeted with applause by the Opposition, to whom the evening's dose of leek had been far from palatable.

The estimates before the committee were those of the Interior Department, and Mr. Foster said he did not think they could be allowed to pass until the Premier gave a satisfactory statement as to the filling of the vacant portfolio of the Interior.

Mr. Laurier rising, remarked in smiling tones that the exuberance might be excused, because to-day Her Majesty the Queen had completed the longest reign in the history of England. (Ministerial cheers and laughter.) There would be no trouble at all in getting to business. As for the portfolio of the Interior, the Government thought that for a few days or a few weeks it might still be left vacant. It was not extraordinary if the Government should do this, and it was not without precedent. In the year 1884, when Sir Charles Tupper had been appointed High Commissioner, the portfolio of Railways in Sir John Macdonald's Government had been left vacant for more than ten months, including the whole of an important session of Parliament. In the light of that precedent surely this Government might be allowed to have a portfolio vacant for a few weeks.

Sir Charles Tupper pointed out that there was no similarity in the cases whatever, the department then being managed by a gentleman who had been administering it ably for years. Besides, in the present case, the press was being filled with statements that the office in question was being held up for barter and sale. (Opposition cheers.)

Mr. Laurier retorted warmly that if the hon. gentleman took press statements for facts he would be often mistaken, and he promised that when the appointment was made all the facts would be laid before the House and its criticism thereon fully challenged.

After a lengthy discussion one item passed and the House adjourned at 2.30 a.m.

THE QUEEN

To borrow a phrase from the expressive speech of sporting circles, Her Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria has "broken the record." On Wednesday, Sept. 23rd, the reign of the Queen became the longest of any British soverign, and the EXAMINER and the people of Canada join with all the peoples of the vast empire over which she has ruled so long, in the most cordial congratulations and fervent wishes that she may be spared "in health and wealth long to live, and that she may vanquish and overcome all her enemies;" that is that the blessings of British rule under her sway may, as has been done in the past, supplant the reign of oppression and injustice. The Queen ascended the throne of the mightiest empire, past or present, the world has ever known, on June 20th, 1837, at the age of 18 years, and had occupied the throne fifty-nine years, three months and three days before her reign exceeded in duration that of any preceeding monarch.

The sixty years during which the Queen has reigned has been the most fruitful in advancement and the blessings of good government of any similar period in the annals of the Empire. It has been so prolific in progress—in inventions, in science, in art and in literature—that a mere enumeration of them would occupy columns. Never has the world seen a sovereign whose rule has witnessed such tremendous material and other progress and so wondrous a development of the benefits arising from enlightened, liberal, progressive and just rule as Her Majesty Queen Victoria. And we shall all join in the prayer that the Divine Providence, which has so conspicuously blessed her reign, will still

Send her victorious,
Happy and glorious,
Long to reign over us—
God Save The Queen.

VOTERS LISTS FOR THE BYE-ELECTIONS.

The Montreal Star has an apposite article upon this subject which is reprinted below. In this article the Star advocates the repeal of the Franchise Act, and supports its contention with good arguments. But the remarkable thing about this is the fact that the demand for the repeal of the Franchise Act did not suggest itself to the Star while the government it supported so strongly was in power. The Franchise Act only assumes an enormity in the Star's eyes when a Liberal Government is at the helm. Conservative journals have developed a mania for reforms when their own party is not called upon to do the reforming, and they demand that a score of great reforms shall be done at once. They could wait eighteen years for these reforms without once suggesting them, but now that the Liberals are in power the work cannot be done too quickly to suit the sudden zeal of Conservative newspapers and politicians. There need be no worry about the Franchise Act. The Liberal Government will deal with it in due time and in a manner that will remove the injustice and expensiveness of the Act, and supplant it with legislation that will tend to make a general election a bona fide and full expression of popular feeling. The Star in its article says:

Now that the thirty-day limit is passed, and the country cannot escape paying each member of Parliament a full thousand dollars for his attendance at this "extra session" it may possibly seem wise to the Government to let them make a greater pretence of earning their indemnity by doing a little needed legislating. The proposal that Parliament shall adjourn and not prorogue when it was finally decided to "quit work" this autumn is a good one, but prolonged sessions before have been accompanied by votes of increasing indemnity, so that the country will not rejoice too confidently over the gain, even if an adjournment is made. Yet something might be done towards damping back the demand for a bonus by getting some work out of the way this year, and thus making it possible to sit for a shorter time next spring.

One task that might very profitably be disposed of is the repeal of the Franchise Act and the substitution therefor of a manhood suffrage measure. The political probabilities predict the coming of a covey of bye-elections in the near future, and it would be nothing short of a scandal to hold these contests on voters' lists that were old last June. They must be fully two years old before any bye-elections can be brought about. To use these lists would mean at the outset that the age limit was raised without Parliamentary action from twenty-one to twenty-three, and that every young man who has come of age since the early part of 1895 would be wantonly disenfranchised without opportunity of appeal. Then, as if to aggravate this theft of political right from the hand of the nation's young manhood, the dead of the last two years are given the suffrage. More than that, those who have left the country during that time, have yet on these belated lists the right to vote; while all who have moved from one constituency to another, cannot vote where they now live but have the right to vote where they cannot be canvassed and identified. These last three classes open a fine field for the foraging of the "telegrapher." He will make it his business to see that the enfranchised dead do vote; that the men of bad taste who has left Canada for the silver-stagnated country to the south turns up on polling day and marks his ballot for the party in whose pay the personator is; while the Canadian citizen who has simply moved from one constituency to another, and against whom the most careful local canvass cannot guard, will return for voting purposes, either personally or "personatorally."

WARSAW.

From our own Correspondent.

Quite a number from here attended the Lakefield Fair.

Hunting parties are plenty but game is scarce.

Miss Laura Hughes, who has been spending a few days at home, returned to town on Monday.

Thos. Wilson and wife spent Sunday with friends in North Dummer.

Miss Jenny Calder, who has been visiting at Mr. A. Calder's, will start for home this week.

Mr. B. James intends building a stable and driving shed on his lot this week.

A number of young people gathered at the residence of Mr. Alex. Calder on Friday evening last and an enjoyable time was spent in games, etc.

Mr. John Morgan is building a large hotel at McCracken's Landing on Stony Lake.

Quite a number of farmers from this section intend settling in the back country and taking up land.

While out hunting last week Jacob and William Fayne came across an old bear and two cubs. They killed one of the cubs but the rest escaped.

A hunting party, consisting of cheesemakers, carpenters, eggbuyers and tailors, fully equipped with guns, dogs, ammunition, etc., left in the "wee sma' hours" on Friday morning last in search of any kind of game that might show up. Through woods and swamp and the dogs struck a trail. Soon the whole party was in full chase after a fox. The fox ran well for a while, but finally the dogs brought it to bay in a swamp near Quarry Lake. The hunters soon closed in and surrounded the animal, and then they proceeded to draw lots as to who would dispatch it. The tailor was the lucky man and won the throw. But just then the party were started by a loud "Ba a-ah!" and on closer examination the fox was found to be white.

The tailor remarked that there must be a woollen factory in the vicinity, but the tailor said that there was no wool in his eyes. The crowd struck town later on in the day sadder and wiser, with another yarn to add to their already long list of adventures.

"For years," says Capt. C. Mueller, "I have relied more upon Ayer's Pills than anything else in the medicine chest, to regulate my bowels, and those of the ship's crew. These pills are not severe in their action, but do their work thoroughly."

NORTH HARVEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Everything went smoothly at the meeting of the Gospel Temperance Society on Wednesday night. The new president, Mrs. Jas. Beatty, was in the chair, and it was astonishing how well she adapted herself to the position. The programme was not very long, as everyone has been so busy lately they did not have time to get up anything; but next month it is expected that there will be a meeting worth going to.

Kennedy Davis & Son have just received a large consignment of hogs, which they purchased from Dovey, of Lindsay.

David Bordeau has just raised a new house on some land that he has taken up in the south-eastern part of Galway. He, at least, seems to live in hope of seeing the North Squaw River Road finished in the near future, as it is the only way they can get in or out to their land.

Mrs. Abram Ward, sr., has been very ill with cholera, but we are glad to say that she is reported to be on the mend.

W. D. Ventress has just harvested his crop of onions and reports them the best crop he has had in years.

The Rev. Mr. Metheral, of Dunsford, preached here in the Methodist church last Sunday.

Farmers in this locality are rather late getting in their fall wheat. When the weather was dry they were afraid to barn their fallows, and since it commenced to rain they cannot burn as it don't stay dry long enough at once for to get a good start.

Grain is turning out better here than was anticipated, and altogether a better sample than last year. Jas. S. Cairnduff has just threshed out a fine lot of fall wheat and peas which cannot be beaten both in quantity and quality.

Mrs. John T. Thompson, of Fenelon Falls, was down on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Woods. Her many old acquaintances will be glad to hear that she is still keeping in good health.

Mr. Lonsbury, Government road inspector, has just been here and declares himself well satisfied with the way the grants have been expended on the roads for the past year. It is expected that he will make a report favourable to getting fresh grants for another year, through our faithful representative, Mr. Stratton.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Sept. 22.—Private cables from London say that the market for cattle was about the same as last week, 4½ to 5d. Sheep sold at 6 1-2 1, and there was a better feeling than last week. There were about 600 head of butchers' cattle, 75 calves and 600 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abbatoir to-day. There was a large attendance of butchers, but trade in cattle was slow and prices low, except for prime beeves, of which there were only two or three on the market. Only a very few sales were made at over 3 1-4c per lb. A lot of nine steers and three fat cows weighing 12,440 pounds were sold at 3c per lb. Common stock sold at from 2 1-4c to 2 3-4c per lb, and the leaner beasts at from 1 1-2 to 2c per lb. There was an active demand for calves, and the prices have advanced considerably of late, or about twenty-five per cent on the prices paid here three or four weeks ago. One butcher paid $35 for two large fat calves, and $24 for three others, which were five or six weeks old. Calves from three to four weeks old sell at from $2.50 to $6 each, according to quality. Shippers are paying only 2½c per lb for ordinary lots of sheep. Lambs are higher in price, or from 3¼ to 3 1-2c per lb. There are very few fat hogs on the market and prices are nominal at about 3 1-2c per lb for large hogs and 4c for small ones.

NO LONE HAND.

London Newspapers Don't Want Any Power to Act Singly in Turkey, But Favor Concerted Action.

London, Sept. 23.—The London afternoon newspapers, which have hitherto advocated the intervention of Russia in Turkey, now scarcely allude to any possible interference on the part of the Czar, but all of the papers print columns of editorials, communications, reports of meetings, etc., all of which are directed against the Sultan. The general tone of these articles is in deprecation of isolated action on the part of any power in Turkey, but strongly favoring an immediate concert of action.

THAT NEW DREIBUND.

New York, Sept. 23.—A special cable despatch to an evening paper says: The St. James' Gazette, referring to the suggested new triple alliance, says that "England only expects the moral support of America, not her scanty equipment in war material. It looks as if we had that moral support, since Washington relies upon England to secure the passage of the American guardship through the Dardanelles."

The Radical papers write as if the Czar would join England in a movement to end Armenian atrocities. The Tory organs point out that the visit is private. The Armenians probably will not be mentioned, or, if they should be, Lord Salisbury will be referred to the Russian Ambassador.

Mr. Lowles Denies It

London, Sept. 23.—Mr. John Lowles, member of the House of Commons for the Haggerston division of Shoreditch, has written a letter to The Daily News, in which he asserts that the remarks made by him at the meeting held in Shoreditch on the evening of the 21st inst. to protest against the massacre of Christians by the Turks were incorrectly reported. Mr. Lowles declares that he did not state that he was authorized by the Foreign Office to say that Great Britain was confronted by an agreement between the three powers; that if she attacked Turkey on any excuse or pretext she would have to face that combination, and that if she fired a single shot or took action alone it would mean that at that moment there would be a European war.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

Russia Is Getting in Her Work at Port Arthur - Russian More Numerous Than British Warships.

London, Sept. 23.—A special despatch from Shanghai to The Globe says that Russian engineers are supervising the work of repairing the docks and workshops at Port Arthur, and the storing at that place of vast supplies of coal. Russian warships, the despatch says, are a great deal more numerous than British warships in the Pacific, and it is believed that the results of Li Hung Chang's entente with Russia on behalf of China will shortly be displayed.

THE SOUDAN EXPEDITION.

How The London Times Accounts for the Heavy Percentage of Sickness.

London, Sept. 23.—An editorial in The Times, commenting upon the heavy percentage of illness and death in the Egyptian expedition, says that it is due to the necessity of rigid economy arising from France's refusal to sanction the use of Egyptian funds. "The expedition," continues The Times, "is small, and is compelled to make forced marches and undergo hardships in order to make time. England cannot afford, for the sake of economy, to undo her own successful work, and she must herself find the money to prosecute the campaign under conditions consistent with common humanity to the troops."

DONGOLA HAS SURELY FALLEN.

London, Sept. 23.—General Sir H. H. Kitchener, commander of the Anglo-Egyptian expedition into the Soudan, has telegraphed to the Foreign Office that he has definitely occupied Dongola, and that the Dervishes have evacuated that province. A number of Dervish Emirs have surrendered to the Egyptian troops, and a large quantity of stores and munitions of war has been captured from the enemy.

A Bicyclist Peddling Bad Money.

Washington, Sept. 23.—The Secret Service officers of the treasury say that the dangerous raised counterfeit silver certificates, raised from $2 to $10 mentioned in this morning's despatches as appearing at Toledo, O., are being distributed throughout that section of Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, by a man on a bicycle. The authorities have so far been unable to catch him.

NEVER HEARD OF.

A Single Instance in Which Dodd's Kidney Pills Failed to Cure Kidney Disease.

Mount Forest (Special) Sept. 21.—The proprietor of the Queen's Hotel of this town declares that he has every reason to believe, that any claim made by the people who are advertising and selling Dodd's Kidney Pills is true. These people were the first to inform, and instruct him as to the cause of his long continued suffering from extreme nervousness. He says that "unable to obtain any relief from other sources, that it was on account of reading the particulars of other cures that his confidence was gained." Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills were all that were required to complete his cure.

SIX MONTHS OF IT.

Mr. M. C. Cameron Prophesies a Long Session

WHEN PARLIAMENT MEETS AGAIN

He Names Important Questions Which Will Occupy Attention — Pointon Divorce Application Thrown Out — Railway Committee Doings — Quebec Bridge Deputation.

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—M. C. Cameron, M. P. for West Huron, states his belief that the next session of Parliament will last six months or longer. When asked on what grounds he had made the wager, he replied that, first, there was to be the tariff revision, which he did not anticipate would be allowed to pass without a good deal of debate. The estimates would occupy more than the ordinary amount of time, as they would be radically different from those now under discussion, or that have in late years been before the House. Then, he said, it was intended to introduce a new franchise bill, which was certain to occupy the House for a considerable time. Finally, it would be found that a great deal of time would be taken up with the redistribution bill.

The Senate Committee made short work of the second Toronto divorce case, before them yesterday and to-day. C. E. W. Pointon, a Toronto painter, asked for divorce from his wife on the ground of adultery. On cross-examination, it transpired that Pointon himself had been living with another woman in Toronto for some years, by whom he has had three children. The committee decided adversely to the petitioner and ordered him to pay the costs of his wife's counsel. Mr. Tytler of Toronto appeared for the petitioner, and Mr. George E. Kidd of Ottawa for Mrs. Pointon.

The Railway Committee had a lively meeting this morning over the bill conferring certain powers on the Hull and Aylmer Electric Company. The bill seeks to authorise the company to run over streets of the city of Ottawa by permission of the City Council. The crucial point of the discussion was as to the advisability or otherwise of the Dominion interfering in what might seem the provincial domain, the company seeking to run from one province to another. Several objectionable features were eliminated from the measure, after which it was reported.

A deputation from Quebec, consisting of Mayor Parent, Aldermen Vincent, Roy and Rancourt, had a lengthy interview with the Premier to-day, with reference to the construction of a bridge across the St. Lawrence, opposite Quebec. The Government had already placed itself upon record as being willing to liberally subsidize this enterprise if promoted by a responsible company, and the object of the deputation was to see what steps would be necessary to initiate the undertaking. It appears that the City Council of Quebec is to be the prime mover in the affair, and will subscribe $500,000 to the stock list, or guarantee the interest upon bonds to the amount of $1,000,000. The company will be formed immediately and Mr. Laurier gave assurances that the Government will lend its hearty support to the undertaking. The structure will be a railway and traffic bridge.

Mr. W. G. McWilliams, solicitor for the Industrial Exhibition Association, is here as the advance guard of the Toronto deputation which is coming to-morrow to interview the Government regarding the grant for the Dominion Exhibition.

In the bill, as passed by the House to-night, incorporating the Mather Bridge and Power Company, a very important principle was included and made law. The bill empowers the company to erect a traffic bridge between Buffalo and Fort Erie, and to place wheels for the generation of electric energy between the piers. The scheme seems to be a power scheme more than a bridge scheme. The promoters claim to have inventions that will enable them to pick up thousands of horse power from the current and to wire it to Buffalo, where they will find a ready market for it. Mr. Maclean of East York, after a fight in the Railway Committee, got the following clause inserted in the bill, and as such it passed the House to-night:

"The privileges hereby conferred and the lawful use and enjoyment thereof shall always be subject to such conditions as the Governor-in-Council may from time to time impose, including, among others, the payment of an annual rental or percentage of gross receipts for such privileges."

It is the intention to insert this clause hereafter in all similar bills. Mr. Maclean pointed out that the Cataract Company and the trolley line on the Canadian side of the river paid an annual rental for their franchises to the Ontario Government, and that hereafter similar companies ought to pay a rental or percentage to the Dominion Treasury.

Hon. William Harty, Ontario Commissioner of Works, is in the city. His health is much improved by his visit to Prince Edward Island.

Mr. D. Johnston of Montrose, one of the leading fish merchants of Scotland, is here interviewing the Fisheries Department with reference to the possibilities of opening up a fish trade between Canada and Great Britain.

The Emerald Benefit Association today selected Lindsay as its next meeting place.

The Nordheimer divorce bill passed the Senate to-day.

The royal assent was given to-day by the Deputy-Governor to the interim supply bill.

HE FLOURISHED A KNIFE.

THE HEAVIEST SENTENCE OF THE COURT WAS IMPOSED.

A Tramp Received the Full Penalty this Morning at the Hands of the Mayor—He knows too Much Law for his own Good.

This morning in the police court Mayor Yelland imposed the heaviest penalty possible on a vagrant. This is the first time such a sentence has been imposed in town since the adoption of the new Criminal Code. The tramp in question was sentenced to six months at hard labour in the Central Prison, and subjected to a fine of fifty dollars. If the fine is not paid a further term of six months will have to be served.

The man who received this sentence was Frederick Jackson, and by the evidence adduced this morning in the police court it appears that he entered the Oxford Hotel at the C.P.R. station, partially intoxicated, and asked for a drink. As he for it, he was given no liquor, at which he became greatly enraged and, producing a knife, threatened to "do" Mr. Bowman, the proprietor, and commenced to hack the bar with the knife, at the same time threatening to return at night and burn the place down.

Mr. Bowman telephoned for the police, but Jackson declared that the five men who were in the bar and the united police force of Peterborough and Ashburnham could not put him out. He trottled an inoffensive young man who was sitting in a corner, and, flashing his big knife before his eyes, threatened to disembowel him.

Jackson had a couple of other men with him, but at the first mention of the police they decamped.

When Constable McGinty entered the door Jackson made a bolt out the back way, but the officer was and caught his man before he could make good his escape. The prisoner made a desparate fight for his liberty and the air was blue and sulphurous with his profanity when he realized that he was hopelessly in the grip of the law, as represented by Constable McGinty's nippers.

After being lodged in the cells Jackson acted in a frenzied manner, cursing, swearing and roaring like a mad bull. The Chief telephoned the Mayor to let him know of the kind of a case he had on hand and the Mayor could hear the uproar over the wires. Everything breakable in the cell was smashed to splinters.

When before the Mayor this morning the prisoner evidenced a knowledge of criminal law to an extent which argued that he must have had quite with the mode of procedures and the penalties at one time or another. He promptly called the Chief down when he thought that that august personage was overstepping his rights when he was conducting the examination, and also questioned the mayor's right to impose the sentence recorded and wanted a change of venue. His conduct all through the trial was of such a bragadocio style that his plea for clemency fell on unheeding ears when the sentence was recorded.

George Weston, another tramp, claimed that he was not a vagrant, as he was looking for work and was only out from England for the last fourteen weeks. He was remanded until Monday.

John Scott, of Glasgow, was the third of the trio. He was remanded for a week.

As the prisoners carried a number of new pocketknives and razors with them which they were endeavouring to sell, the Chief thinks that he may hear more of the men if he keeps them for a time. They state that they received the cutlery from "a tall gent" who is qualified to camp on Burnham's Point.

REV. J. S. SHOREY ACCEPTS.

Rev. J. S. Shorey, of Lindsay, has accepted the invitation of the Official Board of the George street Methodist church, Peterborough, to become their pastor at the end of the present conference year.

Their Fame Spreading.

The firm of J. J. Turner & Son, are becoming known throughout the length and breadth of Canada, apparently, as the following orders have just been booked: Picton, 500 flags with which to decorate the town on the occasion of the visit of the Governor General; Chatham, 500 more flags for the same purpose, a thousand having been already sent; Lindsay, flags to decorate in honour of the Governor General's visit. Messrs. Reginald and Achilles Turner left this morning on the C.P.R. for Chatham to superintend the decorations.

Why not buy from Grafton & Co., and save fully 20 per cent, besides buying better-made, better-fitting Suits and Overcoats.

A Vote of Censure.

At a meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the George street Methodist church, held on Wednesday evening, September 23rd, was passed unanimously a vote of censure on the Directors of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society, for procuring and allowing such a disgusting exhibition of so-called skirt or ballet dancing to take place on their grounds during the late show, and that this Board view with fear and dismay the repetition of such displays, as they have only a demoralizing and corrupting tendency, and that if a guarantee is not given next year that such an occurrence will not be allowed to take place on the exhibition grounds, that our people refrain from patronizing or appearing on the grounds of the Society.

REMEMBERED THE HOSPITAL.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen Forward a Handsome Bouquet from Toronto.

Amongst the points of the town visited by the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen on the occasion of their visit here, was the Nicholls Hospital, in which they evinced a great interest. That their solicitude was not a mere momentary impulse is shown by the fact that to-day a magnificent hot house bouquet was forwarded to the hospital from Toronto by their Excellencies.

A NEW DIOCESE.

Northern Ontario to be Sub-divided. Apparently.

The diocese of Peterborough will likely be considerably changed in boundaries in a short time, as there is a possibility of the northern parishes being removed to form a diocese with several parishes from the diocese of Pontiac. Judge Valin, of North Bay, a parish in the diocese of Peterborough, a despatch states, is on his way to Rome with a petition to His Holiness, praying for the creation of a new diocese in Northern Ontario. The territory which it is suggested to include in the new diocese extends from Ottawa to Lake Superior, and from the C.P.R. line to the North Pole. The petition claims that this territory has a Catholic population of 40,000, the greater part of whom are without an episcopal head and the larger population are French.

LACROSSE.

Arrangements have been made to run an excursion train to Orillia with the lacrosse team to-morrow and as the rate has been reduced to a dollar it is probable that a big crowd will accompany the boys. The train leaves the G. T. R. station at 12.15 and returns at midnight. An additional inducement lies in the fact that the big Gaudaur reception takes place the same evening in Orillia and the train will wait until the festivities are over. If the Peterboroughs win in Orillia they certainly can win the return match on the P. A. A. A. grounds, which will entitle them to play off with Georgetown for the Canadian Lacrosse Association championship. The team will be picked from the following:—Dobbin, Brown, Mein, Glover, Lynch, Borland, McDonough, Phelan, Galley, McCabe, Lipsett, King, Rubidge, Thompson, Rickey and Hickey.

The Curfew Law.

We commend the following to the attention of Peterborough parents: Speaking of the increase of juvenile crime in England the London Hospital says: "We have not yet hit upon a satisfactory way of dealing with the youthful offender between the ages of 16 and 21. These years cover the period of adolescence, a very critical one in the lives of young people of both sexes. Bad habits formed at this time are with difficulty eradicated, whilst, on the other hand, if we could prevent youths from embarking upon a career of crime at this age there would be a great drop in the sum total of criminality. An incalculable amount of mischief is wrought by allowing young people to congregate in knots at the street corners. Loafing becomes a habit, and loafing leads to bad company, and that to crime. Probably more harm is picked up by boys and girls during the hour or two after dusk than in all the rest of the day. Parents of the lower and middle classes are far too careless in the way in which they permit their children to play in the streets." This is as true of this country as of England—the streets after dark are the devil's training school in vice. They are no place for innocent children, who should be sheltered in the security of home.

The Closing Day—What Was Done Yesterday Afternoon—The Races and Drawing Contest—The Special Attractions.

THIRD DAY—WEDNESDAY.

Yesterday afternoon was the closing day of the Peterborough Central Exhibition of 1896, which has proven to be the most successful of the series, both in matter of finances and the generally high character of the exhibits; and the directors and members and all concerned in the success of the Central have reason to be gratified with the success that has been achieved. The society entered upon the year with an indebtedness of some $400, and it is highly probable that all current obligations as well as this indebtedness will be met from the receipts of Tuesday and Wednesday. The success of the exhibition, financially, is all the more satisfactory in view of the fact of the cold, threatening weather of Tuesday's discouraging attendance, to the extent represented by a shortage of $500 in gate receipts, which would not have occurred had we had the fine weather of Wednesday. It is only a moderate estimate, that fully two thousand visitors were deterred from attending the exhibition by the threatening weather.

The attendance of Wednesday afternoon was not very large but sufficient to keep up the interest and the lively appearance of the grounds.

THE SPEEDING EVENTS.

These proved to be the most interesting and at times exciting especially the running race, which in some of the heats afforded a very pretty bit of sport. In other heats, however, the order of the horses was somewhat processional. The results summarized are as follows in the running race; there were three prizes which fall to the first three hosses in order:

Jones' "Nettie Wood"	2	1	1
Jones' " Jeffe B"	1	4	4
Lane's (Grafton) "Minnie L"	4	2	2
R. English's "Gipsey Girl"	3	3	3

THE THREE-MINUTE TROT.

This event brought out four waggons and the four heats were pretty warmly contested. The winning horse had his work cut out for him by his next neighbour. The following summary indicates the winners:

I Nattrass' Barnigh, Millbrook	4	1	1
R Croft's Hal Pointer, Cobourg	1	3	4	3
R Stewart's Daisy, Peterborough	2	2	2	2
M Conner's Fred S. Peterborough	3	4	3	x

The judges were Dr. Beatty and Messrs. W. Croft, town, and C. L. Owens, Campbellford.

THE DRAWING CONTEST.

This proved to be a drawing card in a double sense, and the tests of strength were very interesting. An interesting column could be made of the remarks and speculations of the spectators during the tests.

The heavy-weight teams were four in number and the following summary gives the distance drawn by each, the three first being the winning owners:

John McManus, Cavan, 312 ft. 2 in.
J McLennan, Peterborough, 287 ft. 8 in.
W H Down, Douro, 263 ft. 7 in.
Samuel Sullivan, Ennismore, 181 ft. 9 in.

The light weight teams under 2,500 lbs. were also four in number. The following summary gives the names of owners, weights of teams and distances drawn:

D. Sullivan, Ennismore, 2,460 lbs, 426 feet. 11 inches.
Ernest Mann, Smith, 2,790 lbs., 289 feet 5 in.
Wm. Archer, Smith, 2,410 lbs. 217 feet 6 inches.
W. Creegh, Ennismore, 2,420 lbs., 22 inches.

THE SPECIAL ATTRACTIONS.

The special attractions maintained their interest to the last, the full programme being presented. The exhibition of the Royal Canadian Dragoons was unanimously voted the very best attractions ever introduced in connection with the exhibition. Led in their exercises by Sergt.-Major Dingley—who by the way has worn cavalry spurs the last 30 years in the British and Canadian regular service—the Dragoons did wonderful feats and the splendid horses seemed to share the intelligence of the men.

The press has to acknowledge special courtesies received from the president and directors, the secretary, the superintendent, Mr. T. M. Hunter, Mr. J. J. Bennett, assistant superintendent, and Mr. John A. Bennett, superintendent of the stables.

The exhibitors from outside places expressed themselves as greatly delighted with the treatment received from the directors and officials of the exhibition.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

MISS RUDKINS' DRESS GOODS DISPLAY.

Miss Rudkins is entitled to the sole credit this year for representing the dress goods and millinery trade in town, at the fair. Most of our readers know that it is characteristic of Miss Rudkins to be plucky as well as as enterprising. Possessed of a force of character and an aptitude for mercantile business, which has carried her safely through the shaky times, she keeps a watchful eye for whatever is calculated to give interest and publicity to her business. Miss Rudkins' display occupied the north end of the main building, on the west side, and next the piano exhibit, which could not have been better situated and more appropriately environed. The floor was neatly carpeted and decorated with fancy printed silks. Spread out on the front of the floor was a rich effect in pale blue crepon, which gave a softness to the display and harmonized with the stylish pattern hats and bonnets displayed on fancy stands. One notable bonnet, which showed the fall styles very correctly, was much admired by the ladies, and was treated in a very skillful manner by the milliner. It was a jet bonnet of medium size, with pretty white ospreys and ornamented with a piece of pretty emerald plush gimp, a black bird, a lovely bunch of delicate pale blue and dark green flowers and long satin ties. One of the newest styles of pattern hats was shown. It was covered with black velvet and in front was a trefoil of real black ostrich plume; the crown was encircled with a canary-coloured band of twisted velvet; and ospreys and bird ornaments completed the decidedly artistic effect. There was also shown a number of untrimmed hats and bonnets of the newest fall patterns, as well as a profusion of lovely new flowers, ospreys, ornaments, etc. Two new fall pattern mantles were shown, one in fine dark blue beaver, the other in black nigger-head. They were striking designs, graceful in shape and finely finished and trimmed. The dress goods shown included some plain and fancy weaves of Imported and Canadian goods, fashionable novelties of the newest design. One piece of black crepon cloth showed its rich crinkled effect to good advantage; a blue silk mixture was rich in quality and colour; a grey tweed costume cloth and a mohair serge crepon was very dressy, and a display of fancy plaids and tartans brought up the back ground. A crimson opera cape cloth was also shown, being a new design in rough wool effect, with warmth and elegance in its folds. The exhibit was tastefully arranged and much admired by the ladies.

Miss Rudkins is a very cautious and careful buyer; believes in carrying medium well selected stocks, and does not spend her energies or want her money in unnecessarily enlarging the already too full ranks of big storekeepers. A careful survey and knowledge of many facts in connection with general merchandise confirms her good business wisdom.

EXHIBIT OF DRUM STOVES.

Drum Stoves are no longer an experiment. Properly designed and made they have proved to be economical heaters and savers of fuel. Much of the expensive fuel we burn is wasted by allowing it to go up the chimney instead of being utilized to heat other rooms. Mr. Simon Moyer, who has recently settled in Peterborough and become one of our citizens, having his place of business on Water street, opposite the market, made an exhibit of the Dobbin Down Draught Drum, in various sizes and for various uses. It is claimed for this drum that any desired percentage of the heat may be extricated from the smoke or products of combustion, and the large number of testimonials from our citizens who already have them in use is strong proof for the claim. Here is one of them:

PETERBOROUGH, April 17th, 1896.

Mr. S. Moyer,

DEAR SIR,—This is to certify that we have been using one of Mr. Moyer's Patent Drums this winter at China Hall, and are thoroughly satisfied with it. It and a small wood stove have heated the entire main show room more satisfactorily than did two large coal stoves last winter, and at less than half the cost of former heating.

Yours truly,
MACFARLANE WILSON.

The Dobbin Drum is made of polished Canada plate, and is constructed by machinery specially designed for the purpose. These drums can be connected with cooking, heating hall or parlour stoves, either standing on the floor behind the stove, or on the floor of the next room, or up-stairs. Persons who have used these drums on cooking stoves claim that it takes less fuel to bake or iron than without the drums, on account of the heat remaining longer in the stove, and the wood burning away slower. It is guaranteed not to interfere with the draft, and is a spark arrester, as it sends all sparks and smoke to the bottom of the drum before discharging into the chimney. In fact, it prevents chimneys from catching on fire. These drums draw cold air off the floor, and are well adapted for large stores, school houses, etc., as well as private residences.

GRAFTON & CO.

There may be political and climatic reasons that sometimes disturb the business horizon, but no matter how severe this disturbance may seem, the people must wear clothes. The clothing business is, therefore, an everlasting necessity, and helps to make people law-abiding citizens. The enviable reputation which Grafton & Co. have achieved as manufacturers of hand-cut and tailor-made clothing is always enhanced by their exhibits at the Fairs. The style and finish of their clothing has its distinctive features, which people have already found out, and whether a man gives much or little thought to his attire, if he is dressed in Grafton's clothing he will pass muster. It takes more than "meaning well" to produce the right kind of apparel — among other things the fabric, and trimmings, and finish are necessary, and no small amount of intention as to the appropriate thing for individual wear. If it can be said that "fashion wears out more apparel than the man" it is because such skilled artists as Grafton & Co.'y employ are constantly improving the styles. It is certainly to the advantage of their patrons to know that they revised the old saw:—"Cut your coat according to your cloth," and made it read, "Cut your coat according to the man who is to wear it."

The exhibition of the firm this year was in the central corner of the building, where the principal crowds were drawn, and where hundreds of visitors passed in and out all day. Of their clothing itself special pains had been taken to make such a judicious selection of the different styles of suits and overcoats as would give a general idea of the extent and character of their large stock regularly kept on sale in their commodious store, No. 383 George street, Peterborough. The requirements of men and boys in these lines were fully represented.

All the leading styles for autumn and winter were shown. In men's wear there were overcoats and ulsters in black, browns, meltons, beaver, freize and foreign and domestic tweeds, all showing good fancy tweed linings and first-class fabrics; suits, in cut-away sacks, walking coat suits, business suits. Prince Albert frock coats and vests in fancy worsteds, black worsteds, diagonals, cassimeres, tweeds, etc., well-finished, and to all appearance equal to tailor-made. In boys' and children's suits they showed numerous natty and pretty patterns. Children's, boys' and youths' suits of the Grafton make might well induce mothers to give up the idea of saving anything by making up their little clothes at home. During these hard times of course parents cannot afford to pay double profits. People want to buy from first hands, and as Grafton & Co. sell direct to their customers at close first prices, its not worth while worrying over home-made clothes at least for the youngsters.

A diploma from the society was exhibited on their display, as a testimonial of the merits of their clothing. The arrangement of the exhibit was skilful and tastefully executed, and reflected credit on Mr. Wm. Armstrong, whose work in this respect, under the direction of Mr. Conway, was complimented by good judges. Mottoes, badges, flags and banners enlivened the general effect, and the pains and care bestowed to make an artistic display was the subject of general remark.

A large plate glass mirror, the full height of the exhibit, was placed in such a position as to reflect a double display of the goods. Around the space hung large handsomely gilt framed pictures, which are given away to purchasers of $20 worth of clothing. Throughout the show grounds Grafton & Co. had hung out their banners to the breeze, and in the most conspicuous quarters, wherever the eye turned the name of the firm was reflected in large painted placards. A handy little souvenir in the shape of a brass match box, full of wax vestas, stamped with the name of the firm, was given away, as well as that of attractive advertising cards. A new and unique advertisement for the firm was the horse bicycle, ridden by Prof. Arnold, of the firm of Grafton & Co., of Dundas, and was the newest invention of the kind on the grounds.

STEEL WINDMILLS AND PUMPS.

Mr. G. Walter Green, the live Peterborough pump and windmill man, made a very full and a very attractive exhibit of his goods on the show grounds. He was located at the south end of the grounds, where he had erected one pumping and one rotary power windmills. Both mills were in as full operation as if they were on a farm, doing the actual work they were designed for, and in this way giving a practical illustration of their usefulness. The "Ideal" pumping steel windmill and steel towers is a graceful looking structure with reciprocating motion, built with a framework of galvanized steel. The wheels and vanes are also galvanized after being put together, which adds greatly to the permanence and to the value of the outfit. These powerful machines are fitted with interchangable brass or patent roller and ball bearings, enclosed and fully protected from the weather. The band brake of this mill will positively hold the wheel still when turned out of the wind. Those who have had a wheel constantly in movement, when it should not run, will particularly appreciate this feature, because if it continues to run it will keep just little enough water in the pump to allow it to freeze in cold weather. The Power Wind Mill, with rotary motion, is being rapidly appreciated by wide-awake farmers. Its 12-foot wheel will give 2 to 3 h. p. in a 15 to 20 mile wind, and the 14-wheel, 4 to 5 h. p. It will run a cutting box, our grain grinder, root pulper, saw, lathe, etc., and pumps water. These wind mills are manufactured by the Goold, Shapley & Muir Co., of Brantford, who claim they are the best power windmills sold on this continent.

Mr. Green also exhibited four kinds of wooden pumps. The "Ideal" Combination Pump, with the latest improvements in valves and cylinders, has become a favourite wherever used. Mr. Green claims that it is the only pump that can be easily changed to throw either a light or a heavy stream of water. It gives more inches to the stroke from the same amount of leverage of any pump in the Dominion. The "Combination" was exhibited at the Toronto Exhibition in competition with many others, and took more points for efficiency than any pump on the grounds. The "Eureka" Stock Pump is a great pump for watering stock—a regular "gusher." It draws a big stream at every stroke and can be made to fill a large wooden pail in threee strokes. It is the farmers' friend. The "Superior" and "Cone" pumps are pumps that everybody knows, or should know, and the more that is known of them the better they are liked. He also showed a procelain lined iron cylinder to be used instead of the wooden cylinder in pumps. They cost a trifle more, but they pay for themselves by the saving of labour and last a lifetime.

Mr. Green's pump business is growing rapidly, and already he has established branch factories in Ottawa and Lindsay, in addition to his Millbrook branch and his factory on Dickson's Race, Peterborough.

Another exhibit of Mr. Green's was the "Ideal" Fanning Mill, with elevator attachment. These mills have several advantages which make them superior to others. A change has been made in the position of the driving crank, which makes it more handy by placing it on the right-hand side, thus allowing the left hand to easily used in working the machine. It has fourteen screens, that may be used on all kinds of seed and coarse grains. The meshes are from half-inch, for chaffing to the 26th part of an inch for Alsaik. The improved screens and sieves have added very much to the utility of these mills, as the patent agitator attachment, which keeps the screens always clean and free from clogging.

The "Maple Leaf" grinder was also shown. It is intended for farmers, stockmen, dairymen and others, and can be run by any power. It is handy to put the grain into the hopper, for the grinder is low in the frame, and has a large sheet-iron hopper which will hold over a bag of grain. The screw for adjusting the fineness of the grinding, and also the thumb-nut and slide for regulating the flow of grain, are at the grinding end of machine, and very easy of access.

KINGSCOTTE'S TENTS.

Mr. Alf. Kingscotte, the Tent, Sail and Awning Maker, Water street, was as busy as a beaver during the Fair. He had a number of his tents on the grounds, which were admired for their style and the durable quality of the whiteduck used in their construction. Several of the exhibits on the grounds were under Mr. Kingscote's tents as well as a number of the refreshment booths. They were selected for these purposes for their showy and convenient appearance. Mr. Kingscotte also makes waterproof horse and waggon covers, black oiled canvas, waterproof covers, lap covers, warranted strictly waterproof. He makes a specialty of sail making, flags and bunting for decorations of halls, etc., at 344 Water street, opposite the market. The decorations in the main building at the Fair were arranged by Mr. Kingscotte, and won praise from the directors as well as from visitors.

When any part of the body isn't doing the work that nature intended it to do, it puts the whole system out of tune—out of harmony. When all of the parts do not work well together, none of them can work just right. Sickness in one part of the body is likely to run into all parts of the body. It isn't necessary to be sick all over the body, in order that you may feel sick all over. When children stand a row of bricks on end, they knock the whole row down by upsetting one brick. That is exactly what happens to the health when the bowels fail to perform their proper function. Constipation makes trouble all along the line—puts the liver out of order, is bad for the kidneys—bad for the stomach. It holds in the body poisonous matter, and because it cannot go any place else, it gets into the blood. The blood carries it all over the system. That makes sluggishness, lassitude, bad breath and foul taste in the mouth, fills the stomach with gas and causes windy belching, stops digestion in the stomach, causes sour stomach, heartburn and flatulence. It makes pimples and blotches and causes sick and bilious headaches. Nine-tenths of all human ailments are due to this one seemingly trivial cause. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They really cure it. Nobody becomes a slave to the use of the "Pellets." They cause no griping and are as mild as they are efficient. At any drug store. Look out for the druggist who tries to sell you something which he says is "just as good." There is nothing just as good. There is nothing that is nearly as good. Anybody who tells you there is is mistaken—or worse.

THE CZAR IN BRITAIN.

Received at Leith by the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, Lord Salisbury and Others.

Leith, Scotland, Sept. 22.—The Russian Imperial yacht Standart, with the Czar and Czarina on board, passed Bass Rock at 8 o'clock this morning, moving slowly on account of the fog. When she was reported as having passed Bass Rock, many passenger boats, crowded with excursionists, went out to meet her, and accompanied her to the harbor, where she arrived this afternoon. The Czar and Czarina, with their suites, were transferred from the Standart to a local steamer, which conveyed them to the jetty, where they landed and took carriages to the railway station en route for Balmoral. The route to the station was decorated to a moderate extent with banners, streamers, etc., with occasional scrolls bearing words of welcome to the Imperial visitors.

To-day was an ordinary autumn holiday in Edinburgh and Leith, and great crowds of people were early on the ground to see the Russian Emperor.

The gathering was very orderly and the town remarkably quiet.

The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught and Lord Salisbury arrived from Dalmeny Park, Lord Rosebery's seat in Linlithgowshire, and took carriages to the jetty, where they embarked on board a steamer and went out to the Standart to meet the Czar and Czarina. The Prince of Wales boarded the Standart and greeted the Russian Emperor and Empress, remaining on board the yacht for some time. Before the Czar and Czarina landed rain began falling, spoiling the effect of the scene of the beflagged warships in the harbor, and the gaily uniformed regiments of troops which lined the route from the jetty to the station.

MUST BE A PRIVATE VISIT.

London, Sept. 22.—The Globe insists that the visit of the Czar and Czarina to Balmoral must be wholly of a private nature, and devoted to quiet enjoyment. The paper condemns any attempts to induce the Czar to intercede in behalf of the Armenians, and says that any welcoming addresses will be tasteless if they are flavored with references to current politics.

Distress in Hayti.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 22.—Advices from Jacmel, one of the principal ports of Hayti, are to the effect that a conflagration that occurred there destroyed three-quarters of the town. The fire appliance in the place was primitive and little could be done to check the progress of the fire. Many persons have lost everything they possessed, and the suffering among them is very great.

A CONSTABLE TALKS.

Like Ordinary Mortals Subject to Kidney Disease but Easily Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Nesbitt, a county constable of this place having suffered for a long time with kidney disease, he became aware that the doctor called it Diabetes, and incurable. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

Suddenly Attacked.

Children are often attacked suddenly by painful and dangerous colic, cramps, diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, etc. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt and sure cure which should always be kept in the house.

TWO LITTLE LIVES.

Two babies were born in the selfsame town,
On the very same bright day;
They laughed and cried in their mother's arms
In the very selfsame way;
And both were pure and innocent
As falling flakes of snow,
But one of them lived in the terraced

Two children played in the selfsame town,
And the children both were fair,
But one had curls, brushed smooth and round,
The other had tangled hair;
The children both grew up apace
As other children grow,
But one of them lived in the terraced house,
And one in the street below.

Two maidens wrought in the selfsame town,
And one was wedded and loved;
The other saw, through the curtains part
The world where her sister moved;
And one was smiling, a happy bride,
The other knew care and woe,
For one of them lived in the terraced house
And one in the street below.

Two women lay dead in the selfsame town,
And one had tender care,
The other was left to die alone
On her pallet all thin and bare;
And one had many to mourn her loss,
For the other few tears would flow,
For one had lived in the terraced house,
And one in the street below.

If Jesus, who died for the rich and poor
In wondrous, holy love,
Took both the sisters in his arms
And carried them above,
Then all the difference vanished quite,
For in Heaven none would know
Which of them lived in the terraced house
And which in the street below.

PROPERTIES OF DIVINING RODS.

Locating Wells by the Use of a Peach Tree Branch.

A man in Tallahassee sends to the Buffalo Express the following curious account of the use of a divining rod:

"In boring a water well we use an auger twelve inches in diameter, pulling it out when full and extending with rods as we go down. The man who does the most of this work about here was near my plantation, seven miles from town, where he had put down a well eighty feet in a much lower place than I wanted mine, and did not get a good well, as he told the man he would not. He came to my place, cut a forked peach tree limb and began walking about where I wanted the well. At last over went the peach tree sprout, not far from where I wanted the well. He crossed the line where it turned, went a few rods beyond and came back. When he got to the water line over it went again.

"I called the man to me, told him to let the rod run through each hand an inch or two, told my foreman to take hold of the end on his side with his thumb and finger and take his other hand and squeeze his thumb and finger around the end of the rod as hard as he could with both hands. I did the same on the other end and we started for the water line. I kept my eye on the well man's hands to see that he did not manipulate the rod some way, which he did not. As soon as we got to the water line the fork turned over as before, in spite of all three of us holding it. At one end the bark was wrung off and the small end was twisted.

"We bored down about fifty-six feet and found water. We went down to sixty-five feet and could go no further on account of so much water.

"The rod would not work in my hands or those of my foreman, but in the hands of his son, twelve or fifteen years of age, or in those of an old negro who was there, it worked well.

"One mile west of this place was an old well forty to forty-five feet deep and dry part of the time. The rod would turn slowly over near it. About 100 rods from the well the fork turned quickly and there we bored thirty feet and found plenty of water all the time."

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philantrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various forms resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c. silver to cover postage and address, Mr. Geo. G. Strong, North Rockwood, Mich.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

A Bird in Hand.

"Blanche, dear," said the watchful aunt to her niece, "don't you think that Fred spends too much money upon you?"

"Dou you think so, aunty?"

"Indeed I do, Blanche. I've been noticing, and I think he's really extravagant. You ought to check him, and tell him to save his money. You will need a good deal when you go to housekeeping, and it is far better for him to put in the bank the money he is now spending on carriage rides and luncheons and tickets to this thing and that, than to be squandering it. Think over the matter a minute or two, dear, and you will see it as I see it."

"Oh, I've thought about it already, aunty. I'd take your advice if I were absolutely certain that we shall be married, but I've been engaged before, aunty, and I don't intend to advise a young man again to economize for some other girl's benefit."—Harper's Bazar.

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. MIYAJIMA'S SHRINE.

AN IDEAL PLACE WHERE DEATH HAS NEVER COME.

The Isle of the Blest, Where Religion and Landscape Loveliness, and Legend and Poesy Still Dwell—The Water Torii the Unique Feature of the Shrine.

Miyajima is an island midway in the inland sea, lying so far within the bent of the Aki shore that it cannot be seen from the route of the large ocean steamers that pass through those enchanted waters, says a writer in the Century. To reach it most appropriately one must take one of the tiny coasting steamers from Osaka, and touching at a dozen quaint little ports on the matchless voyage, at last sees the mountainous green island, with temple roofs showing here and there through all the dense foliage of the heights, and, standing far out in the water, a heroic torii, fit gateway for that ideal place where death has never come; where religion and landscape loveliness, legend and poesy still dwell; where the simple villagers, the gentle old Shinto priests and the tame deer, protected by the gods and loved by the people, maintain an atmosphere foreign to the busy, new Japan of railroads, parliaments, imported military tactics and modern war vessels. One may take the railway from Kobe to Hiroshima and then a jinrikishe for twelve miles along its bay and be ferried across a narrow strait to this isle of the blest, which will impress the more with its Arcadian features when one comes to it from all the bugling, parade and din of mimic war that goes on in the shadow of Hiroshima's picturesque castle keep and at its port of Ujina, chief naval station of the empire, and, during that victory year of 1894, port of departure of transport ships to Korea and China. Then one can accept the legend that Miyajima grew from one of the congealed drops that fell from Izanami's jeweled spear, and that Itsukushima and her two sisters, daughters of the god of the sea, aptly chose for their favors; that their temple rose from and floated in from the sea, and that the great water torii grew with the tide as naturally as any coral reef.

There is a small village at the foot of a green bank, but that is off by its ecommon-place, profane self, and the temple is embayed in an amphitheatre of the hills, with a shore-and-water foreground all its own. On the shore line at the edge of the village a noble torii of Oshima granite, each pillar and crossbeam a single stone, marks the entrance to sacred ground, and this road, following the curve of the shore, is lined for a quarter of a mile to the temple with tall stone lanterns, the same alignment of votive lights continuing for half a mile along shore at the other side of the great shrine.

The water torii is the unique and great feature of Miyajima's shrine, and one grows very familiar with it from its representations of Japanese artists in every line. The colossus is formed of great beams, each hewn from the single trunk of a camphor tree, and strengthened at the base by cross-beams, joining low parallel columns, which give it balance and solidity and most impressive effect. These beams are covered below the water line with such a havy growth of barnacles and marine plants that the torii seems very reasonably a part of the sea god's kingdom and creating. This skeleton gate in the sea is so delicate and fairylike in a first distant view that one's not prepared for its great size and the impressive sense of its proportions when one floats in between its great camphorwood piers, as massive and solid as masonry. Sculling through this notable gateway and across the water court of approach at high tide one may visit every part of the temple and penetrate to the farthest labyrinth, passing beneath galleries and bridges and floating before the open fronts of the great shrines. The galleries connecting the different parts of the temple have strung along their leaves hundreds of quaint little bronze and iron lanterns, all votive offerings, as also are the pictures that hang in line above them and form a famous gallery of ancient art.

10,000,000 Bicycles Used.

It is estimated that 10,000,000 bicycles are in use in various parts of the world. If, throughout half the world, the day is fine—and it is the half which has many bicycles—it is fair to assume that half the 10,000,000 cyclists will mount their machines and go for a spin of twenty miles; the five million cyclists consequently traverse a total distance of 100,000,000 miles—more than 4000 times around the world—in one day!

The two wheels of the machine make about 1200 revolutions per mile; consequently, the 10,000,000 wheels have put in a total of 240,000,000,000 revolutions.

The Man in the Big Tub.

A little boy was taken to church by his mother. After looking all around him, he asked: "Ma, whats the man doing in the big tub?" "Be quiet, dear, you must not speak." He sat pretty quiet for some time, till, the minister waxing eloquent in his discourse, he could contain himself no longer, and said: "Whats making the man in the big tub so angry when nobody is speaking to him?"

Modesty.

"It's a sad fact," said Dawson, "that great men's sons never amount to anything."

"Well, I'll bet you $5," said Mr. Conceit, "that my boy proves an exception to the rule."—Harper's Bazar.

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N.Y.

Wax For Preserving Timber.

Another method of preserving timber has recently been tried. It consists in dissolving in naptha the heavy oils and waxes left after the distillation of petroleum, and forcing the solution into the seasoned timber in the same manner as in creosoting. The timber is then heated, when the naphtha evaporates, and is recovered in a cooling chamber, while the waxes, etc., remain behind in the wood, waterproofing it.

Black Trimming.

Black trimmings are all the rage, a touch of black is seen on all the smart gowns. black satin is almost exclusively used for the folded corselets and bodice-shaped belts, and a number of rows of quarter-inch black ribbon velvet makes a very effective trimming. Remember to sew it only on one edge; to fasten both gives it a very stiff look.

A Pretty Astronomer.

A young California lady, Miss Dorothea Klumpke, received the almost unique honor of being invited by the members of the British Astronomical Expedition to accompany them on their expedition to Norway, in order to observe the total eclipse of the sun, which took place on August 9. Miss Klumpke enjoys the distinction of being the most celebrated of living women astronomers, and is quite young, being only a little over 30 years of age. She received a public school education at San Francisco, and afterwards proceeded to Europe, where she pursued her astronomical studies, first at Gottingen, and then in Switzerland. When scarcely out of her teens, Miss Klumpke carried off the prize of five thousand francs offered by the Paris Observatory for a treatise on comets, and the fair young astronomer's paper was the fruitful source of unbounded astonishment and admiration on the part of all the astronomers in the French capital, as well as on that of scientific men all the world over. Miss Klumpke is very pretty, and has the most fascinating manners, besides being learned in other sciences than the one which has rendered her famous.

scrofula

Any doctor will tell you that Professor Hare, of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, is one of the highest authorities in the world on the action of drugs. In his last work, speaking of the treatment of scrofula, he says:

"It is hardly necessary to state that cod-liver oil is the best remedy of all. The oil should be given in emulsion, so prepared as to be palatable."

He also says that the hypophosphites should be combined with the oil.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is precisely such a preparation.

THEY COUNT BY THE SCORE

Yea, By the Hundreds, Those Who Have Been Cured of Dire Disease By South American Nervine.

A Remedy Widespread and Universal in Its Application.

Where Other Medicines Have Failed and Doctors Have Pronounced the Cases Beyond Cure, This Great Discovery Has Proven a Genuine Elixir of Life.

The Same Verdict Comes From Old and Young, Male and Female, Rich and Poor, and From All Corners of the Dominion.

If it is the case that he who makes two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before is a benefactor of the race, what is the position to be accorded that man who by his knowledge of the laws of life and health gives energy and strength where languor, weakness and anticipation of an early death had before prevailed? Is not he also a public benefactor? Let those who have been down and are now up through the use of South American Nervine give their opinions on this subject. John Boyer, banker, of Kincardine, Ont., had made himself a hopeless invalid through years of overwork. At least he felt his case was hopeless, for the best physicians had failed to do him good. He tried Nervine, and these are his words: "I gladly say it: Nervine cured me and I am to-day as strong and well as ever." Samuel Rice, of Meaford, was cured of neuralgia of the stomach and bowels by three bottles of this medicine. Jas. Sherwood, of Windsor, at 70 years of age, suffered from an attack of paralysis. His life, at that age, was despaired of. But four bottles of Nervine gave him back his natural strength. A victim of indigestion, W. F. Bolger, of Renfrew, says: "Nervine cured me of my suffering, which seemed incurable, and had baffled all former methods and efforts." Peter Esson, of Paisley, lost flesh and rarely had a good night's sleep, because of stomach trouble. He says: "Nervine stopped the agonising pains in my stomach the first day I used it. I have now taken two bottles and I feel entirely relieved and can sleep like a top." A representative farmer, of Western Ontario, is Mr. C. J. Curtis, residing near Windsor. His health was seemingly completely destroyed through la grippe. No medicine did him any good. "To three bottles of Nervine," he says, "I attribute my restoration to health and strength." Neither man or woman can enjoy life when troubled with liver complaint. This was the sentiment and feeling of W. J. Hill, the well-known bailiff of Bracebridge. "I was so bad," says he, "that one of my medical attendants said that I was dying, but, thank God, I am not dead yet. From the first few doses I took of Nervine I commenced to feel better, and am to-day restored completely to my usual health." A resident of the Maritime Provinces, in the person of S. Jones, of Sussex, N.B., says: "For twelve years I was a martyr to indigestion, constipation and headache. The treatment of several physicians did not help me. I have taken a few bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say that I am a new man."

A shrewd observer of human nature has said: "The hand that rocks the cradle moves the world." How important it is, then, that health and strength should be made the lot of the mothers of this country. The women of Canada are ready by scores to tell of the benefits that have come to them through the use of South American Nervine. Mrs. R. Armstrong, of Orillia, wife of the colporteur of the Bible Society of that town, suffered for six years from nervous prostration. Medical assistance did not help. "In all," she says, "I have taken six bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say this is the one medicine that has effected a cure in my case." Mrs. John Dinwoody has been for 40 years a resident of Flesherton, and has reached the allotted three-score years and ten. Three years ago her system sustained a severe shock through the death of a daughter. Nervine was recommended. She perseveringly took 12 bottles of medicine, with the result that she is to-day again strong and hearty. "Hundreds of women suffer from impoverished blood and weakened nerves. "All vitality," says Mrs. J. Ballis, of Brampton, "seemed to have forsaken my system. I was unable to get relief from any source until I commenced taking South American Nervine. The results are most satisfactory—greater far than I could have hoped for." It came within the way of Mrs. H. Stapleton, of Wingham, to treat under the best physicians, both in Canada and England, for heart disease and nervous debility, but she failed to get any relief. "I was advised," she says, "to take South American Nervine, and must say I do believe that if I had not done so I would not be alive to-day."

Newspaper space is too valuable to permit of further additions to these earnest words of testimony from those who know just what they are talking about. In the common language of the day, they have been there, and are speaking from the heart. The dozen or more witnesses that here speak have their counterparts by the hundreds, not only in the province of Ontario, but in every other section of the Dominion. South American Nervine is based on a scientific principle that makes a cure a certainty, no matter how desperate the case may be. It strikes at the nerve centers from which flows the life blood of the whole system. It is not a medicine of patchwork, but is complete and comprehensive in its application.

On Tuesday evening of last week while a number of bicyclists were scorching down Queen street, Mr. Gilbert Gordon, who was amongst them, met with a severe accident. He had come down the street at a fast pace and when opposite the Queen's Hotel he ran into a horse and rig coming toward him, striking the front wheel of the buggy. Gib. was pitched over the front wheel of his bike, and lit on his head on the road, inflicting quite a gash in his head, while the rim of the front wheel and ivory handle of his bike were smashed.

For some time past flowers have been missed from a certain grave in the Hill Side cemetery, which have been placed by the party who own the grave. It seems they have been taken several times and the last time only about a week ago. It seems a shame that when flowers are placed on the graves of the departed that they cannot be left alone, but some evil-disposed person must take them off. In future the place will be watched closely, and if the party is caught they will receive the full benefit of the law.

While Mr. Thomas Cox was camped at his cottage on Jubilee Point he had a narrow escape from being seriously injured or worse. It seems that it was raining very hard, and Mr. Cox was making preparation to retire for the night, when all at once the room was filled with a bright red light and immediately after there was a tremendous crash. Mr. Cox was stunned for some time but managed to get back to bed, and in the morning it was discovered that lightning had struck a large tree standing beside the cottage window and smashing it into kindling wood. Mr. Cox will not forget his experience for some time.

Miss Carrie Madill, who has been a sufferer for some time with consumption, died at the residence of her grandmother, Mrs. C. P. Traill, on Monday afternoon. The funeral took place on Wednesday to the Hillside cemetery.

Legendary Leather.

Gravely enough tradition tells that St. Crispin, the first shoemaker, got his leather from the Angels.

Seriously enough, many shoe wearers might also inquire whether some shoe factories to-day don't get their leather from the devil—it's so burnt up, and short lived and conducive to swearing.

Good Shoes can't be made from bad leather—everybody knows that.

But shine and finish so disguise poor leathers to-day, that few people can tell the trustworthy, from the worthless kinds.

Any leather which wont stand hot water, can't stand perspiration, and will burn up and wear out, from foot acids generated in the shoe.

The Chrome tanned leathers now used in the "Slater Shoe," are the only kind which will bear twenty minutes boiling in hot water, and come out as soft, pliant, tough and glossy, as when put in the pot.

It is waterproof sweatproof, and as nearly wearproof as leather can be made, but the average Shoe Dressing will burn up even this sort in a few months. Slater Shoe Polish, used once a week and dusted regularly, retains its lustre for seven days, and makes this Slater Shoe leather, with good care, give a year's service.

The Shoes are $3.00, $4.00, $5.00 (stamped on the sole).

The Polish is 25c. per bottle.

TALK OF GOING HOME

Prorogation Will Probably Take Place Next Week.

BUSINESS MOVED ON YESTERDAY.

The French Translators Have to Go—Parliament Sb Decides by Accepting the Finding of the Debates Committee—Immigration Discussed.

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—The home-going spirit begins to pervade Parliament. The talk now is of prorogation next week, and there is no reason to believe that it will be delayed longer. To-day the dismissal of the three partisan translators was debated and decided by the House, and there was afterwards time to proceed with the main estimates. These are now so nearly disposed of that practically the only business remaining is the passage of the supplementary estimates. The dismissal of the translators, which threatened to be opposed at some length, did not realize those expectations. It was pointed out that in 1887 the Government of that day had dismissed three Liberal translators who had interfered in the elections, and that the three who are now in trouble were appointed at that time to those vacancies. They knew, therefore, most clearly the penalty for interference in elections. In the face of this the majority of the House found no difficulty in voting to dismiss them. The Opposition did not divide the House.

Col. Prior asked when the Government proposed to fill the vacant British Columbia judgeship. He trusted there was no truth in the newspaper reports that Joseph Martin was to receive the appointment. Such an appointment would be a great snub to British Columbia.

Mr. Laurier said the position would be filled immediately. With regard to the newspaper reports about Mr. Martin, he thought Mr. Prior was too old a politician to believe everything he saw in the newspapers. If members of Parliament were to take notice of everything they saw in the press their lives would hardly be worth living. Whenever he (Mr. Laurier) saw anything appear in a newspaper he was disposed to think the very reverse was true.

Mr. Foster: How long since?

Mr. Laurier: Since I have been reading the Conservative press. (Laughter.) With regard to Mr. Martin, he was surprised to hear Mr. Prior's observations. Only last night Hugh John Macdonald had eulogized Mr. Martin as being a very able man and he would leave Mr. Prior to settle it with Mr. Macdonald as to Mr. Martin's qualifications. Ministerial laughter and applause.)

The House went into Committee of Supply on the immigration vote.

Mr. Foster asked for a statement of the Government's policy in regard to immigration. While there were some parts of the late Government's policy of which he did not approve, he did approve of the plan adopted for directing immigration from the Western States to Canada. It was obvious that the fertile belt in the United States for settlement was pretty well exhausted, and it was necessary now to go vastly into emigration. It was a law of nature that the flow of population must come over to our side, where we have fertile lands ready for the settler. That overflow had already commenced to take place and a steady current might be expected for the future. He believed also that at no very distant date the American people would become customers for the surplus wheat of the Northwest. With regard to France and Belgium, he did not think there was any prospect of securing much immigration from those countries, although if we could get some of the French peasants they would be desirable settlers. A recent report from Sir Donald Smith led him to believe that there would shortly be an increasing emigration from the British Isles.

Sir Charles Tupper was gratified to hear that it was the intention of the Government to prosecute immigration. He agreed that much was to be expected from the United States and trusted that more Icelanders would be brought out.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Richardson, Davin, Fraser, Oliver and others.

Hugh John Macdonald remarked that he was anxious in the interests of the country that the House should prorogue as soon as possible, and he was also anxious to get home in time for the duck shooting. (Laughter.) However, as to the complaint of land being locked up from settlement, he would like to say that nobody better than he would like to see all the land in the Territories opened for free homesteading. But the preponderating position of Eastern Canada was to be looked to, and it was not likely the representatives of the latter would consent to any other policy than that of using the land resources of the Northwest in part payment, at least, for the construction of railways. Nor was the land or railway policy of the Government the main cause, as Mr. Oliver averred, of he political turnover in the Northwest. The chief cause was the party split on the question of remedial legislation. (Hear, hear.) He added that the only way to reduce freight rates was to build the Hudson Bay Railway. Replying to a question by the Premier, he explained that the Hudson Bay road would be able to haul cheaply because of its short route to the seaboard.

OTTAWA NEWS NOTES.

Conservative Members Blocked a Liberal Scheme to Attack the Tariff.

Ottawa, Sept. 24.—The introduction of politics into the House Committee on Agriculture aroused a breeze there this morning. It occurred in this wise: At the beginning of the session the Northwest members, before the organization of the Committee on Agriculture, called together as many members of the House as were enough interested in the subject for the purpose of considering the condition of the farmers in the country. To this meeting came members from both sides of the House. It happened, however, that the Conservatives did not continue interested and dropped out. A sub-committee was appointed for the purpose of drafting a report of recommendations for the improvement of the farmers' conditions and the farming industry. On this were Messrs. Douglas McCarthy, McMillan, Tolmie, Talbot and Rogers. After several weeks of research and hard work their report was drawn up. A lengthy resume of it appeared in yesterday's papers. The object of this unofficial committee was that it should be presented for adoption by the House Committee, which had meanwhile been organized. This was the business before the latter committee this morning, and this it was which gave the members an hour's discussion. The trouble was that the report in its first part refers to the burdens which the tariff lays upon the farmers. However true this portion of the report may be, it yet introduced a line of cleavage into the committee which could never be harmonized, and which, if insisted upon, would have introduced a political element which has largely been excluded from the Agricultural Committee. Attention was attracted also to the fact that there were among the drafters of the report no Conservatives, but only Liberals, Independents or Patrons. The whole matter was amicably arranged after assurances had been given by the Liberals that they did not wish to do anything in this important committee which should savor of partisanship. It was decided to refer the report to a sub-committee, composed of all parties, to be revised, and confined to the two questions of cold storage and freigh rates, with which the report almost altogether deals. It will then be printed. To the committee by whom the report was prepared acknowledgment was made in the committee as to the importance of their work, but for which nothing at all could have been done at this session by the House Committee.

In the Senate this afternoon on the third reading of a bill to incorporate the Hudson Bay and Pacific Railway Company, Senator Power declared his opposition to the bill. He was not opposed to giving the Northwest every facility for getting out the fruits of the harvest, but by passing the bill Parliament was practically endorsing the practicability of the scheme. The measure provided for the construction of two lines of railway, one from Calgary to Fort Churchill on Hudson Bay, and the other from Lake Athabaska to Fort Churchill. With respect to the latter line, it traversed a region over which white men had never traveled, a region known to be utterly barren and impassable. Regarding the other part of the scheme he contended that Parliament was not in a position to affirm its practicability. He quoted the report of Commander Gordon to show that Hudson Straits were only open for navigation for three months in the year. In view of these facts he saw no reason why there should be any departure from the conservative principle of carefully enquiring into the feasibility of a scheme before giving it the stamp of recognition by an act of incorporation.

Senator Macdonald, B. C., pointed out that the bill asked for no financial assistance from the Government. The construction of the C. P. R. line north of Lake Superior was regarded by many as impracticable at one time, and yet the line was built and formed part of the great Canadian transcontinental railway.

Senator Lougheed had never heard of the principle of Parliament affirming the practicability of a scheme by granting incorporation. It required an intimate knowledge of local conditions which the House could not possess to make such an affirmation.

Senator Boulton had resided in the Northwest for seventeen years, and could testify that the people there did not regard the construction of a railway to Hudson Bay as impracticable. He painted a bright picture of the advantage that would accrue to the Northwest if such a road were built.

Sir William Hingston thought it unwise to paint in too glowing colors the advantages of such a road, as the utterances of Senators might be used by the promoters to mislead English capitalists in floating their scheme. The bill was read a third time.

COOPER'S DIRE FATE

Buried Alive in a Hole of His Own Digging.

NO ONE WAS AT HAND TO HELP HIM

He Was Making an Excavation to Locate Sewer Pipe When the Earth Fell Upon Him. Buried for Several Hours Before He Was Missed.

Hamilton, Sept. 24.—(Special.)—Early this morning William P. Cooper, a shoemaker employed at McPherson's, but who was not working, started to excavate a small hole in a vacant lot south of the T., H. and B. track, on Bailey-street, to locate the sewer pipes which had been left there some months ago when the house on the lot was torn down. He laid his coat on the ground close by, and his dog sat down beside it. About 9 o'clock Robert Graham, B. B. Jones and others saw Cooper digging, and at noon they noticed the coat and the dog there, but the hole was filled in. About 5 o'clock the coat and the dog were still there, and no change was noticed in the surface of the ground. A couple of hours later John T. Laing, who owned the lot and had employed Cooper, went down to see what was the matter, as Mrs. Cooper had gone to his house to find out why her husband had not been home to dinner. He began to dig and was assisted by other men, who dug up the body of Cooper. The bank had caved in on him early in the morning. He was about 25 years old. An inquest will likely be held.

DYNAMITER BELL'S TRIAL.

He and His Three Pals Traced From New York—The Hearing in Bow-Street Police Court.

London, Sept. 24.—Edward J. Ivory, alias Edward Bell, the alleged dynamiter, who was arrested in Glasgow on Sept. 12, was arraigned in the Bow-street Police Court this morning. The prosecution was conducted by Mr. Gill, who appeared on behalf of the Treasury Department.

Mr. Gill, in opening the case, said that the four alleged dynamiters, Ivory, Tynan, Haines and Kearney, the first-named arrested in Glasgow, the second in Boulogne, France, and the last two in Rotterdam, left New York in August last by different steamers and traveled under false names. These men, he said, were sent to Europe by the Fenian organiaztion in New York, which provided them with funds, for the purpose of carrying out the following scheme: They were to proceed separately and by different routes to Antwerp, where they were to hire premises in which to prepare chemicals for the manufacture of bombs and dynamite cartridges. This done, they were to find persons in London and Glasgow to commit the actual crimes through the use of the bombs which had been prepared in Antwerp. It had been arranged in New York before the four men started, Mr. Gill said, that the outrage should be committed in the United Kingdom, and the men expected that the work of preparing the bombs would be completed by Sept. 15.

Mr. Gill said that Ivory was born in Dublin, and had been employed as an assistant in a saloon called the Municipal Arms, at 123rd-street and Lexington-avenue, in New York. He sailed from New York on board the steamer St. Paul on Aug. 19. His mission was to secure men to use the bombs which the others had prepared in Antwerp. He was in London at the end of August, and left the city on Sept. 3 to join Tynan in Brussels, and later both joined Kearney and Haines in Antwerp.

Mr. Gill, continuing his speech, said that Ivory, or Bell, took with him to Glasgow several letters from Kearney, written for the purpose of introducing him to certain Irishmen in Glasgow. Ivory, after reaching Glasgow, wrote a letter to Tynan, informing the latter that his mission had been unsuccessful, as Kearney's friends in Glasgow to whom he had been sent were either ill, not to be found, or, for some other reason, not available. The letter also expressed Ivory's fears that his mission to London would also prove unsuccessful. In the letter Ivory made references to "Wedding" and "Groom," etc., which Mr. Gill declared meant explosion, exploder, etc.

Mr. Gill said that Haines and Kearney, on Sept. 11, came to the conclusion that detectives were shadowing them, believing that they were manufacturing dynamite bombs, and that it was, therefore, impossible for the present to put their plot into effect. They consequently wired a message to Ivory from Antwerp, saying: "We are here, Business stopped, come right away and inform Garth."

The manager of the Hotel Anglais at Antwerp identified Ivory as having been a visitor at the hotel in company with Tynan, who was registered under the name of Garth.

The hearing was then adjourned until to-morrow.

Boulogne, France, Sept. 24.—P. J. Tynan, the Irish Invincible, who is under arrest here, has rejected the suggestion of the United States Consul that he employ French lawyers named by the Consul to defend him, and informed the Consul that he relied upon the republic to do him justice. Tynan looks very pale and haggard, and his health is rapidly breaking down.

Mr. Gill said that upon receipt of Ivory's letter Tynan recalled Ivory in a very indignant letter in which he said: "Three days from now the wedding was to have taken place. Our people at home will be very much disappointed at our non-success."

EUSTIS SEES HANOTAUX.

Paris, Sept. 24.—United States Ambassador Eustis had a long interview with M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, to-day in regard to the case of P. J. Tynan, the alleged Irish-American dynamiter who is under arrest at Boulogne.

CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

The success of the Central Exhibition this year is extremely gratifying especially when the unfavourable weather of what should be the greatest revenue day is taken into consideration. The weather on Tuesday was perhaps the worst in the matter of discouraging attendance in the history of the exhibition. The directors and officials have every reason to be pleased and we are assured that they are greatly pleased at the success their efforts met. They take it as an indication that they have won and possess the confidence of the public and that when they announce a good exhibition and creditable special attractions, the public believe their assurances and extend their generous patronage. This is highly gratifying and shows that the persistence of the management in battling for years against discouragements, has met the reward that usually follows energy and enterprise.

At the same time it should be remembered that the weather is somewhat in the hands of the directorate. The selection of the date of the autumnal equinox, if it could be avoided, should not be made. There is pretty sure to be, about the 21st of September every year, more or less boisterous weather. The selection of an earlier or later date, would involve taking the usual chances of the weather, but the selection of days including the stormy 21st involves, not only the usual risk of bad weather, but the almost certainty of unpropitious weather. The managers, however, are to be congratulated upon the success accomplished, and it should be an encouragement to persistence in their efforts not only to maintain the ground they have gained but to make new advances. The situation of Peterborough, a railway centre of a rich farming district, points to the possibility of making the Peterborough Central the leading exhibition of Midland Ontario. A general and energetic co-operation of both town and county would bring about such a result. An excellent foundation has been laid and a little concerted effort on the part of the sections named—town and county—would soon build up an imposing superstructure.

MR. FOSTER'S SECOND FAILURE.

Mr. Foster, the deputy-leader of the Opposition in the House is particularly unfortunate. His second attempt to discredit and bring to confusion the Laurier Government has proven to be even more unsuccessful and discouraging than the first. His motion of censure in the matter of the Governor-General's warrants was snowed under to the depth of 34 majority. His second motion of censure in regard to the tariff reform policy of the Government added a few more flakes, as represented by a Government majority of 37. Mr. Foster is badly advised, or the Government is stronger than he had been led to expect. The Opposition entered upon this session weak in a number of senses. Mr. Foster has taken the best means to emphasize that weakness—to give it mathematical demonstration—and also to demonstrate the fact that there must be the greatest difficulty in locating a joint in the armour of the Government, when such eminently puerile grounds of attack as Mr. Foster's two motions of censure, are employed. The absurdity of Mr. Foster's criticism, implied in his last motion is self-evident. The merest tyro in political economy would see the folly of a Government, in the short space of forty days, performing the work of forming a cabinet, assuming office and controlling a session, in addition to formulating a policy that will deal with a system established for eighteen years, a system that affects every industry and interest of the country—a scheme that must be the deliberate policy of the country for years to come. What then shall be thought of the reasonableness of Mr. Foster, with an experience of fourteen years as a parliamentarian, and of eight years as a finance minister, bringing forward a crude and half motion of censure? His course this session has been in the direction of destroying what little influence for good the Opposition entered upon existence with last June—showing that they are not Her Majesty's loyal Opposition, sincerely desirous of protecting the public interests in their sphere, but a clique of disappointed and disgruntled politicians seeking to snatch a paltry party advantage, independently of the great national interests jeopardized.

NOT THE LONGEST BUT THE BEST.

It is claimed by some persons that Queen Victoria's reign is the longest in history. This is not literally, or rather, figuratively, correct. Louis XIV. of France was titular King for 72 years. But he was crowned at the age of five years, and taking 18 as the age when he would arrive at personal responsibility, he did not reign as long as Queen Victoria who has been a queen in earnest for 59 years and 114 days, with, it is, to be fervently wished, many useful years to come. From the hour of her coronation she has been Queen in both fact and name. Association of the respective reigns of Queen Victoria and King Louis XIV, suggests a variation of the line of Tennyson, "Better fifty years of Victoria than a cycle of Louis XIV." In material progress, in progress in art, science and literature, in the political, civil and social betterment of the people, and in all that goes to the complex composition of the highest civilization, one year of Victoria's reign has shown more progress than a score of the reign of the French monarch. Not years, but yield, is the standard by which to measure good government.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THERE might be danger, patly remarks the Hamilton Herald, in having the Sultan of Turkey come under the Russian yoke; but he should have some master, and Young Nick of Russia is better than Old Nick of Hades.

THIS should even up matters. It is stated that the Czar and Czarina got a cool reception at Aberdeen—Aberdeen got a cool reception in Peterborough, as far as the weather was concerned; but in that sense only—otherwise his reception was of July temperature.

A member of the St. Thomas Board of Education has given notice of a motion to the effect that after a specified date no salary exceeding $1000 shall be paid to any teacher except the principal of the Collegiate Institute. Economy is a good thing, but the wisdom of making such a hard and fast rule—setting a rigid and unvarying price on brains—is open to serious question. Within reasonable limits a good teacher is worth what his services can be got for. Cheap teachers are likely to be like cheap goods, worth about what they cost. A movement, that will involve a sweeping change in a well organized and efficient staff like that of the St. Thomas Collegiate Institute, represents very questionable economy.

A CONSTABLE TALKS.

Like Ordinary Mortals Subject to Kidney Disease but Easily Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. Nesbitt, a county constable of this place having suffered for a long time with kidney disease, he became aware that the doctor called it Diabetes, and incurable. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

FOUND A JEWEL.

An Important Find by a Brockville Jeweller.

Mr. Joseph Lane, the well-known jeweller of Brockville, says: "For some years I have suffered with severe pains in my back and sides and flashes of heat between my shoulders. I had a tired, wornout feeling.

"The numerous medicines that I took gave me very little relief. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills I thought I would try a box, and got one at Curry's drugstore.

"After the first two or three doses I felt much relieved, and the longer I took them the greater the change for the better in my condition. I am much better in every respect and recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from kidney trouble as the best remedy I know of."

UNHAPPY ARMENIA.

Mr. Gladstone Speaks at Liverpool in Her Behalf.

A TREMENDOUS CROWD PRESENT.

The Grand Old Man Pleads for the Strong Support of Public Opinion to Strengthen the Hands of the Government Against the Turk —Press Comments.

Liverpool, Sept. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone arrived here at noon today to attend the mass-meeting in regard to Armenia, and were met at the station by a large crowd of people, who cheered the ex-Premier as he made his appearance.

The much-heralded mass-meeting was held in Hengler's Circus, which was packed, and thousands were turned away.

In opening his address, Mr. Gladstone moved this resolution:

"This meeting trusts that Her Majesty's Ministers, realising to the fullest extent the terrible condition in which their fellow-Christians are placed, will do everything possible to obtain for them full security and protection, and this meeting assures Her Majesty's Ministers that they may rely upon the cordial support of the citizens of Liverpool in whichever step they feel necessary to take for that purpose."

When the applause had been calmed down, Mr. Gladstone declared his adhesion to the principles contained in the resolution, and said he came there not claiming any authority except that of a citizen of Liverpool. But, he added, the national platform upon which the meeting was based gave greater authority for sentiments universally entertained throughout the length and breadth of the land, and urged that in this matter party sympathies should be renounced.

Continuing, Mr. Gladstone said: "I entertain the lively hope and strong belief that the present deplorable situation is not due to the act or default of the Government of this great country." (Cries of "Oh!" and cheers.)

"The present movement," he added, "is based on the broad grounds of humanity, and is not directed against the Mohammedans, but against the Turkish officials, evidence of whose barbarities rests upon credible official reports.

"Now, as in 1876, to the guilt of massacre is added the impudence of denial, which will continue just as long as Europe is content to listen."

Mr. Gladstone then expressed the opinion that the purpose of the gathering was defensive and prospective, saying that no one could hold out the hope that the massacres were ended, although he ventured to anticipate that the words spoken at the meeting would find their way to the palace at Constantinople. (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Gladstone then said: "I doubt if it is an exaggeration to say that it was in the Sultan's palace, and there only, that the inspiration has been supplied, and the policy devised of the whole series of massacres. When the Sultan carries massacre into his own capital, under the eyes of the ambassadors, he appears to have gained the very acme of what it is possible for him to do.

"But," the speaker further said, "the weakness of diplomacy, I trust, is about to be strengthened by the echo of this nation's voice." (Great cheering.)

Mr. Gladstone then referred to the supineness of the ambassadors of the powers at Constantinople, and said: "The concert of Europe is an august and useful instrument; but, it has not usually succeeded in dealing with the Eastern question, which has arrived at a period when it is necessary to strengthen the hands of the Government by an expression of national opinion. I believe that the continued presence of the ambassadors at Constantinople has operated as a distinct countenance to the Sultan, who is thus their recognized ally.

"But, while urging the Government to act, it does not follow that, even for the sake of the great object in view, Great Britain should transplant Europe into a state of war. On the other hand, however, I deny that England must abandon her own right to independent judgment, and allow herself to be domineered by the other powers." (Cheers.)

Mr. Gladstone later remarked: "We have a just title to threaten Turkey with coercion; but that does not itself mean war, and I think that the first step should be the recall of our ambassador. (Cheers.) And it should be followed by the dismissal of the Turkish Ambassador from London. Such a course is frequent, and would not give the right of complaint to anybody. When diplomatic relations are suspended, England should inform the Sultan that she would consider the means of enforcing her just and humane demands."

The ex-Premier proceeded to instance occasions when England had acted outside of a concert with the European powers. He had seen, he said, the liberation of 15 to 20 millions of people from the dominion of Turkey. "How?" he asked, "had this liberation been effected in the cases of Greece and Bulgaria? Not by the concert of Europe, for several of the great powers looked askance at our action. What is it worth to pay in order to attain the concert of Europe?"

Mr. Gladstone said that six great powers of Europe represented at Constantinople had failed to make the Sultan fulfil his treaty obligations. The continuation of diplomatic relations with the Sultan had not prevented the horrible massacres at Constantinople, but it had permitted the Sultan to remain the recognized ally of England.

Mr. Gladstone said: "The resolution which I have proposed observes the rules of prudence and does not require even for the sake of a great end that we place ourselves in a state of war with united Europe."

Continuing, he ridiculed the idea that a state of war would be the result or consequence of England's acting alone in giving an ultimatum to the Porte. He would not be one to plunge England into war, but England would not make of herself a slave to be dragged by the chariot wheels of the other powers of Europe. (Cheers.)

"England," he said, "had a just right to coerce Turkey and the first step must be the recall of our Ambassador from Constantinople, and the consequent dismissal of the Turkish Ambassador in London. (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

"That would not cause a European war. (Cheers and laughter.) England could then tell the Porte that she meant to consider means of enforcing her own just demands. We should declare that we would not turn any ensuing war to our own advantage."

Mr. Gladstone, in the course of his speech said: "Let us extract ourselves from our present ambiguous position. Let us renounce our neutrality. Let us, by loyally promising Her Majesty's Ministers our ungrudging and enthusiastic support, induce them, by word and deed, to show their detestation of acts which may even yet come to such a depth of atrocity as has never yet been recorded in the deplorable history of human crime." (Loud cheers.)

Mr. Gladstone spoke an hour and a quarter, his voice remaining strong and clear to the end.

The resolution offered by the ex-Premier was adopted unanimously.

WHAT LONDON PAPERS SAY.

Conservative Journals Criticise His Utterances and Liberal Papers Back Him Up.

London, Sept. 24.—The Times pays a tribute to the relative moderation of Mr. Gladstone's language and then continues: "It is when Mr. Gladstone proposes practical remedies for the evils he depics that all sober politicians must feel constrained to part company with him. The maintenance of diplomatic relations with the Sultan seems to constitute in his mind a kind of condonation of the crimes of the Porte. We confess we are quite unable to share this curious theory. The presence of our ambassador at Constantinople has been a curb on the evil counsellors of the Sultan and a moral support to the victims of his oppression. His withdrawal might doubtless hurt the vanity of the Sultan, but it would leave his hands freer than ever to take such vengeance as he thought fit on the Armenians." Regarding the suggestion made in the speech that the withdrawal of the ambassador be followed by a peremptory demand that Turkey comply with the British proposals, The Times says it regards Mr. Gladstone as being under the delusion that such a course would not induce a European war, and, anyhow, that he is willing that Great Britain should risk having to recede in face of United Europe. "In other words," The Times says, "we should threaten to coerce the Turks, while the Turks and everybody else knew that when we came in sight of war we would withdraw. This seems both a dangerous and cowardly policy."

The Morning Post will to-morrow say: "Mr. Gladstone's speech will have a salutary effect at home and abroad. We hope it will operate to moderate the excesses of language, to which there has been some tendency in Great Britain."

The Daily News will strongly support Mr. Gladstone's suggestion that the British Ambassador at Constantinople be withdrawn. It says that this course is the only one that is consistent with Great Britain's dignity, Christianity and honor.

The Standard will say to-morrow that Mr. Gladstone's avowal of confidence in the Government will dampen the ardor of a good many of the organizers of public meetings to protest against the Sultan and his rule. The paper sympathizes with Mr. Gladstone's utterances, but contends that he suggests nothing practical, adding: "It was not expected that he would; indeed, he could not offer a remedy other than that which is being applied without increasing the misery which all desire to cure." Continuing The Standard says it cannot see what advantage could be gained by the withdrawal of the British Ambassador, unless the other Ambassadors were also withdrawn, which they assuredly would not be. Such an act is only intelligible when it is the prelude to declaring war. If the Ambassadors were withdrawn Great Britain's small influence at the Yildiz Kiosk would become none and the field would be absolutely open to intrigues, which even now it is not easy to counteract. The Standard asks what is likely to be gained by public demonstrations, ending in a confession of impotence. It urges the Government to continue to co-operate with the other powers, and not to enter upon rash enterprises, despite them. In conclusion the paper says: "Heavier responsibilities than Lord Salisbury carries no man ever had. Happily the nation believes that he is equal to it. We gather from Mr. Gladstone's speech that he shares our conviction."

The Chronicle lauds the practical sagacity of Mr. Gladstone's speech, which it says, constitutes a wise and timely assertion of Great Britain's true independence.

Mount Forest (Special) Sept. 21.—The proprietor of the Queen's Hotel of this town declares that he has every reason to believe, that any claim made by the people who are advertising and selling Dodd's Kidney Pills is true. These people were the first to inform, and instruct him as to the cause of his long continued suffering from extreme nervousness. He says that "unable to obtain any relief from other sources, that it was on account of reading the particulars of other cures that his confidence was gained." Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills were all that were required to complete his cure.

The Late James Borland.

The Norwood Register records the death, on Sept. 14th, of Mr. James Borland, of Caughnawaga. He attended the Norwood High School for two years, and afterwards took a course in the Peterborough Business College. The funeral, took place from the family residence to St. Paul's Roman Catholic church, Norwood, where Rev. Father Conway sang solemn requiem high mass. The young man was very highly respected.

A Peculiar Case.

A young lady recently lost her watch, presumably between a certain store and the post office. The lost article was advertised for but with no result. Another advertisement was put in the EXAMINER stating that the finder's name was known and unless the watch was returned the police would be acquainted with the facts of the case. The next day when turning over some stock in the store in which she is employed the young lady found her watch caught on the thread of a mantle.

THE POLICE COURT.

The Mayor has a Big Batch of Cases to Dispose of.

William Hulkdale, on a charge of being drunk, was given an hour to get out of town. William is fresh from England and couldn't understand why he was hauled before the beak because he had taken a couple of beers. He appealed to the Mayor whether a man would be so treated in England, but the Mayor told him not to disgrace his country by saying where he hailed from.

Robert Geary pleaded not guilty to the same charge, and was dismissed with a warning.

Patrick Courcey was fined $2.00 for being drunk and disorderly, although he showed good cause for indulging in profanity, as he was struck for another man by mistake. He was not drunk he said.

Thos. McGinty, who was mixed up in the same affair, was also fined $2.00.

A case of assault, preferred by Joseph Goselin against Francis Corby, was withdrawn, Corby paying the costs.

COWS AT LARGE.

The Mayor Intends to Put a Stop to it.

A number of cows broke into the carefully tended grounds of the Barnardo Home on Tuesday last, and did considerable damage to the fruit trees, besides eating a quantity of apples which had fallen to the ground.

This morning Messrs. Casey and Michael Lavery were in the police court charged with owning the cows which did the damage. Both stated that their cows were regularly driven out of town to pasture, but as they did not deny that their cows had been in the Home grounds each was fined $2 and costs, amounting in all to $4.35 each.

Very Sad.

Her eyes were filled with unshed tears,
Her bosom heaved in woe.
I asked her to reveal her fears;
She mutely answered no.
"Tell me," I cried, "just what you mean;
Yes, now, this very minute!"
"The tint for fall," she sobbed, "is green,
And I look horrid in it!"

On Hand

now, at A. Clegg's, another lot of those oak finish extension tables, at $5.00, $5.50, $6.00 and $6.50; common chairs, 33c.; good hard wood bedsteads, only $2.00; oak finish bedroom suites, $12.00, $13.00 and upward. Our stock is complete in every line. A. CLEGG, 427 George street.

Somewhat Contradictory.

An exchange says:—A total abstainer from strong drink at the age of 20 years if he lives the average duration of life, will reach the age of 64 years, while a drinking man of the same age cannot expect to live beyond the age of 35½ years. A man free from drink, aged 35 years, may reasonably expect to live 66½ years; his tippling friend must be prepared to go at 43½ years. One who is strictly a cold-water man, 40 years of age, may reach his average of 68½ years, but the old soak is booked for another world at 51½ years.

Final Closing Out Sale.

The final closing out sale of Mr. Robert Hall's dry goods and millinery business is announced to begin to-morrow morning. This will be especially interesting news for the ladies. It must not be forgotten that although Mr. Hall has been forced to remain longer in business than expected it has been solely on account of the impossibility of clearing out so large a stock in the time at first contemplated. That, however, has not changed his decision to retire from business as quickly as circumstances will permit. The special advantages afforded by this sale will be the excellent opportunity it will give buyers of securing new fall dress goods, millinery and mantles right at the start of the season at about actual cost. See adv't. Everybody knows that this establishment keeps in stock only goods of the better qualities, at as low quotations as a legitimate and honourable business could be conducted upon. The present stock is that laid in for the fall and winter trade, and includes many lines not more than a month out of their cases. The stock is also complete in every department; therefore such an opportunity for offering goods of a sterling quality at cost price is not often presented.

MISSED HIS VOCATION.

Thomas Courcey Should Have Been a Lawyer.

The crowd which turns up every morning regularly at the police court had a treat in store for them at to-day's session before the Mayor.

Young "Tom" Courcey was "up" for being drunk and disorderly and he was firmly convinced in his own mind that he was a much abused individual and that he had been locked up without cause or reason. His bosom therefore swelled with indignation as he was paraded before the bench.

The Mayor read the charge. "Guilty or not guilty?" said he.

"Not guilty," says Tommy in a voice swelling with a consciousness of his wrongs.

"McGinty!" called the chief.

McGinty took the box and stated that the prisoner had liquor in him and refused to move on from in front of the police station when he told him to do so. Courcey had "cheeked" him besides.

"Cheeked you!" burst forth Tommy. "Didn't you cheek me first? Didn't you call me a tramp's mate?"

"What if I did?" retorted McGinty. "Weren't you with a tramp when I saw you?"

"Yes! You saw me doing what you are paid to do—picking him up off the corner and getting him out of harm's way. You jugged me for nothing, that's what you did!" quoth Tommy.

McGinty now explained to the Court that he had asked Courcey as he was passing the police station if he did not wish to go into the cells and see his chum, as the tramp in question had been locked up.

"Yes, you did!" interrupted Courcey, "You told me I was the tramp's mate, and didn't I want to go in with him, and when I said I 'wasn't going in just then,' you collared me. That's what you did."

In his vehemence at times Courcey pranced around McGinty as he was in the box and had to be hauled back by his coat-tails to his place time and again by Constable Stewart.

The Mayor asked Tommy if he was drunk.

"No sir," said Tommy, "but I had a couple of beers in me."

The Mayor—"Well, that would set me drunk I'm sure.

Courcey,—"Well it wouldn't fix on me —see!"

As Courcey had used no bad language he was allowed to go.

SOUTH DUMMER.

Nuptials of Miss Annie Girvin and Mr. Andrew Knox, Asphodel.

Seldom does life present to it's wayworn travellers occasions more pleasurable than the event of last Wednesday evening, celebrated in the home of Mr. Richard Girvin, of South Dummer, at which his only daughter Miss Annie, was married to Mr. Andrew Knox, of Asphodel.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Anderson, Methodist minister.

The bride, attractively attired in cream crepon, was assisted by Miss Bertha Knox, handsomely costumed in white muslin, while Miss Sarah Barnes, a junior cousin of the bride, attired in the shades of white and pink, appropriately performed the service of maid of honour. At the close of the ceremony the usual congratulations and well wishes were extended to the bride and groom by all the guests. After the greetings were completed a few minutes of social intercourse were indulged in and a sumptuous wedding banquet partaken of.

The happy couple left on the midnight train for the east where they purpose holidaying for a short time. During their absence they will visit the city of Ottawa for several days, after which they will sail for Montreal and other points of interest previous to returning to their home in Asphodel already awaiting the arrival of its happy guests.—Register.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Lakefield claims to have been disgraced by a free fight between "toughs" from town and "toughs" from the country on the last night of the exhibition.

—Seven or eight informations were laid yesterday before County Police Magistrate Edmison against Norwood persons who have refused to pay dog tax.

—Rev. Mr. Shutt, who raised such a row at St. Catharines by opening a lady's letter to another man, has accepted an invitation to become pastor of a church elsewhere.

—The steamer North Star arrived in port last night with a scow load of hogs for the Geo. Matthews Co., also a cargo of sheep for Kennedy's Meat Market, town, from Harwood, Rice Lake.

—Dwight L. Moody will largely withdraw from usual evangelistic work and devote himself to furnishing the 750,000 prisoners in the United States with good literature, chiefly religious.

—The little children of a native school in Burmah have just sent $25 for the rebuilding of one of the churches in St. Louis, wrecked by the cyclone. The church had formerly helped the school.

—Those desirous of seeing some capital sport should be on the P. A. A. A. grounds to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, when a team representing the banks will meet a town team in a game of Rugby football.

—The Emerald Beneficial Association is evidently a business body. At their grand conventions they desire to buckle down to work, unimpeded by external attractions. They have therefore selected a quiet sequestered, not to say somnolent, spot, Lindsay, as their next place of meeting.

A GIFT TO ST. JOSEPH'S.

Beautiful Bouquets Donated by Lord and Lady Aberdeen.

A paragraph was published in yesterday's issue of the EXAMINER mentioning the kindness of Lord and Lady Aberdeen in remembering the Nicholls Hospital by sending bouquets of flowers from Toronto to that institution and a similar favour was received by St. Joseph's Hospital. Too much emphasis cannot be laid upon these evidences of the solicitude of Lord and Lady Aberdeen for these noble charities by both hospitals.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Miss Alice Davis of Ennismore, Wounded by a Pistol Bullet.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. King was summoned to Ennismore to attend to the injuries of Miss Alice Davis, daughter of Mr. Richard Davis, who was seriously injured by the accidental discharge of a revolver she was handling, the injuries involving a most narrow escape from certain death. The bullet entered the neck a little above the collar bone, and passed backward, just grasing the wind pipe, the carotid artery, and the jugular vein, and lodged in the muscles of the neck behind, about half an inch from the surface. Dr. King extracted the bullet by cutting down upon it, and the patient is doing nicely, and will recover, unless some complications set in; but she will have the experience of having been fearfully close to a fatal issue of her experience with a pistol.

HE WILL NOT HANG.

Kearney's Death Sentence Commuted.

Lindsay Post.

The possible fate of Kearney, the young Lindsay man sentenced to be hanged on Oct. 1st for the murder of James Agnew on the 17th of March last, was a fruitful subject for discussion during the past week. It was known that Messrs. Barron & Steers, who had defended Kearney at the trial, were working energetically in his behalf, and were placing all the stress possible on the evidence given at the trial by the Drs. Clarke of Kingston and Toronto asylums, recognized insanity experts, and who gave it as their firm opinion that the boy was mentally irresponsible for the crime he had committed. Many of those who denounced interference with the death penalty had signed the petition presented by the heart-broken mother in hopes of obtaining a communtation of the death sentence, but they conveniently forgot the fact when the matter was under discussion.

Conjecture was set at rest this morning, when Mr. Barron was notified by Hon. O. Mowat, Dominion Minister of Justice, that Kearney's penalty had been commuted to imprisonment for life, after earnest consideration of the expert evidence submitted to him. Mr. Barron at once communicated the news to Sheriff McLennan, who no doubt breathes easier since he is freed of the most unpleasant duty pertaining to his high office—that of arranging for the execution of a criminal.

About 11 o'clock Gaoler Andrew Jackson was notified of the commutation of Kearney's sentence, and he at once started off to his cell to break the good news. His prisoner did not manifest any surprise at the unlooked for visit, and after waiting a few seconds to see if he would address him Mr. Jackson said: "Kearney, you're reprieved." Kearney then raised his eyes, and in his usual tone of voice asked: "For how long?" Mr. Jackson then explained that the death sentence had been commuted to imprisonment for life, but his prisoner seemed to take no further interest in the matter and began to whistle a tune that he renders over and over again a hundred times daily.

No one could induce Mr. Jackson to believe that his charge is not insane—he declares that he "can see evidences of imbecility in his every action"—and he is greatly pleased at the commutation of the sentence.

Shortly after receiving the dispatch this morning Mr. Barron proceeded to the Kearney residence in the east ward and informed the mother of the welcome news that the life of her unfortunate son would be spared. Her gratitude found expression in a fervent "Thank God."

FROM THE MINES.

(Campbellford Herald.)

Mr. Geo. Vandervoort, of Campbellford, brought to this office on Monday, samples of bog ore which is being near Bannockburn, in North Hastings. Some of the pieces give evidence of the process of petrification having taken place, as the fibre of wood clearly shows itself adhering to the outer surface, which is of a red and yellow colour. The mining is being done in a little ravine near the edge of a piece of woods and the property is owned by a company in Toronto who have engaged Mr. Wellington, of Madoc, to work it on contract at a certain price per ton. Last week they were getting out from 15 to 20 tons per day with the labour of six men. The ore is shipped to Hamilton. A short distance north-west of Millbridge, about five miles from Bannockburn, a company composed of gentlemen of Toronto, have men at work just now, opening up a lead mine. While the men were blasting the bog ore about two weeks ago, they threw out two large frogs that were imbedded in the rock not less than 2½ feet below the surface. Both were living and jumped about as if they had just come out of a pond. They were coated with yellow, the same as the powder which is seen on the ore. One that was picked up made a noise like the cry of a child. The frogs are a great curiosity, and have been given their liberty. It is likely they have been in the prison from which they were blown for perhaps several hundred years.

RUGBY FOOTBALL.

The bankers have challenged "all comers" to a Rugby football match, and an effort is being made to get together a strong team to oppose them. A number of the veterans have signified their willingness to again assume their old positions on the field, and an interesting game is expected. The match will probably be played on the P.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday afternoon.

BASEBALL.

Cincinnati will probably clear more money than any club in the major-league organization, with Chicago second. It is estimated that Brush's net profits this season will be at least $45,000. Baltimore, of course, will pay Mr. Von der Horst a handsome profit, but not so much as the average man would imagine.

THE WHEEL.

The race in Rochester between Joe Patchen the pacer, and W. W. Hamilton, the bicycler, which was postponed on account of rain from Saturday until Tuesday afternoon has been declared off, the conditions being again unfavourable.

Riders are frequently troubled by the skin peeling off or "curling" up at the points of their toes. For such an evil fuller's earth is a capital cure, dusted inside the socks and also over the surface chafed, provided, of course, that the skin is not broken. To harden the feet and take away the tired or aching feeling at the end of a long day's ride there is nothing better than to immerse them, just above the ankles, in water as hot as can be borne, and with the addition of as much saltpetre as can be held upon a quarter. If saltpetre cannot be obtained a dessert-spoonful of common table salt may be used. There must be no blisters upon the feet, however.

Strains of the muscles of the legs are frequently experienced by the unwary rider or scorcher. Sometimes he may be far away from home—touring, for instance. There are various remedies advertised for such accidents, but there is a preparation, easy to make, and cheap, that will give patents a long start and beat them hollow. Secure a bottle that will hold about half a pint. Get five cents worth of ordinary castor oil at the chemist's and five cents worth hartshorn, or spirits of ammonia. The two will not mix unless well shaken, when a fluid, milky in appearance will be the result. If corked tightly, the mixture will be as good at the end of twelve months as when freshly made.

With Invalids.

Yes! with invalids the appetite is capricious and needs coaxing, that is just the reason they improve so rapidly under Scott's Emulsion, which is as palatable as cream.

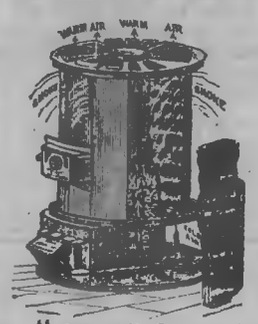
The Most Economical House Warmer



The "Kelsey" Corrugated Warm Air Generator.

Any ordinary Hot Air Furnace will produce heat if you will only supply enough fuel. The "Kelsey" has several special and valuable features but most important is that it will give more heat with less fuel and is the most durable heater made.

The "Kelsey" fire pot being constructed of several upright, tubular, corrugated, cast iron sections (see cut) around which the fire passes and up through which the cold air passes while being heated, and this entire section being wrapped with a heavy steel casing which becomes heated by the fire striking it when passing down outside of upright sections towards smoke pipe, it in turn warms the air that passes up between this steel casing and the galvanized iron casing, this explains why the "Kelsey" has three times more radiating surface and warm air capacity than an ordinary Furnace. The "Kelsey" heats every room evenly, wherever located, with a nice, mild, healthful warm air that will not injure your furniture.

The "Kelsey" will heat rooms 60 feet distant.

The "Kelsey" does not heat your cellar.

The "Kelsey" is absolutely gas and dust proof.

An important message often comes by telegraph, but the most important message that ever was delivered to mankind has been given to them through the newspapers. It is given again in this article.

It is the information that 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption can be completely and permanently cured. There is no doubt about it. The statement is not made recklessly, but after the experience of thousands has made it an indisputable fact. Consumption is not a disease of the lungs. It is a disease of the blood, which in weak lunged people manifests itself by the formation of tubercles in the lungs and the wasting away of lung tissue. The cure for consumption is simple. It consists in the administration of a medicine that will assist the lungs in throwing off tuberculous matter, and that will cleanse the system so that this refuse matter will be replaced by strong, healthy tissues. That sounds like a very simple operation, and yet consumption baffled the combined medical skill of the whole world for hundreds of years. Consumption was considered incurable until the advent of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This great remedy is the most wonderful blood purifier and strengthener that the world has ever known. It is the result of years of study and experiment, by a scientific physician and has been tested in every way by him for over 30 years. It has an unbroken record of success. It cures a great variety of diseases, because almost all diseases have their origin and support in impurity and weakness of the blood. As long as a man's blood is rich and pure, he is in no danger from diseases. The blood is the medium through which food is carried from the digestive system to all of the tissues of the body. If it carries impure things, or an insufficient quantity of good things, trouble will ensue. There is nothing about that so very hard to understand. It is perfectly plain and natural and rational. The "Golden Medical Discovery" puts the digestive system in perfect order, purifies and enriches the blood and so puts the whole body into perfect tune.

HURT AND MAY DIE.

The Terrible Injuries Received by Joseph Davidson, a Street Railway Lineman, on McCaul-Street.

Toronto, Sept. 24.

About 7.30 o'clock last night a dangerous and perhaps fatal accident occurred to Joseph Davidson, a lineman on the street railway, who lives at 33 Hadgerow-avenue. He was engaged in repairing a broken line on McCaul-street, near Queen, and was working on the ladder, when a car struck the corner of his wagon. The horse, which was a new one at the work, made a sudden spring forward, pitching Mr. Davidson to the pavement. Alighting on his head and shoulders, he was at once rendered unconscious. The injured man was carried into Kennedy's drug store, and the ambulance called. When taken to the General Hospital it was found his nose was smashed and his right arm badly broken at the wrist, and besides a concussion of the brain he was hurt inwardly. It is not known yet whether he will die or not. The unfortunate man is 33 years old and has a wife and family.

The horse dashed down to Queen-street, and, turning south, smashed a lamp post, snapping it off like a reed. The animal ran along Queen some distance before being stopped.

WHERE IS FAY TEMPLETON?

The Well-Known Little Actress Believed to Have Eloped With a Nephew of John Wanamaker of Philadelphia.

Montreal, Sept. 23.—Fay Templeton, who was booked as the leading character in "Excelsior," and which is running at the Academy this week, has mysteriously disappeared and no trace of her can be found, but it is supposed that she has eloped with a young man named Brown, a nephew of John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, who has been a warm friend of hers for some time. Miss Templeton was joined by Brown at Springfield on Saturday afternoon, when she shipped her trunks to Montreal, but since then nothing has been heard of her. In the meantime her part has been taken by Miss Carrie Behr, with such success that the Montreal audiences have thought she was the genuine Fay, and the fact of her disappearance only leaked out to-night, when her aunt, Mrs. Adams, left for New York to try and hunt her up. It is believed that Fay has gone to Europe with young Brown.

All Grand Officers Re-elected by Acclamation—Contests for Grand Executive.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 23.—The only business of public importance transacted yesterday by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen was the election of officers to serve for the ensuing two years. All the grand officers were re-elected without opposition. There was a contest over the election of members of the Grand Executive Board and the Grand Board of Trustees, with the following result: Grand Executive Board, James Coutts, Ashtabula, Ohio; H. O. Tents, Atlanta, Ga.; Ed M. Sawyer, Winnipeg, Fred L. Bartlett, Des Moines, Ia.; F. J. May, Halstead, Pa. Board of Grand Trustees: Fred Keeler, Houston, Texas; P. J. McNamara, Buffalo, N.Y.; A. B. Hawley, New York.

THE GREAT AUSTRALIANS.

They Put All the Philadelphia Players Out for 28 in Less Than an Hour.

Bergen Point, N.J., Sept. 23.—The Australian cricketers commenced their two days' match with the New Jersey Athletic Club, which had a picked team of the Metropolitan District, on the grounds of the home club at Bergen Point to-day. Twelve men a side were played.

The home club could make no headway against the terrific bowling of Jones, the Colonials' fast bowler, and were all dismissed for 28. Jones took eight wickets for six runs. He did not bowl at Philadelphia. New Jersey's twelve were at the wickets exactly 55 minutes. The Colonials ended their first innings at 5.05 with 253 runs, so the local team will surely suffer defeat to-morrow by an innings and a good many runs to spare.

The wicket was in fairly good condition, albeit a trifle slow, but this did not seem to affect Jones' lightning delivery. He is a faster bowler than Spofforth, whom he resembles a good deal in style. His balls have a tremendous break for such fast trundling. Kelly, the Australian crack wicket-keeper, was given a rest, Johns taking his place. Giffen was also an absentee. McKibbin going on instead.

About 1300 people witnessed the game. The weather was fine but very cold.

Wright, the Jersey captain, having won the toss, elected to start, and C. J. Byers, with Tyers, the professional, were sent in at 12.05 to face McKibbin and Jones. Byers cut Jones through the slips for a single in the first bowler's first over. They ran a bye on McKibbin's first ball, but the last ball from the medium trundler clean-bowled Byers. C. P. Herditch joined the professional. The partnership was not very productive, as, after Tyers had cut McKibbin to the boundary for four, Herditch played his first ball from the same bowler on to his wickets. M. R. Cobb took his place, and the only attempt at a stand was then made. Both played cautiously, but Jones sent the newcomer's balls flying after he had made seven, including one boundary hit. Kelly retired without scoring, caught by Trumble at short slip off Jones' first ball. Trott then went in, and after Tyers had been retired by McKibbin for 10 the rest of the side were retired almost as quickly as they came in.

After luncheon play was resumed at 2.25. Trumble and Gregory opened the Colonial defence, the attack being in the hands of Cobb and Kelly. The scoring was slow at first, but after a while Trumble opened up his arms, and the fielders were kept busy. Boundaries were scored rapidly, and when Gregory was successfully appealed against by Tyers for lbw, the telegraph read 87-1-25. The partnership lasted 55 minutes. Donnan then joined Trumble, but shortly after the latter was smartly caught at the wickets by Herditch for a freely-played 54, which included two sixes, five fours and three threes. McKibbin succeeded Trumble and the century was hoisted at 225. Donnan then put a ball from Cobb in Tyers' hands at short slip and retired for six. The Colonial wicket-keeper was disposed of by Cobb for four, and a hearty round of applause greeted G. H. S. Trott, the Australian captain, as he took Johns' place.

Then the runs came in fast. Trott hit out freely, and a second change of bowlers was deemed necessary, Adam replacing Tyers, who had succeeded Kelly. The score was raised to 141 before Cobb took McKibbin's off-stump and dismissed him for a well-played 21. Darling partnered his captain, and both treated the bowling with scant courtesy. Trott lifted one ball clean out of the grounds, and Darling repeated the trick twice in succession, while boundary hits and threes were freely scored. The fielding of the home team became very ragged, and singles were stolen with impunity, while byes to the boundary were of frequent occurrence. Despite several changes in the bowling, the second hundred was quickly run up, and 12 runs later Trott skied one from Kelly to Byers at mid-on, which the latter held. Trott's contribution included one six, 11 fours and five singles, in an innings which, with the exception of one chance to Cobb at 25, was a splendid exhibition of clean, hard hitting. Hill and Darling brought the total from 212 to 243, when the latter played on a ball from Cahier. Darling hit with great freedom, and his 48 included three sixes and four fours. The remaining wickets put on 14 runs, Hill being bowled by Kelly for a safely-played 13, while Iredale went out for zero on the second ball from Kelly, Edy being not out with a score of 1. Stumps were then drawn for the day.

CANCER CURED

LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. Fields, Bloomfield, Ia.

ANDREE AT THE POLE

THE SURPRISING CONSEQUENCES OF HIS BALLOON ADVENTURE.

What the Air-Men of 1000 Years Hence Think of the Earth-Man Who Dared the Elements at the Risk of His Life and Discovered the North Pole.

Andree's balloon voyage to the North Pole, which is still waiting for a breeze, was expected by the sanguine Norwegians to have importeant results. The following forecast, translated for the New York Journal from the Morgenbladt, of Christiana, is supposed to contain the observations of a visitor to the pole in the year 2896:

I have just returned from a trip to the North Pole, where a statue of the celebrated explorer, Andree, who discovered this part of the earth a thousand years ago, was to-day unveiled. Over 20,000 persons were gathered there on this occasion; they had made the trip thither on their air velocipedes, and over 1500 airships made extra excursion trips to the pole. The pole was jammed to such an extent that not another soul could be accommodated on it. It is to be hoped that the plans submitted over thirty years ago for its extension by electricity will soon be realized.

The unveiling took place at noon, and I left Berlin at 9 a.m., which afforded me ample time to look around the pole. The day was beautiful and cloudless, and as I passed over the place where Hamburg formerly existed, which city is said by learned geographers to have been once a powerful and wealthy seaport, I fell into a deep reverie. Hamburg is now a colony of laborers, as are all the ancient cities, and no persons are to be met there except during working hours, as the American workingmen's air homes have long since been universally adopted here.

I travelled on the upper air line, the lower being reserved for invited guests from India, the South Pole and Australia. When we reached Sweden all were obliged, because of the intense cold, to put on polar bear overcoats. My bear overcoat is beginning to look shabby, but it is impossible to duplicate this necessary apparel, since the polar bear is now extinct, the last one having been born in captivity in the year 2820, in Hagenbeck's artificial polar bear incubator. The world in our day has progressed wonderfully; rapidity and simplicity are the mottoes of our age. We live in an air zone that gives us the most hygienic conditions, we are above dust, heat and rain. Tunnels, railroads, canals, streets and roads have crumbled for centuries; they are in ruin and desolation.

The exquisite decorations of the festival hall, situated about 5000 metres over the edge of the pole, defy description. Beneath us was a floor of clouds, in fleecelike patches, which were rosette-hued from the light cast upon them by the powerful colored search light. At intervals immense ray condensers were placed, which radiated an agreeable, steady warmth. At 11.45 a salute of 101 thunder claps was given from the lightning artillery, situated in the clouds beneath. The salute was answered by our friends on Mars. The flying chorus now sang the old folk-song, "Up through the Air." When the last notes of this popular melody had died a descendant of Andree arose to make an address. The speaker said:

Fellow Air Citizens: When the earth was only the earth, when man was yet tied down to it, and when I-Karien, the air kingdom was but a dream, then a brave man attempted to reach the North Pole by balloon. Consider well, my friends, that sordid motives—desire for renown, and grasping selfishness—none of these base motives actuated him in his undertaking. His motive was pure and honorable, and he was ready to sacrifice his life for the sacred cause of science. He took a flying leap, and—reached his goal. We who are gathered here to-day may consider what he did to be of little importance and significance when we recall that his day was almost fruitless of scientific progress. It is true that we visit the moon and have long since conquered Venus. But we must bear in mind that in those past days the future was dim; nations existed, separated by imaginary boundaries and waging bloody wars on each other. Remember this, and then we must confess that his undertaking was the heroic deed of a man.

He was an earthly man, not an air man. His deeds teach us one lesson—that we have something yet unsolved, our age's problem, to regulate the sun.

At a given signal the veil was lifted and Prof. Airgas' masterpiece swung before us. At the conclusion of the speech the band played the "Air Symphonie," and the chorus sang, "The Daughters of the Air."

It was now 1.30 p.m., and I was obliged to hurry back to Berlin to dictate my report into the electric typesetting machine in time for the four o'clock edition of the Atmospheric Post.

Cause of the Matabele War.

A German who has been living in South Africa for a long time has addressed to one of his compatriots a letter in which he gives the following as the original cause of the Matabeles' revolt. The young women in Matabeleland are seductive, handsome, well-formed and very agreeable, though somewhat proud and wild. Many whites at Buluwayo, and nearly all Europeans in the country around, have taken some of these girls for their wives, with the ready consent of the latter. These girls insult the men of their own race, calling them "the dogs of the white men," and they decline any friendship with them. That contempt has irritated the Matabeles against the Europeans and incited them to insurrection.—New York Tribune.

Regulating the National Songsters.

The Minister of the Interior of the Argentine Republic has issued a decree regulating and defining the occasions on which the national anthem may be sung, in order to avoid abuses which frequently occur.

Spare Him the Illusion.

If you have any friend who regards you as an ideal, don't ask a favor of him.

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet the greeting usually is, "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no bowel or stomach trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They eat as though they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and bye overworked nature rebels. Then comes headaches, nervousness, bad blood, kidney and liver troubles. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets furnish help for constipation and torpid liver, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, 'heart burn,' pain and distress after eating and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Accept no substitute.

Two Views of the First Tooth.

This pretty conceit is perpetrated by the Detroit Free Press:

"Orlando," she exclaimed, "the baby has a tooth."

"Has he?" was the response, in a tone which betrayed no emotion.

"You don't seem a bit surprised."

"I'm not surprised. All babies have first teeth. If this one didn't have any, I'd manage to get up some excitement, may be."

"I thought you'd be pleased and happy about it."

"No. I don't see that it's any occasion for especial congratulation. The fact has my sympathy."

"Sympathy! What for?"

"For having his first tooth. He has just struck the opening chapter of a long story of trouble. Pretty soon he'll have other teeth."

"Of course he will."

"Every one he cuts will hurt him. Then his second teeth will come along and push these out. That will hurt him again. Some of the new ones will come in crooked, like as not, and he will have to go to the dentist and have a block and tackle adjusted to them to haul them around into line. Then he'll cut his wisdom teeth. That'll hurt him some more. After that he'll have to go to the dentist and let him drill holes and hammer until his face feels like a great, palpitating stone quarry. I wouldn't want him to go through life without teeth. But I must say that I don't see any occasion for the customary hilarity over an event that means so much in the way of sorrow and humiliation!"

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving that True Honesty and True Philantrophy Still Exist.

If any man, who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various forms resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge, the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathise with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-being to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c. silver to cover postage and address, Mr. Geo. C. Strong, North Rookwood, Mich.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'Saved my Life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels. Price 75c. Sold by John Nugent, 280 George Street.

It was about one degree from the sun.

Gales on the Irish Coast.

Liverpool, Sept. 23.—A heavy gale prevailed on the Irish coast to-day. The storm was so severe that the White Star Line steamer Teutonic, who was to have started for New York to-day, was prevented leaving the Mersey on either of the tides. Many local steamers, as well as foreign-going vessels are storm-bound here.

THE DEER SEASON.

The Game Laws to be Strictly Enforced This Year.

The Ontario Government will make a determined effort this year to enforce the game law. The entire staff of detectives are to be sent into the hunting districts with instructions to spare no expense in enforcing the law. Asked about the matter the other day Detective Inspector Rogers said: "Yes, it is correct; the Government intends sending the inspectors of criminal investigation and some of the frontier police into the deer country this fall, from the Bruce Peninsula to the Ottawa River, to see that the game law is respected during and after the hunting season. We will see that all persons hunting have a license and also that no shooting is done on the waters. The pot hunters will not have such a chance this year, as they cannot get their deer to market as easily as in former years. Now a person to ship a deer has to produce his license to the shipping agent personally and sign the tag in his presence, and the signature on the license and tag must agree; otherwise the company will not receive any deer. The penalty for hunting without a license, for hunting on or near the water is fifty dollars and not less than $20, together with costs, or three months imprisonment, together with the confiscation of their arms."—Exchange.

What you want when you are ailing is a medicine that will cure you. Try Hood's Sarsaparilla and be convinced of its merit.

Scrofula Cured.

DEAR SIRS—After I had doctored for two years for scrofula all over my body and received no benefit. I tried a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which gave me relief very quickly and after using six bottles I was completely cured. I can recommend B.B.B. very highly.

B. B. A. GRAND BRANCH.

The Same Officers Practically Re-elected with Few Changes.

The Emerald Beneficial Association convention, which has been in session for the last several days at Ottawa, concluded its labours Wednesday afternoon.

Very little legislation was disposed of in the afternoon. It was decided to leave the proposition to increase the insurance indemnity to $1000 until next year.

As it is very difficult to organize ladies' circles owing to the natural backwardness of the sex in forming such organizations the constitution was amended so as to allow the ladies to join the regular branches as affiliated members, to receive all the benefits that would accrue to them if it were a distinctively ladies' circle. After the number so joining reaches 15 they will be organized into a separate circle. There was practically a unanimity of opinion as to the advisability of this move.

The convention concluded at four o'clock.

The officers elected are practically the same as last year:

Grand Chaplain—Rev. Vicar General McCann, of Toronto.
Grand President—Mr. D. A. Carey, of Toronto.
Vice-President—Mr. Patrick Brankin, of Ottawa.
Grand Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. W. Lane, of Toronto.
Executive Committee—Messrs. Jamieson of Hamilton, J. Begley of Peterborough, J. Delory, Angus McDonald and J. Nightingale of Toronto.
Grand Marshall—Mr. Dowdall, of Almonte.
Grand Guard—Mr. Mr. Trotter, of Lindsay.
Grand Organizer—Mr. Lane, of Toronto.
District Organizers—W. J. Kinnehan, of Ottawa; B. M. Bolton, of Almonte; J. Begley, of Peterborough; A. McDonald, of Toronto; W. H. Jamieson, of Hamilton; J. B. Henry, of London; M. J. Quirk, of Stratford.

The Grand Branch meets in Lindsay next year.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a secret preparation. Any physician may have the formula on application. The secret of its success as a medicine lies in its extraordinary power to cleanse the blood of impurities and cure the most deep-seated cases of blood-disease.

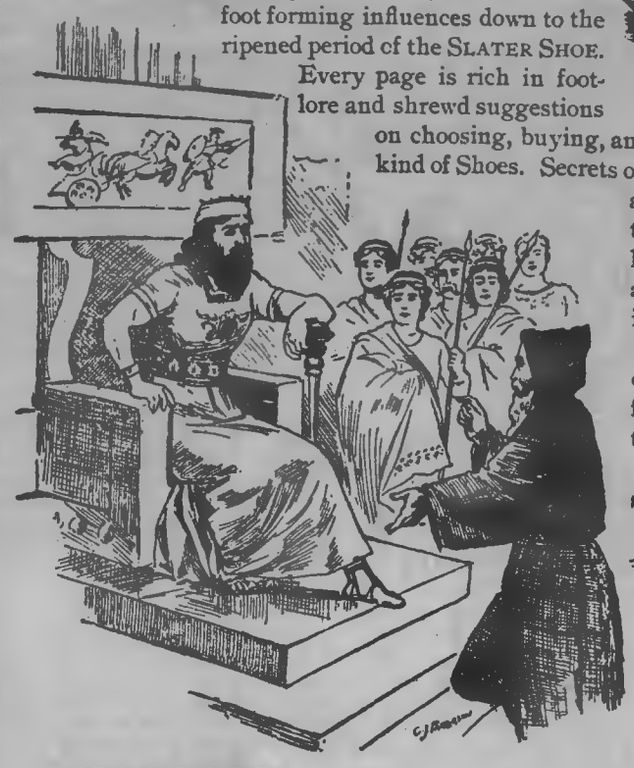
A Miracle in Leather

"Sire, if thou wilt but place thy foot upon this measure, I will in twelve hours, cover the earth with leather!"

How a Monk of the third century accomplished this feat is told in "THE CRAFT OF ST. CRISPIN," a neat little illustrated book which unfolds the history of the boot, and tells of its foot forming influences down to the ripened period of the SLATER SHOE. Every page is rich in footlore and shrewd suggestions on choosing, buying, and taking care of, the correct kind of Shoes. Secrets of the last, the newest shapes, and most foot fitting forms, the different tannages, and latest colorings, of leather, are revealed and described in simple terms.



A limited number of copies will be given away free, or mailed on receipt of three cents, if asked from

No appropriation appears for the Dominion Exhibition at Toronto, but this does not imply the intention of the Government not to grant the sum of $50,000, as it could be voted next session.

MARKING OF CHEESE.

Mr. Fisher Introduces a Bill to Make it Compulsory—The House in Committee of Supply—Supplementary Estimates.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—(Special.)—At the outset of to-day's sitting Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, introduced a bill to amend the Dairy Products Act by providing for compulsory marking of cheese with place and date of manufacture. The bill was in the main that introduced by Mr. McLennan (Glengarry). He did not expect the measure to get through this session, but it could be introduced and printed so that ample opportunity would be afforded those interested to discuss its proposals during recess.

Mr. Haggart asked if the opinion of the Minister of Justice had been taken as to the legality of such an act.

Mr. Fisher replied that it had not, taking it for granted that the principle was legalized by the present Act regarding the marking of dairy products.

Mr. McLennan urged the immediate passage of the bill, pointing out the necessity for it and the evidence there was of a preponderance of opinion throughout the country in favor of compulsory branding. The bill was given its first reading.

Sir Charles Tupper suggested to the Premier the advisability of Parliament adopting an address congratulating Her Majesty on having entered upon the 60th year of her reign.

Mr. Laurier replied that he would discuss the matter of an address privately with the leader of the Opposition.

In Committee of Supply Col. Tisdale brought up the matter of the cancellation of militia clothing contracts. He went fully into the whole subject and showed the advantages accruing under the two and three-year contract system. Quoting from papers brought down, he showed that the Department of Justice did not advise the cancellation of those contracts made by the previous Government, but decided merely that they were not binding.

Mr. Borden contended that under the decision of the Justice Department three-year contracts were illegal and a bill would be necessary to legalize them. Either that or the contracts had to be cancelled. He had chosen the latter course and intended to pursue the policy of one-year contracts.

The hour for private bills was consumed in a discussion on the Hull and Aylmer Electric Railway bill, all rival interests having a crack at the measure. The bill was talked out for this week. The House then resumed in supply.

On the inland revenue vote Sir Henri Joly said it was his intention to re-organize the entire service, with a view to retrenchment. For instance, his idea was that one inspector should cover the three Maritime Provinces.

Mr. Sutherland, speaking on the weights and measures vote, said the inspection in his section of country was a farce and he suggested that the controller might well effect a change there.

A discussion in which Messrs. Clancy, Campbell, Davin, Richardson and Wood took part arose on the question of grain standards and the mixing of wheat.

Mr. Davin spoke strongly in favor of Manitoba and the Territories being allowed to fix their own standards. He condemned greed and machination of the Toronto and Montreal boards in wanting to manipulate the standards for the west.

The supplementary estimates were laid on the table by Mr. Fielding.

The House adjourned at 12.25 a.m.

WAS KILLED BOBBIN LONG?

A Witness Swore That He Was Overcome With Liquor and Had Expressed a Wish That He Were Dead.

Port Hope, Sept. 25.—A post-mortem was held this morning upon the body of Robert Long, who was found dead in bed yesterday morning.

At 8 o'clock last night the inquest on the body was held at the residence of Wm. Edgar Long, deceased's brother. The jury was empaneled and sworn in as follows: J. A. Woodhouse, foreman; John Davidson, Thomas Kerr, William Scott, John Brown, Robert Gray, John Johnston, Charles Smith, James O'Brien, Alfred Stevenson, David Watt, Sydney Hawkins, James Rowsen, W. Williamson, J. L. Thompson.

The jury viewed the body. One side of deceased's face is discolored and scarred from neck to ear. Then the evidence of William Long and his wife was taken. Mrs. Long practically repeated the statement which she made to Dr. Corbett yesterday morning. Long in his evidence, however, made statements that were at variance with his former statement. He said yesterday morning that his brother was breathing heavily and laboring when he went upstairs the first and second times; that he called to him and tried to arouse him by shaking his leg. Last night he said he did not try to arouse him and that the deceased was sleeping quietly and without any laboring.

The evidence of Long's sister-in-law, Louise Symonds, was as follows:

At the present time I reside with my sister, Mrs. Long. I have been here five weeks last Tuesday. I knew the deceased, Robert W. Long. I saw him first three weeks ago last Tuesday. I saw him on Tuesday morning last at 9.30. He was just going to have breakfast. I did not see him again that day until 6 o'clock in the evening. He came into the kitchen. He was overcome with drink. He was pretty drunk and staggered a good deal. He went into the shed while Mrs. Long got tea. He did not come to his supper, but went upstairs. Mrs. Long called him and he said he would be down in a minute. He came down and ate a good supper. He sat talking with us for a little while and then went out. I did not see any more of him till the next morning—that would be Wednesday. I heard him during Tuesday night. He was raving in his sleep. I could not understand what he was saying. He kept me awake several nights with his raving talk since he came here. I saw him on Wednesday morning in the kitchen. He looked foggy around his eyes. He had his breakfast between 10 and 11 o'clock. I did not see him again till dinner time. There were no marks on his face, ear or neck at this time. I would have seen them if they had been there. He ate some mutton chops and potatoes. Then he went upstairs after dinner. He came down again between 2 and 2.30 and went through the kitchen. I have not seen him since. I went out to tea with my sister on Wednesday afternoon about 4.30 and returned about 9.20. When I went to bed I heard a hooting or groaning in the room above me. I asked Mr. Long if he would mind going up and asking Robert to stop making this noise. He went up; was not very long. I heard him coming down. The noise ceased upstairs after Mr. Long came down. I heard Mr. Long say, 'Bob stop.' I went to sleep shortly after and did not wake till morning. I heard Mr. Long going upstairs in the morning and come right down again. My sister told me of Robert's death. I have not seen the body since

SENATORS MAY DRINK

The Bar in the Upper House is a Necessity

SO THE COMMITTEE HAS DECIDED

But Outsiders Will Not be Allowed to Booze There, and the Contract With the Caterer Will be Enforced to the Letter Ottawa News Generally.

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—The Senators will have the privilege of refreshing themselves within the precincts of the House, as heretofore. The Restaurant Committee has wrestled with the knotty question, and decided to report that the restaurant was necessary for the convenience of the Speaker and members; that there is no bar in the common acceptation of the term, but merely a small storeroom for wines and other beverages; that clause 10 of the contract with the caterer, which provides that the restaurant is to be used only by the Senators and such other persons as have been approved by the Speaker and committee, and excludes from it all other persons, has been substantially complied with, and the committee intend to strictly enforce this clause of the contract; that the rule prohibiting the sale of wines and other beverages to anyone not a member of Parliament will be strictly enforced. The committee recommended that no wines or other beverages be served to anyone after 12 o'clock midnight, and that the restaurant and wine room be closed after that hour.

The Debates Committee had a meeting this morning, when the appointment of three translators to take the places of those who are to be dropped as a result of the vote in the House yesterday was considered. There were eighteen applications and two sets of names were proposed, one by Mr. Monet, the other by Mr. Beausoleil. One of the men proposed by Mr. Monet, it appears, is his law partner. The committee decided to leave the matter over, and it was also agreed that Messrs. Macleod, Bouchard and Vanasse should finish up their work this session.

A large deputation waited on the Prime Minister and Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, this morning in regard to the claims of men who risked their lives at the time of the Fenian Raid in 1866. The call at the time was for a force of 25,000 men and $2,000 responded. Of these fully 6000 are still alive, and, it was pointed out, would like to have a medal and grant of land, conditional upon settlement on the same. Col. McMillan, who had command in the Cornwall regiment at the time, headed the deputation.

Mr. Laurier thought in the present position of affairs there was no time to deal with the matter. He, therefore, considered that the best thing to do was to lay it before the Cabinet. They would endeavor to recognize the rights of the men in some way next session.

The sub-committee of the Agriculture Committee met this morning and put their report into shape. It will recommend greater cold storage facilities, a reduction of freight rates and withdrawal of quarantine regulations against cattle coming into Canada for breeding purposes.

The following militia changes are recommended to-day:

12th Batt., York Rangers, No. 6 company—To be provisional second lieut., Frank A. Gray.

22nd Batt., Oxford Rifles, No. 6 company—To be lieutenant, second lieut. F. O. Burgess, vice Anderson, promoted.

31st Grey Batt.—Lieut and adjutant Frederick Fraser Punter resigns. No. 4 company—Provisional Lieutenant William Ramage retires.

37th Haldimand Batt., No. 6 company—To be second lieutenant provisionally, Robert Young Parry, vice Rice, retired.

40th Northumberland Batt., No. 9 company—To be second lieutenant provisionally, Sergt. James Archibald Fraser.

47th Frontenac Batt., No. 3 company—To be second lieutenant provisionally, Sergt. Alfred Bell.

A caucus of Ontario Conservative members was held this morning, when the question of party organization in the province was considered and sub-committees appointed for the purpose of strengthening it.

At a meeting of the Committee on Banking and Commerce to-day the bill of the Eastern Trust Company was withdrawn and the fees ordered to be refunded.

The Halifax delegation is to have an interview with the Government to-morrow.

THE CANNY SCOT.

"Ian Maclaren" Reaches New York—Would Not Talk Politics and Said Only Nice Things Coming to Canada.

New York, Sept. 25.—Rev. John Watson (Ian Maclaren), the well-known author, who arrived during the night on the steamer Germanic, did not land until this morning. He was in good health and spirits. To a reporter Rev. Mr. Watson said: "When the steamer came in sight of the statue of Liberty I felt a thrill of deep emotion all through me. I am a Scotch Highlander by birthright and sentiment, and we all love freedom. As a subject of Great Britain also I am a friend to the United States. The friendship between Great Britain and the American Union cannot be broken. All true subjects of Great Britain love freedom."

He refused to discuss American politics, and said: "As a whole, I admire the Americans. I am their friend, they are my friends."

He stated that he would open his lecturing tour in Springfield, Mass., in October, and would also appear in Brooklyn and New York. He thought his tour would extend as far west as Chicago. "I should," he added, "dearly love to go to California, but that will not be possible in the time that I shall have at my disposal." He said he would visit the principal cities in Canada. He also said he had an engagement to lecture to the students at Yale before beginning his public

A THOUGHT THAT KILLED A MAN!

He thought that he could trifle with disease. He was run down in health, felt tired and worn out, complained of dizziness, biliousness, backaches and headaches. His liver and kidneys were out of order. He thought to get well by dosing himself with cheap remedies. And then came the ending. He fell a victim to Bright's disease! The money he ought to have invested in a safe, reliable remedy went for a tombstone.

CUTTING TEETH.

The Globe had a fine front page cartoon in Friday's issue. It represents Mr. John Ross Robertson, of Toronto, holding in his arms a baby labelled "Laurier Government." Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Foster, striking dramatic poses exclaim in chorus:

"Four weeks old and hasn't cut its tariff teeth yet! This is outrageous and can't be endured!"

Mr. Robertson remonstrates—

"But gentlemen is this quite reasonable? This infant isn't mine, but what I say is, give it time."

This is the core of the matter—it is just as unreasonable to expect a baby in four weeks' time to cut its teeth or to develop whiskers, as to expect a government in the short space of a few weeks to decide upon a scheme of tariff reform. Mr. Foster himself took a year to decide what his tariff reform scheme of '94 should be, and when after that much lapse of time, he tried to apply his plan, it was so full of "clerical errors" that it amounted to nothing and his year's work and session's work ended in leaving the tariff which he had been at so much pains to arrange the reduction of, a shade higher than is was before he begun. Mr. Foster may be very anxious about Mr. Laurier's tariff baby cutting its teeth, but if he tries his hand at many more divisions of the House he and the Opposition will speedily have their eye teeth cut.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Toronto deputation has asked the Dominion Government for a grant of $50,000 to convert the Toronto Industrial into a Dominion Exhibition next year. The request is a very moderate one, considering the source from which it comes.

Lord Aberdeen is precluded by his position for being, if he wished, a politician, but he is full enough of tact in avoiding danger of the imputation to qualify him for one. During his reception at Woodstock on Thursday, noticing the large number of Germans present he turned over the diplomatic deed of addressing them in their native tongue, to Lady Aberdeen, who made a brief address in German to the transplanted Teutons, to their great delight.

Stayner, (Special) Sept. 14.—Mr. James K. As he had the good fortune to know that many cases of this disease had been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills this news did not startle him. He says he went straight to Saunders' drug store, and commenced to get well on the first box purchased. Now he is going his usual rounds praising Dodd's Kidney Pills to every one who asks the particulars of his recovery.

ORILLIA GIVES $500.

Gaudaur Gets a Great Reception in His Own Town—His First Race on Lake Couchiching.

Orillia, Sept. 25.—Orillia welcomed home J. G. Gaudaur to-night, and the champion will probably never forget the greeting of his townsmen. The large steamers Islay and Longford, accompanied by half a dozen smaller ones left Orillia Wharf at 7 o'clock, steamed over to the Narrows, where Jake and his party were taken on. Returning to Orillia Wharf, a triumphal procession was organized. The champion, his venerable father, Rev. F. W. Duffy, and Mr. J. W. Smith were placed in a carriage drawn by four horses. The Orillia Citizens' Band preceeded and the Citizens' Committee followed the champion's carriage. After these came a long line of carriages and citizens on foot, and down near the end of the procession was the Rama Indian Band. The Lacrosse Club occupied a tally-ho and all the other sporting organizations of the town were in evidence. The route through the town was decorated and illuminated and the whole was kept bright by displays of fireworks. The champion received ovation after ovation, and continually bowed his acknowledgments. The Orillia Opera House was the objective point of the procession.

The following gentlemen were on the platform: Mayor, Jupp, Dr. Slavin, Father Duffy, Dr. Beaton, R. Mainer, W. M. Harvey, Dr. McLean, Robert Curran, T. H. Sheppard, H. L. Crawford, E. C. Roper, Chris. Moore, James Haw, John Boyle, John Kennedy, George Thompson, E. B. Alporte, Capt. McInnes, J. P. Secord, of Orillia; W. D. Parker, H. M. Allen of Peterboro, Frank Gaudaur, father of the champion; and Charles Gaudaur, brother; J. W. Smith, his backer.

Mayor Jupp, as chairman, succeeded in getting the audience quiet enough to introduce Mr. John McCosh, who in well-modulated tones, read a very finely-worded address of welcome. His Worship then handed to Jake $500 in gold as a testimonial from Orillia. In reply, Jake said that he was glad to get home and that the appreciated the welcome. He said he was prepared to defend the title against all comers and the faster and thicker aspirants came the better he would like it. He would just as soon have Mr. Hanlan's money as anyone else's, if the latter would carry out his intention of challenging.

"Rule Britannia" was sung by the audience, after a vociferous applauding of Jake's remarks. Mr. J. W. Smith of Orillia was then the recipient of a gold-headed cane from the citizens. Speeches by Rev. F. W. Duffy, James Boddy of Bradford, Warden of the County; Dr. Beaton, Dr. Slavin, Dr. McLean, C. J. Miller, Frank Nelson, Chris. Moore, George Thompson, W. M. Harvey and others, a recitation by Miss Slavin, a violin solo by Miss Wilson, a couple of numbers by the Hoy-Vick Orchestra, and a song on Jake's victory to the tune of "Tommy Atkins," made up the program.

Mr. Gaudaur will row his first race at any rate in defence of the championship on Lake Couchiching. This he has determined on. One of the interesting statements made to-night was that Mr. Frank Gaudaur, father of the champion, had lived within what is known as the corporate limits of Orillia for 77 years. He was a resident there 20 years before the name Orillia was given to the place.

OVER 400 RUNS

Piled Up by the Australian Cricketers Against the Best Team the United States Could Put Against Them.

Philadelphia, Sept. 25.—The second of the series of three matches between the Australians and an eleven, representing the best cricket talent among the gentlemen players of Philadelphia, began to-day, and a merry time of it the home team had chasing the leather.

The Australians won the toss and went to bat, and when the last man had been retired, just at the hour for stopping play, for the day, the Antipodeans had put together 422 runs.

The exhibition of scientific batting and free hitting combined was the finest ever seen in this city, and it took the Australians but three hours and 50 minutes of actual play to put their total together. The match is being played at Elmwood, the grounds of the Belmont Cricket Club. This wicket is the fastest scoring wicket in the United States, and as the grounds are small, boundary hits were the rule rather than the exception. Many hits to-day were good for the boundary that would have only netted the batter a couple on other grounds, but this fact in no detracts from the excellence of the batting form shown by the visitors.

Darling, Giffen, Trumble and Iredale punished the bowling almost at will and Giffen's 98 was a grand exhibition. The bowling was not as good as has been shown by the home players against other foreign teams composed of fewer premier batsmen than the Australians. The total put together was due to masterly batting, as a glance at the score will show, and only one man lost his wicket by being bowled. The fielding of the home players was, on the whole, good in face of the terrific scoring. The Philadelphians will go in to-morrow morning, and while the team has been strengthened since the last match by the substitution of Wood, Lester and Coates for Muir, Riddle and Creagar, in the form the home players have shown throughout this entire season there seems to be small hope that they will be able to top the Australians' score.

The weather was ideal and this afternoon there were about 4000 people present. The score of to-day's play follows:

SPAIN'S REBEL COLONIES.

Spanish Residents of London Express Sympathy With Their Fellow-Countrymen.

London, Sept. 25.—A large number of the Spanish residents of this city met at Winchester House to-day and adopted resolutions expressive of their sympathy with their fellow-countrymen in Cuba, and the Philippine Islands, who have lost their business or property through the rebellions in those places, and who have otherwise suffered from the insurrections. The resolutions also congratulated the Spanish Government on its determination to conquer the insurgents, even if it should be necessary to drain the Spanish Treasury to attain that end. A committee, composed of leading members of the Spanish colony, was appointed to collect funds for the relief of the Spanish sufferers from the insurrections. The money that shall be raised will be placed in the hands of the Spanish Minister of War and the Red Cross Society for distribution.

Terrific Gales Cause Great Loss in Britain.

VESSELS THROWN UPON THE SHORE

Ivory, Alias Bell, the Dynamite Suspect, Again on Trial in London Antwerp Hotelkeeper Swore That He Drank Like a Fish When at His House—Other Items.

London, Sept. 25.—A terrific northeast gale prevailed last night in the Bristol Channel off Cornwall and elsewhere along the coasts, doing a great deal of damage. Several sailing vessels were driven ashore in the Bristol Channel and off Cornwall, and the steamer Teutonic, from Liverpool, Sept. 24, for New York, was delayed at Queenstown four hours, after which the storm abated somewhat, and she proceeded on her voyage at 7.45 o'clock this morning.

The barques Agder and Baron Hoburg were wrecked off Folkestone during the night. The crews of both vessels were saved.

A large number of coasting vessels were unable to make a safe offing, and were thrown ashore at Holyhead, Sheerness, Dover and Yarmouth. So far as known all the men on these wrecked vessels were saved by the lifeboats and coastguards. Isolated cases of drownings have been reported from different places along the coast. At Yarmouth the wind blew with hurricane force, its velocity being 90 miles an hour. Many buildings were unroofed or otherwise damaged, and in some places standing crops were completely destroyed. Farm property suffered severely.

At Ilfracombe, the fashionable watering-place in Devonshire, the Arcade was wrecked, and a great number of trees were torn up by the roots.

The telegraph service was demoralized in the West of England, the wires and poles being blown down. Everything possible is being done to get the lines in working order again.

The steamers plying between Folkestone and Boulogne-sur-Mer were compelled to abandon their trips. The steamers of other lines running to the Continent were greatly delayed, and their non-arrival under the circumstances caused much anxiety among those who had relatives and friends aboard of them.

The American steam yacht Arcturus, owned by Mr. R. Stuyvesant of New York, has arrived at Southampton from Dover. She was caught in the storm and sustained some damage.

THE CREW IS SAFE.

Amsterdam, Sept. 25.—The four-masted steamer which was reported ashore on the Boschplaat, off the north coast of Holland, proves to be the Spanish steamer Hugo, from Bremen, for Liverpool, in ballast. The crew have been saved.

"DRANK LIKE A FISH."

That is What an Antwerp Hotelkeeper Said Bell, Alias Ivory, Did When He Was at His House.

London, Sept. 25.—The examination of Edward J. Ivory, the alleged dynamiter, was continued in the Bow-street Police Court to-day. Mr. Gill, the keeper of the hotel at Antwerp at which John F. Kearney and Haines, two of Ivory's alleged fellow-conspirators, stopped while in that city, was put on the stand. Gill is a brother-in-law of Kearney. He identified photographs of Kearney and Haines, who are under arrest in Rotterdam, and P. J. Tynan. He said the three men had been at his hotel. He also identified the prisoner in the dock, who, he said, had been known to him as Edward Bell. The four had held conferences in a wine shop. Kearney "drank like a fish" while in Antwerp, and the witness threatened to put him in an asylum.

Detective Beausedom of Rotterdam was the next witness. He described the arrest of Kearney and Haines. When they were searched the police found in their possession receipted bills for nitric and sulphuric acids and absorbent clay. In a bag belonging to Haines were found 12 bombs. When asked how it came about that they had these bombs in their possession they said that an unknown man had given them to them.

They then refused to answer any further questions. Dynamite cartridges were found beneath Kearney's pillow in his room and torn letters signed Edward Bell.

The examination was then adjourned for two weeks.

MOHAMMEDANS ARE SCARED.

They Are Sending Their Families Away From Constantinople — Gladstone's Speech Caused a Commotion.

London, Sept. 25.—The Times will to-morrow publish a despatch from Constantinople saying that much uneasiness prevails there. Mohammedans who can do so are sending their families away from the city. The despatch adds that it is reported that the town of Kharput has been burned and that there have been slaughters at Caesarea and Gibemerek.

The Chronicle will to-morrow publish a despatch from Rome saying that Mgr. Bonetto, the Papal Delegate at Constantinople, recently returned to Rome to explain the Turkish situation to the Pope. He has now returned bearing a letter to the Sultan expressing the grief of the Pope at the massacres and imploring that in the future the lives of the Christians in the Turkish dominions be made secure.

The Exchange Telegraph Company says that the speech delivered at Liverpool yesterday by Mr. Gladstone has caused great excitement in th Yildiz Kiosk, the residence of the Sultan. Papers containing the speech have been prohibited from entering Turkey.

A Single Instance in Which Dodd's Kidney Pills Failed to Cure Kidney Disease.

Mount Forest (Special) Sept. 21.—The proprietor of the Queen's Hotel of this town declares that he has every reason to believe, that any claim made by the people who are advertising and selling Dodd's Kidney Pills is true. These people were the first to inform, and instruct him as to the cause of his long continued suffering from extreme nervousness. He says that "unable to obtain any relief from other sources, that it was on account of reading the particulars of other cures that his confidence was gained." Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills were all that were required to complete his cure.

YANKEE STUDENTS HIT.

They Will Have to Get Canadian Money to Pay Their Entrance and Tuition Fees at McGill University.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—The war against the circulation of American silver and bank notes in Canada has been carried into McGill University. The following notice is posted up in the faculty of medicine this morning: "Owing to the banking institutions of this city refusing to receive United States currency in either bills or silver, all class and other fees will have to be paid in future in Canadian currency. "Cheques on United States banks will be accepted, however, provided the bank commission of ¼ per cent. is added. By order. S. F. Ruttan, registrar."

Enquiry at the office of the secretary this morning also elicited the fact that the University as a body had this session declined to accept American currency in payment of entrance and tuition fees.

About Wool in Underwear . . .

. . . Two kinds of wool—pure wool and others—a fine good wool and a coarse bad wool. The fine pure wool absorbs and dissipates the body's moisture—keeps pores open—keeps circulation perfect. Wool and cotton won't do that. It won't absorb as much—doesn't give up what it does gather. Becomes felt like—close. Coarse wool may absorb, but it irritates—closes the pores. That retards circulation too.

Last evening the Y. P. S. C. E. of St Andrew's church gave a social to the other branches of this organization in town.

As one came in the school room door a duplicate number was pinned conspicuously on the coat lapel. He was then to find the person who had a similar number, when an opportunity arose for the occurrence of many entertaining incidents.

The programme was excellently rendered and was as follows:

GAUDAUR'S RECEPTION.

The Peterborough Boys Welcome him in Orillia.

The Peterborough boys who were up in Orillia yesterday assisted not a little in booming the big reception which was tendered Jake Gaudaur, the champion oarsman of the world.

Having provided themselves with a quantity of fireworks and crackers, the boys helped to make things very lively in Orillia during the evening. The town was gaily decorated with flags, mottoes, etc., and a large number of the stores were brilliantly illuminated with Chinese lanterns. The Orillia House looked very attractive.

The reception was held in the opera house, which was filled to the doors. "Jake" was presented with a purse of $500 by the citizens, and Mr. J. W. Smith, who is well known in town, being connected with the local branch of the Crown Lands Department, was given a gold-headed cane as a mark of the appreciation of the citizens for what he had done to promote the match.

More Honours for the Firm of J. J. Turner & Sons.

The Chatham Planet, in reference to the decorations which are now being put up by J. J. Turner & Sons, says:—"It is a long time, in fact never before have the streets of the city of Chatham presented the glad appearance they do to-day. The committee in charge did well, and deserve credit, in giving the order to that well-known firm of decorators, J. J. Turner & Sons, of Peterborough. Reginald Turner and Achilles Turner are overseeing the work done, and the firm deserve credit for their great taste in the decorations. Inviting and patriotic mottos in all colours are stretched across the street everywhere. Flags of every kind and description, in fact our city is covered with flags. That the fair will be a booming success is beyond question if every other number on the programme is in keeping with the decorations.

CENTRAL EXHIBITION ACCOUNTS.

Persons having bills against the directorate of the Central Exhibition (or the Reception Committee) are requested to present them as soon as possible to Mr. W. J. Cross, Secretary, so that they may be laid before the board and dealt with at the meeting to be held on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 30th. The above request is made so that the bills may be settled and arrangements made for the payment of prizes after the 30th Sept.

ORILLIA WINS FROM THE PETERBOROUGHS.

LACROSSE PLAYED IN THE MUD AND RAIN.

Luck is Dead Against the Peterborough Team—Their Lack of Practice, Combined with this Fact, Results in their Losing the Game—The Score was 5-2 Against them.

The Peterboroughs were badly worsted yesterday at Orillia by the team of that place. The Orillias were in the pink of condition, whilst the Peterboroughs, as in the Madoc game, showed the result of want of practice more and more, as the game proceeded. The home field men of the Peterboroughs were not able to get inside the Orillia defence after the first hour's play, except spasmodically, while the Orillia home men inaugurated a terrific bombardment on the Peterborough flags during the latter part of the match. The Peterborough defence men put up a magnificent game, and staved off defeat again and again when it seemed inevitable. In the first part of the game they did not have much to do, as all the hard play was around

THE ORILLIA'S FLAGS,

The Peterboroughs, however, began to fag as the game proceeded as the result of lack of practice, and the play was gradually worked out into the centre of the field and finally transferred into Peterborough territory. The rain which had been coming down in showers all day settled into a regular downpour, making the grass very slippery, to which condition of things the Orillias appeared better able to adapt themselves than the Peterboroughs, as the latter inevitably slipped and fell in almost every critical emergency. Time and again when there was an opening for Peterborough to score, a slip and fall would spoil the chance. The luck was all against the boys in this respect and when the home field men, after a rest, would make to score, luck, in the shape of a tumble, would nullify all their pretty combination work and the ball would be secured by an Orillia defense man and sent travelling far down the field.

The work of the Peterborough defence was magnificent to see. The Orillia home was led by Blaine in a manner which brought him many a cheer. He was checked by Tom McDonough, and though Tom is proverbially swift of foot, he was no match for Blaine, as he was sadly out of shape, not having had a stick in his hand for weeks, and not having intended going to Orillia until the eleventh hour, when he was persuaded to go along, although he had given up play for the season. Being led in this inc[illegible]parable manner by Blaine the Orillia home men made things lively for the Peterborough defence. Fortunately they were all playing a steady game. Lynch covered himself with glory by his splendid work. He put up the best game on the entire field, and when Lynch

WAS AFTER THE BALL

he generally got it, and it would have taken a better man than any the Orillias possessed to take it away from him. He was ably backed up by Glover, who played a very strong steady game. Mein and Brown also looked well after their checks. Dobbin's stops between the flags were miraculous. Time and again the Orillia rooters sent up a cheer as a lightning-like shot was made on the goal by "Mary" Curran, but as "Dinny" turned off shot after shot their wonder grew apace. His work bordered on the miraculous and had to be seen to be appreciated. Orillia's goal umpire had a wonderful story to tell about it after the game.

The two teams lined up as follows:

Peterborough.		Orillia.
Dobbin	goal	Frost
Mein	point	Went
Brown	cover point	M O'Connor
Glover	1st defence	D O'Connor
Lynch	2nd defence	Thompson
Borland	3rd defence	Hammond
McDonough	centre	Blaine
Rubidge	3rd home	Dunn
Lipsett	2nd home	Curran
King	1st home	D Quinn
McCabe	outside home	B Quinn
Phelan	inside home	Peard
Begley	field captain	Tudhope
LeBar	umpire	Henderron

Referee—J. D. Bailley

The ball was faced at six minutes to four and some fine, clean lacrosse was seen. The Peterboroughs carried the war right down on the Orillia flags and several close shots were made on the goal before it was relieved. The Orillias then made a desperate effort to get inside the Peterborough defense. After several attempts had been made, however, this plan had to be abandoned, as Lynch did such grand work that it seemed impossible to pass him. On one of his long throws King caught the ball and running in with it on the Orillia flags, passed to Rubidge, who tipped it to McCabe, the latter scoring for Peterborough. Time, 6 minutes.

In the second game Lipsett had a great chance to score, not a man being between him and the flags, but and the goal was speedily relieved. The defense work for the Peterboroughs largely fell on Glover in this game and he did some fine checking. After seven minutes play "Mary" Curran scored for Orillia, though by far the greater part of the play was in the Orillia goal.

The third game started off with a rush on the Peterborough flags, and Dobbin turned a shot which seemed a sure goal. Glover relieved, and King securing the ball made a splendid shot on Orillia stakes, which was well stopped. Another attempt was made by Orillia to score, but Brown made one of his old-time stops in front of the flags, and the next minute the ball was far away. Back it came again, however, and Dobbin had to make a couple of wonderful stops to save his flags. Rubidge finally got the ball on one of the long defense throws, and running in passed to Lipsett, who scored in nine minutes.

THE NEXT GAME

went to Orillia in 12 minutes, the honours being about equally divided in the play, some of the cleanest lacrosse being witnessed that was ever played on the field. The score now stood 2—2, and the excitement ran high. The Peterborough boys now began to show the effects of lack of training, and whilst their opponents were playing a very fast game the Peterborough's appeared to be beginning to fag. Taking advantage of this fact Orillia's bombardment on the flags became terrific, and it was then that the Peterborough defence showed of what calibre it was made. For 19 minutes the shots on the goal came pouring in like hail and although the ball was sent far up the field time and again, yet the Peterborough home field on the Orillia flags long before it would be sent hurling back on the Peterborough goal. Such determined efforts to score were made that the crowd was moved up to the highest pitch of enthusiasm, and the Peterborough defense is deserving of the greatest credit for staving off the scoring of the goal for such a length of time. It just took Orillia 19 minutes to do the trick.

NEVER KEPT IT

The sixth game was a repetition of the fifth. All the play was around the Peterborough flags. Orillia scored in fourteen minutes.

There was just a minute left to play and some of the Peterborough boys did not even remove their overcoats after time was called. Orillia, however, succeeded in scoring another game in that last minute, making the score 5—2 in their favour.

Orillia comes to Peterborough on Tuesday next and on their own grounds the local boys expect confidently to be able to reverse the score, as in the spring they easily defeated Orillia here by five goals to one. In order to be in the finals Peterborough must win from Orillia by at least four goals, as Orillia now leads them by three.

Lionel King played a strong game yesterday, having developed wonderfully during the summer.

Phelan is handicapped by the weight he is carrying around with him. If "Scuddy" could work off a few pounds of adipose tissue by Tuesday there are few of the Orillias who could stay with him.

It is probable that Galley will play in Tuesday's match.

Luck was dead against the boys yesterday, but it will be the other way on Tuesday. The Peterboroughs are never at home in the mud—witness the disastrous results of the game played with the Young Caps. of Ottawa in the rain. Rubidge and Lipsett could not do any of their fast combination work, as a dodge meant a fall every time.

An Awkward Accident.

Yesterday Mr. James Patterson, while is engaged in forging iron at the Bridge Works, met with a peculiar accident. His helper missed his stroke on the forging and struck the anvil with such force that a fragment was knocked off and striking Mr. Patterson on the wrist, cut a deep gash, severing both vein and artery. The profuse bleeding was with difficulty controlled till the arrival of Dr. Clarke, who attended the injured arm which is now doing well.

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

THAT RESOLUTION OF CENSURE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I regret to see by a paragraph published in the EXAMINER of Thursday evening that the official board of the George street Methodist church, with a solicitous zeal for the moral welfare of the community have passed a resolution condemning the skirt dancing exercises at the Peterborough Central Exhibition. Now, assuming that the so-called disgusting exhibition of so-called skirt or ballet dancing is improper and objectionable, might not a better mode have suggested itself of working a reform than an officious parading of self-righteousness, and moral superiority, under the official seal of the church, been employed? Would not the consciences of the sensitive board have been cleared by a personal conference with the depraved directors, and would not an earnest horatory effort at convincing them face to face of the enormity of their offence, have served the purpose? Of course, then, the world would not have known that we had in our midst a set of immaculate moralists, whose mission it is to guard the virgin bloom on the apple of the public eye from being rudely brushed off by the whirling skirts of the brasen daughters of Herodias, whose high kicking at the exhibition suggested the "kick" made by the Board of the George street church. It seems to me highly improbable that a public reproof, administered in the Cromwellian spirit of the resolution of censure, can have the desired effect. Moral improvement cannot be pounded into men by a bludgeon and it strikes me that the resolution of censure was prompted more by a desire to make a show of priggish self-righteousness than to work a real reform by following the injunction of the Good Book to "admonish such an one in love." I venture to say, without fear of successful contradiction, that the publicly paraded resolution of censure, by calling special attention to the alleged disgusting skirt dancing, has suggested ten times more prurient and foul thoughts than the witness of the dancing itself suggested to the innocent, and those who had not a great moral mission to keep the public morals clean, and whose low opinion of human nature may possibly be a deduction from personal experience.

We all know that members of a family do things and take to courses that the heads regret and object to, but are powerless to prevent. So the directors of the exhibition, after having engaged the skirt dancers, which were thought proper enough by Toronto the good at their exhibition, did not feel warranted in cancelling the engagement and turning over the dancers to the police to be run out of town, simply because their programme and style of dancing might have gone beyond the limits of approval of prudish propriety, and suggested evil thoughts to a class of minds which must have been in an uncommonly sympathetic mood to deduce lewdness from a display of saltatory skill.

Of course this is a free country and men are at liberty to resolute as they like, but it seems to me that this same official and officious board of the George street Methodist church might, with more consistency, begin resoluting where charity begins—at home. I am told, on what I consider good authority that it is not so long since the members of this very Board in their excess of zeal thought it their duty at one of the meetings to make a vigorous exchange of the touching brotherly epithets—"liar" and "you're another"—and I can say from personal experience that I know of few more worthy objects of home missionary enterprise than some members of that very church I could name; and yet, in the case of the riotous board meeting mentioned, the Directors of the Central Exhibition did not think it their duty to pass a vote of censure upon brethren who for a few minutes imported the ribald atmosphere of the bar-room into an official church meeting. When the pastor and official board, that arrogate to themselves the role of keepers of the public conscience, can show that they have white-washed all the black sheep that are in their own flock, I will grant their right to enter upon the mistaken work of putting evil thoughts into the minds of the public, who are not pharisaical enough to think themselves better than others.

I hope that when the Board of the George street Methodist church feel like disciplining the directors of the Central Exhibition, some of whom, I believe, are members of the Methodist church, they will take a more quiet and Christian-like way of doing it, and not, by unctuous suggestions of impropriettes, intensify the evil they pretend to wish to remedy.

Yours very truly,
CANDOR.

THE RESOLUTION APPROVED.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I noticed with pleasure in your edition of Thursday, the resolution of the official board of George street church, condemning the immodest and vulgar display of skirt dancing at the Central Exhibition. I entirely approve of the resolution as it serves to call needed attention to the impropriety of such exhibitions, and to suggest their impropriety to the unthinking and innocent who, except for such suggestion, might remain in ignorance of the danger of contamination to which they were exposed.

But I regret that under the circumstances the resolution was not unanimous. I am informed that one member of the Board did not vote for the resolution; he was not at the meeting—he was at Harry Lindley's dramatic circus at the Opera House, where the objectionable skirt dancers made their last kick—so that he was unable to add his condemnation to that of other members of the board.

I approve of the resolution, not only per se, but because it was founded upon the fullest investigation. The Board is too high minded and conscientious to pass such a vote of censure on mere hear-say—to their honour they personally investigated the shameful circumstances. One prominent member was so anxious not to compromise the board by hasty judgment that, in order to judge of the enormity of the skirt dancing exhibition, he witnessed it himself with the closest attention on Tuesday afternoon. Not only that, but with a becoming modesty of feeling he would not rely solely on his own judgment, but in the evening he took his wife down to the grounds to see the high kickers, doubtless hoping to profit by the finer sensibilities, keener perceptions and acuter scent for the improper, inherent in the gentler sex. Under conditions of such scrupulous care to ascertain the exact facts of the matter in question, the resolution of censure derives especial value—it was based on ocular demonstration.

I congratulate the board on its courage—I congratulate the community on having in its midst a body which not only dares to denounce immorality, but feels it its duty to trust nothing to vague rumour, but by the most thorough observation bases its condemnation upon what the eye has seen.

Yours truly,
MORALITY.

SEVEN O'CLOCK G. T. R. MORNING EXPRESS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I feel sure that the Grand Trunk Railway is anxious to consult the public convenience in every way so far as consistent with the demands of the service, and I also feel sure that if the management knew how greatly the travelling public miss the 7 o'clock lake shore Express that train, if possible, would be restored. By this train one was able to leave town at 7 a. m., have a delightful ride along the beautiful Lake Shore route, reach Toronto at 10, have seven hours in the city, from 10 a. m. to 5 30 p.m., and reach home in good time. To my mind this time might be lengthened by half an hour. By leaving Toronto at 6 p.m., and making the same time as on the morning trip, Peterborough would be reached at the same hour. The present difficulty of reaching Cobourg and other lake shore towns east of Port Hope is suggestive of the slow coach stage of travelling, not at all consistent with the enterprise of the Grand Trunk. At present it requires two days to accomplish visits and returns to and from these towns, a feat which could far sooner be accomplished by a pair of farmer's horses. Restoring the 7 a.m. express would remedy all this and enable such journeys to be made inside the hours of a day. I hope the Grand Trunk authorities, which derive so large a travelling and freight traffic from Peterborough, will see their way clear to increasing both by again putting the morning express into commission.

Yours etc.,
TRAVELLER.

Paine's Celery Compound the Choice of the Ablest Physicians.

It is well that every one should know that Paine's Celery Compound is not an ordinary patent medicine such as the nervines, sarsaparillas, bitters and other liquid concoctions now so extensively advertised in every direction. Paine's Celery Compound is as far beyond these common preparations as the diamond is superior to cheap glass.

Paine's Celery compound possesses extraordinary virtues and powers for health giving and life lengthening. It is as harmless as it is good, and is the only medicine that the best medical men recommend with confidence. Professor Edward E. Phelps, M.D., its discoverer, gave this marvellous medicine to his profession as a positive cure for sleeplessness, nervousness, wasting strength, dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism and kidney troubles; and since its introduction to the public, hundreds of thousands on this continent have been raised from sickness to the enjoyment of perfect health. No other medicine in the world was ever so highly honoured and recommended, because none ever accomplished so much.

To-day when the ablest doctors are called upon to prescribe for weak, run-down, over-worked and debilitated men and women, they invariably advise the use of Paine's Celery Compound. Thousands of testimonials giving proof of almost miraculous cures come in every year from working people, artisans, merchants, professional men and people of wealth, all asserting strongly that Paine's Celery Compound make people well.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH HARVEST FESTIVAL

AN IMPRESSIVE AND BEAUTIFUL SERVICE.

A Charmingly Decorated Church—Hearty Worship—Excellent Singing—Hon. and Rev. Dr. Prall's Admirably Apt Sermon—Large Congregation and Liberal Offertory.

Last night the annual Harvest Festival of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, was celebrated by a beautifully impressive service, worthy of the importance and significance of the occasion. The church itself was elaborately decorated, its interior being almost hidden by the profusion of material evidences of divine bounty, for which the service was intended as an expression of gratitude. The windows were wreathed with grains and flowers, each window sill being a bright bank of bloom, while gorgeous flowers were massed against the chancel railing. The pulpit was conspicuous from the unusually elegant character of its floral decorations. A beautiful gothic rood screen, wrought of outline pillars and arches of grain in the ear, picked out with brighter hues in flowers, separated the chancel from the body of the church, and across it extended the text:

"THE EARTH IS THE LORD'S AND THE FULNESS THEREOF."

The chancel, choir and lectern were also beautifully adorned with grains and flowers.

Importance was added to the occasion by the presence of no less than eight clergymen—Hon. and Rev. Dr. Prall, rector of St. John's church, Detroit, the preacher of the evening; Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. E. V. Stevenson, of St. John's; Rev. Car-Smith, of St. John's South Ward Mission; Rev. Arthur McGinnis, Hasting; Rev. Geo. Warren, St. John's, Lakefield; Rev. W. L. Baynes Reed, Incumbent of St. Mark's and Allandale, and, of course, Rev. H. Symonds, Rector of the church.

Rev. Messrs. Warren, Stevenson, McGinnis and Smith, conducted the services, the two latter reading the appropriate lessons.

The rector in introducing Rev. Dr. Prall, referred to the Protestant Episcopal church and the English church being of one communion, and also referred to the manner in which the two nations they represented were co-operating to put down the oppression of a weak people in the East.

Rev. Dr. Prall selected for his text the 25th verse of the fourth chapter of the Gospel according to St. Mark.

For the earth bringeth forth fruit of herself; first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear.

He prefaced his sermon with a few remarks in which he stated that he was glad to be present in response to the invitation of the rector. This was not the first of many visits to Canada. Last year he was one of a deputation from the American church to the Synod meeting at Montreal; he had at one time been a guest of Bishop Hamilton. He was glad to be here in evidence of the desirability of BRETHREN DWELLING TOGETHER IN UNITY.

From what the rector had said in introducing him, Dr. Prall felt it proper to refer to the many years that good Queen Victoria had ruled over the greatest English speaking nation of the world. He was not an Englishman, he was the rector of an Anglo-American church, a national church which acknowledged the primacy of the Archbishop of Canterbury. He rejoiced that during the long years of the Queen's reign, the longest in English history, the English speaking world had grown so greatly that Anglo-American institutions constituted the highest type of civilization. In all English speaking countries there was liberty of speech and conscience—the Anglo-American peoples made for the peace as well as prosperity of the world—they had a common language and literature, and a common aim in advancing the improvement of the world. During the Queen's reign there had been peace and a closer drawing together of English speaking peoples. Addressing himself to the subject of his text, Rev. Dr. Prall said that we were all familiar with the results of the processes of nature as shown in the growth of seeds, but we rarely thought in detail of the way in which these results were worked out through the development of the seed. So did we rarely reflect on the deeper meanings of our Lord's parables. After speaking of the great amount of labour involved in the preparation and of the soil and the reaping of the grain, the preacher pointed out that it was similar in the kingdom of God. Some people came to church, joined in the worship and listened to the sermon and it was often wondered that there was so little spiritual result. The reason for this was illustrated in the parable of the sower in which the seed fell into different kinds of soil. In human affairs the sowing of the seed meant the co-operation of man with God. But in the sowing of the seed of the Word the people often did little, but if they worked with God—if the seed fell into receptive and zealous hearts, the seed in them would develop and they would grow up to the measure of the stature of Christ.

THE SEED OF THE KINGDOM

could only grow up by the help and service of God's people. It was shown that the Darwinian theory of evolution, which was regarded as a menace to the foundations of belief, was not so far astray, inasmuch as it was analagous to the processes of development in the spiritual world. In baptism a living seed was sown and every good word we heard was a seed. This seed must grow and develop but this could only be done by our help. St. Paul spoke of us as co-workers with God. For this we should rejoice at this festival that both in the natural and the spiritual world we have the great privilege of being co-workers with God. We have a right to be thankful. We know that by co-operating with God in our labours there has been abundance of fruits given. Through man's work every seed and plant and flower is the better for the work that man has bestowed upon their culture—everything in nature was, the speaker said, made better, than when it came from the hand of God, by the labour of man. And the divine power of God's love was best shown by our co-operation when we exercised love towards our fellow-men. The work we put upon our lives beautified those lives. Beautiful as was the natural world, more so was the Kingdom of God by the fruits of love and humility.

At the close of the service the rector thanked those who had contributed so generously for the decoration of the church; St. John's for wreaths from that church, and especially those who were not members of the church for liberal gifts, and the members of the congregation for both their liberal contributions and the well-bestowed work in arrangement that had realized so beautiful a result. In conclusion he thanked Dr. Prall for reminding them of a special occasion in the life of the Queen and in recognition of this, at the close of the last hymn a verse of the national anthem would be sung, which was accordingly done with great heartiness.

The special music for the evening was worthy of special praise. The joyful hymns and the anthem, "The Earth is the Lord's, etc.," were sung with great spirit. The "Nunc dimittis" by Mr. Davies, the organist and choirmaster of St. Luke's, deserves a particular word of commendation—the movement is beautiful and it is enriched with some beautiful harmony.

It is also a pleasure to state that the special object of the offertory was met, namely the payment for the extension of the electric light to the school room.

The festival service will be repeated on Sunday. The special music will be given again and the beautiful decorations will remain.

The decorations will remain St. Luke's church until after Sunday. On Sunday evening the rector, Rev. H. Symonds, will deliver a sermon on "Commerce and Invention, regarded as a preparation for the extension of Christ's Kingdom." The special thanksgiving music will be repeated.

Jacks-at-all-trades don't count for much. That's the secret of the success of Sutcliffe's—a specialist is at the head of every branch of the business. We've increased our facilities for the making of Clothing ready to wear. Had to do it—the business has grown so, and no wonder. We buy the woollens direct from the mills; for cash, too, so the makers' profit and ours are all you have to pay. Same way with Ladies' Jackets and Suits—most all are made up under our own supervision. Every little detail receives our most careful attention; everything has to be just right before we can say "Money back if you want it." There's economy in buying Fall Clothes from us.

Our Men's Tweed Suits at $5.00 are an extra good line. We have seen nothing shown by makers that excelled it, and our price was often below their's. Same way with Women's Jackets at $5.00. Our Boys' School Suits at $2.50 are a specially fine line—well made, strong and serviceable.

Loose clothes and downy cushions bring only a negative sort of comfort to the woman who is suffering with some disease or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Some clothes and some positions make the pain and discomfort seem less. Nothing will ever completely relieve but a radical cure. The effects of such disorders are not limited to mere local discomforts but extend over the whole body. Perhaps the nerves are most affected, and this in turn disturbs the digestion. After that there is no telling what form the trouble may take. With irritable nerves and poor digestion, a woman is on the straight road to the grave. Women are notoriously negligent in matters pertaining to their health. Too many of them understand too little about their own physical make-up. They do not understand their possibilities or their limitations, and they do not know enough about themselves to know when a symptom is really serious and when it is not. This naturally makes them overlook the plainest of danger signals. The start of everything is simple. The start of so-called "female complaints" may be a very slight thing indeed. It may be that in the beginning some small hygienic measures would stop the trouble. Certainly at this time, a little bit of the right medicine would stop it. When the trouble becomes worse, it is harder to cure, but still it can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will positively cure any trouble of this character. It may be absolutely relied upon. It affords immediate and lasting relief to a woman whose natural modesty has kept her from consulting physicians.

The whole story of the "Favorite Prescription," and what it has done for thousands of women is told in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This is a 1008 page book, profusely illustrated, written in plain language for the use of every-day people, and gives in a clear and lucid way an immense amount of valuable information about health and medicine. It will be sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover customs and mailing only.

BRAINED WITH A HATCHET.

Peter Kemm of Buffalo Split His Wife's Head Open and Cut His Own Throat With a Razor.

Buffalo, Sept. 25.—About 11 o'clock this forenoon Peter Kemm, 39 years old, murdered his wife Mary and cut his own throat from ear to ear with a razor. Mrs. Kemm lived with her brother, Joseph Rabel, over 81 Lemon-street, having separated from her husband last February. Kemm called at the house this morning, pushed Mrs. Rabel aside, and said: "I want my wife." Mrs. Rabel called for help and ran into the street. Neighbors rushed to her assistance, but when they entered the house Mrs. Kemm was found lying on the floor dead, with her head cut open, the wound having been inflicted with a hatchet. Kemm was found in an adjoining bedroom dead, with his throat cut.

A FATHER'S STORY.

HAPPINESS RESTORED WHEN HOPE HAD ALMOST GONE.

His Daughter Began to Droop and Fade—Was Attacked With Hemorrhage and Life was Despaired of—She is Again Enjoying Robust Health.

From the Brantford Courier.

A recent addition to the Grand Trunk staff in this city is Mr. Thos. Clift, who is living at 75 Chatham street. Mr. Clift, who formerly a policeman in the great city of London, is a fine looking specimen of an Englishman of the type so often seen in the Grand Trunk employ, and who makes so desirable a class of citizens. Since his advent here he has been a warm advocate of that well known medicine, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and through his endorsement, dozens of boxes have been sold to his friends and acquaintances.

A Courier representative, anxious, although not surprised, to know the reason for Mr. Clift's warm eulogy of the pills, called on that gentleman recently. Mr. Clift willingly consented to an interview, and in the following story told his reason for being so sincere an advocate of a world renowned medicine. "Some five years ago," said Mr. Clift, "my daughter Lilly began to droop and fade, and became disinclined either for work or pleasure. A doctor in London was called in and he prescribed exercise and a general "rousing up" as the best medicine to effect a cure. My daughter did her best to follow his instructions, but the forced exercise exhausted her completely, and she gradually grew worse. One night I and my wife were terribly alarmed by a cry from Lilly, and hastening to her room found her gulping up large quantities of blood. I rushed for a doctor and he did his best to stop her hemorrhage, but admitted to me that her case was very critical. She drooped away to a veritable shadow, and for weeks when I went to bid her good-bye in the morning as I went to my work I feared I might not see her alive again. This went on for a long time until one day a friend recommended my daughter to try the effect of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She consented to do so and in a comparatively short period a decided benefit was perceptible. She persisted with the use of the pills and gradually rose from a bed of suffering and sickness until she once again attained robust young womanhood. For the last three years she has been in excellent health. It was Pink Pills that virtually brought her from the mouth of the grave and preserved for me my only daughter. Now do you wonder why I should sound their praises and recommend them at every opportunity?

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills strike at the root of the disease, driving it from the system as restoring the patient to health and strength. In cases of paralysis, spinal troubles, locomotor ataxia, sciatica, rheumatism, erysipelas, scrofulous troubles, etc., these pills are superior to all other treatment. They are also a specific for the troubles which make the lives of so many women a burden, and speedily restore the rich glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. Men broken down by overwork, worry or excesses, will find in Pink Pills a certain cure. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail post-paid, at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

GENTRY IS NOW KING.

He Plucks the Crown From Robert J. by Pacing a Mile in Half a Second Over Two Minutes.

Portland, Me., Sept. 24.—This was an eventful day for Rigby, because the world's pacing record was broken by John R. Gentry, the magnificent horse pacing the fastest mile ever made in harness and placing the world's record at only half a second over 2 minutes, or 2.00½.

Gentry was roundly applauded when he appeared for his great trial of speed. W. S. Andrews drove him on the track for the effort to break his record. The air was chilly, and a light northeasterly breeze blew up the home stretch. Gentry's record before starting was 2.01½, which he made Sept. 8 at Glen's Falls, N.Y., in the second heat of a race with Star Pointer. Andrews had given Gentry two warming-up miles, and it was nearly sunset when he was ready to start for the eventful mile. A runner appeared with Gentry to pace him.

After scoring twice Andrews came down to the wire to begin the fastest mile ever accomplished by a horse in harness. The crowd cheered as he approached the starting point. "Go!" shouted Starter Culbertson, and hundreds of watches caught the pair at the start.

The runner's nose was within two feet of Gentry's as they made the first turn. On the stretch Gentry was going gracefully and steadily, getting over the ground in great shape, and the runner had to work hard to keep up. The first quarter was given by the judges as made in 29¼ seconds. When the half-mile was finished in 59¼ seconds the crowd began to look for a two-minute mile. At this point the runner's jockey was using the whip, and just succeeding in keeping at the wheel of Gentry's sulky.

The third quarter was reeled off in 30¾, making the time at the three-quarter post 1.30¾. As the horses turned into the stretch and caught the wind in their teeth the crowd began to shout and hurrah, and Andrews shouted encouragingly to his horse. The runner's rider also urged his horse and used the whip. All this nerved the pacer to a supreme effort, and, with the wind in his face he made the last quarter quicker than the third, doing it in 30¼ and thus covering his mile in 2.00½. This was a whole second less than his former record, which had never been surpassed by any horse, and only equalled by Robert J., 2.01¼, in 1895 at Terre Haute.

When Starter Culbertson announced the time of the great mile the crowd broke through the fence and surrounded the famous pacer, anxious to touch him or even his sulky. If the wind had been a trifle more favorable to-day Gentry would have lowered the record to 2.00.

JOHNSON BEAT COOPER.

It Was Easy for the Swede—Jimmy Michael Covers Five Miles in 10 Minutes 1 1-5 Seconds.

Waverly Park, N.J., Sept. 24.—The postponed races of the Quill Club wheelmen, which were interfered with by the storm at Manhattan Beach last Saturday, were run off at Waverly Park this afternoon.

The feature of the day was the final heat in the mile professional between Cooper and Johnson. Johnson won easily in 2.13 4-5.

Jimmy Michael, the Welsh wonder, had a try for the five-mile record of 9.17 3-5, made by Linton in England. The little fellow did not succeed in lowering the world's figures, but covered the distance in 10. 01 1-5, which is the best time ever made on a trotting track and only 3 1-5 seconds outside the American record. Mertens defeated Bald in the one-mile handicap. Summaries:

One-mile invitation, professional—Won by J. S. Johnson, Tom Cooper 2. Time 2.13 4-5.

Five-mile championship Metropolitan District—Won by W. C. Ronne, N.J.A.; Ray Dawson, N.Y.A., 2; J. Harrison, Harlem, 3. Time 12.08.

One-mile handicap, professional—Won by A. C. Mertens, Chicago (15 yards); E. C. Bald (scratch), 2; W.A. Barbeau (25 yards), 3. Time 2.10 1-5.

One-mile time trial, amateur, paced—Won by J. Harrison, 1.50; Day Dawson, 2, 2.00; W. H. Owen, 3, 2.01 2-5.

A VERY EASY SNAP.

New York A.C. Team of Cricketers Beaten Badly by the Australians.

Bergen Point, N.J., Sept. 24.—The New Jersey Athletic team concluded their second innings in the match with the Australians this afternoon and were all disposed of for 126 runs, which, with 28 scored in the first innings yesterday, brought the total to 154. The Australians, therefore, won the match by an innings and 99 runs. The result was a foregone conclusion when stumps were drawn, and although the day was very fine, there was only a very small attendance, while the home twelve were at the bat. The visiting attack was not quite as deadly as on the first innings. Jones and McKibben were reserved for the Philadelphia match and the trundling was put into the hands of Edy and Donnan at first, but after 44 runs had been scored for one wicket, Trumble and Capt. Trott were substituted. Trumble's medium pace with a big break was eminently successful, and he took four wickets for 14 runs.

Afterwards the Australians gave an exhibition to play out time. Graham and Edy opened to the bowling of Cobb and Kelly. Graham was bowled by Cobb for 3 and Jones took his place. Edy scored 29 before Kelly sent his balls flying. Julian, who is on a tour with the team, made 5, caught Forbes, bowled Wright. Jones put on 57 before he was caught by Hickie off Tyers. McKibben was bowled by the professional for nothing, and Darling scored 27, not out.

A MAD WOMAN.

Mrs. Lepage Was Crazed by an Attack of La Grippe and Strangled Her Afflicted Husband.

Quebec, Sept. 24.—Mrs. Lepage, the wife of a wealthy farmer residing in Rimouski, who lost her reason after a severe attack of la grippe last winter, has been observed on several occasions to enter the church with her infant in her arms and to place it upon the altar, as if she intended to sacrifice it, and her husband was warned to keep an eye upon her.

Mr. Lepage was at intervals taken with violent pains, and a day or two ago, while alone in the house with his wife, he was suddenly seized with pain, and before aid arrived he went off into convulsions. Mrs. Lepage at once ran to his side, raised his head a little, and catching him by the throat strangled him. Some neighbors who entered the house at the time saw Mrs. Lepage thus occupied, but she seemed to take no notice of them, and retained her grip, singing softly the while, as if offering a prayer. Steps are being taken to have the lunatic confined before she does any more harm.

PERU AGAIN INVADED.

But the Invaders Were Whipped With a Loss of Seven Killed and Seventeen Made Prisoners.

New York, Sept. 25.—A special to The Herald from Panama says: "A correspondent in Guayaquil, Equador, telegraphs that a fresh invasion of the Peruvian border has been repulsed with heavy loss. The invading forces consisted of 100 rebels, of whom 27 were killed and 17 made prisoners. All of the arms, ammunition, and stores of the rebels were captured. All the political prisoners in the jail at Guayaquil have been released by order of General Alfaro, commanding the loyal forces."

THE EARTH QUAKED.

A Crack an Inch Wide Opened From the Sea and Remained in the Town of Hilo, Hawaii.

Honolulu, Sept. 17, via San Francisco, Sept. 25.—A severe earthquake shock was experienced at Hilo at 5 o'clock a.m., Sept. 13. In the centre of the town a crack opened from the sea half a mile inland and remained an inch wide. The houses, all being of wood, were uninjured. No such shock had been felt since 1868. The same shock in lighter form awoke everybody in Honolulu. At Kilauea the shock was much lighter than at Hilo. The fire fountains in the pit have increased in activity.

THE GRAIN STANDARDS.

No Material Changes in the Standards for the Present Season.

Toronto, Sept. 26.

The Board of Grain Inspectors met yesterday and struck standards for Ontario and Quebec. There is little or no variation in the new standard; in fact, said Mr. Matthews, the chairman, they are practically unchanged from last year. Wheat is a fine sample, while barley is a little darker in color and oats rather lighter in weight than last season. Peas run about the same as last year, although there were complaints early in the season that they were inclined to be buggy.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. Fields, Bloomfield, Ia.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

A Woman's Heart.

HAD NO USE FOR DOCTORS.

Christian Scientists at Port Hope Allowed a Man to Die and Did Not Call For a Physician.

Port Hope, Sept. 24.—Robert W. Long was found dead in his bed at the residence of his brother, William E. Long, this morning.

William E. Long is a Christian Scientist, and, a few weeks ago, when his sister-in-law, Miss Simmons, was suffering with typhoid fever, refused to call in a doctor, saying that calling in doctors was only a fashionable fad. Long summoned the coroner, Dr. Corbett, yesterday, remarking to him that his brother was "apparently dead." The coroner, on examining the body, returned, "You say he is apparently dead, why, he is as dead as a door nail, and has been since midnight!"

The dead man's mouth was covered with froth and the corpse showed signs of strangulation.

After a consultation with Crown-Attorney Kerr, the coroner decided to call an inquest.

William Long's statement is as follows:

My brother's name—the deceased—is Robert W. Long. He came to my place from Montreal on Sept. 1 last. He has been with me ever since. He has done no work—had none to do. He went about as usual and appeared in usual health except within the last few days. My wife and her sister went out to tea last night and I had supper by myself with my boy. Robert did not come to supper with me. After supper I went up to Robert's room and found him in bed. I spoke to him but he seemed to be sleeping. I spoke to him quite loud and he made no reply. I did not put my hands on him to rouse him.

When my wife came home I told her the circumstances and she said I had better go up again and see him before going to bed. I did so. He was in the same condition, apparently sleeping soundly. I spoke to him several times loudly, but he did not reply. I then returned to bed. Shortly after I heard a noise coming from him. My wife said I had better see my brother again, as the noise would prevent my sister-in-law sleeping. I went up to his room about 10,30 and tried to rouse him by shaking his legs, but he did not reply. I then left the room and heard no more noise. He seemed to be sleeping heavily and laboring in his sleep. He was in the habit of talking and being restless in his sleep for years past. I then went to bed and retired for the night. The following morning (Sept. 24), on returning to his room at 6 o'clock I found him in his present condition—apparently dead.

Mrs. Long corroborates her husband's story.

The inquest began at 8 o'clock tonight.

GREAT PREMIERS.

Canada's Premier Holds no Prouder Position in the Hearts of the People Than Do the Premier Remedies.

The Great South American Cures Hold in the Hearts of the Thousands Whose Sufferings They Have Vanquished.

THEY'RE POPULAR---THEY'RE SAFE.

They Relieve Almost Instantly and Cure Permanently Rheumatism, Kidney Disease and Stomach and Nerve Troubles.

KIDNEY DISEASE.—Mrs. Norman E. Cook, of Delhi, Ont., writes:—"About two years ago I was attacked with very serious kidney trouble. At intervals the pain was so excruciating I could not rest, and to attend to household duties was an absolute impossibility. When our local physicians had exhausted all known remedies, and I had tried porous plasters and other remedies without relief; as a last resort I was induced to try South American Kidney Cure. I received relief and benefit inside of six hours. Five bottles cured me completely, and I have not had a symptom of any return of the trouble since."

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.—Mrs. R. Armstrong of Orillia writes: "For six weary years I had been a great sufferer from nervous prostration, weakness, indigestion and dyspepsia. All that the best doctors could do wrought me no permanent relief. I concluded to give South American Nervine a trial. After the first few doses I had great relief. I took six bottles and I can truthfully say that had it not been for this great remedy I would not have been alive to-day to sing its praises. I cheerfully recommend it to all who are afflicted as I was.

CHRONIC RHEUMATISM.—Mrs. John Richards of Capelton Mines, P. Q. was a great sufferer for three years from chronic rheumatism. So great were her sufferings that she was wholly unfit to perform the smallest household duty—during a great part of the time being unable to dress or undress herself. Appetite was gone; sleep was impossible. Three doctors having failed to relieve, she tried South American Rheumatic Cure. The results were astonishing. Within two days the pains were all gone, and the swelling in joints began to subside. Improvement continued and to-day she is free from all her sufferings. Can walk five miles easily, and is well and strong again. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

The Coroner Was Not Required.

A party of men went bathing in a creek near Trenton the other day, and one disappeared. The others, after a search, went to the coroner, who repaired to the scene of the trouble with a coffin and grappling iron. While grappling the stream the supposed drowned man suddenly appeared half clad from the bushes and wanted to know what the trouble was. He explained to the astonished coroner that while swimming he had become sick and crawled to the bushes and fainted. When he came to he found his companions had gone and taken most of his clothing.

Mr. Lionel King expects to leave on Monday to take a course at Ann Arbor University, Michigan.

Mr. Roland T. McWilliams left yesterday morning to begin the study of law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

Miss May Winters, who has been visiting friends in town for the past few days, returned to Port Hope last night.

Mrs. McElroy, of Port Hope, who has been visiting friends in Peterborough, has returned home, having had a pleasant time.

Mr. Roderick Mitchell, Port Hope, and his friend, Mr. Jacob Mitchell, Newtonville, left for home after spending a few days in town.

Misses Jennie and Alena McDonald, of Barrie, returned to their home, this morning, after a pleasant month's visit with Peterborough friends.

The Port Hope Guide says,—Mr. G. M. Stephens, of Cobourg, passed through town last evening on his way home from the Peterborough Fair.

Mr. W. D. Parker, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Ontario, and Mr. H. M. Allen, of town, were amongst those seated on the platform at the Gaudaur reception.

Rev. J. C. Davidson returned last evening from Toronto, where he has been attending the Anglican conference, of which some account will be given in St. John's to-morrow.

Mr. James Head, by mistake, was not credited with having taken first prize in gladiolas in the printed list of the horticultural exhibit at the fair. Mr. Head's gladiolas were splendid specimens of the class.

Miss Ethel Appelbe, of Barrie, has come to Peterborough to reside with her sister, Mrs. J. W. Garvin, at 630 Water street, and to attend the Junior Leaving classes of our excellent Collegiate Institute. Miss Appelbe is also a sister of Mrs. John Gilchrist.

The many friends of Mrs. Geo. Cochrane, wife of Mr. Geo. Cochrane, License Inspector, 695 Aylmer street, will regret to hear that she is seriously ill. Though in ill-health during the summer, she has been confined to her bed only the past fortnight. Her medical adviser gives very little hope of her recovery.

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet the greeting usually is, "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no bowel or stomach trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They eat as though they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and bye overworked nature rebels. Then comes headaches, nervousness, bad blood, kidney and liver troubles. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets furnish help for constipation and torpid liver, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, 'heart burn,' pain and distress after eating and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Accept no substitute.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'Saved my Life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels. Price 75c. Sold by John Nugent, 289 George Street.

VETERANS OF 1866.

Their Claims on the Government to Recognition for Services.

A movement is on foot to induce Government recognition of the claims of the veterans of 1866. The same matter was laid before the Government when Sir John Macdonald was at its head, but his promises of attention to the claims of the veterans resulted in nothing, therefore it is indicated that the veterans should, if they wish to succeed, bring all their influence to bear on the present Government. Governments, with their multiplicity of duties cannot be expected to attach the same importance and need of urgency to the subject as the veterans themselves. But Hon. Mr. Laurier has promised that in the recess the Government would consider some plan of recognition to be presented at the next session. The veterans of Peterborough should, so to speak, materialize their forces, unite their influence with others, in an organized manner, and have the proofs of service collected ready for presentation when the occasion call for them.

ONTARIO GOLD FIELDS.

Mining Operations in Hastings and Peterborough Counties—A Substantial Company in the Field—Local Contribution not Desired—An Extensive Mineral Belt.

At the Rossin House yesterday, says the Mail and Empire, was a gentleman who, in a quiet way, is engaged in a gold mining undertaking probably as extensive as any of those which have brought Rossland and the Trail Creek district into notoriety. He is Mr. A. J. G. Swinney, Manager of the Canadian Gold Fields Company, Ltd., whose headquarters are at Deloro, and whose operations are in the counties of Hastings and Peterborough. For a long time past it has been known that gold existed in this region, and prospecting parties at intervals went out, but although the indications were most encouraging, little was done in the way of development, chiefly for the reason, perhaps, that the ore is of the refractory order.

Speaking to a Mail and Empire representative yesterday Mr. Swinney said that his company had been at work over a year. They had all the capital they required, and with a new process which they employed they had got the most satisfactory results, extracting from 90 to 95 per cent. of the gold in the ore.

"Our ore," he said, "is of medium grade, yielding about $22 per ton, but of course the value of a mine depends on the case with which the gold can be extracted, not on the amount which the ore contains."

The company which Mr. Swinney represents is composed entirely of Old Country capitalists and their property covers an area of more than 10,000 acres. "Belleville people know very little of what we have done," said Mr Swinney, "but some Toronto people have taken an interest in our operations, but we have no desire to boom our property. We have all the capital we require and are not in need of local contributions."

When asked about the process of extraction Mr. Swinney said that it was entirely new, at least in Canada, though he could not say whether it was employed elsewhere. "I prefer not to describe it at present," he said, "but at a later date we will make it public, so that other operators may benefit by it."

Speaking of the mineral belt in Eastern Ontario, Mr. Swinney said that it stretched probably away up into the Hudson Bay country, but only a small portion of it had been explored.

EAGER TO TELL IT.

There is a Ring of Genuineness in Testimony Upon Testimony That Pours in From the Great Army of One-time Sufferers, Sounding the Praises of Dr. Agnew's Great Cures—Heart Disease and Catarrh Relieved in a Few Minutes and Permanently Cured.

IF THERE IS PALPITATION, Fluttering of the Heart, or shortness of breath, it denotes heart trouble. If there is a pain over the eyes, foul breath, or a simple cold in the head the first seeds of dreaded catarrh may have been sown. Be warned in time. These good remedies never fail to cure.

THE Heart.—Mr. George Witter, Walkerton, writes:—"Three years ago, my daughter, 18 years of age, began to be troubled with palpitation and fluttering of the heart. It increased until she was unable to attend to her daily duties. Could not lie on her left side. We had doctored without any results. We had heard of the excellent results following the use of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. We procured it and from the very first dose it helped her. Before the first bottle was taken she could sleep on either side. Another bottle entirely restored her. That it saved here life I have no doubt, and I feel it my duty to tell suffering humanity of its great cure.

CATARRH AND DEAFNESS.—John McInnis, of Washabuck Bridge, writes: "I used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and found it a wonderful cure for catarrh and deafness. I can hear as well as ever I did, and all signs of the disease have disappeared. I have never lost an opportunity of recommending it to others, and you will please send me a bottle for a neighbor who is afflicted as I was."

PILES.—One application of Dr. Agnew's Pile Ointment gives instant relief to itching, bleeding or blind piles, and a permanent cure is not a tedious one. It acts quickly. 35 cents. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Scrofula Cured.

DEAR SIRS—After I had doctored for two years for scrofula all over my body and received no benefit, I tried a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, which gave me relief very quickly and after using six bottles I was completely cured. I can recommend B.B.B. very highly.

HAD A FINE OUTING.

Senators and Commoners Went for a Trip.

SAW SOME SPLENDID SCENERY.

A Run Over the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Railway to the Terminus—The Salmon Pack Larger Than Canners Anticipated—General Ottawa News.

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—About a hundred members and Senators availed themselves on Saturday of an invitation to run out to the end of the track of the Ottawa, Arnprior and Parry Sound Railway. The party left Ottawa at 8 o'clock in the morning and did not get back until after midnight. The outing was a most enjoyable one. Mr. John R. Booth and the officials of the road had provided everything necessary for the comfort of their guests. Nature did the rest. The scenery along the line was a revelation to all the visitors. From Barry's Bay to the end of the line there is a continuous chain of lakes, the shores of which looked as only Canadian hills can look in the glory of nature's autumn ornamentation. Just where construction is completed the visitors were given a glimpse of the virgin forest in all its grandeur. The Parry Sound road, which will be completed this fall, will not only give the shortest route from the west to the seaboard, but will in the near future become one of the great tourist routes of the continent. On the way home the company's guests improvised a meeting, presided over by Mr. Charlton, M.P., at which speeches congratulating Mr. Booth upon his enterprise and pluck in carrying so important an enterprise through individually were made by Sir Henry Joly, Hon. Mr. Dobell, F. Langelier, M.P.; Hon. Peter Mitchell, P. A. Choquette, M.P.; W C Edwards, M.P.; T. B. Flint, M.P.; D C. Fraser, M.P.; Senators Macdonald and Primrose, and others. Mr. Booth made a felicitous reply, and the officials of the road acknowledged a vote of thanks in short and appropriate speeches. The road runs for 40 miles through Algonquin Park, recently reserved by the Ontario Government, and will open a paradise for sportsmen of all kinds.

G. J. Throop is the only member of the Halifax deputation still in town, and he, like those who accompanied him, is not very communicative. In brief, the delegation asks that the same rate be quoted on shipments from the west to Halifax as are now quoted to St. John, or, in other words, that freight should practically be hauled free from St. John to Halifax. That such a proposition will hardly commend itself to other portions of the Dominion is admitted by the delegation, but in reply they point out that Nova Scotia contributes towards the cost of building and maintaining the canals, from which she derives little or no benefit, and that consequently there ought to be a policy of give and take.

The two parsonic members of Parliament preached here to-day, Rev. Mr. Maxwell in Knox Church and Rev. Mr. Douglas in the Stewarton Presbyterian.

From present appearances Judges King and Putnam, respectively the Canadian and American Commissioners to investigate the claims of the British Columbia sealers, will not hold their first business meeting until November. Under the terms of the treaty the Commissioners will sit at Victoria, B.C. As soon as Mr. Justice King receives his commission from Her Majesty it is likely that he will have an informal meeting with Mr. Putnam, when they will arrange for the sittings at Victoria. The delay will give an opportunity to to Canadian counsel, Messrs. Peters and Belque, to look into the case.

Captain "Gat" Howard has been in the city for a few days, having just returned from the north shore of the St. Lawrence, where he was engaged in lobster packing during the past summer. He says the hand line fishermen had a very good catch, but the trap fishermen were not very successful.

Great satisfaction is expressed at the determination of the Government to extend the telegraphic service eastward from Esquimaux Point towards Belle Isle. Although the amount to be voted this year will only allow for the construction of a few miles, it is a step in the right direction. By the time a fast Atlantic service is inaugurated there should be telegraphic communication with the Belle Isle light station.

In the event of Mr. Joseph Martin refusing the B.C. judgeship it is generally believed that Mr. McColl of Westminster will secure the position.

The Department of Marine and Fisheries has been advised that the total salmon pack on the Fraser River this year is estimated at 350,000 cases, and on the northern rivers at 238 000 cases, or a total of 588,000 cases. This total is considerably larger than the most experienced canners anticipated, as this was supposed to be an off year. Indeed, The Fishing Gazette of New York, which is the best authority on the continent, expressed the canners' view last April as follows: "On the Fraser we anticipate a very poor run. The spawning grounds were reported as being very poor four years ago." In this connection it may be mentioned that the department has been officially informed that the usual run of gravid salmon, that is salmon about to spawn, which passes up the Fraser as a rule between 25th August and 4th September, has not occurred this season. If the upper spawning beds for this reason lack the usual number of parent fish the result is bound to have serious consequences to the canners in the near future.

FOR TORONTO UNIVERSITY.

Prof. Loudon Secures the Loan of the French Metrical Standards.

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—Mr. W. J. Loudon, Professor of the University of Toronto, has succeeded in obtaining from Sir Henri Joly the loan of the French metrical standards belonging to the Inland Revenue Department. Mr. Loudon is preparing an essay on French standards of weight and length for the meeting of the British Association, to be held at Toronto next summer, in which will be set forth at some length the advantages to be derived from the general adoption of the metrical system, as well as other questions of scientific importance. To aid in this investigation Sir Henri Joly placed the standards at Mr. Loudon's disposal.

The Controller of Inland Revenue has a plan in view for the distribution of all the primary French standards to the chief seats of learning in Canada, so as to further as much as possible the movement for the introduction into everyday life of the simple and efficient system of weights and measures now in use in so many countries in Europe.

Lady Hibbert Tupper is expected in Ottawa next week, with her children for the celebration of Sir Charles and Lady Tupper's golden wedding.

Hon. Mr. Mulock, Postmaster-General, has rented a house for the winter. His daughter, Miss Mulock, chaperoned by her aunt, Mrs. Monk, will make her debut in Ottawa society.

IVORY WAS THE DUPE.

Tynan, Haines and Kearney Made Him the Sucker and He Will Probably Undergo Penal Servitude.

New York, Sept. 27.—Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune: The Bow-street investigation, while unfinished, suffices to prove that the dynamite conspirators had no intention of exposing themselves to danger by handling their explosives. They expected to find some agent obliging enough to make use of dynamite bombs, while they themselves remained safe in retirement drinking cocktails. The evidence indicates that Bell was sent to Glasgow on a secret hunt for an amateur bomb-thrower, and that he failed to find one. He can be punished under the Explosives Act for his part in the conspiracy, but Kearney and Haines cannot be extradited under the treaty with the Netherlands, although they can be dealt with by the local courts for having dynamite mechanism in their possession. As for Tynan, there is not much sincerity in the British demand for his surrender on a charge of complicity in the Phoenix Park crimes. France will have to deal with him if there be any proof that he is concerned in a plot against the Czar, but no satisfactory evidence of this has been published.

So close was the watch kept by the detectives upon these garrulous and convivial conspirators that the wonder is that three of them should have been prematurely arrested abroad, where their extradition was problematical. The police were so well informed from the outset that a suspicion was excited that one of these braggarts was a treacherous informer. The plot is chiefly interesting as a study of alcoholism.

Mr. Frederic in his special cable to The Times on the same subject says: As I predicted last week, the presence that there was any chance of extraditing Kearney and Haines has been openly abandoned, and the show of trying to get Tynan has lapsed into empty humbug. The two former may get harshly handl 1 in Belgium if Holland hands them over, but so far as England and Scotland Yard are concerned their sensational arrest, like Tynan's, was a mere piece of reclame. All that is substantial is the fact that Ivory will go into penal servitude. So far as can be seen Ivory's scoundrelly associates got his money, sent him to the post of danger, and then either they or some of their confederate vermin in America sold him to England.

Gone Mad Over Religion.

Toledo, O., Sept. 27.—Information has reached here from Defiance that Charles Gossler, a young business man of that city, was drowned in the Maumee River yesterday while attempting to walk on the water in imitation of the Saviour. Gossler is believed to have gone insane over religion. He was married only last week.

A DOUBLE DROWNING

Mr. J. B. Torrance and His Wife the Victims.

WENT OUT IN A SAILING CANOE.

A Squall Came Up, the Canoe Was Upset and the Young Pair Lost Their Lives in Sparrow Lake—Promising Career Cut Short—The Bodies Found.

Toronto, Sept. 28.—A despatch from Gravenhurst on Saturday told of the drowning in Sparrow Lake of J. B. Torrance, Presbyterian student at Kilworthy, and his wife. The young couple left Kilworthy on Friday about noon in a sailing canoe to visit at Mr. Clipsham's, across Sparrow Lake.

They had not gone far from the shore when a sudden squall came up and the canoe capsized, both being drowned as described. The canoe was found next morning upside down near the shore.

As soon as the fatality was reported search parties were formed, and early Friday morning the body of Mr. Torrance was found about fifty yards from the shore, floating on the surface of the lake.

MRS. TORRANCE'S BODY FOUND.

Severn Bridge, Ont., Sept. 27.—The body of Mrs. Torrance, the wife of Rev. Mr. Torrance, Presbyterian incumbent of Sparrow Lake, was found at 9 o'clock this evening. Mr. Torrance and wife left Mr. Franklin's house Friday at 11.30 a.m., in a canoe, to visit Mr. M. O. Clithsams. The canoe contained a sail, which was no doubt the cause of the accident. On Friday evening about 5 o'clock some one noticed a canoe bottom upwards, and on examination it was identified as the property of Mr. Torrance. On Saturday the body of Mr. Torrance was found about half a mile from where it is thought the accident occurred, and the search continued up to 12 o'clock last night, to be resumed this morning and continued until darkness forced a halt. It was decided to continue the search Monday morning, when Mr. William Boyd of Kilworthy, to use his own words, said something seemed to urge him to try again. He procured a light and, accompanied by S. Sanders and S. Anderson, commenced searching. They moved along close to shore, and had not been searching more than 15 minutes when they found the body of Mrs. Torrance. The face wore a calm expression. The mouth and eyes were closed, as if in sleep. Kind hands tenderly carried the remains to the house of Mr. John Franklin, where the body of her husband lay. He too wore the same sleeping expression. The sight was one never to be forgotten. Mr. Torrance was to have preached a farewell sermon today to the people of Sparrow Lake. Undertaker Marter of Gravenhurst is in charge of the remains, and will convey them from Gravenhurst to Toronto on the early train Monday morning, which leaves Gravenhurst at 4.05 a.m.

Mr. J. B. Torrance was a son of the late Prof. Torrance, principal of Woodstock Baptist College, who died about 15 years ago leaving this son, a widow and two daughters. Mrs. Torrance and one sister live at present at 635 Spadina-avenue, where the son made his home when in the city. His other sister married Mr. Maccullough, coal and wood merchant of East Toronto.

Mr. Torrance entered Knox College as a divinity student six years ago, and would have graduated next March. He was exceedingly brilliant in his course, having secured a scholarship last spring. He was universally respected by the students and faculty alike. He was just 25 years old and in the dawn of usefulness in the profession he had chosen for his life's work. Four years ago he married Miss Helen Douglas, a school teacher of Woodstock and sister of ex-Mayor Douglas of that town, who, along with his father, carries on a large harness business at the present time in that place. She is also a sister of Mr. William M. Douglas of the firm of McCarthy, Osler, Hoskack Creelman, Mrs. Torrance was one of Woodstock's most respected young ladies, and much regret is experienced by her many friends at her untimely fate. The deceased had no children.

THE RISE IN THE BANK RATE.

Bank of England Has to Supply the Yellow Metal, as Germany and France Cannot Spare It.

New York, Sept. 27.—The Tribune's London special says: Financial experts agree in declaring that the additional rise of the bank rate to 3 per cent. will not check gold exports to America, with every steamship line doing a good business in eastward freight. The export of gold is required to pay for European imports. It will be drawn from the Bank of England, since neither Germany nor France is willing to reduce its stock now in hand. Experts are predicting that the rate of the Imperial Bank of Germany will soon be raised to 5 per cent., and that the Bank of England rate will go as high as 4. It is even asserted that the directors were divided in ordering this week's increase, some of them favoring a rise to 3 1-2 instead of 3. It is generally expected that the gold drain will continue during October, and that the bank rate will be 4 per cent. before the close of the year, unless a political catastrophe like Bryan's election occurs. That American credit is rising steadily as the assurance of his defeat becomes more certain is shown by the firmness of United States railway shares. There is an increased demand for them from English investors who are impressed with the fact that they are the cheapest stocks on the exchange list, and are likely to advance sharply after McKinley's election. Consols and gilt-edged English railway stocks and all classes of African mining shares have fallen since the two advances of the bank rate were made, but American securities are distinctly firmer. This reveals increased confidence in the financial and political situation in the United States.

RATS KILLED THE BABE.

Gnawed Its Face and Neck While the Mother Was Out and the Poor Little Thing Soon Died.

Baltimore, Sept. 27.—Three big rats attacked the two months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Asher of 1150 Low-street last night and gnawed its face, head and neck to such an extent that the infant died in a short time. Mr. Asher lives over his store. He was looking after his business and Mrs. Asher had gone to market, when the rats started to make a free lunch of the helpless infant, which was snugly tucked in its crib in the second storey of the dwelling. Hearing the child crying the father hurried upstairs, and as he entered the room in which the infant was lying three large, vicious-looking rats jumped out of the crib and scampered off. The horrified father found that the flesh had been torn from the babe's tender face, head and neck. Before a physician could be summoned the child died.

Scrofula

Infests the blood of humanity. It appears in varied forms, but is forced to yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and vitalizes the blood and cures all such diseases. Read this:

"In September, 1894, I made a misstep and injured my ankle. Very soon afterwards,

A Sore

two inches across formed and in walking to favor it I sprained my ankle. The sore became worse; I could not put my boot on and I thought I should have to give up at every step. I could not get any relief and had to stop work. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it. Before I had taken all of two bottles the sore had healed and the swelling had gone down. My is now well and I have been greatly benefited otherwise. I have increased in weight and am in better health. I cannot say enough in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. H. BLAKE, So. Berwick, Me.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

MOST people, says the Toronto Telegram, may think that the platform giving way under Lord Aberdeen at the opening of Peterborough Central Exhibition was an accident, but when Sir Charles Tupper hears of the affair he will immediately conclude that His Excellency performed the feat under the mistaken impression that it was the country's constitution he was breaking up.

THE Senators have decided that the bar is a necessity. Of course the blood of the grave and reverend Senators does not run as rapidly as that in the veins of the younger members of the House of Commons, therefore it may be held that a little stimulant that would tone up a senator for an oratorical or other effort is a necessity. They, perhaps, reason also on the lines of Lady Macbeth's remark in reference to the "sleeping grooms"—"What hath made them drunk hath made men bold." A stimulant that would "brace up" a Senator and steady him on his pins, might make a Commoner boozy and abusive.

COMMENCING with January 1, 1897, the city of Glasgow, will cease to levy taxes of any kind whatsoever upon its residents. The city authorities have ascertained that from that date the entire expenses of the city for the future can be borne by the incomes which will be received from the public works, gas and electric plants, street railroads, sewage farms and other institutions of lesser magnitude, all of which are paying large profits annually into the city treasury. Glasgow has successfully solved the problem of correct municipal government, and set an example worthy of emulation by every other large city throughout the world. It will be some days at least, it is to be feared, before the corporation of the town of Peterborough arrives at this millennial financial condition.

THE FALL OF KHARTOUM.

Men Who Saw Gordon Killed Were Taken Prisoners at Dongola.

Dongola, Sept. 25.—Among the prisoners taken at Dongola is the son of the secretary of the late General Gordon, and also one of Gen. Gordon's clerks. They confirm the previous accounts of the fall of Khartoum and the death of Gordon, which so long remained a mystery to the civilised world.

The flag of Wad Bisharar, the commander of the Dervishes, was captured, together with a mass of his correspondence and accounts.

The total loss of the Egyptian expedition in the taking of Dongola was one officer and seven men wounded.

DON'T WANT CANADA'S COIN.

The Postmaster at Rochester Falls Into Line With the Banks.

Rochester, Sept. 27.—Postmaster Geo. H. Perkins has issued an order that hereafter no Canadian silver will be accepted at the Rochester postoffice. The new rule goes into effect at once.

This course was forced on the postoffice officials on account of the similar stand taken by the Rochester banks a few days ago. Several times before the local depatment has discriminated against Canadian coin, but never for any great length of time. It is now intended to enforce the rule rigorously.

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet the greeting usually is, "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no bowel or stomach trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They eat as though they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and bye overworked nature rebels. Then comes headaches, nervousness, bad blood, kidney and liver troubles. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets furnish help for constipation and torpid liver, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, lowered appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, 'heart burn,' pain and distress after eating and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Accept no substitute.

THE VICTORIAN AGE.

Popular Tribute of Love and Loyalty to the Queen is Overwhelming—Lucifer Matches Were Dear 60 Years Ago.

New York, Sept. 27.—Mr. H. R. Chamberlain cables from London to The Sun: Despite the great tension of the European crisis upon the public mind, England has given much attention this week to the royal gathering at Balmoral. The Czar is not a particularly pleasing figure just now in English eyes, for obvious reasons, but the country his insisted upon observing in an informal way the occasion when the Queen's reign became the longest in English history. The popular tribute of love and loyalty has been overwhelming, and must also have had a special significance in expression. The press of the country has printed uncounted columns testifying to the personal affection of Great Britain for her gracious sovereign, and reviewing the marvellous record of the Victorian age.

There is one little incident mentioned in Sir Edwin Arnold's long personal reminiscence which suffices to give an idea of the measure of the world's progress during Queen Victoria's beneficent reign. He notes the fact that on the day of her coronation the sidewalk pedlars on Fleet-street were selling, as the latest noveilty, lucifer matches at a halfpenny each.

THE TOUCH OF SYMPATHY.

New York, Sept. 27.—Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune: The Queen has confessed with gracious tact that she has been deeply touched and gratified by the expression of the loyalty and affection of her subjects in recognition of the length of her reign. The spontaneity of these manifestations of respect has been a most characteristc feature, and the whole empire has been thrilled with the touch of sympathy. Her services to monarchical sentiment in Europe can only be silently recognised by reigning houses with which her personal influence is very great.

DR. NANSEN'S RECEPTION.

The Famous Norwegian Received at Christiania With the Same Popular Acclaim as That With Which We Greeted Gaudaur.

London, Sept. 26.—Dr. Nansen arrived at Christiania on Wednesday afternoon on board the Fram, and was accorded a reception which partook completely of a national character, all classes of the population, from the King downward, uniting to pay honor to the gallant explorer and his men. The Fram was met far down the fjord in the early hours of the morning by a flotilla of seventy passenger steamers, and by a small squadron of the Norwegian navy, consisting of the Mordsejernen, Ellida, and several torpedo boats. All these escorted the polar ship up the fjord, amidst the booming of cannon and endless hurrahs from the gaily-decorated shores. By Oscarsborg the Fram steamed through an avenue of large vessels filled with cheering people and decorated all over with flags; and as soon as Nansen's ship had passed these steamers joined the escorting flotilla and accompanied the Fram to the city where all was in readiness to give the famous craft a grand reception.

The reception was begun by the firing of salutes from the fortress and men-of-war. The Fram was moored in the Pipervik Harbor, and then Dr. Nansen and his comrades got into some small boats and were rowed by the boys of the training ship Christiania to the Ship Bridge, where they landed. Here, under a baldachin, Dr. Nansen was formally welcomed by the representatives of the city, amidst tumultuous cheering from the crowds who thronged the bridge and the grand stands erected on it, the band meanwhile playing the Swedish Hymn. As Dr. Nansen stepped ashore all those on the quay respectfully uncovered. Then came the triumphal progress of the explorers to the Royal Palace, through streets filled to overflowing with enthusiastic Norwegians, and decorated from end to end with flags and garlands hanging from rows of masts. One very notable feature of the decoration requires to be mentioned. At the entrance to Rosary-street was a triumphal arch composed of members of the City Gymnastic Society, who had so disposed themselves as to form an archway through which the explorers drove. The students of the university had also erected a most tasteful gate of honor, by the side of which they gathered in great numbers, with all the professors and teaching staff to welcome the heroes of the day. Professor Schultz then delivered a short speech, in which he expressed on behalf of the university his recognition of the indefatigable and quiet work of the explorers, as well as of the energy and scientific insight which he had displayed during the expedition. Dr. Nansen, in reply, expressed his heartfelt thanks for his cordial reception, and declared that while engaged in his work of exploration he had always regarded himself as the herald of Norwegian science. The whole route from the landing place to the castle was kept by a continuous chain of members of the different corporations and guilds of Christiania, each distinguished by its own banner. Twelve thousand men with 120 flags formed this guard of honor.

At the castle Dr. Nansen and his comrades were most cordially welcomed by the King and the Crown Prince. Here also the explorer was greeted for the first time by his little daughter Liv, who is three and a half years old, and who, by the special invitation of the King, has, during the past fortnight, been staying with her grandmother, Frau Sars, in apartments in the palace. A state banquet followed, the guests at which included Dr. Nansen and his comrades, Mr. Colin Archer, the builder of the Fram, and all the highest dignitaries of the country.

A Single Instance in Which Dodd's Kidney Pills Failed to Cure Kidney Disease.

Mount Forest (Special) Sept. 21.—The proprietor of the Queen's Hotel of this town declares that he has every reason to believe, that any claim made by the people who are advertising and selling Dodd's Kidney Pills is true. These people were the first to inform, and instruct him as to the cause of his long continued suffering from extreme nervousness. He says that "unable to obtain any relief from other sources, that it was on account of reading the particulars of other cures that his confidence was gained." Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills were all that were required to complete his cure.

AGGRESSIVE RUSSIA.

Working in the Far East Against Great Britain.

FORTIFICATION OF PORT ARTHUR

Is Being Carried on by China Under the Supervision of Russian Engineers—A Coal Station for the Czar's Ships—Plotting of Khedive Against England.

New York, Sept. 27.—Mr. H. E. Chamberlain cables from London to The Sun: The events of the week offer a strong confirmation of the general statement of the European situation, which, doubtless, reached New York for simultaneous publication with this despatch. Russia's vast plans for her aggrandisement at the expense of Great Britain are still unchecked, save at one point. She is rapidly pushing her designs in the far East. She has sent a squadron to Shanghai, which is decidedly of greater strength than the British naval force in the Pacific. China is rapidly repairing the docks and workshops at Port Arthur and storing vast quantities of coal there, all under the supervision of Russian engineers. No one longer doubts that Port Arthur will be the winter base of Russian naval operations as soon as Vladivostok is frozen in. The single point where there is a possibility of the disturbance of Russia's great scheme is in her relations with France. There are at last some signs that French public men are beginning to realize that they are playing the Russian game to their own serious undoing. These suspicions have by no means extended to the common people, who are as Russophile as ever, but such men as Francois Deloncle, the leader of the diplomatic and colonial group in the Chamber, have spoken out this week in emphatic language. "If England had not forced France into that unnatural and abominable alliance with Russia," he said, "an alliance which angers me so much that I mean to go away into the country to escape all the shame of those grotesque fetes which are being prepared, the situation would be very different. France is being dragged ridiculously along at the tail of the Russian bear. England, by her unlawful occupation of a portion of the Sultan's dominions, in defiance of her pledged word, has lost the right to address the Mussulman world. If this wrong were wiped out, the solution of the European crisis would be incredibly less difficult. The first result would be a sincerely amicable rapprochement with France, whose infatuation for Russia would soon cool into subsidence.

"English statesmen refuse to understand that Egypt lies at the bottom of the Eastern question, just as Alsace-Lorraine lies at the bottom of the entire continental question."

British diplomacy, for once, has been working with absolute secrecy, and not one indiscreet word has been dropped at the Foreign Office, but everything, great and small, goes to show the deep gravity of the situation. The mechanical work of copying despatches is now done by highly-placed officers. Communications with the Queen, passing over a private wire from Downing-street to Balmoral, which are usually sent in plain language, are now sent in cipher. Even the ancient, trustworthy Queen's messengers, a corps of men of gentle birth and high social standing, to whom, in ordinary times, is entrusted the honorable duty of carrying despatches between the Foreign Office and the Ambassadors in various parts of the world, have been temporarily superseded as far as Europe is concerned, and younger men, mostly army and navy officers of high rank and distinguished service, are entrusted with the work.

When Lord Salisbury traveled to Scotland last night to visit the Queen at Balmoral, he allowed himself scarcely any sleep, but read and wrote in the sleeping car almost without ceasing, and half way down the line long telegraphic despatches were handed to him. But perhaps the most significant movements of all have been those passing between London and Paris. It was made known early in the week that the French Ambassador and paid a secret visit to Lord Salisbury at his seaside castle at Walmer. But it is not yet generally known that there has been a constant interchange of despatches between Ambassador De Courcel in London and Minister Hanotaux and between the British Foreign Office and the Embassy in Paris. Some Englishmen would fain believe that this points towards an entente between Russia, France and England.

Underhand Work.

London, Sept. 27.—The Times will tomorrow publish a despatch from Cairo saying it is currently stated in native circles that the Khedive, who recently started on a tour of Europe, where he traveled incognito, took with him the draft of a scheme for the independence of Egypt. The draft was drawn at the Khedive's own direction by native officers. It is added that the Khedive while in Paris had an interview with M. Hanotaux, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The Times, in commenting on the despatch, declares that there is foundation for the statements contained therein, and that it causes disquiet. It adds that evidence exists of underhand attempts being made to thwart the British reforms in Egypt, and these attempts will cause trouble unless they are checked.

The Khedive sailed from Trieste for Egypt on Friday last.

Morrison of Rensselaer county, this afternoon transferred to his bondsmen real estate and securities of the par value of $306,000, and estimated to be worth not less than 40 cents on the dollar. Mr. Morrison's accounts show that there is due to the county nearly $300,000, $180,000 of which is in the New Court House fund. Mr. Morrison has been County Treasurer two years. The Board of Supervisors will meet Monday to take action. There are ten bondsmen. The amount of the bond is $100,000.

Two Months in Gaol.

George Hull, remanded for sentence, was brought before his Honour Judge Weller this morning for sentence. He was given two months in gaol for the theft of a gold dollar from the trunk of Mrs. Lovelace, which was broken open while it was left on a wharf at the head of Stony lake.

A New Residence.

Dr. Gray, of Bailliieboro, was in town to day arranging for the building of a fine new residence (and office) to be erected on the lot next east of the late residence of Mr. Geo. Stethem. Dr. Gray intends coming to Peterborough to practice his profession.

The Earth Settling.

The heavy fall of rain on Sunday morning proved a splendid medium for the settling of the earth which has been used to fill in the sewer excavations. All along George street great slumps took place and when the street is again levelled it is not probable that the earth will again sink before spring.

Nearly Drowned.

A drowning fatality nearly occurred on Saturday afternoon in Ashburnham when a tipsy man who was fooling around the rear of the Dickson Company's mill, attempted to cross the plank over the raceway and fell in. An employee of the company named Doris just saw the man in time and reaching over caught him by the hair just as he was sinking.

An Early Wedding.

A very quiet wedding was performed at six o'clock this morning at the residence of Mrs. George Allen, when her daughter, Miss Maggie, was united in marriage to Mr. James Hanna of the Canadian General Electric Works. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. R. Young. Mr. and Mrs. Hanna left on the morning train for a trip to Toronto, Buffalo and other western points.

Sunday Morning's Fire.

The firemen were called early Sunday morning to the premises of Mr. George Schneider, where his barns were found to be all ablaze. The fire had obtained such headway that it was impossible to save the building, but no further damage was done to the property in the vicinity. The loss is placed at $300, on which there is $200 insurance, placed through Mr. Claxton. The cause is unknown.

The Old Way and the New.

The old way of wall papering in spring, and in the spring only, is becoming a thing of the past. The fall is the better time for home decorating, because of the long winter nights, the Christmas season that comes and holiday visiting, when the new decorations are most appreciated by all who have to pass most of their time indoors. If requiring wall paper at present you'll find it most advantageous to visit the Peterborough Bookstore for artistic selections and lowest prices. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

STILL ANOTHER TRAMP.

He Terrorizes a Number of Ladies and an Old Gentleman.

A tramp named George Weston was up before Police Magistrate Dumble this morning. It seems he was arrested on Tuesday evening last in a drunken condition, and in the court this morning it was shown that he had committed offences of a sufficiently serious nature to convince the Magistrate of the necessity of depriving him of his freedom for a time.

By his own story it would seem that Weston had only been out from England for a short time. He says he had been working in Toronto, and wishing to go to Montreal, was assisted as far as Peterborough by St. George's Society. He was anxious to ge the Sons of England here to help him on his way and appealed to several influential Englishmen on the ground of a common nationality to help him. That he got monetary help is certain, as he bought liquor and becoming intoxicated entered the yard of a resident on George street below Charlotte and going up on the side verandah tried to open the windows and in his efforts put his fist through one of them greatly terrifying the ladies in the house. He then went in next door and after frightening the ladies there went on down towards the C.P.R. station. On the way he met an old gentleman who was smoking and tried to terrorize him into giving up his pipe. To get rid of him the old gentleman handed over a quarter.

Weston denied all knowledge of these pranks, saying that he was drunk and could remember nothing of what he did. The magistrate gave him three months in gaol.

A WARSAW BURGLARY.

Five Business Houses Entered Last Night.

Warsaw is all excitement to-day, as last night the village was burglarised on a wholesale scale.

At about half-past six this morning as Mr. Thomas Doughty was taking his horse down to the creek to water it, he noticed the post office doors ajar, and as this is something unusual at so early an hour, he decided to investigate, and looking in saw that the locks had been burst off both the outside and inside doors. He instantly apprised Mr. Choate, who came down but could miss nothing but about two dollars and a half in American silver. An inspection of the other stores in the village revealed the startling fact that four other business places had been entered, viz: the stores of Messrs. Wasson, Reid, Thos. Hendren and Morgan's hotel.

The tills in all these places had been forced, but the contents in all had been removed the night before. Nothing at all in the way of goods was missed. In Morgan's Hotel a till which was empty was forced, and one in which there was $18.00 was entirely overlooked.

Suspicion falls on a very rough looking character who was hanging around the village all the previous day.

Chances for economy are all over the store at Grafton & Co's.

Cars Derailed.

On Tuesday last Britton's train ran over a cow when near Omemee. The jar threw a couple of freight cars from the track, and before the train could be stopped about sixty ties were torn up. The cow was horribly mangled, otherwise there was little damage done. There has as yet been found no owner of the cow.—Mirror.

ST. JOHN'S MISSION HARVEST FESTIVAL.

AN APPROPRIATE SERMON BY REV. H. SYMONDS.

Very Large Congregations in Attendance at Both Morning and Evening Services—The Church is Most Appropriately Decorated with Grains, Fruits and Flowers.

A Harvest Thanksgiving service was held in St. John's South Ward Mission, yesterday, and the interior of the pretty little church was most tastefully decorated for the occasion. Grain and fruit were used in profusion, and the artistic way in which these fall products were arranged was most agreeable to the eye and was evidently the result of much care and patience exercised on the part of the ladies of the church. They are to be congratulated on the manner in which their taste displayed itself.

The sermon in the morning was taken by Rev. H. Symonds, rector of St. Luke's, who spoke from Isaiah, ix., 3—"Thou hast multiplied the nation and not increased the joy; they joy before Thee according to the joy in harvest."

What would the Israelites understand by this figure of speech, queried Mr. Symonds in opening. The joy of the harvest. Is it not a when we gather in the fruits of the earth? Only those who live upon the land know of the cares and anxieties exercised in the sowing of the crops and the caring for them until they are harvested and safely housed. When all this care and anxiety are over then comes the reaction, and in proportion to the anxiety and care which has been exercised is the joy and rejoicing.

The joys of harvest were even more significant to the Jews, as in the present day there is little fear of famine. If the crops are short in one portion of the country, provisions can be quickly transported from some other portion of the globe. In those days, however, if the crops failed there was great distress. So when there was a plentiful harvest the people rejoiced with an exceeding great joy.

Hence, the speaker continued, you will see the force of the comparison in the text.

THE HARVEST THANKSGIVING

was the greatest feast of the year amongst the Jews. They assembled as a nation, leaving their homes, gathering together and keeping up a continuous rejoicing for what God had done for them—not only in the way of harvest, but for the great act of delivering them from bondage. The feast succeeded the day of atonement, when, after sorrow and confession of sin, they were reconciled with their God.

Over and over again, said Mr. Symonds, we find parables in the Scripture in which the sowing of the seed and the harvest are used by way of illustration. The harvest, as a similie, is always considered as the end of life. The parable of the sower is one which cannot but command attention. There it is shown how the seed grew which fell on stony ground, amongst tares or on good ground. When the farmer sows his seed he knows what crop

HE WILL REAP.

Wheat will bring forth wheat and corn will bring forth corn. So it is in life—as we sow so shall we reap. The harvest represents, symbolizes and stands for the result of all our lives. The seed we sow does not affect ourselves alone, but others as well. We do not live in this world alone. Our acts are all recorded. We are sowing not only in our own lives but to bring forth a harvest in the lives of others. The sower thinks of the harvest—we ought in our lives not to think merely of our lives of the present day but what we should like them to be when we stand before the judgment seat of Almighty God. If we sow good thoughts, good words and good actions they will bring forth good fruit—but be not deceived, God is not mocked.

The finger and hand of time are on everything, concluded the speaker. In the older countries of the world we find many ruins—grand and majestic ruins, but still ruins of what were once strong and mighty edifices. There is but one portion of a man that is unalterable by time. That is his personality—the part known as I-myself. This part remains unchanged throughout eternity and therefore the crop which is sown should be one which will yield in the end a harvest of exceeding great joy.

Very large congregations were in attendance at both the morning and evening services at the Mission and the special music which was prepared for the occasion was greatly appreciated.

CHILDREN'S HARVEST FESTITAL.

Celebrated Beautifully at St. John's and the South Ward Mission Chapel.

Yesterday at St. John's the harvest festival celebration continued, the children contributing their meed of thanksgiving. The central range of seats in the church was well filled with children, who at the beginning of the service came forward and one by one presented offerings of fruits and flowers, which were received by the Rector and placed upon the altar, and it was very soon piled high with a mass of beauty and fragrance. Then followed a bright and hearty service, and at its conclusion a number of the children remained and beautifully decorated the church for the evening service. At the conclusion of the evening service a number remained and took the flowers to the homes of the sick and to the Nicholls Hospital. At the latter place the choir concluded the distribution of flowers by the singing of an evening hymn.

A similar service and most hearty and edifying, was held in St. John's mission in the afternoon, and similar offerings were made, only in this case the flowers were saved, and this morning expressed to the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto.

It is a sweet and seemly thing that children should thus early be taught with such beautiful practicality that all the gifts of life come from the Divine hand, and the perhaps higher lesson that these gifts, beyond their proper uses, are not intended for mere selfish gratification, but that in remembering others in their distribution a feeble imitation is made of the Divine bounty that bestowed upon man the great gift.

CLERGY HOUSES.

Their Importance in the Work on the Missionary Field.

At the Church of England Conference that met last week in Toronto, among the live subjects discussed at the conference, practically bearing upon the work of the church was that of clergy houses, upon which subject addresses were made by Rev. F. H. Hartley, of Young's Point, and Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of Peterborough. Mr. Hartley is an enthusiast in both sentiment and practice in mission work, and his remarks had a very cordial reception. Rev. Mr. Short, M.A., introduced the subject and explained the significance of clergy houses which mean a house in or contiguous to a mission field where at least two clergymen live and work. That is the way the missions were conducted as far back as the evangelization of the British Isles. The old system was to send out one strong missionary accompanied by eleven others to evangelise a land. They worked together, and lived together, and clergy houses were multiplied until all the land was christianized. In the seventh century this old system was superseded by the parochial plan, which still continues.

Rev. F. H. Hartley, Young's Point, told of the extent of the country parishes, some being 700 square miles. There are few young men in this diocese, he said, in mission work. The labour is almost wholly performed by old men, which is not right. The young men ought to spend a few years of their life in this work.

At the clergy house, he said, all supplies for the missionaries and their horses are supplied by the people. We don't want men in the clergy house with mediæval ideas, nor one who is sour in temper. All work is done systematically, and new stations are being opened from time to time, and the church is made an important factor in the community. He suggested that some of the large city stipends be cut down, and the proceeds devoted to the establishment of a clergy house in Toronto, from where lay readers and missionaries could be sent out. We want more unmarried men to do mission work. It is noticeable that when the preacher gets married his life runs into a groove. (Laughter.) He does not appear to work so hard. (Laughter.) Perhaps his wife takes too good care of him. Many of the young preachers get married too early in life. The northern mission fields, the speaker said, were not being half worked, simply because there was only one man at a station, instead of four, with a clergy house.

Rev. Mr. Davidson, Peterborough, said the great difficulties of the mission field were little money and few men. The clergy house seemed to be the system best suited for the mission field. A superior man would soon attract a band around him at a remote mission station and accomplish much in this district.

MR. DUMBLE RETURNS.

A Pleasant Trip to His Farm in the Great Northwest.

Mr. D. W. Dumble has returned home after spending several weeks at his farm in the Northwest. In chatting about his trip this morning, he stated that he was greatly surprised at the rapid development of the country since his last visit about five or six years ago. Many of the sparsely settled districts at that time are now centres of a prosperous farming population. The reaction has set in after the boom in Brandon, and business is dull there, but Winnipeg is solidifying itself and converting temporary erection in permanent houses blocks of stability and beauty. Many handsome residences have recently been built in the suburbs.

The crop this year is a fair one and is sufficient to tide the farmers through the necessities of winter.

The condition of the farmers in general appears to be prosperous, where frugality and care are exercised. Those who have families of stalwart sons to help them are doing well, but those who were not so provident in the good years are now feeling the pressure of hard times.

The attention of the entire farming population is concentrated on the question of what the new government will do for Manitoba. It is felt out there, Mr. Dumble says, that enough is not being done for the farmer. The Hudson Bay Railway is looked upon as an outlet for numerous difficulties. The Manitobans claim that by sending their grain to Churchill Harbour, via the proposed railway, it can be shipped from there at a profit of ten cents more per bushel than if sent over the C. P. R. to Montreal. They place little reliance on Lieut. Gordon's report on the feasibility of the scheme and depend more on what is said by the experienced officers of the Hudson Bay Company. These men point out that though there are frozen straits to be navigated between Hudson Bay and Churchill Harbour, yet the ice in them is constantly moving, the passage being clear one day and choked the next and that a steamer could easily dash through in a couple of hours when the strait was open. Again, Mr. Dumble points out, the modern ocean steamer has sufficient power to force its way through such loose ice as chokes up the passage. He is of the opinion from the information he gathered that the straits could be used for five months out of the year.

Ontario's future, Mr. Dumble thinks, lies in Manitoba's development. A profit of ten cents more a bushel on their wheat would mean the difference between fortune and penury to the Manitoba farmer and he claims that this extra ten cents would be realised if shipment could be made via Hudson Bay. Such a condition of affairs would draw swarms of settlers to Manitoba and Ontario manufacturers would reap a direct benefit.

The country, Mr. Dumble states, is now becoming so well settled that there is now little danger to be apprehended from being caught in blizzards and the inhabitants have no complaint to make of the weather.

—An odd figure was in town to-day advertising El Padre Needles. He afforded quite a lot of fun on the streets in his apt representation of what is popularly supposed to be the type of a New England farmer. The advertisement is a capital one.

—A man appropriated a bicycle the other day and rode it. He was caught by the owner and haled before Judge Jelfs, of Hamilton, charged with having stolen the wheel. The judge failed to find that the man was guilty of theft, but fined him for being drunk, which legally establishes the fact that a man may be able to ride a bicycle and be drunk at the same time.

THAT RESOLUTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—On my return to town after several weeks absence I turned to our excellent local papers to learn the local news, and there I read with laughing pleasure the playful letter of "Morality" on the resolutions of the George street Quarterly Board. "Morality," like all moral men, realizes that it was hardly the right thing to expose before the Countess of Aberdeen, or for that matter, before one's sons and daughtors, the can-can dancers, which, in Paris, foolish young men steal off to see only at midnight. But, sir, the letter of "Candor," in the same EXAMINER, discloses in the writer a spirit which only seeks an occasion to make unpleasant statements regarding a Christian church. "Candor" does not defend the skirt dancing business. He admits its impropriety and apologises for it, and I would not notice the letter but for the malicious and slanderous statements contained in it. I have been secretary of the Quarterly Board for many years, and I state here, publicly and openly, that language such as Candor alleges to have been used between the brethren was never used there, nor have I ever known or heard of any riotous meetings or any intemperate conduct or language between the brethren. As Christian gentlemen they bear themselves courteously and in all gentleness in the conduct of the Master's business and towards each other. Happily there is not in the Quarterly Board any member so utterly reckless and intemperate in his language and manner as "Candor," and so instead of riotous meetings we have had harmony and brotherly love—and God has blessed and prospered us. I am, sir,

Your obedient servant,
D. W. DUMBLE,
Recording Steward.

NOT A WORD OF TRUTH IN IT.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In the article in Saturday evening's EXAMINER, signed "Candor" (oh what a misnomer) there is one statement made that must not go unchallenged. I have reference to the language attributed by your correspondent as used at a meeting of George street Methodist church Quarterly Board on some one occasion. Now the writer of this article has been on the said board for about twenty years past, and nothing but gentlemanly (to say nothing about Christian) conduct has happened or occurred at any of the meetings of the Board, nor have I ever heard of any such disgraceful proceedings taking place. But it is the old story over again; reprimand a man for his fault and he will try and show there is a black spot on his reprover's life, as well as his own.

Yours truly,
TRUTH.

A PUBLIC CENSURE FOR A PUBLIC WRONG.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR, — Your correspondent "Candor" in Saturday's EXAMINER feels very much aggrieved because of the action taken by the George street Methodist church Quarterly Board in censuring the Directors of the West Peterborough Agricultural Show for the disgusting parade of skirt dancing (so-called). Now I can assure "Candor" all right-thinking people of our town approve of said action of said Board and there is one voice—viz., it was a disgusting performance. Now what right has any man or men to bring into our midst such characters, whose whole department is contaminating and vile and still further the government should be asked to withhold a grant from any Agricultural Society that has for one of its chief attractions such displays.

Yours truly,
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The Senior Girls' Guild of St. John's South Ward Mission meets this evening at 7.30.

The Boys' Brigade of the St. John's church South Ward Mission is called together for this evening. A full attendance is requested.

An announcement was made in St. John's church yesterday that a lecture would be delivered in the school house by Mr. Maurice J. Goodheart (a Russian Jew of Wycliffe College, Toronto), on "The Jew's Life in Russia." The lecture will be illustrated with several curiosities connected with Hebrew life and worship. The lecture will also narrate the thrilling adventures of Mr. Goodheart's escape from Russia. A general invitation to be present on Wednesday night is extended.

Yesterday being "rally Sunday" in the George street Methodist Sunday School, the Rev. Mr. Rae delivered an address to the scholars, who were in the body of the church. The infant class was also present and it was a very pretty sight to see so many happy little faces sitting in the front pews, paying as good attention as the older scholars. Mr. Rae's address was principally to the little folks and it was on "Hands." He explained the varied uses to which the hand could be put. Hands are used to work and express friendship, also feeling, and lastly to point with. How much the world needs hands to work for Christ. Then again hands are used to express friendship. The world needs more of this feeling also. There is too much coldness and hard feeling in the world. You need to be agreeable in order to obtain friends. Hands are also used to express feeling. We need more feeling also. There is too little feeling in the world. And lastly, they are used to point with. If we had more hands to point the way to Christ with the world would be better.

Always Right.

THE HARVEST HOME IN PARK ST. CHURCH.

REV. F. T. TAPSCOTT, OF TORONTO, SPEAKS.

The Interior of the Church Decorated With Harvest Products for the Occasion — Large Congregations—Impressive Discourses.

Anniversary services were held yesterday in Park street Baptist church. Rev. F. T. Tapscott, of Toronto, preached both morning and evening, and addressed the Sabbath school in the afternoon. The services were of a harvest home character. The windows were neatly decorated with wheat and evergreens, flowers being placed in conspicuous places throughout the building.

The choir sang "Come Unto Me," while the offertory was being taken up, very beautifully. Rev. F. T. Tapscott read a few verses from the 65th Psalm, which was in keeping with the harvest home surroundings, and stated that he did not expect to preach on the topic, but under the circumstances he would speak upon the subject. He said all the services should partake of a thanksgiving character. We are gathered here to give thanks to God for all the blessings of the past year. It is worthy of us as Christian men and women. It is no more than a person ought to do in a case of this kind. As Christians it is doubly becoming to us to return thanks to God for the fruitful blessings He has bestowed upon us. Can any one tell how much Christ has done for us? Were we not to return thanks to God for blessing us, it would be heathenish. The word thanksgiving is very nearly the same as thinking. Thanksgiving is not a mere act, it is a part of our manhood and womanhood. It is impossible to offer anything that would be acceptable to God. Our hearts have to be right before we can make any acceptable offering to the Lord. It has to become part of our nature before we can earnestly do this. One is part of the other.

THANK AND THINK,

both come from the same root. We need to be very prayerful also to enable us to make a suitable thanksgiving. We need to girdle ourselves around with the great thought of God. This meeting will not be as great a blessing as God intends it to be, if it does not have a lasting impression upon the minds of those who are here to-day. It ought to give you an idea of happiness, and make your life as bright as the brightest sunshine. You ought to cherish this good habit in your own soul.

The reverend gentleman said he would like to point out as the first thought "that it is just as easy to do good as it is to do evil." We should try to let the present meeting exert a lasting good impression upon our lives. Let the habit, as it were, of Christianity become permanent in our lives. It is a good habit to get into. Let us never forget the fact that God is constantly watching over and caring for us. If you take on the habit of Christianity it will be as a garment of glory to you all your life. Your heart will be garrisoned and protected from evil if you adopt this course of life. It will make life a melodious song; everything will be full of melody. We need a more magnetic disposition which can take happiness out of anything and everything — even out of sorrow itself.

Second Thought.—Christianity awakens hope and confidence. When we think of all the dangers through which we have safely passed we cannot but help feeling grateful to God for thus sparing us. Christianity endows its subjects with both hope and confidence, and they are happy from morning till evening. It also better enables a man to take up and attend to the duties of life. It girds one with strength, which all need. Then, again, it dispenses with the hum-drum, ordinary life. He is a nobler hero who faces the trials and troubles of life unflinchingly, than the one who goes to battle and fights for his country. In some cases it is nobler to live than die.

DID YOU EVER KNOW that just before Jesus was crucified, the apostles sang a hymn. It was customary to sing this hymn at the "Feast of the Passover." You will find it in the 145th Psalm, the three last Psalms, also the 22nd, which reads, "Bless the Lord, Oh, my soul," etc. After the singing of this hymn Christ prepared Himself for Calvary and the crucifiction.

"As a third thought," continued the speaker, "I will speak about

THE HARVEST.

There are some people in the world who think it is not right to bring the products of nature into the "House of God." It means that it may be a means of grace, or it may be a desecration. It all depends in the spirit in which it is done. If we do it to honour and glorify God, it is all right and vice versa.

The speaker liked to walk through green fields in the country and thus while walking to think of the wonders of nature and of God. Wheat, he thought, is the staple commodity. If wheat fails everything fails. At present we have plenty to minister to the present need. If you really believe God to be the giver of this blessing, then you admit that He is the primal owner of everything we have. We came into this world void of everything and so shall we leave this world. You cannot even take your shroud or body with you. Nothing is ours. If the speaker would ask you whose money you hand in your purse, you would answer "mine." How did it come to be yours? Your answer—"I worked hard and earned it." Who gave you the strength to work and earn it? You will have to reply "God did." God hid the gold away down in the earth and left it for

MAN TO FIND.

God can do as he pleases with us.

Fourthly.—I will speak upon "National Blessings." He thought we ought to feel proud to be called English subjects of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, who has just completed the longest reign in English history. England is a very good country, but still it has faults. What country has not? One fault which ought to be remedied is the rum trade which England allows to be carried on in Africa. Mr. Tapscott hoped that the Turkish Sultan will get his right deserts. He is the Royal Assassin. Many hearts will be made glad when he is properly punished. We ought to thank God for England and for Gladstone. Mr. Tapscot would rather live in Canad than in any other country in the world. He thinks that ex Canadian residents should not run it down. The country is better without such people than it is with them.

Fifth.—We ought to thank God for exemption from war:

As a rule we have had peace. With such wonderful mineral resources, and the five million people which Canada possess, we roused the jealousy of our sister country, the United States. We had a war scare some time ago which proved to be a blessing to the country. The war scare was started on a Friday, Saturday stocks fell very low, and Sunday every minister in both lands was setting forth the evils of two such highly civilized nations going to war, and that was the end of it.

We ought to thank God for quiet Sundays, for general happiness, for the Bible, and for things too numerous to mention, and most of all important duties we should give our heart to God.

MIDDLE ROAD, SMITH.

A Fine Work of Improvement Well Completed.

What is known as the Middle Road, Smith, has for some time been practically abandoned so far as its use for heavy traffic was concerned, on account of the steep grade of hills that abound on it for about two miles—from lots 18 and 19 in the 8th concession to con. 10. This being the directest highway from Peterborough to Selwyn and Buckhorn the improvements will be a great boon to the farmers and residents. The prophecy of Scripture has been fulfilled in respect of making the high places low and raising up a highway in the valleys. A joint appropriation of $800, contributed by Smith township—$300—and the Ontario Government—$500—has been expended and Mr. Wm. McIlmoyle, who was overseer for the expenditure, has completed his work and was in town to day. Four of the high hills have been cut down and the resulting earth placed in the intervening valleys, raising the latter from 6 to 9 feet and making corresponding reduction in the height of the hills, equivalent to an easing of the grade from 12 to 18 feet. The fillings have stone foundations and are provided, where of dangerous height, with good railings and the grading throughout the whole stretch of two miles is excellent. Mr. M. Lounsberry, government inspector, has examined the job and expresses himself as well pleased with the way the work has been done. It is in every way satisfactory to the department as well as to the general public, many of whom are warm in their expressions of appreciation of the improvement that has converted an almost impassable stretch of road with an excellent and serviceable highway.

May be consulted at Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, Saturday, Oct. 3.

A foul breath is one of the greatest afflictions that a man or woman can have. An affliction not only to themselves, but to those with whom they come in contact. A foul breath is a dreadful discourager of affection, or rather of the demonstration of affection. It would probably be more so if people only realized just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation. Some of the other symptoms are sour stomach, loss of appetite, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating. These things mean indigestion. They lead to dyspepsia and worse things. They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be cured—cured easily, quickly and permanently, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a perfect remedy for this most common of all troubles. They give to nature just the little help that she needs. They are very mild in their action, and act without any violence whatever. In this, they are different from many preparations offered for a similar purpose. Sometimes the remedy is worse than the disease, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are mild, but they are infallibly efficient. They do the work which they are intended to do, without deranging the system in any way. They not only give immediate relief, but the benefit derived from them is permanent. You can stop taking them by and by and there is no danger that you will become a slave to their use. The druggist who tries to sell you something else "just as good," either does not know what he is talking about, or he makes more money on the other thing. If you care more for his prosperity than you do for your own health, take the other thing. If you value your health, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. A free sample, of from 4 to 7 doses, will be sent to any address.

A copy of Dr. Pierce's celebrated 1008 page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated, will be sent free on receipt of thirty-one (31) cents in one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only.

READY.

Something About the Habit of Being Ever and Alwrys on Deck.

You may call it what you like—presence of mind, a cool head, quick thinking, or an instinct to do what is right the first time—the fact remains that it is a habit acquired by experience, of being ready always to use one's muscles and brains at a moment's notice—the habit of being ready.

When you are on your wheel and a tangle is ahead, what do you do? What is a natural thing to do? Get off and walk aside. When you are in a boat and a flaw comes against the sail, what do you do? What is a reasonable thing to do? Let the sheet and sail go where the flaw cannot come against it. When you are slipping on the sidewalk, what do you do? Thrust the other foot under you or turn yourself on a pivot and come to the ground on your hands. What do you do when a man stops you for the purpose of robbing you or for one thing or another? Do the reasonable thing; walk up to him and show him that you are quite at your ease and that he is attacking the wrong person. What do you do in the room of a burning house? Do the reasonable thing: crawl on the floor, because smoke always rises and you can breathe far better. If you must go through flames, pour water over yourself before starting. If the undertow in the surf catches you and carries you out; do the reasonable thing; float—swimming is useless. By floating you will keep above water, and in a moment somebody will come in a boat. Year after year women and children drown within twenty yards of a hundred people. Why? Because the average unpractised person is paralyzed quite long enough to allow the struggling to drown. Then everyone does the right thing, and rushes for the life-boat ten feet away—too late. So we might go on for a week. The particular case is unimportant. It suffices you not if you know what to do and do not have the power to do it. Acquire the habit of responsibility and prompt action by putting yourself in situations that require this, and when you have acquired the habit of being ready, you are pretty sure to do something that is reasonable in an emergency when it arises, even if you are not primed with all the knowledge of this particular case.—Harper's Bazar.

SOME OF THEIR RECORDED EXPRESSIONS CONCERNING MEN.

Some Curious Speculations and Sayings About the Male Human Biped and His Characteristics, Good, Bad and Indifferent.

"There are men whose presence infuses trust and reverence; there are others to whom we have need to carry our trust and reverence readymade."—George Eliot.

"If all the truth were known most men would look foolish; and the men who thank God that they are not as other men soonest of all."—Mrs. Humphrey Ward.

"Even a man who has practiced himself in love-making until his own glibness has rendered him sceptical, may at last be overtaken by the lover's awe."—George Eliot.

"A man nowadays is, in the long run, personally profitable far more by what he is than by what he has—so far at least has progress brought us."—Mrs. Humphrey Ward.

"No man—or so it seems to me at least, unless he has passed all his life before a mirror, or as a portrait painter—can have a very exact idea of his own appearance."—George Sand.

"A man loved by a beautiful and virtuous woman carries a talisman that renders him invulnerable; all feel that such a one's life has a higher value than that of others."—George Sand.

"You meet some men jealous enough to stab their rivals, others sufficiently modest to accept the second place in the esteem of a woman whose company they enjoy."—Madame de Stael.

"A sensible man ought to banish from his mind whatever can be of no services to himself or others. We are not placed here below to be useful first, and consequently happy?"—Madame de Stael.

"Women are told that the great, the important business of their life is love, but men know they are born for something better than to sing mournful ditties to a mistress' eyebrow."—Maria Edgeworth

"Half-hearted and double-faced men resemble husbandmen who prune salient twigs from a poisonous plant, by that very pruning strengthening the deep-seated, unattacked root."—Christina G. Rossetti.

"It is not one man in a thousand who is unselfish enough to run the risk of spoiling his own career and incurring general odium for the sake of a cause, which, after all, is not really his."—Edna Lyall.

"To be the strength, the inmost joy of a man who within the conditions of his life seems to you a hero at every turn—there is no happiness more penetrating for a wife than this."—Mrs. Humphrey Ward.

"The man I love must be true and strong, faithful to his friends and merciful to his enemies; he must be so noble and self denying that I shall be able to look up to him as my head—my lord."—Edna Lyall.

"A man would always wish to give a woman a better home than the one he takes her from; and he who can do it when there is no doubt of her reward must be the hapiest of mortals."—Jane Austen.

"If a man dared act for himself; if neither worldly views, contracted prejudices, eternal precepts nor compulsive examples swayed his better reasons and impelled his conduct, how noble, indeed, would he be!"—Frances Burney.

"A man has but the one puny life, the one tiny spark of faith. Better be venturesome with both for God's sake than over-cautious, over-thrifty. And to his own Master he standeth of falleth."—Mrs. Humphrey Ward.

"Triflers are very capable of cleverly directing their own affairs; for in all that may be called the science of policy, in private as in public life men oftener succeed by the absence of certain qualities than by any which they possess."—Madame de Stael.

"There is a case where a woman may coquet justifiably to the utmost verge which her conscience will allow; it is when a gentleman purposely declines making his address till such time as he thinks himself perfectly sure of her consent."—Maria Edgeworth.

"An inheritance of money may or may not be a desirable thing, but an inheritance of character, an ancestry of generous, true-hearted men, who did justly and loved mercy, and walked humbly, with their God, this is a thing that kings might covet."—Edna Lyall.

"When a man has sufficient strength of mind to rely upon himself, and sufficient energy to exert his abilities, he becomes independent of common report and vulgar opinion. He secures the suffrages of the best judges, and they in time lead all the rest of the world."—Maria Edgeworth.

"There is something great in the man who, while possessing all the pomps and pleasures of the world, fears not to employ his mind in preparation for his death. Moral ideas and disinterested sentiments must fill the soul that, in any way, outsteps the boundaries of life."—Madame de Stael.

"It is a common enough case, that of a man being suddenly captivated by a woman nearly the opposite of his ideal; or if not wholly captivated, at least effectively captured by a combination of circumstances, along with an unwarily manifested inclination which might otherwise have been transient."—George Eliot.

"Men have for many generations been in the habit of regarding their wives as Petruchio did, and asserting: 'I will be master of what is mine own; she is my goods, my chattels,' that is not so easy for them to hold fast to the high ideals of unity which is really involved in the parable of Christ and His Bride, the Church. Good heavens! how sick it makes one to hear those words read at the marriage of some brute of a fellow who has no right to marry an innocent girl, and who is certain to turn into a selfish, hectoring tyrant!"—Edna Lyall.

MELVERTON, 29TH JULY, 1895.

Gentlemen,—For the last ten years I had been troubled with kidney disease, being so bad at intervals that I could not lie in bed at night nor stoop to the ground.

I had tried all the remedies I could find without effect, but heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and procured a box.

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

CANCER CURED
—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance companies are paying American claims in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

ART IS THEIR FIRST LOVE.

Clever Girls of Literary Fathers Winning Marks as Illustrators.

Mildred Howells, daughter of William Dean Howells, is a clever art student of Gotham. Perhaps it should be said that she is a recognized artist. But the artists have a way of clinging to the title of "student" long after they can work independently.

Miss Howells has her studio in the very heart of the art students' colony. The "Colony" is that section of the city extending across the whole width of Central Park and down town as far as Fiftieth street. The Art League is in the center and the students group around it. It is the Latin quarter of New York.

Miss Howells has a studio in her father's apartments facing Central Park. She works daily with her brushes, for art is her profession, as literature is her father's. Miss Howells, after a long course of study in Paris, Rome and London, began by illustrating her father's poems. Her tail-pieces attracted attention, and the cleverness with which she caught the conception of the work made friends for her with writers. All artists cannot get the "tone" of the work they illustrate, even while they draw well. Miss Howells' work appears regularly in the highest class magazines and she has settled down to the profession of regular illustrative work.

Another of the girl artists of New York is Allegra Eggleston, daughter of Edward Eggleston. "Miss Eggleston," said an officer of the Art League, "ought not to be called a student now, though she still studies. She is a professional."

Her specialty is children's faces. These she does with much delicacy, making them young, sweet and dimpled. She was the first artist who ever had the courage to put a pug nose upon a child's face, though all children's noses are pug. Besides drawing in line work, which is Miss Eggleston's specialty, she carves exquisitely. When she was a little girl she carved an "idol" out of a rotten piece of wood. Her father saw it and was impressed with the correctness of the lines, for the child had exactly copied an idol in the Metropolitan Museum, and he told her to keep on. At ten her instruction in art began.

George Cable's daughter is another of the daughters of literary fathers who have worked successfully with the brush. Though married now, this young woman is a "girl artist," embellishing her father's writings and successfully contributing to the magazines. Her best work is in the character sketches which her father describes so graphically. She says she "sees them while he reads."

MILDRED HOWELLS.

The peculiarly quiet, studious disposition of professional men pervades, with the touch of heredity, the minds of the daughters. Daughters of lawyers, clergymen, and the girls of army officers turn to art and want to study it. They do not ask for reserved seats in the art classes, but are content to fall in line with the rest and wait for talent to bring them forward.—Detroit Free Press.

"Lady Guides" in London.

In England, where the word "lady" does more strenuous service than almost anywhere else in the world, where "lady journalists" flourish and "lady help" is familiar, a new "lady" has appeared. She is called the "lady guide," and although the name is against her, she is a popular personage and a most convenient one. She is so numerous that she has been banded into an organization called the Lady Guide Association.

At such a season as this, when London is full of visitors, the association is particularly valuable. The duties which the lady guides undertake are shown by their circular to be numerous.

"Parties are met at stations, or on board ship; apartments, boarding houses, rooms at hotels, recommended and engaged; shopping, packing, dressmaking and all needlework undertaken; arrivals and addresses registered, and letters and parcels received; shipping, steam passages and railway tickets provided; houses taken, furnished rooms and flowers provided; at homes' attended, entertainers provided; dinners and balls arranged; typewriting, shorthand, copying, auto-copying, invitations, etc., undertaken; commissions of all kinds executed; spring and autumn house cleaning and removals undertaken."

NEW 24-HOUR RECORD.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Louis Gimm of Pittsburg lowered the American professional bicycle record for 24 hours, paced, and won a purse of $400, at the Coliseum to-night. The 24 hours expired at 9 o'clock, but Gimm was an easy winner and quit at 8.36. He covered 486 miles 151 yards in 23 hours and 26 minutes. Fifteen thousand people saw the finish, and enthusiastically cheered the winner. Gimm finished in bad shape physically. Frank Walter of New York, who holds a 24-hour record of 490 miles, made in London, rode a hard finish and came in second.

TORONTO L.C. STILL IN IT.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—At a meeting of the Senior Lacrosse League to-night, at which the Capitals, Shamrocks, Montrealers and Cornwalls were represented, a communication was read from the Toronto Lacrosse Club, stating that the debt of the club would soon be consolidated, but the club would be able to pay up its arrears, and asking for time. The petition was granted. An application from the Tecumsehs of Toronto for admittance into the league was left over. The protest made by the Shamrocks against the Capitals was to-night taken up, and resulted in the protest being thrown out. The motion made by the Shamrocks to play the match over again did not find any seconders.

A Comfort Sometimes.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED
With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.
South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.
Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepzia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

THE WHEEL.

The New York Tribune publishes the following interesting sketch on cycling abroad:

The steamers from Europe have brought back many persons in the last few weeks who spent part of their stay abroad in cycling tours. Everybody seems to vote this method of travel a most delightful success. As one man expressed it: "There was only one drawback to our trip, and that was that it was too short." Yet his party traversed 2,000 miles a-wheel and saw a great deal more than they would have done from railway trains. England is, perhaps, the favourite touring ground of American cyclists, but they were to be seen in France, Germany and Switzerland in fair numbers. Of course, the excellence of the roads over there is most constantly in the mouths of those who describe their wheeling experience in Europe. Another feature is the constant interest aroused by scenes through which they passed. Men who had previously travelled through a country, merely visiting the large cities and the places most frequented by strangers, were agreeably surprised at the succession of delights unfolded in cycling. They acquired an acquaintance with people and customs and traditions which had wholly escaped them when in the beaten path of ordinary sightseeing.

American bicycles were objects of much curious attention in England, although several manufacturers have established agencies over there which have sold many machines. Their lightness caused much doubt as to their strength and stability, but the high grade products showed themselves fully equal to the test of English roads. Some Americans found their tires unsuitable for England, because they were easily punctured by the bits of broken stone used for top dressing. Fitting their wheels with tandem tires, the had no further trouble. This was not the universal experience, however. One young woman was warned on the steamer going over that her single-tube tires would be as full of holes as a sieve if she rode them in England. Thorns from the hedges, it was explained, often lay on the roads and were especially effective in piercing single-tube tires. But she had faith in the Yankee invention and stuck to her American tires. In three weeks of constant touring in England she received not a puncture. Single-tube tires, like wooden rims, are gaining favour abroad and their general adoption is looked for by manufacturers here.

In case of an accident it might not be easy to replace broken parts of an American bicycle in England. A wise course would be to take along extra spokes, nuts and other parts which might be needed. However, an expert bicycle mechanic in England could probably repair any break or supply any loss that would be likely to happen. If the tourist has a wheel which is also on the market in England, the problem of repairs will be easier. One well-known manufacturer here has so many agencies in England that riders of his bicycles would be little more troubled by broken parts in England than in this country.

One cause of worry in Great Britain is the inadequate system of baggage transportation. The use of checks being unknown, the wheelman must look after his wheel the instant he reaches his destination. According to the English arrangement, the responsibility of the railway company ceases when the baggage has been taken out of the car. The American naturally fears that if he is'nt on hand to grab his bicycle as it is lifted down, somebody else may make away with it. This is not all. On short trips off the main line it is often necessary to change cars, and it is always best to give your personal attention to the transfer of your bicycle. Otherwise, it may be whisked on, or left on the platform, when your train carries you away. It would be pleasanter to avoid trains altogether, but the frequent showers or a desire to spend the night at some particular place often make it convenient or necessary to resort to them. The charge for carrying wheels is large, in some short journeys being nearly 50 per cent of the passenger fare.

Dangerous hills are usually marked with signboards in England. To Americans an excess of caution characterizes this system. The warning is placed at the top of hills which can be ridden with safety by any person who is only fairly skilful. In consequence of this frequent cry of "wolf" when there is no wolf, Americans are likely to disregard these friendly signs altogether when the danger is not clearly visible to them. The finest travelers' tale brought back from abroad, however, is that of a coast 27 miles long in the Hartz Mountains of Germany. It is declared that this can be ridden without touching the feet to the pedals, yet the road is so fine and the slope so gentle that there is no danger of a spill. A 27-mile coast is certainly worth travelling to Germany for. Only it would be an unfortunate wheelman indeed who struck it at the wrong end.

Some persons who did virtually all of their travelling by boat and train, yet found it of advantage to take their wheels with them for excursions in the cities where they made stays, saved enough in carriage hire to repay all the expenses of shipment, and had the pleasure and exercise of wheeling besides. An indefinite number of short trips can be made out of London and Paris, each well worth taking.

Women who rode in the French and English capitals found the ideas of their sex on dress strikingly different in the two places. In England the woman who wore a short skirt was the object of curious gazes by many, and the subject of rude remarks by street boys. Even if the garment nearly reached the ankle, the sight of her legging was likely to call forth jeers of "Look at the girl in knickers!" "Look at the girl in pajamas!" The fate of a woman who had the courage to wear bloomers without a skirt was distressing in the extreme. Of course in France the opposite was the case, and the wheelwomen in skirts was regarded as overmodest.

On the continent there are various regulations applying to cyclists which it is important to know, but they are so different in different places that little general information can be given about them. In France it is necessary that a metal plate, bearing the name and usual address of the rider be attached to every wheel. It is in Germany that the rules are most diverse, varying not only from one kingdom and duchy to another, but from town to town sometimes. In Vienna permission to ride is given only after an examination as to the cyclist's skill in mounting, dismounting, steering, back pedalling, and in general controlling his wheel. But the mass of regulations has not been found a serious drawback to touring.

Cyclists are coming now to recognise the folly and danger of over-indulgence in the sport. It took some of them a long while to discover the cause of the sleeplessness, lassitude and fever which succeeded long rides. They thought that the symptoms were those of an illness due to some unknown and undiscoverable cause, and on the next Sunday or holiday took another jaunt that overtaxed their powers. After several such experiences, it forced itself on them that physical exhaustion was the cause of all their trouble. Fast riding is more likely to bring on these effects than long riding. Experiments with scientific instruments show that increase in the speed of a bicycle is obtained only at a more than proportionate increase in the power exerted. Thus, to bring the rate up from 17 kilometers an hour to 33, it was found necessary to treble the work done, and more. Riding up steep hills is also a great tax. When men go out in parties, there is often a desire to "do somebody up," and each one, rather than cry enough, exerts all his power. The pleasure trip becomes a virtual race, although nearly every one would prefer a rational pace and a chance conversation. They are afraid, however, to admit that the pace is too hot for them, and at night and the next day they are aware of having overdone the thing.

The pleasure of riding and the exhilaration of the exercise are such that it is not easy to tell just what one's limit of speed and distance should be. One gets so wrought up that fatigue is overcome, and there is an overdraught on the nervous forces. When a man has been working hard he has not a full stock of vitality, and should regulate his pace accordingly. Athletes become aware when over-training has made them "stale," and at once go easy on their exercise. Bicycle riders should learn to identify these symptoms and to act accordingly. Some of them find it best to put their wheel aside entirely for one month each summer. Swimming, yachting, tennis and golf supply them sport and exercise meanwhile, and bicycling is then taken up again with renewed interest and vigour.

THE BRUTE DROWNED HIMSELF.

Struck His Wife and When His Little Boy Entreated Him to Be Quiet He Threw the Child Downstairs.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 27.—Just before dark to-night Edward Wald, a ship carpenter residing at 53 Mulberry-street, narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of an infuriated mob of West Side citizens. Wald came home under the influence of liquor and quarreled with his wife and finally struck her. The 14-year-old son, Edward, seized his father's arm and entreated him to quiet down, whereupon the brute became enraged and threw the boy down the stairway leading to the street, a distance of 20 feet. The little fellow screamed for help and rolled out of the open doorway into the street, writhing in convulsions. Dr. C. T. Turner was summoned to attend the boy and a crowd quickly collected to avenge the outrage.

Meanwhile the crowd increased to a mob, which was goaded to fury by the sight of the helpless child struggling on the pavement.

An impromptu delegation of 40 forced their way into the house to drag out the fiend, as the father, and others were despatched for a rope. Wald had locked himself in a bedroom. The door was broken open and he was dragged into the street, fighting desperately. The police arrived before the rope appeared and thus prevented a lynching. The mob gave battle to the police, determined not to allow Wald to escape them. During the scrimmage the prisoner broke loose from those who were holding him and ran down an alley toward the river. The mob was close at his heels, and when the fugitive reached the river, knowing that his chance for life was very small if captured, he plunged into the water and was drowned. His body was recovered. The boy will die and the wife's injuries may prove fatal.

THE MEN ESCAPED.

Rut Their Rig Was Completely Demolished by a Runaway Team Near Cobourg on Saturday.

Cobourg, Ont., Sept. 26.—On the Baltimore road last night just at dusk a team belonging to a farmer ran away. They were attached to a wagon which had a hay rack on it. When crossing a small bridge near Baltimore the wagon collided with a horse and buggy driven by two young men from Cobourg. They just dodged their heads as the runaway outfit tore the top, the seat and hind wheels from their buggy and threw the occupants into the ditch. The young men escaped with a few bruises, while their buggy was completely demolished.

LINING UP AFTER THE FAIRS.

Our Prize Clothing.

Our Clothing has had the call at all the Fairs. It was nothing new to find the Directors decorating our display with the Red Prize Tickets. It would have been a surprise if we didn't capture First Prize—not because competition was weak, but because the Clothing could not be bettered in Canada. The reputation of the big store was at stake, and we're more than proud to have deserved the good opinion of the directors as well as the thousands of men folk at the Fairs.

Now we're lining up for a rattling big fall business. We've had a good start already, but the price cards are becoming a more interesting study every day, and the figures startling enough to bring us the trade of the masses.

THE MAIN ESTIMATES PASSED.

Members of the Opposition Were in an Enquiring Mood Yesterday—A Reply From Mr. Tarte in Regard to the Libellous Statements of La Libre Parole.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—(Special.)—The whole of the afternoon sitting of the House was taken up in committee on the bill respecting the Hull and Aylmer Electric Railway. The measure only contains five clauses and seeks, among other things, to confer power on the company to cross the Ottawa River into this city. The bill was vigorously fought by friends of the Ottawa Electric Street Railway Company, which accounts for practically a wasted afternoon in the House.

From present appearances prorogation will take place on Saturday. Mr. Laurier intimated as much in his reply to a question of Sir Charles Tupper this afternoon. Only a few items in the main estimates are now to be passed. There is very little that is objectionable in the supplementary estimates. Further supplementaries, however, may probably affect the duration of the session.

Sir Richard Cartwright has returned to Ottawa, after an afternoon spent with the Right Honorable Joseph Chamberlain, Colonial Secretary, at the residence of Mr. Endicott, Mrs. Chamberlain's father. Sir Richard states that he had a most satisfactory interview, but he does not indicate its nature.

An Ottawa delegation had an interview with the Premier to-day with regard to aid to the proposed bridge over the Ottawa River from Nepean Point to Hull. They pointed out that the bonuses promised by city and provincial governments to the enterprise would lapse if the work did not proceed at once.

The Premier remarked that the Government was pledged to support the scheme, but he was afraid it would be very difficult to get an amount put in the estimates this season. Owing to the very exceptional circumstances of the case and the fact that the whole scheme was endangered by further delay, he would recommend to his colleagues that a sufficient sum be brought down in the estimates, in order that other bonuses should be not allowed to lapse for want of action on the Government's part. He saw that such a great undertaking would mean a large amount of work for the laboring classes, and he assured the gentlemen present that he would very much like to see the bridge proceeded with at once.

The Hull Electric Bill finally passed with many amendments.

Mr. Laurier, replying to Mr. Hackett, who again asked for assistance to sufferers by the recent fire at Tignish, said the matter had been engaging the attention of the Government, but so conflicting were the reports that the Ministry were unable to come to a decision as to the facts of the case.

Mr. McDougall was informed by the Premier that the Government was "not aware that, on the invitation of the Canadian Mining Institute of Great Britain, the Federated Institute of Mining Engineers and the American Institute of Mining Engineers are to visit Canada in 1897." The object of Mr. McDougall's question was to ascertain whether the Government would provide transportation facilities to the Editors, and he obtained a satisfactory reply.

Mr. McAllister enquired, did the leader of the Government at Dalhousie, N.B., on Monday, Aug. 23, 1895, say, "It is the policy of the great Liberal party of Canada to make the American markets free to the farmers of Canada, and as soon as we get in power, which will not now be long, we will make such arrangements with the Government of the United States as will cause these markets to be opened to Canadian farmers. The Conservatives tell you that they cannot make any fair arrangements with the American Government for reciprocity, but that is because they never were in earnest about doing so."

Mr. Laurier, in reply, said his memory was not equal to the task of answering the question, "but," he added, "I must say that the sentiments are commendable, however."

Mr. Pouliot enquired whether on June 23 the late Government had authorized the High Commissioner by cable to sign immediately a contract with the Allan Company for a fast line of steamships between Canada and England at a subsidy of $750,000 yearly for ten years. Mr. Laurier's reply was that all the papers in regard to the fast line service would be brought down at an early day and that in the meantime he preferred that the question should stand.

Sir Richard Cartwright, replying to Mr. Foster, said the last contract with the Allan Steamship Company for carrying the mails between Canada and Great Britain was made in December, 1891, for one year. The contract had been renewed since annually, and it was the intention of the Government to renew the contract for the year 1897, but no longer.

Replying to Mr. Rinfret, who wanted to know if the Government intended offering a reward for a remedy for the horn-fly, the Minister of Agriculture said that the Central Experimental Farm was already provided with an entomologist, who had discovered a remedy, which was quite satisfactory when properly applied. It is therefore not the intention of the Government to offer a reward for a remedy.

The next question on the order paper was that of Mr. Morin. Of late the practice has been for a member to arise and request an answer to a question, so-and-so, but Mr. Morin, instead of following the usual practice, said, as he arose, "I believe, Mr. Speaker, I will read this question," and read it he did, amidst the laughter of members on the Opposition side. It is to the following effect: Whether the Minister of Public Works has taken cognisance of the following letter, which concludes an article entitled, "Mr. Tarte," published in the journal La Libre, Parole, on Sept. 5, 1896, at Montreal: "Sept. 2, 1896, Dear Sir,—I have received from the Public Works Department at Ottawa a letter informing me that you have tendered for the furnishing of —— to the public buildings of ——, but as your tender is the same as that of another house, they write to ask me to whom the contract is to be given. I write you to-day to know what you intend to do for me in this matter. I shall await your answer. Business is business, as you know. Respectfully yours."

Did the Minister of Public Works write, or cause a letter to be written in relation to the contract of supplying coal to Mr. E. Petit, Liberal candidate in the County of Terrebonne, at the late Dominion election? If so, is the Minister of Public Works aware that Mr. E. Petit, the defeated Liberal candidate at the said election, is, according to public rumor, the author of the letter quoted in the journal La Libre Parole? Is it the intention of the Minister of Public Works to govern himself hereafter by the opinion of the said Mr. Petit in awarding contracts for certain supplies?

Mr. Tarte: I have seen the letter in the journal mentioned. I had received two tenders for the supply of coal to the public building at St. Jerome. The prices were equal. If there had been a difference the lower tender would have been accepted, as a matter of course. But as they were equal, I was free to accept either. In such cases the practice of the department for many years has been to ask the opinion of the friends of the Government as to which tender should be accepted. Following this practice, the secretary of my department sent the following letter to Mr. Petit, who had been the Liberal candidate at the last election:

"Department of Public Works,
"Ottawa, Aug. 28, 1896.

"Sir,—In answer to a notice asking tenders for the supply of coal for the public buildings of the Dominion, two tenders have been received for the supply of coal necessary for the public building of St. Jerome, viz.: Messrs. Evans Bros. & Labrecque and Cousineau & Co. The price demanded by those tenderers being equal, I am instructed to ask you to kindly tell me to whom you would like the contract for the supply of coal to be granted."

If Mr. Petit wrote such a letter as is given on the question he did so without my knowledge and the knowledge of the department, and I emphatically disapprove of and condemn it. No action has been taken on the tender. It is my determination that in every case in which tenders are invited the lowest tender shall be accepted if the parties are responsible. The letter mentioned in the question was part of an article of a libelous character reflecting on the administration of my department and the letter was used for the purpose of supporting unfounded accusations against me. Immediately on having my attention drawn to the article, I caused steps to be taken to prosecute the author, and the proceedings now pending in court will be prosecuted as vigorously as the law will permit.

Sir Adolphe Caron called attention again to Mr. Dobell's statement regarding the fast line. He expressed his great regret that Mr. Dobell should regard the matter of the fast line so lightly as to have to jog his memory to see if he really did send the telegram to L'Electeur. He would like to ask the honorable member if his telegram referred to a 17, 18 or 20-knot service.

Mr. Laurier: "Order, order."

Sir Adolphe Caron: "I am perfectly in order."

Mr. Laurier: "There has been no notice of the question." (Opposition laughter.)

Mr. Speaker said it was quite competent for the question to be put, but the Minister need not answer unless he chose.

Mr. Dobell said he answered the question the other day in all frankness and sincerity. He did not send any telegram to L'Electeur on the matter of the fast line and said so. Subsequently he found that a private message, which had been sent to a friend in Quebec by his private secretary, was the one published in L'Electeur. It was one reply to a number of messages, which had reached him from Quebec, expressing dissatisfaction at the present condition of the subject. He thought he was quite consistent in answering. As to the service itself, an 18 or 20-knot service would be far preferable to the 13 or 13-knot service which the late Government had been satisfied with for 18 years.

Mr. Foster said the honorable member had not enlightened the House as to which he preferred, a 17, 18 or 20-knot service.

Mr. Dobell said: "I am in favor of such a fast line of steamers as will be a credit to the country and perfectly satisfactory to the whole Dominion." (Laughter.)

Mr. Foster congratulated the honorable member on the aptitude with which he was learning from his leader faculties of concealing his ideas.

Mr. Davin said he understood Sir Richard Cartwright had recently had an interview with Hon. Joseph Chamberlain on Imperial matters. The House would like to have information on the subject.

Sir Richard Cartwright: "I had a long, pleasant and extremely interesting conversation on matters to which the honorable gentleman has referred, but I do not think it would be in consonance with my duty, or in the public interest to give any details at present."

In supply, all the items in the main estimates were passed.

On motion to adjourn, Mr. Fielding said there would likely be further supplementary estimates, but of such a character that Foster would not likely object to them.

The House adjourned at 1.30 a.m.

DEPARTMENTAL NOTES.

Death of an Old Civil Servant—Slim Catch of Seals—French Liberals Will Not Bolt in the Provincial Elections.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—(Special.)—A report was received at the Department of Marine this morning of the death of one of the oldest servants of the Department, a man named Myrand, who has had charge of the St. Paul light on the Newfoundland coast.

The sealing catch in Behring Sea this season has been decidedly slim. There have been many schooners spoken, however, as to their catch. Word of these has reached Ottawa that in almost every case there have been fewer skins taken than last year.

Some time ago there were representations held out to several French members of Parliament to join the Provincial Opposition in the approaching provincial elections. The elections will, however, not likely take place before June next, and the announcement is made by a leading French-Canadian that there will be no members dropping out of the party here.

In the Exchequer Court a motion in the case of Mickler v. the Queen, to set aside the award of a referee was argued. This issue arose over a contract for the construction of five rangelight towers at Parry Sound and the suppliant asked for $685 balance, as due him, and $34,350 damage for breach of contract. The case was referred to a referee, Judge Ardagh, of Simcoe, who, after investigating, awarded $238 as balance due, with $289 damage, and other small items, bringing the total amount up to $543.50.

The Dairy Commissioner's officers who have been concerned in the dairy work of the Northwest Territories, have all returned to the Capital, after completing the season's operations at the various dairy stations. They report that the work has been extremely successful.

DR. TALMAGE ESCHEWS POLITICS.

The Noted Preacher Declines to "Turn His Pulpit Into a Stump."

Washington, D.C., Sept. 28.—The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, in his sermon at the First Presbyterian Church yesterday, made the following allusion to the presidential campaign:

"During the last six presidential elections I have been urged to enter the political arena, but I never have and never will turn the pulpit in which I preach into a political stump. Every minister must do as he feels called on to do, and I will not criticise him for doing what he considers his duty; but all the political harangues from pulpits from now until the 3rd of November will not in all the United States change one vote, but will leave many ears stopped against anything that such clergymen may utter the rest of their lives."

The statement was followed by a reference to the depression now prevailing throughout the country and he said that, never within his memory, had "so many people literally starved to death as in the last few months." He believed the country was better off after every crisis and that the Almighty would settle the controversy between the metals.

ENGLAND AND RUSSIA.

A Change Noted in the Attitude of the Russian Press Towards Great Britain—Germany Annoyed.

London, Sept. 28.—The morning papers devote some attention to the sudden change in the attitude of the Russian press towards Great Britain. Of these The Bourse Gazette and The Novosti warn the Government to beware of forcing England to join the Dreibund, hinting that Germany is annoyed at England's aloofness from that alliance, and is trying to sow discord between England and Russia. The newspapers make note of the fact that the change of face on the part of the Russian press is coincident with Lord Salisbury's arrival at Balliater for a conference with the Czar.

WHY THIS ORDER?

Sir Herbert Kitchener Commands the Staffordshire Regiment to Return From Dongola Towards Cairo.

London, Sept. 28.—The Times, in an editorial, speaking of the order of Sir Herbert Kitchener for the return of the first Staffordshire Regiment from Dongola to Kosheh on the way to Cairo, says that the inferences to be drawn from the order are that the dervishes' power has collapsed and that it is not intended that there shall be a further forward movement on a large scale at present. Other newspapers suggest that it is merely an economical move on account of the difficulty of victualling the expedition on the dates obtainable at Dongola.

Ex-Secretary Whitney Will Marry.

Bar Harbor, Me., Sept. 28.—Hon. Wm. C. Whitney, former Secretary of the Navy, will be married at St. Saveur's Episcopal Church here to-morrow to Mrs. Edith S. Randolph of New York, to whom he was reported to be engaged last summer. Mrs. Randolph is the widow of Captain Arthur Randolph of the Fifteenth Hussars [illegible] Own) Regiment of Bengal.

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. UNIVERSITY EDUCATION.

Bystander who is a rather shrewd observer and expresses his opinion gracefully and forcibly. Writing in the Weekly Sun, gives the following, which is food for reflection for parents. There is a heap of good sense in the advice inferentially given in the following extract: "Parents are now finally making up their minds whether they shall send their boys to the University. Those who know universities best will bid parents deliberate long before they listen to the voice of their son's ambition or their own. Has a boy real disposition for study? If he has, let him go to the University by all means; if he has not, let him stay away. Whatever examination tests there may be, he cannot, without a real disposition to study, be kept steadily to his work as a pupil is at school. He may idle most of his time and cram for the examinations at the last hour. Much less can he be kept out of the temptations by which idleness is beset. He may acquire habits of self-indulgence and extravagance. At all events, he is estranged from business habits and loses three or four precious years of his life. Placed in an office or a bank, he is under effective discipline, must keep his regular hours, and do his regular work. Meantime, if he has received a good school education and has an active mind, his mental development does not stop; he reads books and newspapers and imbibes something of the general knowledge of the time. It is not now as it was in former days, when knowledge was to be found only in the lecture-room of the University professor. If, however, you determine that your son shall go to a university at all, let him go to a great university, where he can have first-rate teaching, first-class apparatus, and the stimulating atmosphere of a seat of learning and science. To send a promising boy to a one-horse university is to fling his promise away. An instance might be cited of a wealth American, who, having endowed a one-horse university on ecclesiastical grounds, sent his very promising son to a university of another kind."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

BECAUSE the Dominion Government is not re-appointing Conservatives to petty positions which are not in their nature permanent, but are filled year by year, and is appointing Liberals to fill those positions, that is no good ground for the charge, says the Hamilton Herald (Independent), that the Government is introducing the spoils system.

LE MONDE, a Quebec Conservative organ, says that immediately after the present session Sir Charles Tupper is going to re-organize the party—meaning of course the Opposition. As it was the people who had a big share in disorganizing the party, effective re-organization cannot amount to much without the help of the people. There is no other way of providing new material. The best way to reorganize the present Opposition is to raise it above whining over lost offices, and to cause it to seek the interests of the country and not mere party interests.

A CERTAIN class of narrow gauge political doctrinaires, who, nominally professing great loyalty to the empire, are perpetually having their fling at Free Trade England, with hardly veiled insinuations that through the evils of this system the empire is hastening to decay. What are the facts? Compare protective France with Free Trade England:—The population of France has increased only 133,819 during five years, while the census of 1896 showed an increase of 505,323 during the previous five years. A contemporary says the indications are that fewer inhabitants will be found in 1901 than this year. It points out that in the past five years England has gained 1,054,694 inhabitants. She has doubled her population during this century, and yet has all of the time been sending out a steady and large stream of colonists. The number of persons who have left Great Britain for other lands since 1800 is estimated at 11,500,000, while the French emigrants during this period have not numbered half a million. The slow growth of France is certainly most remarkable when one considers that there has been virtually no loss from emigration, and that neither war, famine nor pestilence have afflicted the country.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER finds it difficult to get any respectable authority take his view as against Lord Aberdeen's, to make appointments when he had no right or authority from the people to exercise patronage; when he was discredited by the people and had no popular warrant to act in the interests of the public. On this subject the North British Daily Mail, of Glasgow, says:—"The conduct of Lord Aberdeen, in refusing to sanction some of the "death-bed" appointments of the late Conservative Ministry in Canada, was generally approved on this side at the time. If any doubt was felt, owing to the absence of precise information as to details, that should be dispelled by the papers since laid before the Dominion Parliament. They fully justify the action which the Governor-General felt himself compelled to take. It is all the more necessary to emphasize this because even recently there has been an attempt made in a London Tory weekly to fasten on Lord Aberdeen a charge of political partiality. Nothing could be more absurd, or discreditable, because nothing could be more contrary to the facts of the case."

REMEDIAL LEGISLATION COLLAPSES.

Toronto World.

The Manitoba school question is coming to an end—at least as far as the Dominion Parliament is concerned. Those who began the agitation—the Conservatives and clericals of Quebec—have failed in their effort to coerce Manitoba. But they did more than this, they wrecked the Conservative Government, whom they persuaded into attempting coercion. Still more surprising is the newer development that the clericals and Conservatives of Quebec are now put on the defensive—they are face to face with a growing movement to nationalize the schools of Quebec and take them out of the hands of the clergy. The more the bishops talk of the grievances of the minority in Manitoba the more will the Liberals and others direct attention to the inferior schools of Quebec.

A further significant fact is the justification which has come to those Conservatives who opposed remedial legislation last session. As far as the late elections went, not even Quebec voted for the Government that proposed the remedial bill. Of all the mad missions ever undertaken by political chiefs, none was of a madder kind than the attempt of the late Government at Remedial legislation. Each one is now anxious to wash his hands of it.

AGAINST CORRUPTION.

The Mail and Empire thinks, says the Globe, that our assertion that Mr. Tarte is fighting against the corrupt influences that have been brought to bear upon every Minister of Public Works from the days of Mackenzie is a "mean and disgusting attack upon the character of the Liberal party in general." This is nonsense. But we are not much concerned about the party affinities of persons who endeavour to exploit the public departments for their own benefit. They are apt to be, or to appear to be, kindly disposed toward the party that may happen to be in power. No party is free from nominal adherents of that kind, and the test of the fitness of a Government is their ability to govern according to the ideas of the better and not of the worse elements of the political society to which they belong. Mr. Mackenzie has left on record his experience of the difficulty he encountered in defending the citadel against so-called friends. Sir Hector Langevin proved himself unable to defend the citadel, and the result was a heavy public loss and a grave public scandal. The advent of a Liberal Government to power will not alter human nature, nor make it safe to relax the vigilance of the guard that must be maintained over the public property. The best friends of the Government will not be those who profess to believe that they will be exempt from the dangers which forever beset public men, but those who recognise the difficulties and dangers of their position and strive in every way to strengthen their hands.

The Chatham Banner says:—"It is fortunate for the Government that the attempt of the Montreal defeated candidate to work the patronage for his constituency, which by custom is placed at the disposal of the Government candidate, whether he wins or loses, for his personal gain, has come to light this early. It appears that two tenders for coal, received at the Public Works Department, were equal in amount. Mr. Tarte communicated the fact to the Liberal candidate in the constituency affected, asking him to say which party should get it. Instead of advising the Minister he wrote to one of the parties who tendered, asking, 'What do you intend doing for me in this matter? Business is business.' The letter was at once handed over to a Conservative newspaper and published, and there is at once a chorus of all the organs at such a sample of Grit corruption. The action of Mr. Tarte was in no sense corrupt. It was a natural thing to do, and he was but following the custom which has prevailed for years in asking the advice of the local representatives in dealing with a matter of local concern; but there is no defence possible on the part of the man who attempted to make use of the Minister's reference for personal gain. It will be impossible for the Government to protect themselves against a repetition of such conduct, except by a change of the system. Ministers cannot afford to run any such risks, for the very first to condemn would be their most effective supporters."

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet the greeting usually is, "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no bowel or stomach trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They eat as though they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and bye overworked nature rebels. Then comes headaches, nervousness, bad blood, kidney and liver troubles. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets furnish help for constipation and torpid liver, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, 'heart burn,' pain and distress after eating and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. HE FELL AMONG SNAKES

Wheelman Has an Exciting Experience With the Reptiles, Which Crawl All Over Him Before He is Rescued.

Lambertville, N.J., Sept. 28.—Bowman's Hill, on the brow of which there is reputed to be buried a fabulous amount of English gold, was the scene of an exciting encounter yesterday between a party of wheelmen and a nest of snakes.

Since the publication of the statement that Aaron McCarthy had recently received a chart showing the exact location of the hidden treasure parties from this city have visited the hill and roamed through the graveyard where the English soldiers and their money are said to repose. Yesterday afternoon a number of young men and women from the city started on their wheels to visit the spot. Arriving at the bottom of the hill they left their wheels by the roadside and started afoot up the rough path leading to the top of the hill. The side of the hill is strewn with boulders, and some of the more venturesome forsook the path and made the ascent by jumping from rock to rock. When near the top one of the party slipped and fell between the rocks. Quickly regaining his feet, he endeavored to climb up the rock. Not being able to do so, he overturned a smaller stone to aid him, when to his horror a dozen or so snakes wriggled out from under it.

The wheelman made frantic efforts to climb up the rock, yelling the while, but only fell back among the dreaded reptiles. In a few minutes his friends came to his assistance, and saw him struggling in a nest of black snakes. After several efforts they succeeded in dragging him out of the crawling snakes, which were all over him. As soon as he was rescued everyone, forgetting the object of the trip, rushed pell-mell to the bottom of the hill, falling over each other in their eagerness to escape from the loathsome reptiles.

OPERATORS STRIKE.

Trouble Between the C.P.R. and Its Despatchers.

WHAT THOSE INTERESTED ASSERT

The Men Claim That They Were Ordered to Do Menial Work - The Officials Say the Men Did Not Report the Grievance in the Proper Way.

Toronto, Sept. 29.—At 9 o'clock last night the train despatchers and telegraph operators at Toronto and throughout the C.P.R. system, received orders from the Executive Committee of the Order of Railway Operators, to quit work. A number of the men immediately obeyed the command. A few of the train despatchers, however, who do not belong to the order, will stick by the company.

The road officials state that the movements of the passenger trains will not be affected, as they are run according to time tables, while the freights move from station to station, under instructions sent from headquarters to the numerous operators along the line.

The Canadian Pacific management will act promptly with a view to relieving the blockade.

The grievances of the men are two-fold. In the first place they demand an increase of salary of from 10 per cent. upwards, and secondly, they object to some of the duties now imposed upon them, which they claim are "infra dig."

The strike was ordered from Montreal, where the executive of the Order of Railway Operators has been in session for the past day or two. Two members of the committee are W. H. Allison of Toronto, and W. H. Sando of Newbury, Ont.

A brief explanation of the manner in which the movements of the C.P.R. trains are conducted will give the public some idea of the manner in which the strike will affect the road. The system is divided into a number of districts, each district having a central office, wherein train despatchers sit at telegraph instruments and wire the hundreds of operators at the numerous stations on the road instructions as to the movements of trains. When, therefore, a freight arrives at a station, not manned by an operator, it will have to be side-tracked there until someone takes his place and obtains a message from headquarters.

The Toronto train despatchers, whose offices are located at the Union Station, have authority over all operators and trains west of Toronto to Windsor, and north as far as Owen Sound. The despatchers at Smith's Falls, supervise in a like manner that section of the road between Leaside Junction (near North Toronto station) and Montreal. Despatchers are also located at Ottawa, Montreal and other division centres.

The Toronto train despatchers are three in number, who divide the 24 hours into as many shifts. Despatcher A. L. Smith, whose watch is from 4 p.m. to 12 p.m., went off duty at 11.15 last night. Chief Despatcher Price, who has not done duty at the wires for years, took his place. At midnight, however, Mr. Price was relieved by Despatcher George Forbes, who, not being a member of the refractory organization, did not obey the Montreal command.

Chief Despatcher Price observed last evening that the company had "train despatchers to burn" and that it would not matter how many of them went out. The difficulty would arise in connection with the operators' refusal to work.

Assistant General Superintendent Williams stated that there would be no difficulty in handling the passenger trains, but admitted that the movements of freights would be handicapped.

Up to midnight the despatchers at London, Windsor and some other points still answered Toronto's "call."

The operator at Toronto Junction promptly obeyed the committee's order, and as this point is a very important one his action had an awkward result. His place was taken by Trainmaster Bell, who could not send or take a telegraph message to save his life. Consequently orders covering the movements of all trains had to be telephoned to him. A press representative sat in the despatcher's office here when Chief Price phoned him instructions about the crossing of a couple of trains, and as these orders are very complicated affairs, consist-

A reporter interviewed the Grand Trunk night despatcher to learn if the operators on that line were going out in sympathy with their C. P. R. brethren, and that official replied in the negative.

THE STRIKE AT MONTREAL.

C.P.R. Officials Issue a Statement on the Situation.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—(Special.)—This evening at 9 o'clock a strike was ordered amongst the Canadian Pacific telegraph operators, yet at the present time it is not known how many of them went out. Mr. T. M. Pierson, assistant grand chief of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, has been in town for the last few days, and with a committee laid the alleged grievances before the head officials of the company in this city. Amongst other grievances, the men claim that in many instances they have to sweep out the stations or scrub floors. The officials replied that they could not discuss these grievances unless they were presented in the proper manner, viz., through the local superintendents.

Mr. Thomas Tait, assistant general manager of the C. P. R., being interviewed, said: "A committee claiming to represent the telegraph operators employed in connection with the railway service on the several divisions sought an interview with the executive officers at Montreal for the purpose of discussing some alleged grievances. The members of the committee and the telegraph operators whom they claim to represent have declined to inform the officers of the divisions on which they are employed of these alleged grievances, as they are required to do by the regulations of the company, and as is always done by the enginemen, trainmen and other employes. This appears to be the sole and only reason for the strike which has been ordered. We do not believe that this ill-advised action of the committee will receive much countenance from the telegraph operators on the system. When the strike was ordered at 9 o'clock one operator at Windsor-street station walked out, and we are informed that two or three train despatchers and a few operators at stations of lesser importance did likewise."

Montreal, Sept. 28.—(Canadian Associated Press.)—All the train despatchers on the Canadian Pacific Railway system were ordered out on strike tonight by T. M. Pierson, Second Assistant Grand Chief of the Order of Rail- the strike will affect every operator on the strike will effect every operator on the trans-continental road from St. John, N.B., to Vancouver. The strike is the result of alleged grievances on the part of the train despatchers. Mr. Pierson, representing the order, arrived here a few days ago, and met the members of a committee, representing this branch of railway employes, who claim to have many grievances against the company. At his suggestion the members of the committee waited upon the assistant general manager and the vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway. They formulated their grievances, which cover the grounds from the smallest to the most important item.

Thus, for instance, some of the operators who are employed as station agents, complain of having to sweep out the offices, and either scrub the floors or pay a woman to do it for them. Others state that their profession is degraded because they are obliged to give an eye to the water tanks near their stations and fire up now and then to pump water for trains.

Of course, these are not the most serious complaints, as there are in many cases demands for increased pay, or statements that the former rate has been reduced. The grievance sheet is made up of individual cases of alleged cause for complaint, names being given, and the whole facts, as they appear to the men, set forth.

The deputation was not received by the two officers above named, who claim that the elementary agreement between the company and the men has been broken, inasmuch as complaint from any certain district should first of all be referred to the division superintendent in charge of that portion of the system, and then if no satisfaction is received from him, to the general superintendent, and so on to the president himself. In this case, this has not been done; none of the assistant superintendents nor any of the general superintendents having been notified of the complaints submitted to the management. The company claim not to fear the contemplated action of the men, as the whole of the train despatchers, with the exception of three or four, are firmly to be relied upon, and a large percentage of the operators do not belong to the Order or Railroad Telegraphers, so that it is possible that the committee may reconsider its action.

Mr. T. G. Shaughnessy, vice-president of the company, said: "The situation is simply this: The men know that they must go to the superintendents. They have not done so, and up to the present the question whether they will or will not is the only one we are prepared to entertain."

An effort was made to reach an amicable settlement this afternoon, but without avail, and at 9 o'clock tonight Assistant Grand Chief Pierson of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, ordered all the agents, despatchers and operators on the system who are members of the order out on strike. The order, it is claimed by Mr. Pierson, will affect over 700 men and will involve the C. P. R. system from coast to coast. Mr. Pierson, when seen to-night by the United Press correspondent, said that he had done everything in his power to effect an arrangement with the company and it was only when he found it was absolutely impossible to do so that he had ordered the strike, which had been determined upon by the committee which comprises three despatchers, four agents and operators and one straight telegrapher. The men had been suffering from a number of grievances for some time that they principally complained of, that in addition to their regular duties, which kept them employed for very long hours, and for which they received very poor pay, they were ordered to do all kinds of menial work, were discriminated against in many respects.

Mr. Pierson also charged that the C. P. R. superintendents had systematically attempted to destroy the order, which had a membership on the C. P. R. of 750 men.

Mr. Pierson said the strike was general and the order included agents, and despatchers on the system from coast to coast.

Later.—Assistant Grand Chief Pierson was kept very busy receiving and despatching messages from and to all points to-night. It is feared that the strike may interfere with traffic, although the C. P. R. officials claim that all trains are running as usual.

THE SUBLIME PORTE

Sends Out a Report in Which It is Made to Appear That the Sultan's Government is a Beneficent One.

Washington, Sept. 28.—The Turkish Legation has received from the Sublime Porte the following telegram, under yesterday's date: "The Armenian revolutionists of Pinkan, a village situated in the Province of Sivas, after putting fire to their own houses, ran away. But they returned again and put fire to the houses that had not been burned the first time. The local authorities took every precaution to extinguish the fire. The object of the revolutionists is evidently to make the people believe that there is no security in their country, but their efforts to again provoke sanguinary troubles have been frustrated, thanks to the efficient measures adopted by the Imperial Government."

The sense of security against sudden emergencies from croup and bronchitis, felt by those who are provided with a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, would be cheaply purchased at ten times the cost of that remedy. In all lung complaints, it is prompt to act and sure to cure.

When all other corn preparations fail, try Holloway's Corn Cure, no pain whatever and no inconvenience in using it.

A Wonderful Lady.

The wife of a prominent citizen who saw Miss Anna Eva Fay's marvellous entertainment at Ottawa on Saturday night last speaks of it as something really marvellous and really beyond conception. Miss Fay, who appears at the Opera House here Friday and Saturday nights next, is known all over the civilized world and also in secluded parts that have not felt the beneficial hand of Christianity and education. Miss Anna Eva Fay, the fair Mahatma, is the lady in question and she will no doubt make as great a furore in this city as she does in every city she visits.

How it Affects Peterborough—Only One Freight Train To-day.

As will be seen in another column the C. P. R. telegraph operators have all gone out on strike, and this morning the town was all excitement until the full particulars were ascertained,

The first intimation the local authorities had of the strike was when night operator James Skinner walked up to Station Agent Bamford's house at about ten o'clock last night and notified him that he was leaving his key, together with every operator along the line. Mr. Bamford immediately went down to the station and assumed charge, waiting until the midnight train had passed through.

The regular schedule passenger trains will not be affected by the strike, but freight traffic is at a standstill, only one freight train having gone through here since last night.

OBITUARY.

Death of the Father of Mrs. H. B. Meharry in Iowa.

An extract from the Keokuk, Iowa, Daily Gate City of Sept. 17th, refers to the death of Mr. Thos. Fletcher, formerly a merchant of Peterborough, and father of Mrs. H. B. Meharry, as follows:—

"An aged resident of Keokuk passed away at half-past six o'clock yesterday morning. At that hour Thomas Fletcher died at his home, 812 Franklin street, in his 85th year. He was honoured and respected and many there will be who will deplore his dissolution. His business occupation had been that of a contractor in building and masonry. He served the city well as alderman from the third ward and as a member of the Board of Education for six years. Mr. Fletcher was a native of Ireland. He was born on December 11th, 1812, and came of yeomanry stock. In 1836 he emigrated to America and for a number of years found employment in public works in Canada and New York, in the latter state having been engaged in the construction of the Erie canal. In 1855 he responded to an invitation to come to Iowa and superintend work on the old Des Moine River canal. Shortly thereafter he became a resident of Keokuk, engaging in masonry and building contracting, in which business he was for many years associated with Wm. Steele. In 1840, at Cobourg, Canada, he was united in marriage to Mary Chapman, and after her death he was married to Anstice Arrison, of Farnington, Iowa, this second marriage having been celebrated in 1855. They leave three surviving children, Mary Fletcher, of Keokuk, Mrs. H. B. Meharry, Peterborough, and Joseph Fletcher, of Beatrice, Nebraska Deceased at one time was an Episcopalian, but later affiliated with the Congregational church. He was a man of probity and general excellence of character."

A BEAR HUNT.

Warsaw Citizens have More Excitement.

This morning as Miss Maggie Fitzpatrick was crossing the road in front of her brother's residence at Warsaw, a fine young bear climbed the orchard fence just in front of her, and travelled down the road. She called to her brother, Mr. Patrick Fitzpatrick, who came running up.

The bear becoming frightened, promptly climbed up into a small pine tree, and while the tree was watched, Mr. John Blewitt, Warsaw's marksman, was sent for.

As the crowd gathered the bear began to feel uneasy and started to descend from its perch, but just as it reached the ground Mr. Blewitt arrived and put a couple of balls into it, which effectually prevented its escape. It was dead within five minutes after being shot.

Between burglars, bears and bridals Warsaw is having lots of excitement these days.

WEDDING BELLS.

A Cathedral Wedding Celebrated Early This Morning.

There was a large attendance of young people present at St. Peter's Cathedral at eight o'clock this morning to witness the nuptials of Miss Lydia Lewis, daughter of Mr. Fred Lewis, Westcott street, and Mr. Michael Costello.

The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Casey.

The bride was most charmingly costumed in a pretty gray Sicilian with garnitare of steel. She wore a velvet hat to match, trimmed with ostrich tips, steel and wings. The bridesmaid was Miss Maria Wilson, of Belleville, who was also most attractively gowned in gray. The groom was assisted by Mr. Peter Corkery.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party drove to the residence of the bride's father, where a most sumptuous repast was partaken of.

The newly-married couple are both most popular, and a beautiful and costly array of wedding gifts was displayed. Amongst those received was a handsome set of carvers from Mr. Costello's fellow-employees at Calcutt's brewery. Messrs. William Creamer and Adam Davidson, on behalf of the hotel-keepers and wine clerks, presented the couple with a handsome bedroom set and easy chair.

Mr. Costello has always been the moving spirit in his large circle of friends, and it is hoped that his new duties will not prevent his smiling face from being present as usual at innumerable social reunions on the waxen floor. His many friends will join with the EXAMINER in extending hearty congratulations to Mr. Costello in winning so attractive a bride, and in wishing both many years of connubial bliss.

They left at noon to-day for Rochester via Grand Trunk Ry. to Port Hope, where they will take the steamer North King.

WEDDED IN WINNIPEG.

Mr. Charles Hopwood, Formerly of Town, Assumes the Bonds of Matrimony.

The appended clipping from the Winnipeg Tribune, will be of interest to the friends of Mr. Charlie Hopwood, who was formerly a clerk with Mr. Robert Fair, but who now resides in Winnipeg:

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood, 354 Elgin avenue, when their only daughter, Ethel May, was united in marriage to Mr. Chas. Hopwood, of McKay Bros. & Norris.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white duchess satin, with the ever appropriate veil and orange blossoms. To the lively strains of the wedding march the young people took their places beneath a bell of flowers, where the Rev. G. R. Turk performed the ceremony. Miss Ethel Cadham assisted the bride and Mr. Bronson acted as best man. Master Frankie Wood, attired in a Fauntleroy suit of blue silk and black velvet, made a charming little page.

After the ceremony the guests, numbering about 40, sat down to a bountiful wedding repast, following which the evening was spent in social chat, when the guests had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Logan of San Francisco, uncle of the bride.

The presents were numerous and costly, among the list being some handsome hand embroidery done by the bride's mother, a dinner set from her uncle, and a tea set from Mr. Bronson, also numerous pieces of silverware and china. About 12 o'clock the bride and groom departed for their future home, 126 Edmonton street, amid showers of rice and good wishes, which showed the respect and esteem in which the happy couple are held.

WEDDED IN WARSAW.

Nuptials of Mr. John Brown, of Indian River, and Miss Ellen Clemens, of Warsaw.

A very pretty event was celebrated in the Methodist church, Warsaw, on Wednesday evening last, when Miss Ellen Clemens, youngest daughter of Mr. John Clemens, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr, John Brown, of Indian River.

A crush of the elite were tip-toe with eager interest, which was in a measure satisfied, when, as the organ pealed forth the wedding march, the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, came to the altar, where the groom, Mr. John Brown, with his groomsman, Mr. Fife, awaited them. The bride was charmingly dressed in cream cashmere silk and lace, with the customary veil and orange blossoms; while the bridesmaid, Miss Maggie Spence, was dressed in cream and Nile-green cashmere, with a half wreath of white asters.

The dainty little maid of honour, Miss McIntosh, niece of the bride, was dressed in pure white with wreath and massive bouquet of white asters and vines.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. Mr. Robinson and the organist Misses Maggie Kidd.

Among the many wedding guests were noticed Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Hyde and Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Garbutt.

The wedding party adjourned to the home of the bride's parents where a most sumptuous wedding breakfast was served.

The bride received many valuable and useful presents and she prettily expressed her thanks to the kind friends who so beautified the chrysalis of her former life. They left on the midnight train for a southern trip.—COM.

RIFLE ASSO. MATCHES.

They Will be Held This Year on October 15th.

At a meeting of the Peterborough Rifle Association last evening Mr. V. Eastwood took the chair and it was decided to hold the annual matches at the butts on October 15th.

Mr. J.B.Pentland was chosen to officiate as range officer.

The matches will be shot off under the D. R. A. rules and will be the same as last year, viz., the Association Cox Cup, Aggregate, Nursery and Extra series.

In the Aggregate match there has been a Bankers' Cup to compete for since 1877, but it was won last year by C. Curtis for the third time, entitling him to its possession. If the Bankers decide to put up another cup for competition, the name of the match will be changed from the Aggregate to the Bankers' Cup.

It was decided at the meeting last night that in order to encourage the younger marksmen of the district all new members will be give free entry this year.

THOSE DANCING GIRLS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I read with "laughing pleasure" the letter of Mr. Dumble in the EXAMINER of last night in answer to my letter of the previous evening. Mr. Dumble is right in assuming that I do not approve of the skirt dancing in question. Neither do I approve of it—I know nothing about it. I didn't see it once, not to say twice, and I cannot therefore pronounce an opinion. My letter was directed to emphasizing the doubtful wisdom of publicly condemning an exhibition of dancing, and in such a manner as to intensify the evil, if evil there were—to suggest evil where in thousands of cases there was no thought of evil. I also wished to point the unchristian character of the style of reproof—publicly made, when it should have been made directly to the offending directors on whom the responsibility rested. I accept Mr. Dumble's denial that the riotous conduct mentioned by me took place at a board meeting. I admit that my statement in this regard and in a technical and sense was not literally correct. Mr. Dumble, as a lawyer, can't avoid a little special pleading. A boy was accused of purloining apples from an orchard. He pleaded not guilty very strenuously—it was pears, not apples, that he stole. Though Mr. Dumble denies that the language ascribed was used at a board meeting, he might, with a little of my "Candor," have explained at what meeting of the church convened in reference to the dismissal or selection or call of a pastor, the epithet "liar" was used, and fisticuffs were narrowly avoided. I still maintain that the spirit of my charge was correct. I did not, as I am accused, seek to make "ungenerous statements regarding a Christian church," but I did seek to show the absurdity of a few members of a Christian church giving exemplification of the fact of Satan reproving sin. I wished to show the absurdity of church members who hadn't grace enough to prevent them turning a church gathering into a bear garden, posing as conservators of the public purity, and with a pharisaical arrogation of superior piety—administer a reproof in a manner to intensify the evil they pretended to deplore. That some of those concerned in the resolution of censure should have witnessed the condemned performance twice before denouncing it, indicates a spirit of hypocrisy that called for a reproof as public as the exhibition of it. Will Mr. Dumble, since I am not in a position to do so, specify at what particular meeting of the church he represents, the language and the conduct I charge were used and enacted? He says, "instead of riotous meetings we have had harmony." Is this meant for a Jesuitical denial of such scenes at a church meeting, simply because they did not take place at a Board meeting, but at some other meeting? I admire honesty and despise the subterfuge that a member of the Board of an influential church thinks it right to employ in conveying a false impression. I only insist on this to make good my point, that the members of a church should see that their skirts are clear before they condemn the skirts of the dancing girls employed by the directors of the Peterborough Central Exhibition.

Yours etc.,
CANDOR.

THE TURF.

Dr. G. S. Slate, of Sidney, N. S. W., recently offered through the Chicago Horseman to match his trotting horse Fritz against any harness horse in the world for $10,000 a side. L. C. Tewksberry, of New York, who now owns Robert J., the pacer, to-day sent a letter to the Chicago publication, accepting the offer.

A proposition looking to the race being brought off in Australia was also made, under the following conditions:

That the challenger place up $10,000 before Sept. 14th; that within three days after the race the full sum, $20,000, be paid to the winner; that a forfeit of $5,000 be paid by the party failing to start; the race to be in harness at mile heats, best three in five; fair day and good track; date to be within six weeks after arrival of Robert J. in Australia.

THE WHEEL.

W. C. Sanger, the big racing-man, doubtless the heaviest fast rider in the world, has had a queer run of luck this season. While no one has ever disputed Sanger's speed, they cannot comprehend how it is he is beaten so continually. But it must be remembered that Wooden Shoes is greatly handicapped. His immense bulk is a detriment to him. Never being a quick starter, he has always been forced to occupy a position well back in the line, and when the sprint for the wire begins he has several yards to make up on the field ahead of him. And to such a fine point are the riders of to-day trained that it is no easy task to gain on them when once the sprint for the wire is made. Sanger rides equally fast with the best of them, but is unfortunate in getting a position. At Springfield last year he was the hero of the professionals. This season he has been obliged to take a back seat. Sanger is the only man who ever defeated Zimmerman in any number of races, and has this to point to with pride. But he will never be able to contest against the alert riders who are his opponents to-day. He may run in for seconds and thirds, and even a first occasionally, but he will never be a champion.

Nearly all of the champion pugilists ride bicycles and consider them adapted to their form of training. Jim Corbett started the craze by appearing on a wheel at Ashbury Park. Joe Choynski is a fast road-rider, while Bob Fitzsimmons is never more content than when astride of a bicycle. George Dixon rides one, as does Tommy Ryan. "Kid" McCoy got strong in the legs by making the pedals move. John L. Sullivan is an advocate of the wheel, and makes no bones about saying so. Jack McAuliffe is seen around Brooklyn on a wheel, and enjoys the sensations he derives from the sport. Most of the feather and lightweights are bicycle riders, and have no end of fun wheeling about in the vicinity of their training quarters. In fact, the bicycle has gotten to be a necessity with most of them.

In spite of the comment that has been made concerning the inferior purses that are put up in Europe, the times are exceedingly bright for enterprising racing men in France, as is illustrated in the case of Jacquelin, who from January 1st to July 15th, won 55,000 francs, which is $11,000 in Canadian money. It is doubtful if any of America's fast crowd succeed in approximating this effort. Jacquelin has as many competitors in his country as there are in America, and no doubt is obliged to work just as hard as either Butler, Cooper or Bald.

One of the largest wheels ever attempted is one which a western firm is reported to be manufacturing for a wheeling club in Brooklyn. It is to be called a quadracycle, and will seat 20 persons. The idea of the club in having it built is to afford an opportunity for all the members of the club to take a ride together, the club's membership being limited to 20. In construction it resembles two tandems each built for 10 riders, the riders sitting in two parallel rows of 10. The separate frames are joined together with ball and socket joints, closed top and bottom, but open at the side to allow of free lateral action. The gear is about 73 front sprocket and 100 rear. The machine will be 18 feet long and four wide, and weigh 600 pounds.

VICTORIA COUNTY CHEESE BOARD.

Nearly 1,000 Boxes Boarded Thursday—Salesmen Objected to the Price Offered by the Buyers and Adjourned for an Hour.

The regular fortnightly meeting of the Lindsay cheese board was held on Thursday morning.

The buyers present were Messrs. Flavelle, Whitton and Fitzgerald. The following factories boarded the number of boxes set opposite:

Star	79
Lornerville	65
Cameron	62
Dunsford	61
Mariposa	67
Derryville	40
Cambray	61
Janetville	40
Fenelon Falls	55
North Verulam	47
Minden	60
Leaskdale	60
Valentia	80
North Ops	40
Kinmount	—
Reaboro	30
Bobcaygeon	85
Maple Leaf	45
Ingoldsby	—

President Robertson referred to the fact that 9⅞c had been paid Wednesday at Peterborough, and expressed the hope that the buyers came prepared to offer as good, if not a better price.

Mr. Whitton then offered 9⅞c for selections, and Messrs. Flavelle and Fitzgerald refusing to better it considerable discussion took place. Mr. Fitzgerald agreed to communicate with his firm in Montreal, and it was finally decided to adjourn for an hour to await the arrival of a message.

At one o'clock the salesmen and buyers reassembled. Mr. Whitton renewed his offer of 9⅞c, and named Fenelon Falls, Cameron, Janetville, Derryville, North Verulam and Maple Leaf, all accepting; he then agreed to give 9⅞c for Reaboro, as demanded by the salesman, the lot making 369 boxes.

Mr. Fitzgerald, who had received a telegram in the interval, raised Mr. Whitton's bid of 9⅞c to 9 7-16c for further selections.

President Robertson did not think a sixteenth was a proper bid under the circumstances, but the salesmen could please themselves.

Mr. Whitton next offered 9⅜c. for Star, but Mr. Fitzgerald and others refused to consider the bid a proper one. After some further wrangling Mr. Fitzgerald rose in wrath, accusing Mr. Whitton of unfair methods—if he could not get Star he would make no selections. After a time he was induced to resume his seat, when Mr. Whitton offered to cancel his selections on condition that the board adjourn for two weeks, and that no sales were make off the board in the meantime.

Some of the patrons favouring the idea and other opposing it, a vote was taken, and those in favour of selling carried the day.

Mr. Flavelle and others suggested that the board should establish a ruling on the point objected to by Mr. Fitzgerald, as the present rules do not cover the case.

Mr. Sinclair then moved, seconded by Mr. Cruess, that in future when one buyer is selling off, no other buyer be permitted to interject a higher bid.—Carried.

Mr. Fitzgerald then secured Bobcaygeon, Cambray, Mariposa and Star at 9 7 16c.—in all 332 boxes.

Mr. Whitton offered 9⅜c. for the balance of the board—less than 300 boxes—but the factories refused and were given permission to sell off the board.

The board then adjourned.

The Clerk was instructed to purchase for the Town Hall three armchairs and three common chairs. On considering the petition, laid over from last meeting, re-appointing an arbitrator to change the bounds of Union School section, No. 12 and 18, Asphodel and Otonabee, by adding certain lots to said section, Mr. Birdsall was heard, urging the appointment of an arbitrator, and Mr. Edwards, of Peterborough, was present on behalf of the owner of said lots, opposing it, urging among other reasons that the petition is not according to the School Act, and any action taken upon it would be illegal. THEY MUSTN'T BE SOLD.

(Fenelon Falls Gazette.)

Some of our sporting readers may not be aware (though many are) of the provisions of sub-section 5 of section 4 of the Ontario Game Laws, which is as follows:

"No person shall by himself, his servant, clerk or agent, expose or keep for sale, or directly, upon any pretense or device, sell or barter, or in consideration of the purchase of any other property, give to any other person any snipe, woodcock or partridge, no matter where killed or procured, before the 15th day of September, 1897. 55 V. c. 58, s.6; 57 V. c. 57, s. 1."

Wild turkey and quails are never, and woodcock very rarely, seen in this locality, and snipe, though not so scare, are very seldom shot, but partridges are brought into the village every day, and it is well that those who shoot them should know that they cannot dispose of any of them, except by direct gift without breaking the law. It appears to us that the restriction imposed upon sportsmen by the above quoted sub-section is "frivolous and vexatious," and that the entire game laws are framed more in the interest of generations yet unborn than of the present generation. "Why should we be so solicitous about posterity? What has posterity ever done for us?" asked the celebrated Irishman, Sir Boyle Roche, and we are inclined to echo the question. Those who come after us will no doubt have many good things of which we know nothing, and why should we, surrounded by easily-accessible partridges, be hampered by all sorts of restrictions in order to defer as long as possible the extinction of the plump and toothsome little birds. In spite of all the laws that can be passed the time will come when partridges will become so scarce that only the rich will be able to afford them, and we don't see that it much matters whether that time arrives fifty or a hundred years from now. Besides it is only people who have tasted partridge who want partridge, and people who are able and willing to pay for them cannot have them unless they get them as a gift or can shoot them themselves. The clause quoted is probably intended to prevent pot-hunting; but pot-hunting is not engaged in when game is scarce, as it does not pay, while prohibiting the sale of birds does not abate in the slightest degree the zeal with which sportsmen pursue them.

Disturbed Her Nap.

A minister named Pettigrew who, on asking why his flock were so regardless of his exhortation to them to remain awake during the sermons, was told that his own wife set the example, but as she sat below the pulpit she was out of the minister's sight. On this it was arranged that on the following Sunday the informant should hold up his finger when Mrs. Pettigrew succumbed to Morpheus.

The preacher bent forward and saw his consort enjoying a snug nap. With a tremendous blow on the pulpit he aroused her from her slumber, and as the lady, who, according to the legend, was destitute of both fortune, and beauty, looked up, he addressed her in accents of wrath: "Sit ye up there, Jean Pettigrew! Ye are na bonnie; I nae teach wi' ye, and gin ye hae na heavenly grace about ye I hae gotter an unca bad bargain o' ye!"—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Vegetarian Beef Tea.

The following recipe is said to make a very savory beverage, and by vegetarians is declared to be "vastly superior in sustaining properties" to beef tea made from meat.

Half a pound of haricot beans should be washed and put to stew in an earthenware jar containing a quart of hot water. Half a small onion should be added and the ingredients must simmer steadily for three hours, when about a pint and a half of liquid will remain. The mealy part of the beans must not be allowed to break into the liquid and the beans must be strained off when the mixture is taken from the fire. The remaining half of the small onion should then be sliced and fried with an ounce of butter and sprinkled with pepper and salt. The slices when browned should be added to the broth, which must then be strained again.

A Modern Diana.

A modern Diana has been discovered along the Upper St. Francis River, in Missouri. Her name is Katherine Whelply, and she lives with her mother in a cabin boat. Miss Whelply is a shapely girl of 17, of lithe figure, bronze hair, and the brownest eyes that ever looked along a gun barrel. Those who have seen the girl shoot declare that she can see a squirrel further than anyone, and is a dead shot. The mother uses an old muzzle-loading shotgun that has seen service for years, and she is a fair hand with the weapon.

"We jest trap an' hunt in the winter, me an' Kate," she says; "an' we make a purty good livin'. Don't keer what the world says. We're free as the birds, an' that's jest why we're outen the woods. Kate kin outshoot an' outshine any gal in the world. We ain't 'frail nobody nor nothin', an' allus 'tend our bizness."

Mamma (reprovingly)—"You should not say you 'love' cake, say 'like.' Do not say 'awfully,' say 'very.' Do not say 'nice,' say 'good.' And, by the way, the word 'just' should be omitted, also the 'oh.' Now, my dear, repeat the sentence correctly."

Little Dot—"I like cake; it's very good."

Mamma—"That's better."

Little Dot—(with an air of disgust)—"Sounds as if I was talkin' about bread."—Pearson's Weekly.

PHILLIES OUTCLASSED.

Australian Cricketers Defeated Them by an Innings and 71 Runs.

Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—The second of the series of three cricket matches between Philadelphia and the Australians was finished this afternoon and was an easier victory for the visitors than even the first match. The Australians in one innings scored 422 runs. The Philadelphians then went in and made 144, and were compelled to follow on. Their second inning netted them 207, making a total of 351 runs for their two innings and giving the Antipodeans the match by an innings and 71 runs. In the match finished to-day the Australians showed their real form, and completely outclassed the local cricketers in every department of the game. The third and concluding match of the series will be started next Friday.

The kidneys are talking trouble.
Here is some Norwood talk:

Mr. George Taylor, well known in Norwood, has this to say about Doan's Kidney Pills:—

"For a great many years I have been a sufferer from kidney disease. Terrible pain in my side and back made my life a burden. The urine was a dark wine colour, and I was greatly troubled with frequent urination. My sleep was destroyed because of this annoying trouble.

"I have taken scores of medicines, but could get no relief, and thought that I would never be cured. Happily I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, and got a box at J. C. Moffatt's drug store, and have continued their use for one month.

"I am thankful to say as a result that they have fixed me up. I feel like another person. I do not now have to get up at night, and in fact am entirely cured.

"I think they are the grandest medicine ever placed before the public, and I heartily recommend them to all sufferers from kidney disorder of any kind."

PULLMAN HOUSE

Frank Fairen, PROPRIETOR. | 28 George Street Peterborough.

Fresh air and exercise are all right, Boys, but you want a little something occasionally for the stomach's sake. You can always count on getting it good at the Pullman. But be temperate, Boys, and let your motto be "moderation."

Why is it that one man is old and decrepid at 45, and another hale and hearty at 80? The accident of birth has something to do with it. Some men are born stronger than others, but frequently the strong man becomes weak and the weak man strong. It depends on the care he takes of himself. When the man who runs an engine hears an unusual sound about it, he stops immediately and looks it up. If he finds a little looseness, or a little crack, it is remedied immediately. If it isn't, there will come a break presently—a break that will wreck the engine. Likely as not, this same man will totally ignore the call for help from some one of his own organs. He will let the trouble grow and grow until it lays him out in bed. If he keeps on working with a damaged body, he will soon wear it out. The strain on his nerves will tell on his constitution. He will not be hearty when he is old. The chances are he never will be old at all. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery restores health. It is not only a cure for disease, it is a preventive. Whenever a man feels that he is not quite as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he is losing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs the "Golden Medical Discovery." No matter how his trouble shows itself, this wonderful remedy will cure him. We say it is wonderful because of its wonderful results, and not because there is anything supernatural about it—not because it does anything that is unexpected, or anything which its discoverer did not mean it to do. That it cures many different so-called diseases is the most natural thing in the world when you understand that nearly all diseases spring from the same thing—bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure. No disease of the blood can withstand its action.

Learn more about it from Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, which will be sent free on receipt of thirty-one (31) one-cent stamps to cover cost of customs and mailing only. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

GREAT SEAL OF ENGLAND.

Interesting Description of How It Was Made and Its Customs.

Many people doubtless know that upon the accession of a new monarch to the throne of England a new seal is struck and the old one is cut into four pieces and deposited in the Tower of London. In former times the fragments of these great seals were distributed among certain poor people of religious houses. When Her Majesty Queen Victoria ascended the throne of England, the late Benjamin Wyon, R.A., the chief engraver of Her Majesty's mint, designed the beautiful work of the present great Seal of England. The details of the design are: obverse, an equestrian figure of the Queen, attended by a page, Her Majesty wearing over a habit a flowing and sumptuous robe, and a collar of the Order of the Garter. In her right hand she bears the sceptre, and on her head is placed a regal tiara. The attendant page, with his bonnet in his hand, looks up to the Queen, who is gracefully restraining the impatient charger, which is richly decorated with plumes and trappings. The legend "Victoria Dei Gratia Britanniarum Regina, Fidei Defensor," is engraved in Gothic letters, the spaces between the words being filled with heraldic roses. The reverse side of the seal shows the Queen, royally robed and crowned, holding in her right hand the sceptre, and in her left the orb, seated upon a throne beneath a niched Gothic canopy; on each side is a figure of Justice and Religion; and in the exergue the royal arms and crown, the whole encircled by a wreath or border of oak and roses.

The seal itself is a silver mould in two parts, technically called a pair of dies. When an impression is to be taken or cast, the parts are closed to receive the melted wax, which is poured through an opening at the top of the seal. As each impression is attached to a document by a ribbon or slip of parchment, its ends are put into the seal before the wax is poured in, so that when the hard impression is taken from the dies the ribbon or parchment is neatly affixed to it. The impression of the seal is six inches in diameter and three-fourths of an inch in thickness.—Harper's Round Table.

Early Fall Fashions.

Some of the rich ribbons show artistic effects in the combination of navy blue and deep cardinal.

From the cheapest serge to the handsomest of velvet black goods will be worn this fall in heavy, medium and transparent weights.

Few black, close-fitting cloth jackets are seen. They are generally light tan color. Box sacques will grow in favor as the season advances.

Sleeveless jackets are a rage in Paris and are becoming popular here. They are finished with epaulets of lace and Asiatic filo embroidery.

Velvet, satin, taffeta, moire, brocade, chiffon, net, mosseline, gauze, cheviot, serge, Eudora, mohair, broadcloth, camel's-hair fabrics, and many other fancy dress goods will be worn in solid and figured effects.

PHILLIES BADLY BEATEN.

The Australian Captain Took Off His Fast Bowlers in Order to Give Them a Show.

Philadelphia, Sept. 26.—The exhibition of batting given by the Philadelphians to-day was in glaring contrast to that of the Antipodeans yesterday. With the exception of Lester, Clark and Wood, the home players in the first innings were evidently in wholesome dread of the bowling of Jones and McKibben, and batted without freedom or confidence. Clark and Lester played good and steady cricket for their scores, and deserved what they made.

Jones and McKibben were so unplayable by the Philadelphians and wickets were going down so fast that Capt. Trott took his two crack bowlers out and allowed the last two Philadelphians to score some runs. The fielding of the Australians was excellent and the playing of their field was the best ever seen here.

The Philadelphians, in the second innings, with the confidence of despair, hit more freely and showed much better form than in the first. When stumps were drawn for the night Wood and Coates were at the bat and the former hit 11 and Coates 30, which he put together by hard hitting. The match will be finished Monday, the home players having 189 to make to save an innings defeat, and they have already given up the task. The weather was beautiful and about 6000 persons were present. Score:

You'll enjoy the Winter through all its varying moods if you have your clothing interlined with Fibre Chamois. This wonderful fabric is so light that you never notice its presence in a garment till you get out into the wind and cold, then you realize that you are cosily warm even tho' lightly clad. Fibre Chamois is a complete non-conductor of heat and cold, not the strongest wintry blast can penetrate it, nor can the natural warmth of the body escape through it—This explanation and the fact that it sells for 25c a yard gives the whole story, and easily proves that for health and comfort's sake you can't do without it.

CANCER CURED
—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
by the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.

BROGUES AND SLANG.

THEIR POWERFUL INFLUENCE IN MODIFICATIONS IN OUR LANGUAGE

A Wide Field for Speculation—The Great Changes of the Past Glanced at in Attempting to Forecast the Future of the English Spoken Tongue.

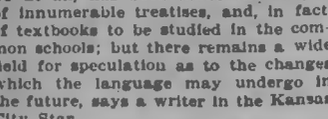
What the English language has been in the past, and indeed how it came to be at all, has been made the subject of innumerable treatises, and, in fact, of textbooks to be studied in the common schools; but there remains a wide field for speculation as to the changes which the language may undergo in the future, says a writer in the Kansas City Star.

It is a reasonable supposition that whatever has changed may change further, and we all know that English has undergone numerous alterations. The Lord's prayer in the sort of English Wyclif used would undoubtedly be intelligible to heavenly ears, but hardly to those of a modern English-speaking person. We talk about the English of Shakespeare as being our own, yet some ingenious person has supported the theory that the English of Shakespeare's time as spoken was equivalent to the Irish brogue of today and that Hamlet's soliloquy when first pronounced "in public on the stage" sounded as "Shamus O'Brien" does now when given by the ordinary elocutionist. The historical theory underlying this is, of course, that the Irish continue to speak English as they heard it when extensively introduced in Ireland in the days of Elizabeth, while in England and other English-speaking countries it has changed to the "English as she is spoke" at present, whatever that may be.

The English language, more especially as spoken, has suffered change, and why should it not? An American grandfather and grandson seated at the same table do not speak the language with precise similarity and why should they? The people who complain of the "corruption" and "perversion" of the English language, if by those expressions they mean its change, murmur without sufficient cause. A language is but a human instrument, which may be changed, amended, enlarged and restricted at the will of those who use it in their business. Possibly if Chaucer could revisit the earth he might pick up a volume of Tennyson's poems and conclude that English had been mightily "perverted" and "corrupted" since the time he wrote verses. But would he have any just ground for complaint?

But admitting that the English language, as we know it in America, has yet to undergo change, what is likely to be the nature of the change or changes? There is a colloquial expression, "He talks like a book," and it may be said that the great change to be made in colloquial English, in America at least, will be in the general conformation of spoken English to "book English." The effect of this will be the gradual dying out and loss of sectional and local dialects, which will be a loss indeed. The world will be the more monotonous when the man from Maine speaks the English language with the same pronunciation and accent as the man from Alabama; when the colored American from "Cherokee Georgia" speaks the same English as his brother in black from Savannah, neither of them using what we vaguely call the "negro dialect" of to-day. Yet there is reason to believe that such a time will come, and from a very evident cause—viz., the establishment throughout the country, and in every part and portion of it, of the same system of common schools. Why should not a generation speak alike or approximate a common standard which uses the same spelling book and reader? The "book English" being the same throughout the United States, spoken English will approach conformity.

The English language is not merely a changing language, but a growing one. Every new edition of every standard dictionary is proof of this. With the years we gather words and words. Are we to infer from this that the ordinary vocabulary of the talking citizen is to be greatly increased in the future? Not necessarily. The added words are largely technical and scientific, resulting from the immense acquisitions of knowledge in the field of the arts and sciences. The list of words which an English-speaking man absolutely must have to express joy, grief, hatred, contempt, affection and so on has not been materially increased. This may be seen in the history of profanity. Our ancestors indulged in imprecations and elaborate blasphemies unknown in this age, but what may be called "plain swearing" is in the same terms as for ages past and wherever English is spoken.



WHEN RUN DOWN GET BUILT UP. That's our advice to every weakly, sickly, ailing woman and girl, and there's nothing equal to INDIAN WOMAN'S BALM for purifying the blood, toning up the nerves and building up the health.

Oom Paul.

Here is another characteristic story about the President of the Transvaal. In the days when Johannesburg was merely Ferreira's mining camp, Kruger was one day riding over the Witwatersrand in ordinary burgher attire. He off-saddled near a wagon owned by a German. The Teuton did not recognize the President, and held forth on the many things he would do were he ruler of the state. Suddenly Oom Paul, to the great astonishment of the German, who was a very small man, took off his coat, and holding it out toward the stranger, said: "Put this on." "But," replied the latter, "It's too big." Just so," replied His Honor, with a grim smile, "I'm Paul Kruger, and it's not too big for me."

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

A Crushed Statesman.

Thomas Bartlett of Vermont was renowned for his flights of elaborately rhetorical oratory, and a seat in congress was the special goal of his ambition. When he was elected a story of how he had been silenced by an audience of college boys got around, and, on the occasion of the new member's first appearance, the house was prepared to receive him in anything but a serious spirit. Rising to indorse a proposition which had just been vigorously attacked, he began to declaim impressively:

"Sir, were it not for the rules of the House, I would pour upon the opponents of this measure the vials of my wrath——"

He got no further. Mr. Polk of Tennessee was on his feet in a moment, moving with every appearance of eager interest, "that the rules be suspended and the gentleman allowed to pour!"

Such a disconcerting burst of laughter followed that the unfortunate orator could only subside wrathfully into silence and his seat.—Argonaut.

"THE BRYAN BATTLE CRY."

Among the numerous election songs now prevalent in the United States, is the one given below which seems to have the call for popularity with the western followers of "The Boy Orator":

No crown of thorns you shall behold
On labor's brow; no cross of gold
For those who dig and delve and mold,
Like slaves to heartless masters sold.

Lo, how it shines, the precious gem
Set in the queen's grand diadem!
No wonder that it bright appears,
When made of labor's sweat and tears.

In mansions made of marble dwell
The wealthy and the proud, but tell
Who made the wealth turned thus to spoils
If not the crowd that bleeds and toils.

The glowing gold sure is produced
By brain and brawn together fused
In toil's retort, and then, escaped
From it, into the dollar shaped.

Some pride themselves of learning, but
Forget the source, forget the hut,
Forget that toil its fruits transmutes
In making men of thoughtless brutes.

Then tell me why dead matter may
The living soul of labor sway,
And tell me, too, ye mighty, why
Ye honest labor crucify?

Why should the brow the sweat of which
Has crowned with gold the idle rich,
Itself be made, while joy it mourns,
To wear a crown of stinging thorns?

Enlisted in the sacred cause
Of labor's right and juster laws,
We by the stars and stripes now swear
That no such crown our brows shall wear.

And, by the name we holy hold,
We swear we'll melt that cross of gold
In righteous wrath, now kindled by
The ringing Bryan battle cry.

A YOUNG WIFE DEAD

And Her Husband Arrested on Suspicion.

A SENSATION AT HAGERSVILLE.

Robert Carpenter's Wife Was Found Dead Under Peculiar Circumstances, and Coroner Heath of Brantford is Holding an Inquest Into the Mysterious Affair.

Hagersville, Sept. 28.—There is much excitement among the large crowd of people gathered at the place where Robert Carpenter lives on the edge of the Indian reservation, about two miles from Hagersville. Coroner Heath of Brantford, with a jury, is holding an inquest on the body of Carpenter's wife, who was found dead on Thursday morning amid circumstances which look so suspicious that the general talk is that a murder has been committed. Carpenter is living on a rented farm on the Indian land, and has but a humble home. He was married last month to a Hagersville girl named Lillia Winkworth, who was about 22 years of age. They did not seem to get along well together. He is said to have a violent temper and a bad tongue.

Witnesses swear that they heard them quarreling on Wednesday in the morning and at noon. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon Carpenter drove to Hagersville to the house of his cousin, Mrs. Giles. He remained there some time and then drove home, Mrs. Giles accompanying him. They found Mrs. Carpenter dead in the bed. Carpenter brought Dr. McDonald of Hagersville, who believes that the woman had been dead some hours before his arrival. Next day (Thursday) Carpenter decided to have the funeral and asked Mr. J. H. Scott, the registrar, for a burial permit. This was refused unless Dr. McDonald would give his certificate. Carpenter went away for a little time but returned, saying that he had obtained the verbal consent of the doctor to the burial. The registrar then granted the permit. He, however, learned afterwards from Dr. McDonald that Carpenter's statement was untrue, that the doctor held that the circumstances looked suspicious, and that he could not give a certificate. The registrar then withdrew the burial permit and telegraphed Coroner Heath of Brantford for instructions.

The coroner, after making enquiries, ordered an inquest, which was commenced on Friday, but was adjourned until to-day at 10 o'clock to receive the report of the post mortem examination. The inquest is not yet finished. The post mortem was held by Dr. Jones of Hagersville. He reports that there was no organic disease, and believes her death may have resulted from the wounds found in several places on the head and body, mentioning the particularly extensive bruises on the right and left temples and a severe indentation above the crest of the ilium of an inch and a half, which must have been caused by a kick.

Yesterday Detective Adams of Brantford had a warrant out for Carpenter's arrest, which was promptly executed. Mrs. Carpenter was buried in Springvale Cemetery on Saturday. It is reported that Carpenter has a wife living in Brantford. This, if true, would add the crime of bigamy to his already unenviable reputation

Woman's Protector.

Thousands of the Fair Sex Are Deeply Indebted to Paine's Celery Compound.

Thousands of the healthiest, brightest and best looking women in Canada are deeply indebted to Paine's Celery Compound for the blessings of health.

It is well known that Paine's Celery Compound is woman's best friend when digestive vigour fails. It renews and builds up her system when she is weak, nervous, sleepless, despondent, melancholic and broken-down. It is the only medicine that can banish her rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney complaints and blood diseases.

There is not the slightest reason why any woman should continue in suffering, when Paine's Celery Compound, that source of new life, can be so easily procured.

Weak, sickly and disease-laden women are easily pointed out in any gathering or assembly. They excite our pity, but can never command our admiration. It is the healthy woman, with bright face, sparkling eyes, and quick, firm step that both men and women delight to praise and honour.

Paine's Celery Compound quickly restores to sickly women all the charms that attract attention and admiration. This great medicine is truly woman's best friend in her time of danger and sickness, and does more for her than all the efforts of doctors. Bear in mind that "Paine's" is the kind that makes people well; imitations and substitutes will only aggravate your malady—perhaps endanger your life.

No Other Remedy.

No other remedy cures summer complaint, diarrhœa, dysentery, etc., so promptly and quiet pain so quickly as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is a pocket doctor for tourists, travellers, etc.

MARGARET JEFFERSON MARRIED.

A Granddaughter of the Celebrated Actor, Joseph Jefferson, Wedded to Glen McDonough of New York.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., Sept. 28.—Miss Margaret, daughter of Charles B. Jefferson, and granddaughter of the veteran actor, Joseph Jefferson, was united in marriage to Glen McDonough of New York at noon here to-day. The wedding was at the residence of the bride's father, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Herman Page, of Fall River, in the presence of about 50 guests. The decorations were very fine, and were in green and yellow, comprising chiefly palms and roses.

William W. Jefferson, a son of the veteran actor, was best man, and Miss Ada Wood of Boston was the maid of honor. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland, who are personal friends of the Jeffersons, were present. They arrived in their carriage from Gray Gables, a few minutes before the wedding, and remained but a short time after the ceremony. They recognized some of their friends present, and were introduced to others, and conversed quite freely with all, after which they were again driven to their home.

A Question.

How can we raise more corn to the acher? Why, of course by using Putman's Painless Corn Extractor. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor has given universal satisfaction. For it is sure, safe and painless. Like every article of real merit it has a host of imitators and we would specially warn the public to guard against those dangerous substitutes offered for the genuine Putnam's Extractor N. C. LINING UP

AFTER THE FAIRS.

Our Prize Clothing.

Our Clothing has had the call at all the Fairs. It was nothing new to find the Directors decorating our display with the Red Prize Tickets. It would have been a surprise if we didn't capture First Prize—not because competition was weak, but because the Clothing could not be bettered in Canada. The reputation of the big store was at stake, and we're more than proud to have deserved the good opinion of the directors as well as the thousands of men folk at the Fairs.

Now we're lining up for a rattling big fall business. We've had a good start already, but the price cards are becoming a more interesting study every day, and the figures startling enough to bring us the trade of the masses.

Merchants' Bank of Canada, Senesac v. Vermont Central Railway, Lefebvre v Aubry, Montreal Rolling Mills v. Corcoran.

The Senate and Commons had a friendly rifle match on the Rideau ranges this morning, the Commoners winning by 10 points. Following are the scores:

Senators—McInnes (B.C.) 84, Bolduc 76, Reid 67, Poirier 65, Boulton 81, Kirchhoffer 36, Power 41; total 450.

M.P.'s—Cowan 60, Hodgins 56, Casey 66, Stubbs 78, McInnes 84, Domville 60, Burnett 56; total 460.

The Agricultural Committee this morning considered the report presented by Dr. Sproule of the sub-committee with regard to the recommendations to the Government on the subjects of cold storage and the modification of the quarantine regulations to allow importation of pure-bred cattle. After some discussion the report, which was very carefully prepared and sets forth the needs of the Canadian farmer, was adopted and a motion was adopted calling on the Minister of Agriculture to secure the recognition in the United States of Canadian registration of cattle. Parson Douglas, from Assiniboia, wanted British Columbia to be kept as a preserve for Northwest farmers. The Conservative members chaffed him greatly for his protectionist tendencies.

The Debates Committee of the Commons to-day selected Messrs. Geoffrion and Peland of Montreal with Mr. Fiset of Rimouski as translators to succeed those dismissed last week.

The Nordheimer divorce bill has passed the Miscellaneous Private Bills Committee.

Mr. Justice Gwynne, who has been absent in England during the summer, has returned, and will be on the bench at the approaching session.

IN THE COMMONS.

Supplementary Estimates Under Consideration in Committee of Supply—Some Objections Offered.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—(Special.)—In the House to-day Sir Henri Joly explained that the other evening he had stated in 1879, when the new staff of officers for the weights and measures service was appointed, none of the officers so employed under Mr. Mackenzie's regime were re-appointed. Since making that statement he had found he was in error. Seven of the old staff appear to have been re-appointed out of sixty-seven officers appointed by the Conservatives. In justice to the House he felt it necessary to make this correction.

The House then went into Committee of Supply on the supplementary estimates.

Opposition was offered to the vote of $2000 for an extra county court judge in Manitoba, the excuse for which, as given by the Solicitor-General, being that representations had been made by the Attorney-General to the effect that the work necessitated an additional judge. Mr. Fitzpatrick said that the salary might be dropped next session, as the appointment was only provisional.

On the item of $3000 for "commissions for investigating the affairs of the penitentiaries of Canada," Mr. Rogers (Patron) approved of the proposal to investigate the affairs of the Kingston Penitentiary. It was a source of great expense to the country, and the popular impression was that the prisoners were too well treated in it—at least instances were frequent of convicts asking to be sent there rather than to the Central Prison—as well as of persons perpetrating minor crimes in order to be sent back to the Penitentiary. The item, however, was allowed to stand.

On the item of $1450 "to pay arrears of subscriptions to papers, reviews and other publications, 1889-96," for the Public Works Deparment, a sharp discussion took place. Mr. Tarte declared the department was in arrears to that amount to newspapers throughout the country.

On Mr. Tarte's explanation that if subscriptions were not paid up the papers could not be discontinued, the appropriation was voted.

Mr. Wallace strongly objected to the item of $5000 for erecting a building at the Three Rivers Exhibition to accommodate the Experimental Farm exhibit. It was creating a bad precedent and would lead to similar demands from all parts of Canada.

Mr. Fisher replied that the building was arranged for by the late Government.

Sir Adolphe Caron, in whose constituency the building has been erected, expressed his regret that Mr. Wallace should not take a broader view of this matter. The building would be an object lesson to the farmers of the locality.

Mr. McMullen urged Mr. Wallace to try and get a similar building erected in Woodbridge Fair grounds. (Hear, hear.)

After some further talk the item passed.

Considerable progress was made, the militia and canal items being considered. The committee reported and the House adjourned at 12.55.

LEPROSY IN MONTREAL.

A Chinaman Died There on Sunday From the Loathsome Disease, So a Coroner's Jury Found.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—(Special.)—Lee Tung, who died so suddenly at the General Hospital on Sunday, was a leper. Tung came to Montreal in May last and lived at different quarters of the city, but does not appear to have followed any occupation. On Sunday he was unable to get down to breakfast, and in the afternoon he was removed to the General Hospital, but died before receiving any medical attention. A coroner's jury inquired into the case this morning, and returned the following verdict: "We find that Lee Tung died at Montreal on Sept. 27 of blood poisoning, caused by leprosy. We would strongly recommend the different Boards of Health of the province to take all necessary precautions to prevent the introduction of this disease amongst us."

To-day Isaac Bastien was sentenced to 20 years in St. Vincent de Paul for homicide and John Belzer to 7 years for incendiarism.

ASSYRIAN OVERDUE.

The Allan Liner Should Have Reached St. John's, Nfld., Two Days Ago—Caught in the Storm.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 29.—Seven different vessels that were in Thursday's gale put in here yesterday. It is feared that some crafts foundered. The Allan Line steamer Assyrian, from Glasgow, is now two days overdue, and must have been caught in the same storm.

The Whiteway Government confesses that they were forced into issuing a proclamation forbidding local fishermen to compete with the French on the treaty coast by orders from the British Cabinet. Thousands of persons are now destitute in consequence. The Government are being roundly denounced for their acquiescence in the order.

Tynan Will be Held for a While.

New York, Sept. 29.—A special to The Journal from London says: Authoritative advices from Paris are to the effect that Tynan will be released immediately after the Czar's departure from France. Minister Eustis has done his best, but the decision to postpone his release is deemed irrevocable.

The Farm-Home Lawn.

There are but few things which, at small expense, add so much to the appearance of a farm-home as a well-kept lawn. In order that it may aid materially in beautifying the place, it is not necessary that the lawn be either large in area or elaborate in design. It may be very small and very simple, yet if it is kept clean, and the grass short and even, it will greatly add to the attractiveness of the home to which it belongs. Such a lawn almost any farmer can have simply by taking care of it. The beauty of the lawn itself, to say nothing of the improved appearance of the farm, will pay most liberally for the little time and labor required to keep it in good condition.—Rural World.

$11,000 a Ton.

The market price of whalebone is now something like $11,000 a ton, and it is appreciating in value all the time. This leads an English paper jokingly to suggest the adoption of a whalebone currency, for there is no chance of an oversupply of the article, and it can not be imitated.

THE GREAT STRIKE.

C.P.R. Freight Service Somewhat Crippled.

PASSENGER TRAINS ARE RUNNING

The West Suffering More Than the East—Chief Pierson Tells the Story of the Men—Mr. J. W. Leonard Says the Strike is About Over on His Division.

Toronto, Sept. 30.

The strike continues to more or less interfere with the movement of trains upon all divisions of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Train despatchers and telegraph operators are reported "out" all along the line, and many stations on various sections of the road are unmanned.

The railway authorities, however, are making great efforts to cope with the emergency, and they are now confident that the strikers will get the worst of the deal.

As far as the O. & Q. division of the road is concerned, the chief officials say that they are able to cope with the difficulty, and that the back of the lock-out is about broken. Assistant Superintendent Williams left here yesterday morning and went over the road as far as Windsor, whence he telephoned last evening that, though some men had gone out, the western section of the line was in a pretty satisfactory condition. He reported that between London and Windsor alone twenty-two of the dissatisfied men had resumed their duties.

Thirty new men were taken on by the company at Toronto alone yesterday and sent out to man some of the vacated posts. From Montreal it is learned that 30 extra operators were despatched to points in Quebec. Though G. A. Joyce and A. L. Smith, two of the local train despatchers, have joined the strikers, their places have been filled by other men, and it is stated that the despatchers at Smith's Falls and the other division centres are at their desks.

The C.P.R. managed yesterday to run all its passenger trains which were scheduled to leave or arrive at Toronto, but many of them were from a few minutes to several hours late. The express from Owen Sound, due here at 8.20, did not turn up till 9 o'clock, and on its arrival it was learned that 15 out of the 30 stations between that town and this city were minus operators.

The Ottawa train, timed to get here at 7 p.m., was over two hours late, and one of the trainmen stated to The World that at many points between the Capital and the Queen City the operators were not at work.

It was 10.45 before the Windsor express, due at 8.30, pulled into the Union Station. At some of the stopping places on the route the men were reported out and the delay of the train was occasioned by the strike. Owing to the difficulty of sending instructions along the line, the train was held for two hours at Belle River, in order to pass a west-bound express from Toronto, which was also away behind time.

Questioned as to what success they were meeting with in handling freights, the officials asserted that in this immediate district a blockade had been avoided. They were unable to say, however, how goods trains were being moved at Windsor and other chief centres.

Considerable perturbation was occasioned the train despatchers by the receipt of a message, asking the C.P.R. to handle Lord Aberdeen's special car, which went through Toronto last night. The Grand Trunk is conveying His Excellency to Woodstock, where the C.P.R. will take charge of the Governor-General's car, run it down to St. Thomas and hand it over to the Michigan Central authorities, who will convey it to Essex, where the Vice Regal party will attend the fair to-day. Capt. Wilbtrforce, A.D.C., called at the C.P.R. headquarters last evening to thank General Superintendent Leonard on behalf of His Excellency on making such good arrangements, while the road was in its present difficulties.

"How are things to-night, better or worse?" asked a reporter of Chief Train Despatcher Price.

"Better, as far as this office is concerned," was the reply, "but worse as regards outside operators."

Applications from operators willing to take the places of the strikers are already pouring in from all quarters. Mr. Price stated that he was receiving telegrams from many anxious to get employment, but that, as safety to life and property was the first consideration of the road, skilful telegraphers who were not familiar with train despatching were being rejected. He had wired several to "come on" if they were accustomed to railway work.

As he made this statement, Mr. Price held in his hand a great bundle of applications for positions he had received. He added that, after manning all the stations in this division, the road would have a surplus of operators to send to other sections of the road, and he supposed that railway telegraphers from the Western States were already flocking across the border to offer themselves for the vacancies that might occur out west.

When asked at a late hour last night if he wished to make any statement from the railway's standpoint, General Superintendent J. W. Leonard of the O. & Q. division said: "I think that as far as this division is concerned the strike is about over. The men seem to be climbing over to our side of the fence, and many of the strikers are coming back to work. The operators, for instance, at St. Thomas, Drumbo, Ayr and Shaw, who were out this morning, are working all night to-night. Twenty-two returned to their duty between London and Windsor this afternoon."

As far as he could learn, Mr. Leonard went on, the line was manned between Ottawa and Montreal and also between Montreal and Newport. A number of operators had left their posts between Brigham Junction and Lake Megantic, but 30 men left Montreal to take their places.

Continuing, the General Superintendent observed that the men had not struck because of their alleged grievances, but because the management had refused to entertain their irregular application for redress. Had they gone to the proper source, the trouble would have been averted, but instead of taking the matter to the [illegible]

Mothers

Anxiously watch declining health of their daughters. So many are cut off by consumption in early years that there is real cause for anxiety. In the early stages, when not beyond the reach of medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla will restore the quality and quantity of the blood and thus give good health. Read the following letter:

"It is but just to write about my daughter Cora, aged 19. She was completely run down, declining, had that tired feeling, and friends said she would not live over three months. She had a bad and nothing seemed to do her any good. I happened to read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and had her give it a trial. From the very first dose she began to get better. After taking a few bottles she was completely cured and her health has been the best ever since." MRS. ADDIE PECK, 12 Railroad Place, Amsterdam, N. Y.

MR. TARTE'S METHODS STRAIGHT.

The Conservative journals have raised a great deal of jubilation over the alleged piece of favouritism on the part of Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works in the awarding of a contract. But the facts show that Mr. Tarte refuses to yield to the pressure of parties choosing to ally themselves with the Liberals for the sake of securing their own advantage. Mr. Tarte has had an eye only to the public interest and to show this no ex parte assertion need be made—a simple reading of the reports as given in our news columns in the first page of yesterday's issue, shows that the public treasury is safe from the leeches that would try to fasten their lips upon it so far as Mr. Tarte is concerned. No minister and no government can prevent such demands as implied in the letter of the defeated candidate; but Mr. Tarte and the Government will see to it that no person, no matter which party he claims to belong to, will be able to take advantage of such assumed affiliation, to rob the public chest.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Week says that Mr. Laurier is one of the grandest political figures that have as yet appeared in Canada. The country at large seems to have arrived at that conclusion long since. But tht does not lessen the correctness of the Week's statement.

SAYS the Globe: "Get the session over and get at the tariff in order that we may have an early winter meeting of Parliament, and that business conditions may become permanently settled at the earliest practicable moment." And the Globe voices the sentiments of every patriotic Canadian.

THE Chatham Banner, the editor of which is a son of Rev. Dr. Mackay, of Woodstock, make the following pertinent remarks with regard to the criticisms of the Laurier Government now being made by some of the prohibitionists:—"The unfairness and political rancor of some of the prohibitionists is shown in the attacks being made on Sir Oliver Mowat in reference to the keeping open of the bar in the Senate refreshment rooms. The House of Commons, where the Liberals are in the majority, not only banished the bar, but banished liquor from the refreshment quarters altogether. The Senate, where the Liberals number but one to five Conservatives, refused to interfere with the selling of liquor in their section of the building in any way. Yet Sir Oliver Mowat and the Government are held responsible, and their sincerity sneered at because they cannot control their political opponents. Such senseless snarling will do much towards deciding the result of the coming plebiscite."

Taken in time Hood's Sarsaparilla prevents serious illness by keeping the blood pure and all the organs in a healthy condition.

APSLEY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

September 24th dawned bright, a most unexpected thing, as usually the Apsley fall show has been sprinkled with rain, more or less. This was the twenty-fourth annual show, and one of the most successful that was ever held here. The directors spared no pains in their endeavours to bring everything to a satisfactory issue. The president, Mr. W. H. Hales, worked hard in the interest of the society, and made all comers welcome with his genial smile. After the judges had made their awards the town hall was opened to the public, where a fine display of almost everything was on exhibition. The roots were without exception the finest exhibition, the judges making the remark that their equal was not shown in Peterborough. The grain was good, but a large quantity was not shown. Fruits and vegetables were very good. Ladies' fancy work, etc., also made a most creditable show, which goes to prove that they take a great interest in making the exhibit as ornamental as possible. The number of entries of live stock were not up to the average, but considering the drouth this summer what were on hand were good. Taking everything into consideration, we may say that the show of 1896 was as good, if not better, than former years.

One attraction was the Lakefield Band, which played throughout the day and enlivened the place with their strains. They commenced with "For we are Jolly Good Fellows," and I must say that they proved themselves such before leaving for home. The day was terminated by a concert, where Mrs. Wm. Gallon, with her usual kindness, placed her musical talent at their disposal, and Mr. Jno. Reynolds rendered some very fine songs in his usual happy manner, "You may Lick McCarthy but you Can't Lick Me!" bringing down the house. The band played many good selections, and finished with "God Save the Queen," sung also lustily by the audience, who quietly dispersed to their homes, well content with the day. We will be glad to see the Lakefield band again another day.

I would like to thank the judges for the impartial manner in which they made their awards, everybody being satisfied.

I cannot give you the prize list for this issue. The drawing match on sixty hundred of stone on bob sleighs was won by Mr. John Young's team, Mr. George Matthews' being second.

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet the greeting usually is, "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no bowel or stomach trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They eat as though they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and bye overworked nature rebels. Then comes headaches, nervousness, bad blood, kidney and liver troubles. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets furnish help for constipation and torpid liver, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, 'heart burn,' pain and distress after eating and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Accept no substitute.

FASHIONS FOR MEN.

Not Many Changes for the Fall and Winter of 1896-7.

There are fewer modifications in men's dress for the autumn and winter of 1896-7 than there have been for several years. Golf and cycling, perhaps, have had the lion's share of these. The Norfolk jacket has been replaced by the sack-coat for both of the pastimes, and a man may leave his office and with a very few changes of costume can emerge from, say Wall street, as an example, to the downs of Long Island, a full-fledged golfer, or be fully equipped for his afternoon spin on his wheel. As in previous years, the knickerbocker was gradually discarded for riding costume in the city during the afternoon, so will it disappear from the cyclist's wardrobe. The "knicker" is picturesque in summer, and in the vacation season it has been the predominating feature of man's sporting and negligé costume. In winter, unless one lives in the country, the prevailing American idea is to change rapidly without any apparent effort, from every-day dress to that adapted for any pastime or specialty. The leather strap used to keep down long trousers in riding has also found its way into the outfit of the wheelman and golfer. In fact, unless one belongs to a club and is obliged to don a dress of a peculiar cut, it is considered only the mark of an amateur and a greenhorn to appear in a rig for the occasion. At a match this is another story, but ordinarily the very caddies will laugh at you. The club uniforms are, however, quite varied.

The cloth which is to be used for lounge, morning or business suits this autumn, must therefore be as appropriate for golf or wheeling as for the office or the street. Tweeds and cheviots still lead, the colors in favor being grays and browns, and the ever-useful shepherd's plaid. In London the browns have had their day, and the prevailing note in color is gray. There have been already seen in this country some very smart lounge suits made of gray worsted. There is no change in the shape of the sack coat, which is, as it was last year, rather loose to the figure. The trousers are ordinarily wide. The official measurements are about nineteen inches around the knees, and about seventeen and a half at the bottom.—Harper's Bazar.

All Else Failing Mr. Geo. C. Ward is Cured by Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

PORT HOPE (special) Sept. 28—No case of recovery from serious illness that has ever occured in this community has caused as much talk as that of our esteemed townsman Mr. George C. But for the past year he grew worse and all efforts to regain his strength were without avail. He is now cured as he says, by using eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and is as well as ever he was in his life.

THE GREAT STRIKE.

Divisional Superintendent they had seen fit to go to headquarters. Mr. Leonard emphasized the statement that C.P.R. officials were always given full opportunity to air their grievances and allowed to appeal their cases as high as they liked to carry them, even if it was to the Board of Directors. The Superintendent here instanced a case in which six months ago there was a fireman on the O. & Q. division appealed to him from a decision given by their chief, the master mechanic, and obtained a new six years' contract with new terms.

Mr. Leonard also stated that on the O. & Q. division some of the grievances which the men complained of did not exist. They were not asked to do menial duties. In some cases of course the operators had every evening to light four or five station lamps. As far as the cleaning of offices was concerned the road allowed each operator from $1 to $3 every month to pay a woman for scrubbing and the like, and he produced the pay sheets of the company to bear out this assertion.

Then, turning to the complaint as to the pumping of water for the engines at certain points, the Superintendent pointed out that where such work was required of any operator or agent an extra salary was paid him for his extra labor.

"Will the company pardon the men who go back to work now?" queried the scribe.

"I can't say as to that," said Mr. Leonard. "We'll have to think that over. One man can prevent a thousand operators from working by leaving his line open, and I don't know what to say about men who will thus refuse to allow others to attend to their duties.

It is possible that the company may proceed against the recalcitrants under the criminal code for their action in suddenly quitting the employ of the road. Mr. MacMurchy of Wells & MacMurchy, solicitors for the railway, in conversation with The World last night, referred to several acts of Parliament under which he contends the men are liable to imprisonment for life terms and under,

Under sub-sections e and f or section 439 of the Criminal Code of Canada, "every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to five years' imprisonment, who, in manner likely to cause damage to valuable property, without endangering life or person, wilfully omits to do any act which it is his duty to do, or does any other unlawful act."

Section 490 of the code reads: "Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who, by any act or wilful omission, obstructs or interrupts or causes to be obstructed or interrupted * * * the free use of any railway or any part thereof."

Again, take section 531, sub-section c, which says: "Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to a penalty not exceeding $100 or three months' imprisonment, with or without hard labor, who, being under any contract made by him, with a railway company, bound * * * to carry Her Majesty's mails, or to carry passengers or freight, * * * wilfully breaks such contract, knowing or having reason to believe that the probable consequences of his so doing, either alone or in combination with others, will be to delay or prevent the running of any locomotive, engine or tender, or freight or passenger train or car."

Mr. MacMurchy claims that the strikers may be punished under these clauses of the code, and he backs the last-named section up by referring to a similar provision in section 38, cap. 35, of the Postal Act, Revised Statutes of Canada. He also quotes sections 61 and 62 of the Criminal Code to show that whoever counselled or advised the strike is regarded by the law as a principal to the offence and is liable to the same punishments as the actual offenders.

WHAT MR. PIERSON SAYS.

Things are "Running Smoothly" on the C.P.R. Since the Operators Went Out.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—(Special.)—In an interview this evening Mr. Pierson says: "I am in communication with the Grand Secretaries of the other railway organizations, and although at this stage of the negotiations I am not in a position to say much with regard to this phase of the question, I may say that we shall see what we shall see later on. 'Everything is running smoothly,' the officials of the company say. Do they? Perhaps it may interest you to learn that two trains met face to face on the big trestle viaduct just outside Windsor-street station just an hour or two ago. They were the Boston express, leaving Montreal at 9 a.m. and the New York Central train coming in at 9.20 a.m. Luckily they both stopped in time; but just fancy! That is where the two trains filled with people met, and the conductor on each of those trains had been given 'a line clear' order. Is that 'running smothly'?

"We were speaking just now of the salaries given to operators and the work required from them. Why, let us go a step or two further, and I am prepared to make the statement that train despatchers have been in many instances paid salaries ranging from $35 to $45 a month."

"May I pin you down to this statement, Mr. Pierson, and ask you for one instance where a despatcher has been paid no more than $35 a month?"

"Yes," replied the Assistant Chief, cheerfully. "I am quite ready to tell you where this was done. It was at Farnham, and if you have time to come with me, I can introduce you to the very man. Shortly before this trouble came up they gave him $45, and then two or three days ago they attempted to bribe him not to come out with us by offering to add another $10 a month. Why, train despatchers in the United States would never be engaged at less than $100 a month, and often they go to $125 and $150, with chief despatchers at $150 and $175 a month.

"No, I tell you that this is no rash move. It is a well-considered one. The operators on the C.P.R. are a most conservative body of men, and they don't want strikes."

MANAGER TAIT'S DENIAL.

He Says Mr. Pierson's Statements are at Variance With Facts.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—(Special.)—Mr. Thomas Tait at a late hour this evening characterised Mr. Pierson's statements as notoriously at variance with the facts. The assertion that two trains almost collided between Windsor Depot and Montreal Junction was too ridiculous for anything, as there is a double track all the way out. The Assistant General Manager also said all the trains are in this evening except the "Soo," and she is getting along, and the trains went out as usual. All the important freight trains are going and a despatch from Winnipeg says all passenger, stock, tea and other important trains are being moved all right. He concluded as follows: "We are gaining ground rapidly. We are certainly sending men to replace the strikers and we test them all before they are allowed to depart."

CRIPPLES THE GRAIN TRADE.

Winnipeg Dealers Feel the Strike—A Success in the West.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 29.—(Special.)—The telegraphers' strike, as far as the Western and Pacific divisions of the company is concerned, appears to have been well managed, all the operators going out promptly.

The strike affects the commercial business very considerably. Wholesale merchants and grain dealers are unable to communicate by wire with their customers and agents excepting at the large towns, and several firms are being much inconvenienced. The grain trade feels the absence of telegraphic service more than any other commercial class, as they cannot instruct their buyers on emergent matters. A large number of messages had to be placed on file at the Winnipeg office to-day for the reason that operators could not be "raised" at smaller provincial points to which they were addressed.

LATE TRAINS AT OTTAWA.

But the Service on That Division Does Not Seem to be Badly Off.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—(Special.)—The effect of the telegraphers' strike on the movement of trains was felt in Ottawa almost immediately. The "Soo" express, due here at 4.18 this morning, had not been heard of and could not be located at 11 o'clock. It is surmised that it is tied up at some point west of Chalk River. The Toronto express, due at 6 a.m., arrived about an hour later and found no difficulty in getting through. The Brockville train got in slightly late, and trains can run all right on this division, as the operators at both Carleton Junction and Smith's Falls, as well as along the Prescott line, have not gone out. The greatest difficulty will be felt in out-of-the-way crossing places where the operator is a union man, and the operators claim that one regular train behind at these points will throw the whole system into general disorder. Appearances indicate that they have been watching the situation carefully, and have taken the most favorable moment for making their demands. The Toronto train was two hours and a half late to-night.

CRIPPLED IN THE EAST.

Every Man Went Out Between St. John, N.B., and Megantic.

St. John, N.B., Sept. 29.—The Canadian Pacific Railway telegraphers' strike is in full blast in this division, which extends from this city to Megantic. All the operators have obeyed the order to strike and the company is in a considerably crippled condition, although at general offices this is denied. The chief train despatcher, who is not a member of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, is the only man on duty to-night. Every regular operator between this city and Vanceboro is out. Officials who understand telegraphy are being pressed into duty at important points, and it is not expected there will be much interruption to regular passenger trains, but the freight business is bound to suffer. The station agents on this section have joined with their men and quit work.

LATEST FROM MONTREAL.

Who Started the Story That the C.P.R. Wires Had Been Tampered With?

Montreal, Sept. 29.—(Midnight Special.)—The strike of C.P. Telegraph operators is now an accomplished fact, yet the opinion gains ground that the men who are out have been ill-advised and will be by all odds the losers in the end. The company have now a free road from Montreal to Detroit, and as far west on the main line as Chalk River, although a good deal of delay has taken place in the arrival of the trains. The "Soo," for instance, is eight hours behind, yet Mr. Tait states that no trains have been cancelled, and the company are fast regaining possession of the different lines. The commercial operators have proved true to the company, and many of these, with newly-engaged operators, are being constantly sent out on the several roads. Mr. Spencer told your correspondent to-night that applications for employment were coming in rapidly, and he thought the strikers' places would be filled before long. A great many of the operators who went out yesterday between here and Detroit returned to their places to-day, and a good many also on the Ottawa and Quebec lines. The gravest feature of to-day's proceedings is the alleged tampering with the company's wires, and a reward of $200 has been offered for the apprehension of the guilty parties. The Canadian Pacific holds that the men in leaving their employ without notice have acted illegally. They claim that the men are engaged to work by the month, and under the laws of Canada, as well as their agreement with the company, they cannot leave their work at a moment's notice, but must give two weeks' warning of their intention to leave the service.

Mr. Pierson is still here engineering the strike, and claims that the company will not be able to hold out. He states that 700 men are out, but the company deny this emphatically.

A Single Instance in Which Dodd's Kidney Pills Failed to Cure Kidney Disease.

Mount Forest (Special) Sept. 21.—The proprietor of the Queen's Hotel of this town declares that he has every reason to believe, that any claim made by the people who are advertising and selling Dodd's Kidney Pills is true. These people were the first to inform, and instruct him as to the cause of his long continued suffering from extreme nervousness. He says that "unable to obtain any relief from other sources, that it was on account of reading the particulars of other cures that his confidence was gained." Two boxes of Dodd Kidney Pills were all that were required to complete his cure.

The Old Way and the New.

The old way of wall papering in spring, and in the spring only, is becoming a thing of the past. The fall is the better time for home decorating, because of the long winter nights, the Christmas season that comes and holiday visiting, when the new decorations are most appreciated by all who have to pass most of their time indoors. If requiring wall paper at present you'll find it most advantageous to visit the Peterborough Bookstore for artistic selections and lowest prices. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

TO THE PENITENTIARY FOR LIFE.

John Kearney, the Reprieved Murderer, Taken to Kingston Penitentiary Tuesday Morning.

John Kearney, of Lindsay, the convicted murderer of old man Agnew, whose death sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life, passed through to Kingston penitentiary Tuesday morning in charge of Sheriff McLennan, assisted by County Constable Crawford, where he will spend the remainder of his days expiating the terrible crime of which he was adjudged guilty. On Monday Kearney was notified of his impending removal, but the intimation was received with the unconcern manifested by him when Gaoler Jackson informed him of the commutation of the death sentence. When aroused at 5 o'clock yesterday morning by Turnkey Bates in order to be ready for the 6.16 train, he whistled his customary tune as cheerfully as ever while donning his clothes, and seemed to view the journey in the light of a pleasure trip.

AN ABLE LECTURE.

The Great Yellowstone Park of the United States.

Prof. Panton, of Guelph, delivered a cultured and most interesting address to a large audience in St. Paul's church last evening on Yellowstone Park, the great reservation in the United States. The address was illustrated by means of a large map and proved most instructive in regard to a subject about which little or nothing was known to the audience.

RATHER DILATORY.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee Have Not Secured a New Fire Team Yet.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee is rather dilatory about securing a new team for the fire brigade. This morning a large amount of time was lost in trying to hitch a pair of untrained horses to the engine and one of the boys was nearly kicked by one vicious brute. The old team should not have been broken until a new one was secured, and no further time should be lost in at once procuring a team. If the committee cannot lay hands on the right kind of horses for the purpose, the services of a capable horse buyer ought to be secured.

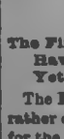
A Hat Firm Fails.

Through the failure of a Montreal wholesale hat firm, a chance, that does not often occur, is just now being offered by Fairweather & Co. for gentlemen to save money in the purchase of their new fall hats. The stock in liquidation has been purchased by Fairweather & Co. at a price which enables them to sell at a 40 per cent. discount. This is a very big discount, especially for a high grade stock, consisting of new spring styles, just imported by the house and intended for the spring orders. For instance, the Lincoln, Bennet & Co. hats would sell from $3 to $4 50, but Fairweather & Co. can afford to sell them from $1.50 to $3.

Anna Eva Fay Coming.



Miss Anna Eva Fay, who will appear at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week, is well known the world over and her wonderful performances have baffled sages and scientists who have sought in vain for an explanation of her power. She does not claim to be a spiritualist, but on the contrary, says that what she does is according to the laws of nature. The audience is told to watch and then attribute her power to the supernatural or to "sleight of hand."

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. George Lipsett, jr., and Miss Louise Reynolds, Last Evening.

Last evening the wedding of Mr. George Lipsett, jr., of Ashburnham, and Miss Louise Ethel Reynolds, took place at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John Reynolds, Simcoe street.

The interesting ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Symonds, of Ashburnham, and a large number of friends of the young couple were in attendance. The bride looked most charming in a handsome gown of white silk, with garniture of pearls, and wore a wreath of orange blossoms. She was assisted by Miss Jennie Lipsett, sister of the groom, who was prettily gowned in pink crepoo, trimmed with ribbons. Both carried most handsome bouquets of roses.

Mr. Joseph Reynolds, brother of the bride, performed the office of groomsman.

The wedding party enjoyed a tasteful wedding dejeuner at the conclusion of the ceremony, when an informal reception was held.

Amongst the many handsome gifts received was a beautiful marble clock from the members of the lacrosse club, of which the groom is captain.

Mr. and Mrs. Lipsett left early this morning on a wedding trip, which will embrace points west to Niagara Falls and Buffalo.

Mr. Lipsett is particularly well known in town from having been so valuable a member of the lacrosse club for many years. It is hoped that his new duties will not interfere with his still wielding a stick upon the field, where he has done such good work in the past.

WEDDED AT STOUFFVILLE.

Nuptials of Mr. James Lewis, of Town, and Miss Jennie Barkey.

On Tuesday afternoon a quiet wedding took place at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. R. Barkey, Stouffville, when her daughter, Jennie, was united in holy wedlock to Mr. James Lewis, of town, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Mr. Booker. The bride looked charming in a gown of cream cashmere, trimmed with chiffon and ribbons, and carried a bouquet of cream roses and carnations. Miss May Vallentine acted as bridesmaid, and was becomingly attired in white muslin with pink trimmings. The groom was supported by Mr. Fred Benton, of town. The bride, who is a popular young lady of Stouffville, was the recipient of a large number of useful and costly presents, among which was a beautiful gold girdle, the gift of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis arrived in town last night and will take up their residence on Dalhousie street. Their many friends will join with the EXAMINER in wishing them a long and prosperous life.

FREIGHT TRAINS DERAILED.

A Couple Run into one Another Head on at Norwood.

Last night as a couple of freight trains were picking their way along slowly, coming from opposite directions, on the C. P. R., they collided at Norwood.

A number of cars were derailed, but the trainmen, it is said, escaped without injury.

The accident is said to be a result of the recently organized strike amongst the telegraph operators.

It is not probable that there will be a recurrence of anything of the kind on this division as nearly all the operators between Peterborough and Smith's Falls have resumed their positions.

LACROSSE.

The last of the semi final matches between Orillia and Peterborough was played yesterday afternoon, the home team ringing down the curtain on a magnificent climax. They put the finishing frills on the Orillias. A large piece of business was transacted in the first hour of playing. After Friday's experience our boys concluded that it would not be safe to postpone the fireworks beyond the first hour, as the clouds above were threatening rain. It was the busiest hour that Orillia ever put in, and had any stump speaker attempted to prove to them about then that times were dull, he would have been hit with a stick.

The boys from the north seemed to be all smiles the first fifteen minutes of play. They had that majority of three games before them, you know! Along about half past three their smiles melted away and their black bangs were hanging down their foreheads, while steam curled up from the collars of their sweaters like fog from the valley on a cold October morn. The smile was then on Peterborough faces — and what a smile it was, my countrymen! The smile which Mephistopeles pulled off when he had secured that mortgage on Faust's future was full two classes below the smiles which curled the boys' upper lips against the base of their noses, while they were rolling up that "four straight."

It was a game full of fire, hair, feeling and ferocity. Both clubs wanted it—needed it in their business.

PETERBOROUGH AGAIN WINS AT LACROSSE.

ORILLIA DEFEATED BY FIVE GOALS TO ONE.

The Aggregate of the Two Games Played With Orillia was Six Goals to Seven in Favour of the Peterboroughs, Who are Now in the Final Championship Games.

Nothing is too good for the lacrosse boys to-day. They have won their way into the finals of the Canadian Lacrosse Association series and the citizens realize to the fullest extent the honour which the boys are winning to Peterborough in thus placing the town once more in the front ranks of lacrosse centres.

The Orillias came on the field yesterday feeling confident that they would be able to hold their own with the local men. In coming here they had the advantage of having three goals in their favour at the start, as on Friday last they defeated Peterborough by a score of 5 goals to 2. This was a big handicap to put on any team, but the Peterboroughs pitched in to and as goal after goal was marked off Orillia's big lead the cheering could be heard all the way over town. The enthusiasm and excitement waxed warmer and warmer as the game progressed and when Peterborough scored the 3rd goal, making three straights and tieing the Orillia score the spectators could not keep their feet on the grand stand and the uproar increased when the boys tallied another goal, thus gaining a lead over their rivals. The excitement was kept up to fever pitch, as Orillia, after a desperate rally, succeeded in scoring its first and only goal in the match. The next went to Peterborough just before time was up, giving them the match by five goals to one and entitling them to play in the finals against Georgetown.

The game was the fastest and cleanest which has been seen on the home grounds in many a day, and the teams were very evenly matched. The Peterboroughs played with a snap and vigour which kept the Orillia defence on the alert every minute. The visitors were, as a whole, faster runners than the local boys, but it was seldom that they got away with the ball, as the checking and hard. The Peterboroughs defence put up a star game. Every man on it played as though his life depended on it, and the terrific leaps and bounds which they made in pulling down high drop shots on goal were thrilling to witness. Orillia's defence is very fast also, but the Peterborough home division worked upon them so close that the ball was being scrimmaged around the visitors' flags more than half the time. There was very little play in the centre of the field after the first fifteen minutes, when the teams were trying one another's mettle in the first brush. During the rest of the match the ball was nearly always on one goal or the other, hence the great excitement.

Both teams have developed a fine system of combination, but in this the Peterboroughs have as they work their system while on the run for their opponents' goal, whilst the Orillias tried to pass the ball in to their comrades who were playing near the flags. It was thus far easier to check the Orillias and break up their combination than it was to do the same to the home boys. The Orillia defence is not "in it" for a minute with the Peterborough boys for long throws when relieving the goal.

The two teams lined up at twenty-four minutes to three in the following order:—

Peterborough.		Orillia.
Dobbin	goal	Frost
Lynch	point	Went
Brown	cover point	M O'Connor
Mein	1st defence	D O'Connor
Glover	2nd defence	McKay
Borland	3rd defence	Thompson
Galley	centre	Blaine
McCabe Jas	3rd home	Curran
Rubidge	2nd home	Dunn
Lipsett	1st home	D Quinn
McCabe John	outside home	J Quinn
Phelan	inside home	Peard
Hickey	field captain	Tudhope
Dallas	umpire	McPhee

Referee—H. McConaghy, Midland.

First game—The Peterboroughs took the ball at the offset and some pretty combination was seen right at the start on the part of both teams, Orillia missing a fine chance to score. Orillia's defence was then pressed hard by the Peterboroughs, Jimmy McCabe and Galley feeding the inner home men in grand style by bringing the ball down the field together time and again. The game was very even, as the Orillia defence worked with a great deal of vim and their home men made some fine runs in on the Peterborough goals spasmodically, although the Peterboroughs kept working the play further and further into Orillia territory. Several excellent opportunities to score were lost by both teams, but the Peterboroughs finally steadied themselves and the ball was taken down the field by some work between Galley, Borland and Phelan. The latter passed in to Jack McCabe, who scored. Time, 26 minutes.

Second game—Orillia took the ball from the face-off and pressed Peterborough hard but the ball was soon on the Orillia flags, when the shots rained in like hail. Every effort to draw out the Orillia defence failed and it seemed impossible to shoot the ball through the solid phalanx of players which lined themselves up in front of the goal. Phelan finally did the trick by a hockey shot from the side, swiping the ball as it was passing him. Time, 3 minutes.

The third game—In this game the cleanest and fast-st lacrosse of the match was played. The Peterboroughs were thoroughly warmed up to their work and every man was putting up a faultless game. The Orillias at the start made a sharp attack on the Peterborough goal, but the defence of the Peterboroughs checked so close that not a chance was left open for a shot.

AGAIN AND AGAIN

the Orillia home men worked the ball up to the flags but it was no use. Jimmy McCabe and Rubidge did some beautiful passing all the way down the field as they got the ball. After drawing out the Orillia defense in the neatest possible manner by passing the ball around outside the goal, Borland passed in to Lipsett, who passed to Phelan, the latter scoring. —Time, 7 minutes.

Fourth game.—The ball went down into Orillia territory, but did not stay there long, as the visitors made the most desperate rally of the afternoon to score, realizing that if Peterborough put another game to their credit it would give them too firm a hold on the match to be shaken off. The defence of the home team, however, proved impregnable, and after a hard fight successfully relieved and the ball went down the field to Jack McCabe, who scored in twelve minutes, making four straights for the Peterboroughs.

Fifth game.—This was the longest game of the entire match and there was shown. Galley's check had been playing very rough on him all through the match, having struck him twice in the face with his stick. Although Galley was laid out once the referee refused to stop the game. Finally one of the other men took occasion to give Galley a crack over the head causing the Peterborough man to lose his temper and strike back. Both men were sent to the fence for the game. A few minutes later an Orillian made a most deliberate foul on Jimmy McCabe and got some of the medicine that Galley had been receiving. Both men were laid off. Orilla scored the next goal in 27 minutes.

Sixth game.—The rain which had fallen at intervals during the afternoon came down in and spoiled some good play, as the men had difficulty in keeping their feet. Orillia pressed hard at the start, and Dobbin made two fine stops. Operations, however, were soon transferred to the other end of the field, when the Peterboroughs got in some fine combination work. Rubidge passed in to Lipsett, who after dodging around passed to McCabe, who shot the ball through without trouble, as even the goalkeeper had abandoned his flags, so skillfully had the Peterborough boys worked their combination to draw out the Orillia defense. Time was called before the teams went out on the field again and thus the Peterboroughs won the semi-finals for the first time in many years.

NOTES.

Jimmy McCabe made his first appearance of the season on the field yesterday and played a faultless game.

It pays to play a purely local team. Peterborough formerly imported a few fast men every summer and kept them here for the season, yet they have not won their way into the finals in many years.

Hugh McConaghy appeared to be somewhat down on the home team yesterday. He never saw a single foul which was perpetrated on them.

The Orillia boys say that their employers, seeing the advantage of keeping the name of the town prominently before the public, do all they can to assist the members of the lacrosse team. Every other afternoon sees each member out to practice at half-past three, and Orillia has on this account a team which is in the pink of condition, and which has caused the name of Orillia to be known far and wide. As it is almost the close of the season it is hoped that the local men will be able to practice during the few remaining afternoons.

MR. LANG'S QUESTIONS.

His Inquiries in Parliament Respecting Local Matters and the Replies they Elicited.

Some time since Mr. Lang, the representative of East Peterborough, submitted to Parliament several questions of particular local interest to the people of these ridings. From Hansard is taken the replies of the several Ministers with whose departments the questions were connected:

ISLANDS IN STONY AND CLEAR LAKES.

Mr. Lang inquired:

1. Are the islands in Stony and Clear lakes in the county of Peterborough, under the jurisdiction and control of the Dominion Government?

a. Were they ever surveyed, and, if so, what is the number and acreage of each of the several islands in each lake, the cost of survey of each island, and the total cost of the survey of the islands in these lakes?

b. Have any of them been disposed of? If so, to whom, at what price, and under what conditions?

c. In whose hands was the sale of these lands, if sold, placed, and what was the costs in connection with such sales, if any?

Mr. Dobell answered: The islands in Stony and Clear lakes in the county of Peterborough, are under the control of the Dominion Government as trustees of the Indian owners. 2. They were surveyed. Haslett's survey, which covered the west end of Stony lake, including Clear lake, shows that there are 75 islands therein, and that their total acreage is 668 acres, 2 rods and 38 perches. Hewson's survey, which covered the east end of Stony lake, shows that there are 94 islands therein, and that their total acreage is 319.32. The total cost of the survey of the islands was $1,296.10. The cost of the survey was not apportioned among the islands. 3. Some of them have been disposed of. The only condition of sale was the payment of the purchase money in cash. 4. The sale was in the hands of the Department's regular lands agent. His remuneration is 7½ per cent. of all sales effected by him.

THE STEAMER "EMPIRE."

Mr. Lang enquired:—

Is the steamer "Empire," used by the superintending engineer of the Trent Valley waters, the property of the Dominion? If so, when was it acquired and from whom, and what was the cost and what has been the total expense for operating the steamer since its acquirement? What is the size of the steamer, and of what material is it constructed, and what has it cost for repairs?

The Minister of Railways and Canals (Mr. Blair)—Yes, the small tug "Empire" is the property of the Government. It was built by the Government in 1886. The cost was $2 100. The Government has been at the expense of operating since built. The size is 50 feet long, 10 feet beam, 5 feet draft. She is constructed chiefly of oak. It has cost for repairs about $50 a year.

THE LAKEFIELD DAM.

Mr. Lang inquired:

Has the dam across the river at the village of Lakefield, county of Peterborough, been assumed by the Dominion? If so, from whom was it obtained? What was the amount of compensation, the date of transfer, and the amount of expenditure for the maintenance and repairs since its acquirement by the Government? Is there a caretaker, and, if so, when was he appointed? Who is he, and what is the nature of his duties, and what is his salary?

The Minister of Railway and Canals (Mr. Blair).—Yes, the old dam at Lakefield was assumed by the Dominion Government in 1883. It was obtained from R. C. & W. G. Strickland. The amount of compensation was $5,000. The date of transfer was 31st December, 1883. The amount for repairs and maintenance since it was assumed by the government is $3,527. Yes, there is a caretaker appointed. He was appointed in the year 1886. He is one John Dinwoodie. His duties are to take care of the dam, by regulating the water, chopping ice and looking after wharf. His salary from the Railway Department is $240 per annum and $150 from the Public Works Department for looking after the boom.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Mr. Lang inquired:

Has any person or persons been appointed to value the lands in the county of Peterborough acquired for the purpose of the Trent Valley Canal? If so, what lands, with number of lot, concession, have been conveyed under such provisions, from whom purchased, and the pecuniary consideration, and what is the name of the valuators, and the amount of their remuneration?

The Minister of Railways (and Canals (Mr. Blair).—There have been persons appointed to value the lands, but the appointments were made by the late Government. As to the second clause of the question, I think it would be somewhat inconvenient to furnish the information my hon. friend desires, in the form of an answer to the question; but, if he will allow me, I will furnish him with the details in writing, and, if he desires that the information should be submitted in any more formal manner to the House, he can move a resolution for that purpose.

Mr. Lang—That is quite satisfactory.

A FEW QUERIES FOR THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL.

1. Does Mr. Bogue own the town?
2. If he does not, why is the sewer not tamped, as required by the contract?
3. What are Inspector McFadden's duties?
4. If his duties are to see that Contractor Bogue performs his work according to contract, which he plainly is not doing, then why is Inspector McFadden not dismissed?
5. What (if any) are the duties of the town engineer in connection with the sewer contract?
6. Why are the bricks not moistened before being laid?

How much will the town have to pay the Street Railway Co. for the falling in of the sewer?

If the council will answer these queries it will greatly enlighten the ratepayers.

Yours very truly,

There is no joy in this world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman finds ample compensation for her trials and worries and bothers in the soft, clinging little body nestling close to her own—in the blissful clinging of the little hands, and the love light in the little eyes.

A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance, depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do more for them than 99 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Doctor Pierce, who for 30 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo.

"I lost six babies by untimely births. In the eighth month of my seventh pregnancy, as usual, I was taken ill. The family doctor was called. He said there was no help for me. The baby must be born. I grieved excessively. I persuaded my husband, against the physician's advice, to get me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Four doses quieted my pains. That child was born at full time. It is three years old, and I am the happiest mother in the world."

WITH THE WHEELMEN.

Gardiner Best Out the Cracks at Trenton —By the Wayside.

Trenton, N.J., Sept. 28.—The Interstate Fair opened its seventh annual exhibition to-day. It was wheelmen's day, and upwards of 6000 bike fiends congregated at the Fair grounds to watch the races. The event of the day was the one mile scratch, in which Tom Cooper, Eddie Bald, Harry Maddox, Owen Kimble and a score of other cracks competed. It was run in four heats. Big bunches of the long green were the prizes. In the first heat Harry Maddox acted as pacemaker. Otto Maya had the pole. Maddox set out a hot pace. Carroh Jack followed close to his rear wheel for nearly the entire distance, but Tom Butler pulled out of the bunch coming into the stretch and won easily by three lengths ahead of Jack, who led Maya half a length. Time 2.15 2-5.

Louis Callahan, who acted as pacemaker in the second heat, pulled them through in good time. It was a hot race, Tom Cooper winning from Otto Zeigler by a length in 2.14.

A. C. Mertens paced the third heat, in which Bald, Kiser, Church, Kluge and Lougheed contested. Kiser trailed Mertens for the half, and, coming up the stretch, Bald had a hot finish for the first, but fell two short, Kiser winning in the time of 2.15.

Tom Butler, Harry Maddox, Jack. Cooper, Zeigler, Callahan, Kiser, Bald, Mertens, Clark, Johnson and Gardiner tried conclusions in the final heat. As an incentive to speed, additional cash was hung up, and it had the effect of making a lively race. Cooper had the pole, and went after the extra prize at the first quarter. Down the stretch it was a hot race between Gardiner, Butler, Cooper, Bald and Johnson. Gardiner won by a narrow margin, with Butler and Cooper fighting for second. They finished in the order named, with Kiser fourth. Time 2.14 3-5.

The greatest enthusiasm prevailed when it was learned that two world's records had been broken. These were the mile record, which John S. Johnson brought down to 1.47 flat, and the five-mile record, which Jimmie Michael lowered to 9.51 4-5. There were 7000 spectators present.

Several accidents occurred during the racing. In the final heat of the one-mile professional race Otto Zeigler of San Jose, Cal., fell from his wheel and broke his left arm near the wrist. He was riding at a terrific speed at the time, and he thrust his arm forward to protect his face. A local physician set his arm. Jeremiah P. Toman of Trenton fell from his wheel during the half-mile amateur handicap and sustained serious bruises. Charles Hadfield of Newark sustained a fall, resulting in a bad internal injury. Howard L. Hawkins of Trenton fell after the first half-mile in the final heat of the one mile race for novices. He was badly cut and shaken up. A. J. Pyle and Fred Rowhead were also injured. The finals of the different events resulted as follows:

One and one-half mile tandem, between Stearns, Tourist and Harlem teams—Won by Harlem (Lefferson and Harrison). Time 3.39.

One mile scratch, amateur—Ray Dawson 1; Joe Harrison, Asbury Park, 2; John F. Beam, 3. Time 2.17.

One mile scratch—Gardner 1, Butler 2, Cooper 3, Kiser 4. Time 2.14 3-5.

Half-mile handicap, amateur—Ray Dawson (scratch) 1, W. R. Landis (100 yards) 2, Barry Clark (scratch) 3. Time not given.

Two-mile handicap, professional—Tom Cooper (scratch) 1, J. F. Starbuck (40 yards) 2, J. R. Bowler (130 yards) 3. Time 4.43 4-5.

Two-mile handicap, amateur—Henry J. Gorman (240 yards) 1, E. C. Humphreys (170 yards) 2, Harry Reed (170 yards) 3. Time 4.42 3-5.

ST. PETER'S MARVELS

A GLANCE WITHIN AND A VIEW WITHOUT ITS WONDERFUL DOME.

A Strange Perspective Which Has in It a Touch of the Wierd—The Insignificance of Human Beings Plainly Evident From a Glance at Busy Streets.

The strangest, most extravagant, most incomprehensible, most disturbing sight of all is to be seen from the upper gallery in the cupola looking down to the church below. Hanging in midair, with nothing under one's feet, one sees the church projected in perspective within a huge circle. It is as though one saw it upside down and inside out. Few men could bear to stand there without that bit of iron railing between them and the hideous fall, and the inevitable slight dizziness which the strongest head feels may make one doubt for a moment whether what is really the floor below may not be in reality a ceiling above, and whether one's sense of gravitation be not inverted in an extraordinary dream. At that distance human beings look no bigger than flies, and the canopy of the high altar might be an ordinary table.

And thence, climbing up between the double domes, one may emerge from the almost terrible perspective to the open air, and suddenly see all Rome at one's feet, and all the Roman mountains stretched out to south and east, in perfect grace of outline, shoulder to shoulder, like shadowy women lying side by side and holding hands.

And the broken symmetry of streets and squares ranges below, cut by the winding ribbon of the yellow Tiber; to the right the low Aventine, with the dark cypresses of the protestant cemetery beyond, and the Palatine, crested with trees and ruins; the Pincian on the left, with its high gardens, and the mass of foliage of the Villa Medici behind it; the lofty tower of the capitol in the midst of the city, and the sun clasping to its heart of gold the just and the unjust, the new and the old alike, past and present, youth, age and decay—generous as only the sun can be in this sordid, miserly world, where bread is but another name for blood, and a rood of growing corn means a pound of human flesh. The sun is the only good thing in nature that always gives to man for nothing but the mere trouble of sitting in the sunshine, and Rome without sunlight is a very grim and gloomy town today, says a writer in The Century.

It is worth the effort of climbing so high. Four hundred feet in the air, you look down on what ruled half the world by force for ages, and on what rules the other half to-day by faith—the greatest center of conquest and of discord and of religion which the world has ever seen. A thousand volumes have been written about it by a thousand wise men. A word will tell you what it has been—the heart of the world. Hither was drawn the world's blood by all the roads that lead to Rome, and hence, it was forced out again along the mighty arteries of the Caesars' road to be spilled in the Caesars' battles—to redden the world with the Roman name. Blood, blood, and more blood, that was the history of old Rome—the blood of brothers, the blood of foes, the blood of martyrs without end. It flowed and ebbed in varying tide at the will of the just and unjust, but there was always more to shed, and there were always more hands to shed it. And so it may be again hereafter, for the name of Rome has a heart-stirring ring, and there has always been as much blood spilled for the names of things as for the things themselves.

Mind Your Liver.

Most of the ailments which are commonly called "bilious" are caused by too much food of a rich nature, and too much drink of a sweet or alcoholic character, combined with far too little exercise in the open air. The liver attempts to get rid of the superfluous materials thrown into the circulation, and, being overworked, rebels, and gout, rheumatism, gravel, dyspepsia, headache and constipation are the outward and visible signs of its inaction in those who live too well a sedentary life, according to the British Medical Journal.

The prescription of a bicycle and the recommendation to use it wisely and well works like a charm in such cases, and in all the sympathetic ailments which arise from too much "acid" in the system. It is interesting to note that cycling sometimes has the effect of thinning the obese and fattening the thin, and this may partly be explained by Murchison's observations that excessive leanness, as well as excessive corpulence, is often caused by inaction of the liver, and the stimulus of regular exercise, setting the functions of that organ right, causes the disappearance of what was only a symptom.

LEND YOUR EARS

To Your Back and Listen to Its Talk—A Peterborough Man Tries It.

Did you know the back could talk;
Tell you why it aches and pains;
Tell you why it's lame and weak;
Warn you of the kidney's ills;
Tell you of Doan's Kidney Pills?
Listen to them when they speak.
Relieve the kidneys, cure the ache.
Bad back, acute pains and kidney ills,
Are quickly cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is proof of it at home. The testimony of Mr. George N. Graham, the genial host of the Oriental Hotel, Peterborough, is as follows:—

He says:—"I have been a great sufferer for some time with pain across the back, extending up between the shoulders, swelling of the limbs, dizziness, loss of appetite, and in fact felt completely broken up.

"I had lost 17 pounds in three months, and thought that I would never get better. I have taken many kinds of patent medicines, and have also been treated by medical men, but did not seem to get any better at all, in fact was constantly growing worse.

"I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertisement and got a box of them at Lynch's drugstore, and by the time I had taken one box noticed a marked change for the better.

"I have taken seven boxes altogether, and am now free from pain; the swelling in the limbs has disappeared, and my appetite is good. In fact, I feel that I am completely cured.

"I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to those suffering from any form of kidney trouble. They are the best kidney medicine I have ever used.

Signed, GEO. N. GRAHAM.

Market Lambs Quickly.

One point is clearly settled in the sheep business, viz., the advantage in marketing at an early age. Lambs have a decided advantage over yearlings both in selling value and cost of production, so that all mutton should go to market under present conditions in the form of well-ripened lambs, except such as it may be necessary to hold longer for breeding purposes. The lamb sells for nearly a dollar a hundred more than the mature sheep, and makes gain at about one-third less expense. This difference is so marked that it is the cause of considerable distinction in lambs of different size.—Colman's Rural World.

"No. He wore his bicycle face."

Some days nothing will "come out right," from the time you rise till you retire. Ten to one the trouble is with yourself. Your blood is in bad condition, and every organ consequence. What you need is the invigorating influence of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

CANCER CURED
—AND A—
LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. Fields, Bloomfield, Ia.

AUTUMN FABRICS

The New Goods That Are to be Seen in Shops Everywhere.

In September, says Harper's Bazar, the shops are full of the new goods which are to be worn through the autumn and winter, and this year there seem to be quite as many novel fabrics to choose from as there have ever been. It is questioned by many women whether it is advisable to make the purchases for winter gowns as early as this time of the year, for from now on there are continually new patterns and designs being put on the market. On the other hand, there is no question but in these unsettled times there are not so many yards of any one material put on the market as a few years ago, and the first shoppers on the scene naturally have the best choice. However, this year, judging from the quantity displayed, every woman in the United States will be able to select a gown that accords with her taste.

Out-door sports demand materials that will wear well and stand hard usage, consequently a great line, as the dealers express it, of such goods are seen; serges, cheviots, vicuna cloths and Scotch plaid, as well as the checks—these last by no means new—are exhibited in great profusion. The Scotch plaids for street wear are almost too pronounced to be a sensible investment, unless a woman has money enough to have several chic gowns. For golf they are going to be very much worn, and the dark blue and green with the intersecting stripe of red are particularly smart with the red golf jackets which are so becoming and effective. The rough double-faced Scotch mixtures for both golf and bicycling are still fashionable. A warm brown is the favorite color, and all these goods are double-faced; for instance, one that has an outside of brown will have a brown check or plaid on the inside. In golf capes these materials have been in fashion for some time.

Vicuna cloth and camel's hair serge are most attractive. The vicuna has the long hairs over it, and this comes in clear greens and blues, yellow and brown, black and blue, and so on indefinitely, through the whole gamut of coloring, but have all the silky effect and the long hairs. The black goods with this finish are very handsome, and made up in coat and skirt—for we are not to be deprived of that sensible style this winter—will be among the first gowns seen. Even quite young girls are to wear black, but lined throughout with bright red silk, so that any appearance of a gown suitable for middle-aged women will be lacking. In black goods the variety is simply overwhelming and very beautiful. There is a new material called soleil cloth which has a sheen on it like satin. It is a sort of light ladies' cloth, and is particularly adapted to braiding, which will be much the rage. It comes double width and is not very heavy.

Broadcloth or ladies' cloth is always in fashion when braiding is revived, and, as has been already stated, braiding is very largely to be used. Even on velvet and camel's hair serges there are rows of braiding, while the smooth cloths are fairly covered with it. From $1.50 upwards ladies' cloth can be bought, which is wide, and if well sponged is a most satisfactory material; but in buying any of these smooth cloths it is well not to choose too heavy a weight, particularly if the skirt is to be braided; weight does not mean warmth in cloth or woollen materials, and that we have only learned, many of us, through hard experience. In coats and tight-fitting waists the smooth cloths are more becoming than the rough ones, for they seem to fit the figure better, probably on account of being more closely woven. But this year it is not safe to say arbitrarily that either one is the only possible material. All the different shades of blue, brown, green and gray, besides black, are fashionable, but black leads all in the smooth cloths. In the mixed cloths there is a pepper-and-salt combination which is immensely fashionable.

Under the head of novelty goods all sorts and descriptions of fabrics are put upon the market, spring and fall, but the wild vagaries of design which are seen are not to be rashly indulged in, although very attractive in appearance.

A Foulard Gown.

Foulard gowns are more than ever fashionable, and will be worn until late in the autumn. An attractive style has the waist made with full shirred front and cravat of silk tulle under a little square jacket covered with russet guipure lace. Revers extend over the sleeves in full epaulettes, while the sleeves themselves are of the same material as the vest. The belt is of foulard like the skirt. The skirt is shirred into the belt, and is trimmed around the bottom with two ruches of the silk tulle.

The hat is of pink straw trimmed with lace draped around the crown, and forming an aigrette on the side. Large bows of striped leaf-green taffeta ribbon are placed far back, and behind them a cache-peigne of big pink roses.

AMERICAN INSURANCE AND CANADIAN POLICY-HOLDERS.

It is becoming a question of practical politics for Canadian policy holders in American insurance companies in which kind of money their claims will be paid when their policies mature. Should Mr. Bryan be elected and the United States go to a silver basis, American companies would have a perfect right to pay their claims—unless otherwise provided in the policy—in American silver dollars, which are now worth a trifle over fifty cents. This would mean, if this ratio were maintained, the cutting of one's life insurance in two; and the man who paid premiums on $5,000 would really leave his family only about one-half that amount.

Some American companies are endorsing their policies "payable in gold," or "payable in the lawful money of Canada." This should make them as good as ever, if the securities deposited by these companies at Ottawa remain as valuable as ever. This latter is a point for the Government to carefully investigate. It will not be worth much to a person with a claim against an American company to have his policy endorsed "payable in the lawful money of Canada," if the company does not have sufficient money on deposit at Ottawa to cover his claim. Then, supposing the company to fight his claim, he must sue the United States, and get his award in American money—i.e., Bryan silver dollars. Now this is a real enough danger if the deposits of American companies with the Canadian Government are composed in whole or in part of American securities. For with the enactment of free silver at Washington American securities will be very likely to go to a silver basis too; with the result that the American deposits at Ottawa will fall far below their face value. Thus it might come about that claims payable in Canada could not be collected in the Dominion, because the company's assets here had all been eaten up.

This is a matter for the Government Superintendent of Insurance to look to. There should be no doubt as to the permanent value of the deposits placed by the American companies in the hands of the Dominion Government. This is the keystone of the arch. To be sure of getting Canadian money for our claims we must be able to sue for them in Canada and collect the award in Canada. It is ridiculous to suppose that if the United States goes to a silver basis, and if the Insurance Companies are paying American claimants in silver, that the American courts will compel them to pay the Britisher in gold. Our only security is to keep the Canadian end of the business in Canada.

To accomplish this two things must be had—1, the securities deposited at Ottawa must not be of a character to be affected by a victory for Mr. Bryan; and, 2, all policies must be made payable in Canada and in Canadian money, or its only equivalent—gold.—Star.

Her Mouth Like an Elephant's.

It is said that a certain well-known portrait painter has almost as great a reputation for joking as for taking excellent likenesses. One evening he was speaking of a beautiful young girl whose portrait he had just finished: "Her features are exquisitely moulded, I have heard," said a lady who had seen neither the portrait nor its original. "Beautiful forehead and eyes," returned the artist, concisely, "handsome nose, fine chin, but mouth like an elephant's." "Mouth like an elephant's!" echoed the lady in dismay. "What a terrible misfortune. Do you mean that it is so enormous and—what do you mean?" "Only that it is filled with superb ivory," returned the artist, with his usual gravity.—London Tit-Bits.

THE EYES OF THE WORLD
Are Fixed Upon South American Nervine.

Beyond Doubt the Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

WHEN EVERY OTHER HELPER HAS FAILED IT CURES

A Discovery, Based on Scientific Principles, that Renders Failure Impossible.

In the matter of good health temporising measures, while possibly successful for the moment, can never be lasting. Those in poor health soon know whether the remedy they are using is simply a passing incident in their experience, bracing them up for the day, or something that is getting at the seat of the disease and is surely and permanently restoring.

The eyes of the world are literally fixed on South American Nervine. They are not viewing it as a nine-days' wonder, but critical and experienced men have been studying this medicine for years, with the one result—they have found that its claim of perfect curative qualities cannot be gainsaid.

The great discoverer of this medicine was possessed of the knowledge that the seat of all disease is the nerve centres, situated at the base of the brain. In this belief he had the best scientists and medical men of the world occupying exactly the same premises. Indeed, the ordinary layman recognised this principle long ago. Everyone knows that let disease or injury affect this part of the human system and death is almost certain. Injure the spinal cord, which is the medium of these nerve centres, and paralysis is sure to follow.

Here is the first principle. The trouble with medical treatment usually, and with nearly all medicines, is that they aim simply to treat the organ that may be diseased. South American Nervine passes by the organs, and immediately applies its curative powers to the nerve centres, from which the organs of the body receive their supply of nerve fluid. The nerve centres healed, and of necessity the organ which has shown the outward evidence only of derangement is healed. Indigestion, nervousness, impoverished blood, liver complaint, all owe their origin to a derangement of the nerve centres. Thousands bear testimony that they have been cured of these troubles, even when they have become so desperate as to baffle the skill of the most eminent physicians, because South American Nervine has gone to headquarters and cured there.

The eyes of the world have not been disappointed in the inquiry into the success of South American Nervine. People marvel, it is true, at its wonderful medical qualities, but they know beyond all question that it does everything that is claimed for it. It stands alone as the one great certain curing remedy of the nineteenth century. Why, should anyone suffer distress and sickness while this remedy is practically at their hands?

CHARGE OF MURDER

Is Hanging Over the Head of Robert Carpenter.

HE IS NOW IN BRANTFORD JAIL

Awaiting Trial for Killing His Wife—On Being Arraigned He Pleaded Not Guilty—Pretty Strong Evidence Given Against Him at the Coroner's Inquest.

Hagersville, Sept. 29.—There is no abatement of excitement here over the death of Mrs. Robert Carpenter. Some pretty strong evidence against the dead woman's husband has been brought out by Coroner Heath.

The post-mortem examination, made by Dr. Jones of Hagersville, revealed the following indications of death by violence.

Bright and discolored marks upon both sides of the face and neck.

Above and to the front of the crest of the ilium, an incident one and a half inches, caused by some blunt instrument, supposed to have been caused by the toe of a boot.

A bruise in the left breast near the nipple.

A bruise upon the right arm, between the elbow and shoulder.

A bruise upon the left arm an inch square.

An extensive bruise upon the left temple.

An extensive bruise upon the right temple.

Although living on the reserve, both the parties, Carpenter and his wife, are whites. The house, which is a miserable-looking frame building, stands facing the road which divides Tuscarora from Oneida. It is a two-roomed house and almost destitute of furniture. In the bedroom there was nothing save an uninviting looking bedstead, while the other room contained three or four chairs and a table and cooking stove. The house, however, was clean and had evidently been well kept.

Robert Carpenter, the man who stands under the actual charge of having caused the death of his wife, is a fair complexioned man of some 40 years of age. He has blue eyes, a wealth of fair hair, and a big sandy moustache. Though at times contemplative, he did not seem to feel his position greatly as one might have expected, and sometimes he laughed at the remarks made by the witnesses during the [illegible]. He was represented by Mr. A. J. [illegible], while the prisoner was undefended.

The deceased, Lillie Winkworth, or Carpenter, was well-known in Hagersville, to which village she belonged. She had lived for a long time with her brother and sister-in-law in that place. The latter did not know Carpenter, and it could be gathered from her conversation that the family did not altogether approve of the match. With the exception of Mrs. Giles, all the women witnesses in the case were bitterly hostile to Carpenter and the feeling of the neighborhood is very much against him. The revelation of the doctor's evidence as to the number and character of the wounds, created something of a sensation and many angry looks were cast towards Carpenter, who sat on the end of a bench and hung his head.

The remains were taken to Hagersville, and a certificate for their interment will now be issued by the coroner.

The jurors having been sworn, witnesses were called. An old lady named Margaret Gilles, washerwoman, and residing at Hagersville, was the first. Robert Carpenter was her cousin. She had visited at the house of the Carpenters', and knew them pretty well. They were married in Brantford six week ago, on the 27th of September. The name of the deceased was Lillie Winkworth. Deceased was sick. She had the diarrhoea pretty badly. Deceased had called at her house in Hagersville, and the daughter of witness was sent home with her to live. On Wednesday last, Robert Carpenter came to her at Hagersville, and told her that he would like her to go with him as Lillie was not very well. She at last consented to go with him. When they got to Carpenter's house, they found Lillie lying on the bed with her face toward the wall. She was dressed with a skirt, a waist, but no shoes or stockings. Witness saw that her face looked very white. Witness spoke to her, and said, "Lillie, what is the matter with you, speak to me." Witness opened her waist. She found her skirt opened, or loosened. The husband and she lifted her up and put her in a rocking chair. Witness thought Lillie was in a fit. She then put her hand under her chemise, on her heart, and found that it was not beating. Witness then found she was dead, but her body was warm, although the finger tips were cold. She did not know of any ill-feeling existing between the couple. Deceased had lived with her for many months, and she knew what kind of a girl she was. She was a girl of good habits, and was neat in her person. When she called on me the last time I saw her alive, I said to her, "Lillie, you never told me a lie, and I want you to tell me the truth now. Does Rob use you mean, or is he cross with you?" She said, "No, Margaret, all he ever said to me was that if I could not quit that meeting he could not stand it." That was all she said to me that night. Bob said something to me about the fact that she was sick.

Sarah Giles, a daughter of Mrs. Giles, the previous witness, was next called. She saw Mrs. Carpenter last alive on Sunday a week ago. Next time she saw her she was dead. When she came to the house the night of the death, there were several people present, including Carpenter. Witness and Mrs. Winkworth, a sister-in-law of deceased, helped to lay out the body. She noticed a number of marks, blue marks, upon the body. Witness described to her body just where the marks were. There were three or four marks. She had a bad bruise upon her stomach. Her back was all black and blue. All the way down her back there were black and blue marks. Her left hand had a blue spot, and a raised lump nearer the wrist. Her left ear was red all over. She couldn't see any mark on the side of the face, where she first saw it, but while she washed it it began to change to a blue color. The blue mark commenced in front of the ear, and went down the jaw and down the neck. The mark was not there when she commenced to wash the face. She was using warm water and soap. The water was not very hot. Witness said she was not looking specially for marks, but she saw the ones she mentioned. She had visited both Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter. She had come and remained a week with her. She noticed nothing wrong between them at first. But she came to visit in the third or fourth week of their marriage. She arrived that time early and stayed till after teatime. The husband had told her that deceased was dirty. That was about two days before at Hagersville. He said he could not stand it, and he asked witness to talk her out of it. Witness offered to go back and talk to her. Witness said: "What's the matter with Rob?" and Lillie said that he seemed to be a little angry. Witness then told deceased that it was because deceased kept the house and herself so dirty. She (Lillie) did not say whether she could help it or not, but she said she would try and do better.

Mrs. Giles, the mother of witness, said that they were going to part, and she went out to see if she could not patch up the difficulty. She and the girl were friends. She found Lillie standing at the door with her hat and walking dress on. She said she was going to witness' home. She came in and sat down and smiled. Witness said she was going to have a talk with Rob. She asked, "What about?" and witness replied about the parting. Carpenter was sitting outside. She went around the house to the garden with Carpenter. The latter said, "I will not live with you." The witness said, "Look here, Rob, you are both married now. What is past, put your feet on it and let it remain there." He said again, "I will not live with her. I will get money the first or middle of this week and send her to her sister's." Witness then spoke to Mrs. Carpenter: "Which would you rather do, go to your sister's or stay with Carpenter?" The deceased replied, "I will stay with him." Carpenter said before his wife and witness that he would not live with deceased again. Mrs. Carpenter walked into the house and seemed to feel bad about it. Carpenter acted crossly to deceased about her not getting the dinner. The next time she saw Mrs. Carpenter she was dead.

Mrs. Maria Winkworth, sister-in-law of deceased, gave evidence next. She lived in Hagersville. She knew Mrs. Carpenter, but never saw her husband till he came to tell her she was dead. He came between 6 and 7 o'clock. "What ailed her?" the witness next asked. Carpenter did not make any answer. He said she must have died between 3 and 5. Carpenter then ran away, and he said he was going for the doctor. He said, "I'm in a hurry." Witness called him back and asked him what doctor he was going for. He wanted her to go. She came out to Carpenter's between 10 and 11 o'clock. The body had a bandage around the heart and chin. The hair was tangled. There was froth in the nose and mouth. She corroborated witness, Miss Giles, as to the number of wounds and the position of them. There was a long blue spot on the groin. Right above the left breast there was a black and blue spot as big as a silver dollar. From her neck to her hips on the back she was black and blue. Witness corroborated Miss Giles as to the mark on the side of the head and chin. She asked Carpenter what on earth was the cause of her death. Carpenter replied that he did not know. He said he had left at 3 o'clock for the doctor, and when he came back she was dead.

Witness continued that Carpenter had told her an entirely different story next day. George Winkworth asked Carpenter how the girl's health was up till Wednesday. He said: "She was as well on Wednesday morning as I ever saw her." He said she got his breakfast on Wednesday morning, and that she also got his dinner. He said right after dinner she took bad, and he put her to bed and covered her up "good and warm," and then started for Margaret Giles. Carpenter locked the door with a padlock when he went away. Witness said, "Is it true what the Indians have said in town, that you locked the front door?" He said he did, and it was because he did not wish the neighbors to get in and see what kind of a house he had. He did not want them to twit him. She was not very subject to fits. She had had what Dr. McDonald called hysteria fits. She would sometimes have frothing at the mouth.

A juryman—Did she bite her tongue?

Witness—She has had those bloody froths at the mouth in fits on former occasions.

Mrs. Mary Laforme said she lived in Tuscarora, next neighbor to Carpenter's place. She saw Mrs. Carpenter go down the hill about the forenoon some time. She could not swear that it was Mrs. Carpenter. Carpenter came to her place at 6 o'clock, saying his wife was dying. Mrs. Giles was present and a lad named Palmer. The body was set up in the rocking chair. The woman was dead. The body was yet warm. That was all she knew about the matter.

William Johnston of Oneida was sworn. He saw Mrs. Carpenter on Monday last. He called to fix a scythe. She seemed well and the house looked clean and neat. On Wednesday morning he passed the house between 8 and 9: heard people talking loudly in the house. Got nearer; the talk was still louder. Heard Carpenter say, "Are you going to market?" It was said in a loud voice. Then he heard a voice say, "—— ——, are you going to market?" in a loud, angry voice. Later he heard Carpenter say, "—— —— you, are you going to market?" He heard somebody groan. The voice said, "Get up!" in a shouting, angry voice. He heard no reply. There was a pane of glass broken in the window. The voice said, "Get up, or I'll roll you right into it!" He repeated that. He repeated it once more. "You —— dirty slut!" was the next remark he heard. He heard a terrible racket in the house. He heard the sound of something rolling and furniture being moved about. He heard tramping around. There was tramping enough to make it appear that there were a number of people in the house. He heard Carpenter say to his wife, "You are not as bad as you pretend to be."

James Henry, farmer, Tuscarora, generally corroborated Johnston. He heard Carpenter say he would slap the woman's mouth for her. He saw the person sitting in the chair jerked from the chair. It was Mrs. Carpenter, he thought.

Langford Herkimer, a lad of 10 years, said he heard Carpenter swearing at his wife. He went in the house and saw the woman with her face to the wall.

Jacob Baptiste said at 1 o'clock on the day of the death he passed the house and heard a man swearing. He could swear it was Carpenter's voice.

William Baptiste heard a noise in Carpenter's house in the afternoon. It seemed as if someone dropped.

Dr. McDonald said he was the medical attendant of deceased from when she was a little girl. She was a delicate, scrofulous woman. He knew that she took fits, and they were of a hysterical character.

He was called to Carpenter's house, and Carpenter told him his wife was dead. She did not die from the result of a fit. The appearance of blood and froth around the mouth did not necessarily indicate that she had died from a fit. It was hard to say what caused death. The marks did not seem sufficient to cause death.

Dr. Jones of Hagersville made a post-mortem examination. He related the number of bruises, as already given. He was of the opinion that death was caused by congestion of the brain, the result of external violence upon the skull. There was no evidence of poison or alcoholism.

The coroner's jury, after an absence of half an hour, brought in a verdict of wilful murder against Robert Carpenter.

Carpenter was removed to Brantford Jail last night.

This morning Robert Carpenter was brought before Mr. James Grace, M.P., charged with wilfully and maliciously killing and slaying his wife at Tuscarora on the 23rd of September, and the information was read over to the prisoner. He pleaded not guilty, and was remanded until Friday, Oct. 2, at 10 o'clock, when he will have his preliminary trial.

LINING UP

AFTER THE FAIRS.

Our Prize Clothing.

Our Clothing has had the call at all the Fairs. It was nothing new to find the Directors decorating our display with the Red Prize Tickets. It would have been a surprise if we didn't capture First Prize—not because competition was weak, but because the Clothing could not be bettered in Canada. The reputation of the big store was at stake, and we're more than proud to have deserved the good opinion of the directors as well as the thousands of men folk at the Fairs.

Now we're lining up for a rattling big fall business. We've had a good start already, but the price cards are becoming a more interesting study every day, and the figures startling enough to bring us the trade of the masses.

FASHIONABLE

DRESS-MAKING

Dress-Making was a woman's invention.

Never was the art of Garment-Making brought to such a point of fineness as that at which it has now arrived.

The house that would succeed must recognise this fact and work accordingly.

THE GOLDEN LION faced it when it inaugurated its Dress and Mantle-Making Department years ago.

Begun right as to designing, put together as it should be, trimmings, buttons and braids watched artistically. We can confidently commend this department to the patronage of the ladies.

Big sleeves are going out of fashion, but the ladies do not appear to mourn over it. Our lady patrons, however of ripe judgment and skilled help in faithfully carrying out to the minutest detail every suggestion of personal taste.

MISS NEILD who was installed as head of our Dress and Mantle-Making Department, many years ago, still presides here, and the mutual confidence which has existed between her and our customers has always been of the most satisfactory character.

THE GOLDEN LION has always been a long way ahead in Dress Goods, Mantle Cloths and Trimmings. Fair's Dress Goods were the talk of the ladies for several years, and the supremacy secured then has been more than maintained in these latter years.

Remember there is only one Golden Lion in Peterborough and FAIR has made it famous. That's Fair's Way.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Mr. Davin Gets the Parties All Mixed Up—Some Sharp Shooting Across the Floor.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—A disposition to economize in small things has manifested itself upon the part of some of the new members of the House, and it was possibly as a rebuke to this species of representative that the House to-day, without discussion, decided to forego the legislative perquisite that has existed for a long time in the shape of a box of stationery at the beginning of each session and a leather trunk at the commencement of each Parliament in which to transport sessional belongings to and from Ottawa.

When Mr. Laurier moved an amendment to the report of the Printing Committee that hereafter the supplying of each Senator and Member with a leather trunk and box of stationery be discontinued, the amendment carried without a word of dissent.

Mr. Bain moved the adoption of the report of the Committee on Agriculture which deals with the provision of cold storage and the removal of quarantine on thoroughbred animals entering Canada. Mr. Bain lucidly explained the leading features of the report.

Dr. Sproule spoke strongly in favor of the report, as also did Mr. McMillan.

Dr. Montague said the Government could count upon the support of the Opposition in any efforts made to secure cold storage accommodation on Atlantic steamships. From conferences which he had had with the Imperial Minister of Agriculture in England he regretted to say there did not seem to be the slightest chance of a removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Davin, Oliver, Choquette and Dupont.

The Minister of Agriculture said the House would find the Government prepared to carry out the recommendations in the report so far as lay in their power. In the matter of quarantine of thoroughbred stock, he had reason to believe that the United States Government was prepared to meet Canada on common ground. As regards the shipment of Canadian cattle from United States ports, he presumed like concessions would have to be granted for shipment of American cattle from our ports.

The report of the committee was adopted.

Mr. Davin, on motion to go into supply, moved an amendment in favor of placing coal oil, binder twine and agricultural implements on the free list.

Mr. Laurier said there was an election protest hanging over the hon. gentleman, which probably accounted for his action to-day. Did he not think the House would seriously decide to give six months' notice in advance what it intended to do with regard to the duties on these articles? The position was a preposterous one. Mr. Davin surely never expected that his amendment would carry.

Mr. Davin reminded the Premier that one of his colleagues, Mr. Mulock, had frequently sought to elicit the views of the House on this and similar questions.

Mr. Richardson believed that these articles should be placed on the free list. He fully realized, however, that a resolution, if adopted this session, would be meaningless. Mr. Davin was clearly influenced by the fact of the protest hanging over him.

Mr Mulock said that in 1891 he introduced a resolution in favor of free binder twine. Eighty voted for it and 100 against. One of the noble hundred was the hon. gentleman who had moved this amendment. (Ministerial laughter and applause.)

Mr. Craig said there was a binder twine factory in his town and the adoption of this resolution would mean that the factory must be closed. Free binder twine would not mean cheaper binder twine for farmers. He was opposed to the adoption of the amendment in that respect.

The House then divided upon Mr. Davin's amendment, when a somewhat unusual scene was presented. For the first time in the recollection of some of the oldest parliamentarians groups were caucussed and votes were canvassed in the chamber. As a general thing the House divided on such clear-cut issues that every party man knows just where he stands. But in this instance party men, especially among the Opposition side, were a little at sea as between their protectionist principles and a desire to show up the Liberal party. However, there was not much wavering, and the great bulk of the Conservatives voted with the Government against the motion. But it did seem strange, in view of their protection tenets, to see the efforts of the three Patron members to shirk the vote. Messrs. Rogers (Frontenac), Tolmie (West Bruce), and Pettit (Prince Edward), were in the House and heard the question put, yet it was not until Mr. Davin arose and called attention to the fact that the hon. members had not voted that the three Patrons reluctantly arose and voted in favor of the amendment. The incident was quite an unusual one.

The amendment was lost by 128 nays to 22 yeas, those voting yea being Messrs. Davin, Boyd, Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, Bergeron, Dupont, Prior, Casgrain, Bennett, Carscallen, Chauvin, Powell, Cochrane, Guillet, Henderson, La Riviere, McAllister, McDougald, Marcotte, Martin, Mills, Quinn, Roche, Wood (Brockville), Tolmie, Rogers and Pettit.

TWO OTTAWA

On the canal estimates, Messrs. Hughes, McHugh and Kendry spoke in favor of the Trent Canal.

Mr. Blair said that representations had been made to him regarding this enterprise, but he admitted there were differences of opinion as regards its utility. He proceeded to say that he proposed to thoroughly look into the project, and if it was decided that it was unwise to proceed further with it then the proper policy would be to stop at the earliest moment, the Government taking the responsibility of stating so to Parliament and withholding any further appropriation. He had not, nor had the Government, formed any conclusion as to this as yet, but he would take the earliest opportunity of informing himself upon this point, and if he was satisfied that the undertaking should be further prosecuted further sums would be asked from the House. He could not at the present time, however, hold out any assurances that this would be done. Up to June 30, 1896, $54,000 had been spent on the work. Contracts to the amount of $393,000 were let and a further sum of $500,000 had been voted in the main estimates this session.

Mr. Bennett spoke in favor of the Canal, while Mr. Rogers (Patron) objected to another cent being expended upon it.

The Nordheimer divorce bill passed its third reading.

Resuming on the supplementaries, Mr. Bennett asked about the vote for Collingwood harbor. Was the $30,000 part of the contemplated expenditure of $200,000 which would be necessary to put the harbor into condition to receive vessels drawing 20 feet? Had tenders been let?

Mr. Tarte said this would be the first portion of the proposed expenditure of $200,000. Tenders were received in January last for the work, but nothing was done with them by the late Government. When he took office he thought it better to send back the cheques. His idea was to give a 20-foot channel to the harbor. Before calling for tenders, however, he would have a new survey made.

Dr. Montague said he did not see anything in the supplementaries for Owen Sound harbor. Was Owen Sound only going to get cold justice, as Hon. A. S. Hardy put it in the late election, or was the town to get warm justice? (Laughter.)

Mr. Tarte said Owen Sound had been provided for in the main estimates.

On the Public Works estimates there was an exciting quarter of an hour.

Mr. Tarte announced that he had discharged 75 men from his department, it being reported to him that their services were not needed. The hon. gentleman opposite should not press him too far.

Mr. Foster said Mr. Tarte must let all out; he must not keep any cards up his sleeve.

Mr. Tarte: Let the hon. gentleman keep civil. He has lost his temper several times this session. He should keep cool and show a better example to younger members.

Mr. Henderson: Business is business. (Loud laughter.)

Mr. Foster: Keep cool!

Mr. Tarte: I will keep cool. If Mr. Foster has any accusations to make against me let him produce them like a man.

Mr. Foster said Mr. Tarte on the platform and in the press for years had been boasting of making disclosures, but he had always kept a sort of reserve arsenal and he would tell his audience after he had made partial disclosures: "I could tell lots more, but I will not just now." The hon. gentleman should, therefore, tell all he knew.

Mr. Tarte said when he took office he asked for a statement from his officials regarding the number of employes in each department, and he found that he could dispense with the services of 75. Possibly later more might be discharged. He wanted to say, however, that there was not a shadow of a charge against any of these men—simply that their services were not needed.

Dr. Montague asked if the newspaper reports were true that it was the intention to superannuate the chief architect, Mr. Fuller.

Mr. Tarte said he had made up his mind that he would not long retain Mr. Fuller's services. He had talked the matter over with Mr. Fuller and he had agreed that the time had come when he might ask for superannuation. Mr. Fuller was 73 years of age. He was a most excellent officer, but the time had come when he might retire.

Dr. Montague: Is failing memory to be the cause of his retirement?

Mr. Tarte: I cannot say that.

Sir C. H. Tupper: How about some of the hon. gentleman's colleagues? (Laughter.)

Mr. Tarte, replying to a further question, said no successor to Mr. Fuller had been chosen.

Mr. Fielding presented further supplementaries for this year.

The House adjourned at 12.30 a.m.

FROM PULPIT TO PRISON.

William McNeil Took Cursing by Storm, But Finally as J. H. Sloane Was Imprisoned for Fraud

Corning, N.Y., Sept. 30.—William McNeil, a theological student, has been sent to jail at Niagara Falls for 60 days for defrauding an hotelkeeper. McNeil was well-known in Corning. He is 28 years old and came here a year ago. He said he was a brother of John McNeil of London, a well-known evangelist. He posed as a preacher and theological student. Society soon opened its doors to him and he was one of the most lionized young men ever in the city. He was invited to deliver a sermon in the Presbyterian Church and his effort was well received and he became noted. He subsequently preached other sermons and many persons flocked to hear him. He was then invited to become the regular pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, but declined, saying he had not yet completed his theological studies. He went from here to Hamilton College, where it is said he was dismissed for financial difficulties.

The next heard of him he was in Chicago, but recently in Syracuse he was met by one of his Corning admirers, from whom he borrowed $10. Great surprise was caused here by the report that McNeil had been arrested and sent to jail at Niagara Falls. An inquiry confirmed the report. He went to Niagara Falls and registered at the Colonade Hotel as James H. Sloane, Glasgow, Scotland, and took the best suite of rooms in the hotel. He told of his Scotch home among the mountains, where his father was a lord, who owned thousands of acres. He declared that he was one of the confidants of the Queen of England. He became acquainted with George Kingsley, who owns a fine team and who spent much time showing him all around the Falls. Sloane borrowed money of Kingsley.

Sloane ordered a champagne supper at the hotel for Tuesday night. He gave orders for covers to be laid for 20 persons, and to provide turkey, oysters, and wine enough to allow of an abundance for all the guests. This done he sent out invitations to the feast, the time set for it being 10 p.m. Tuesday night. The hour arrived and the guests arrived, including some noted men of the city, but the host was missing. A search was made for him, but he was not found. The supper was not eaten, nor was it paid for. The search was kept up the following day and McNeil was finally discovered in the bar-room of the hotel. McNeil would say nothing to the police and after spending the night in the city jail was arraigned in the Police Court and, pleading guilty of defrauding the hotelkeeper, he made restitution to the hotelkeeper and a hack-driver from whom he borrowed $10. However, he was sent to jail for sixty days.

ROUGH WORK IN AFRICA.

Twenty Rebels Killed Hungry Lions are Troublesome—Dervishes Quarrelling Among Themselves.

London, Sept. 30.—Lord Rosemead, Governor of the Cape Colony, has cabled from Cape Town that the patrol under command of Major Baden-Powell has cleared the Matabele forest of rebels to the junction of the Gwelo and Shanghai Rivers. Captain Kekewich's patrol has defeated the rebels at Lion's Kopje, killing twenty of the enemy. The other patrols have been successful in breaking up the camps of the rebels. Many of them are now coming in voluntarily to surrender. The patrols were greatly harassed by hungry lions. Food was very scarce with the men, and they were obliged to allay their hunger by eating horse flesh.

It makes pure, rich, red blood, and from this comes nerve, mental, bodily and digestive strength.

I took many remedies, but found help only in Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured me of rheumatism, neuralgia and headache. Hood's Sarsaparilla has proved itself a true friend. A BUSINESS MINISTER.

The motto of the Laurier Government is, to employ the jargon of the day, "business." When a political grabber, in respect of a certain contract, wrote the terse conclusion to his letter—"business is business," he did not seem to realize that the motto would be applied to himself and that he would be shut out and exposed suddenly, as he was. Ministers in the Laurier Cabinet are selected for their capacity for the department over which they are placed. In this respect, perhaps, the most conspicuous example is Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, who is a practical farmer and thoroughly and practically acquainted with the requirements of the class whose interests he is expected specially to guard. During their eighteen years tenure of office the Conservative Government never had a practical farmer as Minister of Agriculture; they had brewers and lawyers and other occupations equally incompatible with the duties of such an office as Minister of Agriculture. But Mr. Laurier's appointment of Mr. Fisher gave to the farmers a minister who is an advanced, successful and energetic practical farmer, who in his short term of office has won golden opinions of even his opponents for the complete grasp he has of the affairs of his department. Even the Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Gazette says that 'even Mr. Foster expressed himself as satisfied, and no one is keener at detecting a weak point than the ex-Minister of Finance.' We congratulate the county of Brome on sending Mr. Fisher to parliament, Mr. Laurier for selecting him as Minister of Agriculture, and the country which is enjoying the benefit of his services.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THAT reversible journal, the Mail and Empire, claims that Mr. Tarte's course in reference to the coal contract letter, shows that the party who discovers wrong is punished. If this were true, and it isn't, then the secret of the Mail's vindictiveness is out. Mr. Tarte was all right in the Mail's eyes till he unearthed and exposed the most gigantic boodling that any Government was ever disgraced by in a civilized country.

TUESDAY'S proceedings in the House unearthed another reason for the condemnation of the Conservative Government—they did not pay the printer. Upon the item, in the estimates for $1,450 to pay arrears of subscriptions to newspapers, coming up, Mr. Tarte explained the necessity of the item from the fact that, according to newspapers rules, no paper could be stopped till all arrearage was paid up. A government that did not pay its subscriptions to the newspapers deserves all the people gave it in the neighbourhood of the neck last June.

IN an age where political morality may be considered at a low ebb too much cannot be made of the firm stand taken by Mr. Tarte in defending the public treasury from spoilers. He is faithfully carrying out the motto of Mr. Laurier—"the people's treasury is as sacred as a private purse." The Conservative organs that winked at and condoned the most execrable corruption for years went into hysterics over a letter written by an ex-Liberal candidate in which claim was laid to corrupt commission on a contract. But he didn't get his commission. Mr. Tarte took steps to protect the public interests. The days of contract broking in connection with the Dominion Government are at an end. That the Mail keeps hammering away at the incident after the failure of the scheme has been disclosed, shows how hard up the Opposition is to find examples of corruption in the administration of public affairs by the Laurier Government.

A GLUT OF FREIGHT

Steamers Had to Leave Some at Vancouver.

AN EXTRA SHIP WAS CHARTERED

To Help Out the Regular Liners for Australia—Senators Resolve to Shut Out the Commoners From the Bar Belonging to the Upper House.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Advices received here show that outward shipments from Vancouver by the two subsidized lines are of a most encouraging nature. The last Empress that sailed had to leave freight for China and Japan behind her. On the Australian route so much freight has accumulated at Vancouver that a special steamer had to be chartered to relieve the two regular liners Miowera and Warrimoo.

From general appearances, it does not seem as if Parliament will conclude its labors this week unless a change comes over the spirit of the parliamentary dream to-morrow. The further supplementary estimates have yet to be tabled, and much depends upon them. If they do not contain any very extravagant items possibly Parliament may wind up its business this week, and prorogation may take place late on Saturday evening. The Government is working with this object in view. The impression on the Opposition side of the House is that prorogation can hardly take place before Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

BRITISH WARSHIP IN TROUBLE.

A telegram from Victoria, B.C., states that H. M. S. Comus will leave that port to-morrow for Callao, Peru, to assist H. M. S. Wild Swan, which is now aground near there and reported to be in a dangerous position. Application for aid was made to Admiral Stephenson, in charge of the Pacific Squadron, and he has decided to send the Comus to aid the sister ship.

Mr. J. A. Ruddick of the Agricultural and Dairy Commissioner's staff severed his connection with the department to-day. He goes to take permanent charge of the dairy school branch of the School of Mining and Agriculture at Kingston, Ont., under the Ontario Government. Mr. Ruddick has been in the employ of the Dominion Government for five and a half years, and during that time has become well known in almost every part of the Dominion, but especially in the west, where for the past three years he has been prominently identified with the development of the dairy industry. The dairy school at Kingston opens on Dec. 7.

The Governor-General left Ottawa on Monday evening to resume the series of official visits in this province. His Excellency was at Picton yesterday and is at Essex to-day (Wednesday). It is probable that Her Excellency will join the Governor-General later in the week. According to present arrangements, made some time ago, Their Excellencies will leave Ottawa on Oct. 6th for a short visit to British Columbia, unless the session of Parliament continues until a later day.

If the Commoners who did not feel like challenging a vote on the proposal to abolish intoxicating liquors from the Commons restaurant had a lurking idea that their favorite lubricant would still be procurable in the Senate wing they hope is doomed to disappointment.

To-night when Senator Macdonald moved the adoption of the report of the Restaurant Committee, Senator Perley moved in amendment that the sale of intoxicating liquor be absolutely prohibited after the present session. This was defeated by 23 to 16. Then Sir Mackenzie Bowell moved that the use of the restaurant be restricted to members of the Senate. This carried by 20 to 16, and accordingly thirsty Commoners will have to go down town for their drinks.

There is no doubt about the Senate's action being influenced by the decision of the Commons early in the afternoon to cut off the leather trunks and stationery boxes of the Senators after this session.

The following are the divisions:

They went in a whaleboat to rescue two petty officers whose boat had foundered, and succeeded in getting them into the whaleboat, but it sank on the way back, and only one man reached shore.

Sir Oliver Mowat in the Senate made a lengthy reply to Mr. Kirchhoffer's attack on the Government for appointing Provincial Premiers to positions of emolument.

The Conservative members of the Commons held a meeting this morning to arrange for a fitting recognition from the party of the golden wedding of Sir Charles and Lady Tupper.

ED. HARVEY'S CASE.

A Committee Selected With a View to Settling the Case Against the Ex-Treasurer of Guelph.

Guelph, Ont., Sept. 29.—(Special.)—On Tuesday night at a special meeting of the City Council the Harvey case got another airing, especially to settle the civic suit against the ex-treasurer. After considerable discussion, the following motion was put and carried:

"Moved by Ald. Coffee and Taylor,—That the mayor, the chairman of the Finance Committee, Ald. Coffee, the City Solicitor and Mr. Wallace Nesbitt be a committee without further reference to the council to negotiate for and conclude a settlement for such amounts and on such terms as they may consider wise with the late City Treasurer, Edmund Harvey, and the Guarantee Company in respect of all the city's claims against Edmund Harvey and the company, and in respect of the other securities held by the city in connection with such claims."

Ald. Calvert strenuously opposed the motion, and held out that if full restitution was offered then the council would consider the offer. He was also dead set against any dickering in the matter and that the council should get their just claim in a proper way. He also commented strongly on the impropriety of one of the auditors, Mr. A. A. Fitzgerald, assisting Mr. Mitchell in the Treasury Department. As auditor he would be simply auditing his own work. The business will be again taken up at the council meeting next Monday night.

Some days nothing will "come out right," from the time you rise till you retire. Ten to one the trouble is with yourself. Your blood is in bad condition, and every organ consequence. What you need is the invigorating influence of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

THEY ARE STILL OUT

And There is Talk of the Strike Extending.

THE CONDUCTORS AND ENGINEERS

Said to be in Sympathy With the Operators—Canadian Pacific Officials Say the Backbone of the Strike is Broken—What Will the End Be?

Toronto, Oct. 1.—Most of the passenger trains on the Ontario branches of the C. P. R. were yesterday less than an hour behind time, while freights were moving fairly well in most directions.

General Superintendent Leonard, when interviewed at the Union Station last evening, informed a reporter that he had received a despatch from F. P. Brady, assistant superintendent of the road between Toronto and Montreal, whose headquarters are at Smith's Falls, stating that all the men in the division but two were back at work, and that their stations were now manned by relieving operators.

Between Toronto and Windsor, Mr. Leonard went on, most of the men had returned to their duties, while Assistant Superintendent Williams had started for Owen Sound with men to replace the operators who had gone out on that section of the road. On the Teeswater, Elora and Orangeville branches none of the employes quit work.

The General Superintendent added, by way of explanation, that of course not all the stations in the district had been manned. The company had not yet undertaken to fill all the small stations, and operators had been taken from some of the unimportant points to fill vacancies at some of the chief stations.

Chief Train Despatcher Price observed that on the O. and Q. division one would hardly know that a strike existed. The operators were working all right between Montreal and Windsor, and trains, both from the east and west, were running pretty well on time.

Mr. Price is still open to take on any number of operators for the purpose of helping other divisions out of the hole. A squad of men was sent north yesterday to relieve the block on the North Shore of Lake Superior.

Mr. C. E. McPherson, assistant general passenger agent of the C.P.R., made the statement that everything seemed to be O.K. except on the North Shore and west of that, as there were not many trains up there, though the trouble was not serious, while out on the Prairie trains were not in danger of colliding, since they could spy each other when miles apart.

The conductor of the night express from Windsor, which came in an hour behind time, said that the regular trains on his part of the road were not delayed much, as the station agents can handle them without the aid of operators.

When the express from North Bay, which was delayed five hours, pulled into the Toronto depot, it was learned that all the operators are out between North Bay and Port Arthur, and that up there the railway is running its trains as best it can. In the past 36 hours only three freights have pulled out of North Bay, which proves how badly the strike is affecting that section of the line.

The difficulty is bringing into general requisition the long-distance telephone. The 'phone was used yesterday in communicating between Toronto and Windsor and Toronto and Montreal.

The rumor that the despatchers and operators on the G.T. would go out in sympathy with their C.P.R. brethren, was, as far as could be ascertained, unfounded.

A meeting of the B.L.E., B.L.F., B.R.T. and O.R.C., was held behind closed doors yesterday afternoon at Toronto Junction. The feeling was unanimously in support of the action of the strikers.

A matter of discussion was the reported return to work of the men on the division between Toronto and Smith's Falls. Evidence was produced that the C.P.R. officials notified the men out that unless they returned in 24 hours they would not only lose their jobs, but would also be turned out of their houses in the railway buildings.

A prominent ex-railroad man, who attended the meeting of union men, held at Toronto Junction yesterday, to discuss the situation, was interviewed by a reporter last night. He said the other departments of the road were in strong sympathy with the strikers and might join the strike at any time, and at all events would stand by them and give them every assistance to gain their point. He stated that all union men west of Montreal had left their offices and only four had gone to work again. It was his opinion the officials would have to come to time, as it would take them years to get the positions vacated by the strikers, filled. He says that Mr. Tait knew perfectly well that the general superintendent of the O. and Q. division had no power to settle any grievances had they been presented to him. Mr. Tait had had an experience of this kind before. Only the president or vice-president of the road had such power.

No attempts are made to move freight and the passenger trains are not moving promptly.

A C.P.R. brakeman said last night that the strike was going to be a very serious matter, and intimated that the trainmen and firemen would join the striking operators just as soon as they got the word, which may be at noon to-day. "Then," said the brakeman, "there will be a big tie-up, and by about Saturday you may see a train come in, say, 60 hours late. That's the way it's going to be."

Speaking further, the brakeman said that the trainmen had grievances somewhat in common with the operators, and that the approaching trouble had been under discussion among the fraternity for some time." The trainmen all along the line were, he said, entirely in sympathy with the operators, and would manifest that very soon.

PIERSON IS CONFIDENT

That the Men Will Remain True to Their Order—Mr. Tait Talks.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—It is a very puzzling job for an impartial mind to size up the situation along the line of the C.P.R., as both sides appear confident of the result. Mr. Pierson states that the men are holding true to their colors and will win, while on the other hand Assistant General Manager Tait declares that the strike's back is already broken, and that the end of the trouble is already in sight. It is generally believed that if the trainmen remain loyal to the company the operators will be worsted, but if they should go out it will be very difficult to predict the final issue.

Mr. Pierson was very busy this morning receiving telegrams from all points. He said: "I have not much news to give you, because the situation is almost the same as yesterday, and we do not want to give anything to the public except what is strictly correct. You may see for yourself how we stand, if you cast a look at these" (pointing to a sheaf of telegrams on the table). "Take this one for a sample." The message referred to was from the Northwest, and stated that despatchers at Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat, Donald, Kamloops and Vancouver, including the chief at the last mentioned point, together with all agents and operators between Brandon and the Pacific coast, were out to a man.

This evening the organizer denies the company's statement that men are going back and declares that, with the exception of a few "scabs," all are remaining true to the order and he is confident that the company will have to give in. He says that the misleading reports are being sent out by the company in order to induce the men to come back to their offices.

To your correspondent Mr. Thomas Tait said practically all the men are at work in the Ontario division and what few men there are out have been replaced. Operators are being sent out from Toronto and elsewhere, wherever they may be required. Many of the men, added Mr. Tait, are now claiming that they did not quit work at all.

"Assistant Superintendent Hall," continued Mr. Tait, "has left Quebec with sufficient operators to fill all the vacant stations between Montreal and Quebec. We have also a large number of operators en route to the different centres and we expect matters will soon resume their normal condition."

ORDERED TO LEAVE.

Striking Operators Occupying C.P.R. Property Must Vacate at Once.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—The Canadian Pacific have caused the following notice to be served on such of the strikers as are still occupying the company's stations:

"Inasmuch as you have refused and are still refusing to perform the duties for which you were engaged, and in view of the fact that the company's dwelling occupied by you is required immediately for your successor, you are hereby notified to vacate the company's premises and remove your effects therefrom within twenty-four hours from the serving of this notice.

"You are further notified that, having violated your contract of engagement with the company by failing to give two weeks' notice of your intention to leave the company's service, required by the rule of the company and the law, the company will hold you responsible for all loss or damage which it may sustain owing to said breach of contract."

BOTH CLAIM A VICTORY.

But in the Meantime the Winnipeg Grain Men are Anxious.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 30.—(Special.)—There are no new developments in the telegraphers' strike here. It is mostly affecting the grain trade and grain men naturally begin to grow very anxious. If the strike tied up this trade it would very seriously affect Manitoba and do great harm. The company promises to have regular freight trains running very shortly, but A. P. McLellan, general organizer of O.R.T., who arrived here to-day from the west, declare the company are crippled, and will not be able to do anything unless they give in.

General Superintendent Whyte makes the statement that had the men stated their grievances in the usual way and adopted the usual methods there would have been an amicable arrangement. Now, he declares, the company will soon win the strike.

SYMPATHY DOWN EAST.

Conductors and Engineers May Go Out in Aid of Telegraphers.

Halifax, N.S., Sept. 30.—The Canadian Pacific Railway telegraphers' strike situation is unchanged, except that the telegrapher at Fairville, three miles from the city, has left his post. The telegrapher at Fredericton Junction also went out last night, but a new man was got to-day. A conductor said to-day that it was just possible that conductors and engineers would come to the rescue of the telegraphers if the company did not come to a settlement in the next few days.

A Heavy Allowance.

Montreal, Sept. 30.—(Special.)—Regarding the charge that the C.P.R. telegraph operators have to wash out the stations, your correspondent is authorized to state that the company allows from $1 to $4 per month extra for this work.

Giving In in the West.

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 30.—The operators on the Western Ontario Division of the Canadian Pacific have given in with rare exceptions, and returned to work, after being on strike less than two days. The two operators at Windsor have resumed work.

No Change at Quebec.

Quebec, Sept. 30.—There is virtually no change in the situation on the C.P.R. at this place. Passenger trains are arriving and leaving on time, but no freight is being moved. Mr. Hall, local superintendent, is of opinion that things will be settled inside of a week.

The sense of security against sudden emergencies from croup and bronchitis, felt by those who are provided with a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, would be cheaply purchased at ten times the cost of that remedy. In all lung complaints, it is prompt to act and sure to cure.

Suddenly Attacked.

Children are often attacked suddenly by painful and dangerous colic, cramps, diarrhœa, dysentery, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, etc. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt and sure cure which should always be kept in the house.

THEATRE ON FIRE.

Forty People Injured, Some Fatally, in a Mad Rush for the Exits—This Was in Scotland.

Aberdeen, Sept. 30.—During the progress of the performance in the People's Palace variety theatre in this city this evening a fire broke out and the audience were thrown into a panic and made a rush for the exits. A number of those present were seriously burned and many others were crushed by the wild endeavors of the frantic crowd to reach the street. It is stated that at least 40 persons were injured, four of them fatally, while a number of others who are known to have been in the theatre when the fire started are reported to be missing. The building was completely gutted by the flames.

3 a.m.—Up to this hour three bodies have been found in the ruins of the theatre, and fears are entertained that the search which is being actively carried on will result in the discovery of others.

THE WOMEN TOO.

Back Talk Not Man's Monopoly.

Mrs. Jemima Cole, Havelock, told the following wonderful story:—"For a great many years I have suffered from disease of the kidneys. The pains in my back and side were sometimes excruciating.

"My limbs were so swollen that I could scarcely lift my feet from the floor, and I was in great agony nearly all the time. I thought that I would surely die from the pain.

"I have taken dozens of advertised remedies, but got no better during their use. I was also treated by several doctors, but am sorry to say they did me little or no good. In fact they stated that they could do me no good, which made me despair of ever getting better.

"When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I sent to W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore and got a box thinking I would try them as a last resort.

"The change from the start was very great and now after one month I am free from all pain. The swelling has gone down and I feel quite strong and healthy.

"I was also troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia which have completely disappeared, thanks to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In fact I do not think there is a medicine in the world that in such a short time could have taken me from the almost dying condition in which I was to the healthy and vigorous state that I am in now.

"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for their wonderful virtues in curing kidney troubles."

I am most happy to say it for my own sake as well as for others that I am perfectly cured after using four boxes.

THEY COUNT BY THE SCORE

Yea, By the Hundreds, Those Who Have Been Cured of Dire Disease By South American Nervine.

A Remedy Widespread and Universal in Its Application.

Where Other Medicines Have Failed and Doctors Have Pronounced the Cases Beyond Cure, This Great Discovery Has Proven a Genuine Elixir of Life.

The Same Verdict Comes From Old and Young, Male and Female, Rich and Poor, and From All Corners of the Dominion.

If it is the case that he who makes two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before is a benefactor of the race, what is the position to be accorded that man who by his knowledge of the laws of life and health gives energy and strength where languor, weakness and anticipation of an early death had before prevailed? Is not he also a public benefactor? Let those who have been down and are now up through the use of South American Nervine give their opinions on this subject. John Boyce, banker, of Kincardine, Ont., had made himself a hopeless invalid through years of overwork. At least he felt his case was hopeless, for the best physicians had failed to do him good. He tried Nervine, and these are his words: "I gladly say it: Nervine cured me and I am to-day as strong and well as ever." Samuel Eliza, of Meaford, was cured of neuralgia of the stomach and bowels by three bottles of this medicine. Jas. Sherwood, of Windsor, at 70 years of age, suffered from an attack of paralysis. His life, at that age, was despaired of. But four bottles of Nervine gave him back his natural strength. A victim of indigestion, W. F. Bolger, of Renfrew, says: "Nervine cured me of my suffering, which seemed incurable, and had baffled all former methods and efforts." Peter Esson, of Paisley, lost flesh and rarely had a good night's sleep, because of stomach trouble. He says: "Nervine stopped the agonizing pains in my stomach the first day I used it. I have now taken two bottles and I feel entirely relieved and can sleep like a top." A representative farmer, of Western Ontario, is Mr. C. J. Curtis, residing near Windsor. His health was seemingly completely destroyed through la grippe. No medicine did him any good. "To three bottles of Nervine," he says, 'I attribute my restoration to health and strength." Neither man or woman can enjoy life when troubled with liver complaint. This was the sentiment and feeling of W. J. Hill, the well-known bailiff of Bracebridge. "I was so bad," says he, "that one of my medical attendants said that I was dying, but, thank God, I am not dead yet. From the first few doses I took of Nervine I commenced to feel better, and am to-day restored completely to my usual health." A resident of the Maritime Provinces, in the person of S. Jones, of Sussex, N.B., says: "For twelve years I was a martyr to indigestion, constipation and headache. The treatment of several physicians did not help me. I have taken a few bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say that I am a new man."

A shrewd observer of human nature has said: "The hand that rocks the cradle moves the world." How important it is, then, that health and strength should be made the lot of the mothers of this country. The women of Canada are ready by scores to tell of the benefits that have come to them through the use of South American Nervine. Mrs. R. Armstrong, of Orillia, wife of the colporteur of the Bible Society of that town, suffered for six years from nervous prostration. Medical assistance did not help. "In all," she says, "I have taken six bottles of Nervine, and can truthfully say this is the one medicine that has effected a cure in my case." Mrs. John Dinwoody has been for 40 years a resident of Fleshertón, and has reached the allotted three-score years and ten. Three years ago her system sustained a severe shock through the death of a daughter. Nervine was recommended. She perseveringly took 12 bottles of medicine, with the result that she is to-day again strong and hearty. Hundreds of women suffer from impoverished blood and weakened nerves. "All vitality," says Mrs. J. Ballis, of Brampton, "seemed to have forsaken my system. I was unable to get relief from any source until I commenced taking South American Nervine. The results are most satisfactory—greater far than I could have hoped for." It came within the way of Mrs. H. Stapleton, of Wingham, to treat under the best physicians, both in Canada and England, for heart disease and nervous debility, but she failed to get any relief. "I was advised," she says, "to take South American Nervine, and must say I do believe that if I had not done so I would not be alive to-day."

Newspaper space is too valuable to permit of further additions to these earnest words of testimony from those who know just what they are talking about. In the common language of the day, they have been there, and are speaking from the heart. The dozen or more witnesses that here speak have their counterparts by the hundreds, not only in the province of Ontario, but in every other section of the Dominion. South American Nervine is based on a scientific principle that makes a cure a certainty, no matter how desperate the case may be. It strikes at the nerve centers from which flows the life blood of the whole system. It is not a medicine of patchwork, but is complete and comprehensive in its application.

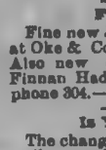
The Old Way and the New.

The old way of wall papering in spring, and in the spring only, is becoming a thing of the past. The fall is the better time for home decorating, because of the long winter nights, the Christmas season that comes and holiday visiting, when the new decorations are most appreciated by all who have to pass most of their time indoors. If requiring wall paper at present you'll find it most advantageous to visit the Peterborough Bookstore for artistic selections and lowest prices. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

A Modern Witch?



If Anna Eva Fay, who can be seen at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 2nd and 3rd, had lived a century or two ago and performed such marvellous tricks and "things" as she does now she would have been deemed a witch and burned at the stake. And yet what she does to day far surpasses in wonder what the greatest witches did in those days. And people nowadays like to witness such manifestations if one can judge at all from the great crowds that attend Miss Fay's performances. In short, anyone who wants to be amused merely, or anyone who wants to see something to study about cannot to miss seeing Miss Fay.

P. C. I. STEEPLECHASE.

Fred Weir takes First Place this Year—Time, 15:32.

The annual steeplechase which is run off amongst the Collegiate boys just before the holding of the sports each year, took place yesterday afternoon at half-past four, the start being made from the Collegiate Institute in the presence of hundreds of scholars.

The steeple chase, or cross country run, took place over the same course as has been followed for the last several years, viz.: Across the Park from the Collegiate Institute, and down Sheridan Terrace to Hunter street, then across the bridge, and up the bank of the Otonabee river to the Smith street bridge, and back again down Water street, across the school yard and through to the grass plot in front of the Institute.

The entries were as follows:—Sanford Hall, Fred. Roy, Norman Sawers, Chester Kemp, Wm. Allison, Walter Turnbull, Frank Wood, George Hardill, Herbert Carlton, J. Dixon, Fred. Weir and James Maude.

The first to arrive was Fred Weir, who made the run in thirteen minutes and thirty-two seconds. He was followed by Sandford Hall and Herb Carlton came next. J. Dixon, Frank Wood and Chester Kemp came in almost together. These six will pick their prizes in the order named from the following list:—Sweater, golf cap, one dozen photos, jack-knife, Boys' Own Annual and a book.

The time was just 32 seconds slower than that in which the race was run the year before last. No time was kept last year.

Messrs. Jeffries and McKaig acted as starters, Messrs. McKaig and Kenner as judges and Alf. Terrill as timekeeper.

Bargains will therefore be the rule until stock is all sold. Show rooms, 3 doors north of The EXAMINER office, George street.

Making Sewer Connections.

A number of prominent citizens, watching the laying of the sewer service pipe for the Bank of Toronto premises to the sewer this morning, were astonished to see the contractor putting in a section of pipe that was broken. A citizen sent for the town engineer, who instructed the contractor to replace the broken section with a sound one. The reply was that he was doing the work according to contract, but he yielded and put in a new sound section. If the contractor is required by the specifications to take up and relay the pipe connections when these are broken, someone should supply the pipe, and it is unfair that the contractor should be asked to supply new pieces. Yet someone should see that sound pipe is laid in every case, so that the street will not be perpetually broken up to repair and replace defective pipes. The sewerage operations would not be the worse of a little sharper inspection. Be fair to the contractor, but keep him to the specifications.

A FIRE IN LAKEFIELD.

Mrs. Andrew McKee's Residence Burned to the Ground.

Special to the Examiner.

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 1.—On Wednesday, shortly after noon, the villagers were startled by the mill bell and the church bell ringing an alarm of fire.

It was discovered that the house of Mrs. Andrew McKee at the corner of Reid and Concession streets, was on fire.

The steam fire engine was delayed in being brought out, owing to parties being at dinner, and when brought out there was no coal for fuel, which caused another delay until fuel was brought. By this time the fire had gained such headway that there was no hope of saving the house.

The villagers and school children did good service in getting everything out of the house, so that all the furniture was saved. The house was burned to the ground. It is stated that there was an insurance of $500 on the house, which will about cover the loss. The fire originated from the chimney.

This should be a warning to the authorities to see that the fire engine and appliances are always equipped and ready for service.

STILL ANOTHER SEPTEMBER WEDDING.

Celebration of the Nuptials of Mr. A. E. Micks and Mrs. G. Mitchell.

What was intended to be a very quiet wedding took place in the George street Methodist church last evening, but the many friends of the parties most interested thronged the church to the doors.

It was the occasion of the celebration of the nuptials between Mrs. G. Mitchell, of Winnipeg, formerly of town, and Mr. A. E. Micks, of the firm of Micks & Cox.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. R. Young, B. A., and the bride and groom were attended by two charming little maids of honour in the person of Misses Mildred Micks and Pearl Graham, who were prettily dressed in white and carried bouquets of flowers. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Wm. Mulligan, and was gowned in a handsome costume of seal brown.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party drove to Mr. Mick's residence, No. 213 Hunter street, where the wedding dejeuner was served.

THE EXAMINER desires to extend the warmest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Micks.

Mr. Adolphe Letellier returns to-day to resume his studies at the Royal School of Medicine, better know as the Queen's College, Kingston.

Dr. Morrow, of town, has been elected a member of the Executive Committee of the Ontario Dental Society, which was in session in Toronto yesterday.

Miss Louie McClelland left this morning per C.P.R. for New York, where she will spend the winter, the guest of Miss Annie B. Spoule, formerly of Peterborough.

The Port Hope Guide says,—Mr. Michael Costello and bride, Peterborough, were in town over night. They will go over on the North King to-day and will spend their honeymoon among their Yankee cousins.

Mr. Golden, representing the Emily Bancker Company, which plays "Our Flat," gave the EXAMINER a pleasant call this morning. Mr. Golden says that the company is even better than last year, having been strengthened by the addition of two English actors. The merits of the play have been commented upon so favourably by the press that further praise of it is unnecessary.

A COUPLE OF QUERIES

For the Chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

1. Is it true that when the crossing at George and Hunter streets was blockaded with the material from the sewer that the Town Engineer and Inspector McFadden notified Contractor Bogue to keep the crossing clear, and Contractor Bogue upon application to the chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee got his permission to let the blockade remain?

2. Is it true that the Town Engineer and Inspector McFadden on several occasions reported to the Chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee that Contractor Bogue was not doing his work according to contract, and that the chairman gave Contractor Bogue permission to go on with the work irrespective of the directions of the Engineer and Inspector?

3. If the answer to the above queries be "Yes," then why waste our taxes in paying the engineer and Inspector?

4. Has Contractor Bogue on more than one occasion defied the Engineer and Inspector, and refused to follow their instructions?

THE MOUND BUILDERS.

More Relics Have Been Found—Asphodel's Big Mounds Opened.

(Hastings Star.)

Some two years ago the writer discovered a mound on the farm of Mr. John Preston, lot 6, con. 9, Asphodel, on a hill overlooking the river, and from its formation believed it to be artificial. Reading the reports of the investigations being made around Rice Lake, we wrote Mr. D. Boyle, Archæologist, in the employ of the Ontario Government, and on Tuesday, he visited this locality. Securing help he proceeded to open and investigate. We found one long mound which measured 80 feet from east to west, a small one 40 feet to the east, and another about the same distance to the west of the long one. Thirteen skeletons were found in the long one, two in the small one to the east, and eighteen in the one to the west, which was the smallest of the three. On the top of each mound, about 18 inches below the surface, there was evidence of fire, and in the westerly one charred remains were found. Why these fires were built, or so many bodies placed there, we have nothing to inform us. There is no doubt as to their having been placed there several centuries back, as two tall pine trees have since grown on the large mound, the stumps of which remain though much rotted away. To what tribe of Indians they belong nothing was discovered to tell, but the remains must have been placed there anterior to the French occupancy of the country, over three hundred years back, and perhaps belonged to some of the Iroquois races, and not to the Hurons who succeeded them. History informs us that the Iroquois or Six Nations, allied themselves to the English, and withdrew from north of Lake Ontario and the Hurons, who up to that time, lived to the north of Lake Superior and Georgian Bay, and the Ottawas or Algonquins up the Ottawa valley and north of the St. Lawrence, allied themselves to the French and pushed eastward and occupied the country deserted by the Iroquois. It was in the year of 1615 Champlain started from where the town of Orillia now stands with an army of dusky warriors and descended the Trent and crossed over Lake Ontario and invaded the Iroquois country. Nothing, so far, has been discovered, as around Rice Lake, that would infer a pre-historic people.

DOMINION C. E. CONVENTION.

It Will be Held in Ottawa on October 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th.

Great interest is being taken by Canadian Endeavourers in the interprovincial convention, which is to be held in Ottawa October 6, 7, 8 and 9. It is the first attempt at a joint meeting of the provincial unions and the result will probably determine the feasibility of organising a Dominion union. The programme has been arranged so as to permit of sufficient time being given the provincial unions to meet and transact business. The speakers will be the most prominent in Endeavour circles in Canada and a large attendance is already assured. Good citizenship is being given a prominent place on the programme, and the Hon. G. W. Ross, Ontario's eloquent Minister of Education, has promised to address the gathering on this most important theme. A feature of the convention will be an open air patriotic service to be held at Aylmer, Que., on Friday, 9th, when addresses will be delivered by Dr. G. M. Grant, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, and Mr. John Willis Baer, of Boston, secretary of the united society of Christian Endeavour. Aylmer is the birthplace of Rev. Dr. Clarke, founder of the movement, and is easy of access by electric car. The Canadian railways have arranged for single fare rates and the convention is likely to be one of the most important gatherings of the year.

MANNERS AND CUSTOMS OF PRESENT DAY JEWS.

INTERESTING LECTURE BY A RECENT CONVERT.

He Came From Russia Three Short Years ago, and Tells an Interesting Story of the Dominions of the Czar—Eminence Attained in the Literary and Financial Worlds by the Jew.

Mr. M. J. Goodheart, a talented young Russian Jew, who arrived in Canada three years ago without being able to speak a word of English, delivered a lecture in St. John's last evening, which was replete with interesting and instructive points and held the attention of the audience to an amasing degree.

He spoke on the Jews, about whom he claimed little or nothing was known. Judiasm, he asserted, was the cradle of Christianity. It was the root of which Christianity is the fruit. No Christian man, he thought, could afford to be ignorant of the history of the Jews, but still still very little was known of the people except in a negative way. It was true that their past history was familiar to all Christians, through the medium of the Bible, but of the Jewish race of the present day little was known. That they were not Christians and did not go to church was probably the extent of the information about them possessed by the majority, but as a Chinaman living at Hong Kong might claim that all English were sailors, as he saw no others, so with an equal amount of truth might a man claim to know all about the Jews when he asserted that all were peddlers, as this was about the only class which came to this country. A Jew, however, did not remain a peddler long. He carried the pack only until he learned the language, after which he would probably be found on the New York stock exchange.

In the ranks of education and intellect some of the mightiest came from among the descendents of Abraham—a race which had its literature when the rest of the world was learning its letters. No, the Jews were certainly not all peddlers. Seventy per cent. of the professors in the German colleges were Jews, whilst their percentage in the entire population was only two per cent.

A number of other statistics were given by the speaker in which he gave a list of the percentage of the professorships in the various universities of Europe, which were held by

THE JEWISH PEOPLE.

There is not a branch, continued he, in education or culture in which the Jews did not take a prominent part. A list of well-known Jewish composers and writers was given in support of this argument.

Twenty-three out of the twenty-five papers in Berlin, Germany, are under the management of Jews, and throughout Europe the entire press is largely controlled by this people.

Again referring to the subject of pork eating the speaker pointed out that in not eating the meat of swine the Jew simply obeyed a mandate of the Old Testament, as the meat was declared unclean in Leviticus xi., 7. The Jews were very particular about the meat which they ate. The beasts were always killed by a rabbi and it took him five years to learn how to do it, so particular were the people about it. Before a beast was killed it was examined by a doctor. If he declared it free from disease it passed into the hands of the rabbi, by whom it was despatched and then CAREFULLY EXAMINED.

Fully one-third of those slain were discarded as unfit for the use of a Jew. These were sold to the Christian butchers. By the printed statistics of London, England, it was found that where a Christian lived to be 36 years of age a Jew lived to be 53. This was not a comparison between the Jew and the Christian, but rather between the Jew and the whiskey-drinking, tobacco-smoking Gentile. Taken in comparison with the true Christian, equal longevity would probably be the result.

The Jews are esentially a people of peace. There are fighters, duellists and criminals in the world but they are not Jews. Out of the 15,000 Jews in Canada to-day only one was arrested for crime in the past year. If the entire population was as peaceable there would be little need of the prisons.

The descendants of Abraham are a business people and are rarely found to even go into farming, although the farmer is one of the shrewdest persons to be found in the present era.

THE HARDSHIPS

which a Russian citizen had to combat were then taken up at length. The result of having lost a passport, with which everyone is expected to be provided, is disastrous. Such an unfortunate at once becomes a prisoner. He has to show his passport to the hotelkeeper before retiring. If he has none he is either a Nihilist or a foreigner and is at once a prisoner. If a native and the victim of the misfortune of having lost his passport he is arrested and cast into prison and marched at the rate of three miles a day back to the place where he was born. Prisons are established every three miles along the main road and chained up with a lot of other prisoners, the poor unfortunate who only lost his passport is taken one stage a day and if he lives 1,500 miles away it takes him 500 days to get home.

The speaker was astonished to hear Canadians complaining of hard times. He thought they might have room for complaint if they were living in China and, like the greater part of the population, earning about five cents a day. If they were living on they might then have cause to grumble. He thought the quotation of "When Israel waxed fat then it kicked" was applicable in this case. Canadians should be thanking God every moment of their lives that they were born on Canadian soil and in a Christian community. You prove by your constant grumblings, said he, that you do not recognise the hand of God which is continually showering down blessings upon you.

Again returning to his subject the speaker in dwelling on the business ability of the Jews, stated that out of the 1200 business houses on Broadway, New York, a thousand were owned by the Jews. They lead the world in finance and statesmanship. The money market is in their control and the money market rules the world. The Rothchilds control 500 millions. One Jew owns 15,000 miles of railway in Russia. There is one living in London whose signature is worth more than any monarch's. He could pay off the debt of any of the nations and would not be even inconvenienced thereby. In statesmanship they were for had not one even been a premier in Great Britain during the reign of Victoria. Lord Beaconsfield then received a glowing tribute from the speaker, who attributed to him England's greatness and the possession of the Indian Empire.

Although the possessors of health, wealth, temperance and education, the Jews were wandering a homeless people, without a prince, and the speaker prophesied that this would continue to be the case until the Prince of Peace was accepted. In conclusion he referred to the Jews as being the strongest proof of the truthfulness of the Bible. Christianity owed much to the Jews. Christ was a Jew, the chief apostles were Jews, and the Christians of the present day should make it their especial work to send unto the Jews the Gospel, as through them they first received it.

Throughout its length the lecture was listened to with rapt attention and unflagging interest.

THE TRENT CANAL.

Members Along the Route Want the Work to go on.

To-day's Globe says:—In supply upon an item of $500 for fishway on the Trent Canal, members along the route of the canal pressed upon the Minister the necessity of pushing on the work. Mr. Bennett wanted that the link between Balsam and Simcoe Lakes should be completed.

Major Sam Hughes urged the same thing, and asked the Minister of Railways and Canals to make a visit to look over the route.

Mr. Lang said that he had the promise of the Minister to make a personal inspection of the work. With that promise he had left the matter with the Minister.

Mr. Kendry spoke in favour of prosecuting the work, and asked how much had been expended on the work up to date.

Mr. Blair replied that he did not want Mr. Bennett to go away with the impression that there would be an amount of money asked for the Trent Valley Canal in the further supplementary estimates. The vote taken in the main estimates was for the carrying out of work already contracted for. But as for asking Parliament for any money with which to initiate new work, Mr. Blair said that he had not been able consistent with his duty to recommend the Council or this House to undertake new expenditures until he had been able to exercise his personal judgment upon the work. Until he was able to assure the House that he believed it was advisable to prosecute this undertsking he did not think he should ask Parliament for any more money for it. As soon as possible, before next session, he would take the opportunity of inspecting and studying the whole work. He could not close his eyes to the fact that there was difference of opinion as to the utility of or advisibility of proceeding with it—(hear, hear)—and he thought it was the part of wisdom for the Government to halt right here if it should be found that the country had embarked upon an unwise enterprise. He had no opinion of his own nor had the Government that he was aware of, so that he would be able to consider it in a perfectly impartial manner. Up to June 30th, 1895, there had been expended upon the canal, $54 000. Up to June 30th, 1896, there had been expended $393,000 more, making a total of $450,000. In the main estimates this session $300,000 had been voted to carry out contracts which were let by the late Government.

Mr. Bennett, the member for East Simcoe, took the ground that in view of the large expenditure already made upon the canal it would be improvident to abandon the work. He suggested that the sum of $200,000 be put in the estimates this session to complete the section between Balsam lake and Lake Simcoe.

Mr. Rogers told the House that a gentleman had informed him that the canal was not an undertaking in the interest of the country, but that its chief purpose was to carry Peterborough and other constituencies along the line.

Mr. Kendry denied that Peterborugh had been carried by the canal. A million dollars, he said, had already been spent upon the work, and it should be carried on to completion.

Mr. McHugh, who in the last election redeemed South Victoria, admitted the importance of the work, but he hoped the new Minister of Railways and Canals would not make of it a political barometer as his predecessors had done. It should be carried on.

The $500 item upon which the discussion took plase was carried.

Grafton & Co., can clearly afford to be more liberal now than ever before.

OBITUARY.

The Campbellford Herald says:—"Our citizens will miss the familiar face of John Shannon and regret his departure from the associations of earth. Mr. Shannon was laid low under the hand of affliction only about ten days, and death was the result of pneumonia. Two weeks ago he drove about the streets of Campbellord, a healthy, active, cheerful business man, but the great message came suddenly and his spirit took its flight yesterday forenoon. The deceased conducted a blacksmith business here for the long period of twenty-one years, and retired only about four months ago to enter other employment. Mr. Shannon won the great respect of many of our citizens, as he was twice honoured with a seat in the Council. He was an official member of the Presbyterian church. A wife and six children—three sons and three daughters—the youngest nine years old—are left to keep in hallowed memory the affections of a kind husband and indulgent father. His remains will be interred in the Little Lake cemetery at Peterborough. The Independent Order of Foresters, of which deceased was a member, will attend the funeral and accompany the remains to the station. The deceased was a native of Douro, being a son of the late Richard Shannon. He learnt his trade of blacksmithing and resided in Peterborough until 22 years ago, when he moved to Campbellford. His mother is still living in Douro, as well as his brother, Thomas E. His sisters are Mrs. James Davidson, of Peterborough and Mrs. George Ogilvie, of Lakefield.

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet, the greeting usually is "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no stomach or bowel trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They work as if their bodies were made of iron and their brains of steel. They eat as if they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and by, overworked nature rebels. Then come headaches, nervousness, bad blood, liver and kidney troubles; health goes and strength goes. It is really wonderful how much abuse the human body will stand! It is equally wonderful how quickly it will recover from abuse if one helps in a rational, natural way.

It was to give just such help that Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets were prepared. They are for constipation and torpid liver, and in curing those derangements—cure many complications and resultant diseases, such as sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. They are mild in action—merely supplementing nature. They are the result of years of study and experience, and there is nothing else like them—nothing so effective. If your druggist tries to sell you something else he is either ignorant or makes more money out of the other thing.

PREMIER OF CANADA.

HON. WILFRID LAURIER IS REALLY A YOUNG-OLD MAN.

Though Little Beyond Half a Century in Years, He Is Still a Parliamentary Veteran—He Won His Initial Spurs When Only 37 Years of Age.

It is the mental habit of most people to associate Mr. Laurier with thoughts of youth, for though he has passed the grand meridian of life he has retained in his carriage, his figure, and more important still, in his mental attitude towards the questions of the day the characteristics of an age much younger than that in which the Premier now finds himself. He is in his fifty-fifth year, being three years older than Sir John Macdonald was when, at Confederation, he became the first Premier of the greater Canada.

Sir John Macdonald had, however, achieved the Premiership of the united Canadas as early as 1858, when he was in his forty-third year. Alexander Mackenzie was fifty-two when he became Premier, and Sir John Thompson only forty-eight. The impression therefore which is general, that Mr. Laurier reached the Premiership at an unusually early age is one not borne out by the facts.

Mr. Laurier Following a Debate.

Mr. Laurier is indeed one of the veterans of Parliament as it exists today. Public men of an older day were more plentiful in the old Parliament, Sir John Carling and Sir Hector Langevin dating their Parliamentary careers from the year 1857 famous in political annals for the "double-shuffle" in which one of them played a conspicuous part. Mr. Bourassa of St. John's, went still further back, having entered Parliament in 1852, as a follower of the Hon. A. N. Morin, then the leader of the Quebec Liberals. But these three did not offer for re-election; and there went down in the struggle others who were Mr. Laurier's Parliamentary seniors, notably Hon. David Mills.

Mr. Laurier has sat in Parliament continuously since 1874; a record surpassed by but three other members, Hon. John Costigan, who has held his seat since Confederation, and Hon. John Haggart and Mr. John Charlton, who have represented their present constituencies since 1872. Sir Richard Cartwright's record is a worthy one, but not continuous; for he has been twice beaten since Confederation and was absent from Parliament for one session, that of 1883. Thus Mr. Laurier has won his honors by long and distinguished services in the Commons. He entered it in 1874, already a marked man, for three years in the Legislature of Quebec had established his reputation as an orator of singular felicity. The House of Commons has blighted a good many reputations; its ear is hard to get and its regard difficult to hold; and it shows especial delight in turning the cold shoulder to men who bring to it a reputation for great eloquence gained in other halls. But Mr. Laurier found its doors swing open to him; and it was but three years time till he became a colleague of Mr. Mackenzie and the virtual leader of the French-Canadian Liberals. Thus his first striking success came to him in his thirty-seventh year.

Mr. Laurier Rises to Reply.

That is an age at which men have usually, by their actions, indicated the possibilities within them; but though Mr. Laurier was then justly esteemed, it is certain that no one dreamed that the future had in store for him the Premiership of the Dominion of Canada. Nor, indeed, when ten years later he succeeded to the leadership of the Liberal party was it regarded as more than a temporary expedient. The Liberals, it is the truth to say, blundered by accident on a man whose genius for political strategy is only now coming to be appreciated. There were, it is true, circumstances which excused their lack of perception; for during the first two Parliaments that he spent in Opposition Mr. Laurier's course was not that of a politician seeking to advance himself. He was not forever shouting Ha! Ha! and smelling the battle from afar, and, indeed his interest in politics seemed rather academic. He sat beside Mr. Blake, and did not speak once for every fifty times that his desk-mate did—yet always to some purpose when he got upon his feet. The writer witnessed a delightful oratorical shindy between him and Mr. Chapleau about twelve years ago. The session was getting along, and Mr. Laurier had hardly opened his mouth as yet. There was no great reason why he should, for it was a dull and dreary time. A French Liberal in the back benches in a desultory debate one afternoon ran foul of Mr. Chapleau, and the great Bleu turned his guns, loaded, so to speak, with cannister and grape, on him. This roused Mr. Laurier, and he followed Mr. Chapleau with a speech so full of glowing eloquence that it brought the House to a white heat. It was things like this which told the discerning that if Mr. Laurier's blade rested in its scabbard it did not rust.

Mr. Laurier Pleads With His Opponents.

Mr. Laurier States His Principles.

When Mr. Blake discarded his arm- or after the overthrow of 1887, and threw his Excalibur over Parliament Hill into the Ottawa, the Liberals were in a pitiable plight; and they rallied around Mr. Laurier because he was the only man in sight. He was a charming man, a graceful speaker admired by all who knew him for his talents, his kindliness of heart, his urbanity of manner—who better fitted to be the head of a Parliamentary organization at the beginning of a Parliament when there was not much fighting to be done? It would give them breathing time to look around. Mr. Laurier recognized that his occupancy of the position was highly provisional; and accepted only upon the condition that he could withdraw at any time without difficulty. But he was in the saddle but a short time before all talk of reconstruction ceased, and the Liberals began to realize that after forty years of weary wandering behind men who could do pretty nearly anything but lead they had really at last got a leader.

Mr. Laurier Making a Point.

Nine years have passed since then What a change! Mr. Laurier sits in the seat then occupied by Sir John Macdonald:

These have been nine great years to him; and he is altered, yet the same. Then his face was that of a poet, a literateur; of one to whom the study was more congenial than the forum; but new lines have come into it, and its expression has changed. There is still the old charm of feature, but the face has become that of a man of action; the mouth is firm and determined; the eyes are as kindly as ever, but there is a shrewdness in them once unnoticed; and his whole bearing is that of one charged with great responsibilities. From the moment he became leader of the Liberal party his transformation began. He "grasped the skirt of happy chance;" developed in a hundred ways to the surprise of his most intimate friends.

Mr. Laurier's style of speaking is less florid than of old. He is more terse, more epigrammatic, and is now rather a ready and aggressive debater than a speaker of set addresses, though the springs of the old eloquence are yet in easy control and are often called upon to supply a telling effect. He is now in office, which is a very different thing from being in Opposition, and his theories and his plans will be submitted to the test of experience. He is face to face with great questions and serious issues, and the manner in which he meets them will permanently fix his status among the great men of Canada. It is perhaps needless to say that his friends and followers believe that, as a constructive statesman and administrator, he will achieve a success not less distinguished than that which marked his leadership in Opposition. But as to this, time will tell. —Montreal Star.

Mr. Laurier Driving His Argument Home.

The above, from the Montreal Star, though here and there showing evidence of party bias and slightly distorted image of the facts, is, on the whole, a fine tribute to the foremost statesman of Canada.

He says that "unable to obtain any relief from other sources, that it was on account of reading the particulars of other cures that his confidence was gained." Two boxes of Dodd Kidney Pills were all that were required to complete his cure.

A LOST TYPE.

Oh, for a glimpse of a natural boy
A boy with freckled face,
With forehead white 'neath tangled hair
And limbs devoid of grace.

Whose feet toe in while his elbows flare;
Whose knees are patched all ways;
Who turns as red as a lobster when
You give him a word of praise.

A boy who's born with an appetite;
Who seeks the pantry shelf,
To eat his "piece" with resounding smack;
Who isn't gone on himself.

A "Robinson Crusoe" reading boy
Whose pockets bulge out with trash,
Who knows the use of rod and gun
And where the brook trout splash.

It's true he'll sit in the easiest chair,
With his hat on his tousled head:
That his hands and feet are everywhere
For youth must have room to spread.

But he doesn't dub his father "old man"
Nor deny his mother's call,
Nor ridicule what his elders say,
Or think that he knows it all.

A rough and wholesome natural boy,
Of a good old-fashioned clay:
God bless him, if he's still on earth,
For he'll make a man some day.

AYER'S PILLS

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled.

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and are, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known."—Mrs. May Johnson, 368 Rider Avenue, New York City.

HOUSING THE POOR.

THE WAGE-EARNER HAS A DEEP INTEREST IN THIS SUBJECT.

How Proper Housing Assists to Conserve Earning Power The Great Drain on a Community's Effectiveness by Reason of Sickness.

What are the wage-earner's special interests in improved housing. In the first place, this class is vitally interested in the conservation of health. Good health means earning power, and, as workingmen lead more or less of a hand-to-mouth existence, any loss of earning power is a serious matter, says a writer in The Century. Lord Beaconsfield aptly voiced this truth in an address delivered at the opening of some new blocks of improved tenements in London. He said: "The health of the people is really the foundation upon which all their happiness and their power depends." Few realize the loss of productive energy through sickness brought about by bad living environments. Sir James Paget, the distinguished English physician, estimates that the whole population of England between 15 and 65 years old works in each year 20,000,000 of weeks less than they might if it were not for sickness. He puts down the loss inflicted on wage-earners at nearly $15,000,000 annually. He refers simply to a purely preventable loss. Some years ago the London health authorities instituted inquiries in certain low neighborhoods to estimate the value of labor lost in a year, not by sickness, but from sheer exhaustion induced by unfavorable surroundings. It was found that, upon the lowest average, every worker lost about twenty days in the year from this cause. One might go on multiplying such instances, but it is not necessary to enforce the argument by cumulative citation.

Wage-earners are vitally interested in the passage and enforcement of wise sanitary laws. Bad sanitation entails proportionately worse economic consequences to them than to the more highly favored. They are also more often the victim of sickness and epidemics fostered by insanitary neighborhoods. The workingman has a positive interest in using whatever political power he possesses to secure legal remedies against uninhabitable houses through expropriation laws, such as those current in England, and the measure recently put into operation by the Board of Health of New York city under the tenement house law of 1895. Who, if not wage-earners, are interested in the obliteration of rookeries, where the death rate equals 73 in 1000? Whatever promotes better living conditions, no matter whether it comes from legal enactment or private effort, will find support from wage-earners who appreciate their true interests.

Important as are the physical and economic aspects of this question, they are not even the chief considerations. Ethical issues have greater ultimate significance. Many of our moral and social ills are more nearly connected with bad housing than appears upon the surface. Take for example, drunkenness. How absurd to suppose that immoderate liquor-drinking can be suppressed so long as people are left to live in houses where lack of elementary sanitation saps vitality, while noisomeness and unattractiveness impels a search for outside relief. It is entirely unjust to suppose that only a low impulse to debauch or a reckless disregard of family duties leads wage-earners to contract the "saloon habit." The utter dullness, the lack of individuality in tenement house existence, often lie back of the fatal temptation.

Choose Their Associates

Two of my friends, both noble women, live next door to each other; they have each one child, a son. One of the young men is a gentleman in everything that makes a true man; the other is a perfect rake, familiar with nearly every sin in the catalogue; yet he was one of the noblest little boys I have ever known. One allowed her son to associate only with those boys she knew to be honorable; the other allowed her son the privilege of choosing his own associates. She believed he chose only the best. Alas, for misplaced confidence!

This subject of associates for our children is one that should concern every mother. Sooner or later it confronts us in a realistic manner, because it will become a reality in our own homes and our children will be the ones to receive either censure or praise and the mother will be the one on whom the sorrow or gladness will descend as the outcome of her child's associations.—Eliza Renan in Minneapolis Housekeeper.

BEAUTIFUL MAXINE.

Regal Loveliness of the Prettiest Stage Woman in America.

Beauty, like a great many other valuable commodities, needs booming in order to be appreciated, and Miss Maxine Elliott, will not allow us to forget her. She has gone to the antipodes, as leading lady to Nat Goodwin—"genial Nat Goodwin," as they call him in the Tenderloin—but the trip has not meant temporary oblivion. Though she is thousands of miles away from New York, the name of Maxine Elliott is once again before the public, as the possibly affianced wife of the "genial" Goodwin. She cannot deny the rumor—she probably wouldn't if she could.

Maxine Elliott's pictorial career has been interesting. It is quite excusable to glance at it. You may always glance at the career of a popular actress when she dies or when she threatens to get married. Maxine Elliott began as a joke—and ended by getting herself seriously approved of, says the New York Journal. It was not long ago that she began. She needn't draw any curtain over her age. She isn't a day older than she looks, and she can look anywhere from eighteen to twenty-eight. She used to play small thinking parts in A. M

BEAUTIFUL MAXINE ELLIOTT.

Palmer's stock company. She wore gorgeous clothes, and paraded in and out of ballrooms. Then she joined the forces of T. Henry French and appeared as an Oriental beauty, without excess of clothes, in "Le Voyage de Suzette." It was a ghastly failure, and it went under, dragging everybody with it. Miss Elliott was undaunted. Augustin Daly, who knows a pretty face when he sees one, subsequently engaged Miss Elliott, and her fortunes changed. She did not stay with Mr. Daly long, thanks to Miss Ada Rehan, who also knows a pretty face when she sees one. Miss Elliott appeared in several other of the Daly productions with considerable success, and then quietly left the Rehan organization. Ne'er a word said she. It was all most amiable. Daly loved her—Rehan loved her—but Maxine couldn't be theirs. That brings her up to date.

Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet the greeting usually is, "Well how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no bowel or stomach trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They eat as though they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and bye overworked nature rebels. Then comes headaches, nervousness, bad blood, kidney and liver troubles. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets furnish help for constipation and torpid liver, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, 'heart burn,' pain and distress after eating and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Accept no substitute.

Philip Makes a Remark.

Philip is a youngster of some 6 years. He is of a contemplative turn of mind, and often makes observations that show he has been thinking deeply upon some topic. The other evening he was sitting on the front porch of his home, barelegged and barefooted. The mousquitoes were active and aggressive. One big fellow landed on a soft portion of the boy's leg. It did not proceed at once to work, but seemed trying to decide on a good place to begin. Philip did not brush him off, but sat observing him. Presently the boy made this remark to his mother:

"Mamma, I guess the mosquito is asking a blessing before he begins to eat."

Think it Over.

Have you ever heard of a medicine with such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla? Don't you know that Hood's Sarsaparilla, the One True Blood Purifier, has proved, over and over again, that it has power to cure, even after all other remedies fail. If you have impure blood you may take Hood's Sarsaparilla with the utmost confidence that it will do you good.

A Giant Flame.

A new wrinkle in repair shop outfitting has been devised at the Illinois Central Railroad car shops, where the old paint is expeditiously and cheaply removed from passenger cars by an unusually large gasoline carburetting machine, designed at these shops. The machine consists of a gasoline tank about three feet high and two feet in diameter, mounted upon a truck. The air is admitted from those connections of suitable length lead to as many burners. The cost of removing the paint from a car by means of the hand torches originally employed has been reduced by this apparatus to about one-fourth.—Philadelphia Record.

Sixteen to One.

"Charlie is a sixteen-to-one man," said Ethel to Mabel, speaking of her fiance.

"I don't take any interest in politics," replied Mabel.

"Oh, this isn't politics."

"What is it?"

"He is willing to give me sixteen kisses for every one I give him."

Natural Anxiety.

Judge Weller will hold a Voters' List Court here on Thursday at 10 o'clock.

The rate of taxation for the year 1896 has been struck and is, as usual, low, being only 14 mills in the dollar. This should prove satisfactory, owing to the canal cutting off a number of assessable properties and the falling off in hotel business, the rate last year being 13 mills.

The council have decided to raise the village wharf ten inches higher than at present and have it filled in with stone. They are also having a stone road made up Water street from the bridge to the wharf, the material being furnished from the canal.

Owing to burglaries being common in other places, it has been deemed advisable by the business men to place a night-watchman on duty. Tuesday night Mr. Hugh Morrison was put on until definite arrangements can be made for a regular nightwatchman.

Tramps are coming around this way again, and Policeman Doidge has been having his castle inhabited lately. It would be a good idea to put these gentry at work breaking stone on the new roads under construction, and make them earn their bread while here.

A man was run into the cooler on Friday night for being drunk and disorderly, and for furious during on Queen street with his team. During the night some one entered the lock up, broke the lock on one of the cells and let him out Policeman Doidge is anxious to know who broke the lock.

At St. John's Baptist church on Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Warren preached a memorial service on the death of Miss Carrie Mirchall, taking for his text 1st Corinthians, 15—36, "That which thou sowest is not quickened, except it die."

Sunday evening being Children's Day there was a large attendance at the service held in the Presbyterian church. A service was prepared by the convenor of the General Assembley's Sabbath School Committee which was very well rendered. Rev. A. C. Reeves took for his text Proverbs 1—17, "Surely in vain the net is spread in the sight of any bird.

MESSRS. R. H. KELLS & CO.

Their Complete Preparations for the Fall Trade—An Attractive Establishment and a Splendid Display of Seasonable Goods.

The people of Peterborough are justly proud of their town in all respect; but in no respect more than in the magnificent mercantile establishments that appear upon our business streets. The stores are notable for the beauty and attractiveness of both their interiors and exteriors. Not only do citizens note these things with pride, but visitors from places that they consider of more importance than Peterborough and that are certainly of larger size, say that no city of Ontario contains more thoroughly equipped city-like and elegant stores than Peterborough. And among these fine establishments that of Messrs. R. H. Kells & Co. takes a foremost place.

When a business enterprise wins success under the conditions prevailing at present—when "general depression" is compelled to make way for "general success"—there must be something out of the ordinary back of it all.

Kells & Co. have succeeded; and although little addicted to boastfulness, all the conditions warrant them in saying that their anticipations are even for a bigger business still. In fact this establishment has made greater preparations than ever, as the firm is hopeful that there is to be an exceedingly active fall trade to cater to. A walk through the establishment gave to some degree a comprehensive idea of the extent and variety of the dealings of Messrs. R H. Kells & Co. In staple drygoods the firm have always been noted for the careful selections of their stock, both in imported and domestic manufactures. Their dress goods department is exceptionally well appointed, well lighted and well arranged; and a tempting array of stuffs may be seen in the new fall novelties in British, German and French importations. Among the fashionable lines are fancy tweed effects, crepons and boucle cloths. Tartan dress goods are a leading feature. Another line this firm have very full selections of is plain cloths, serges, cashmeres, etc.

In one department is noticed a fine display of cloths suitable for ladies jackets and capes, both in plain and fancy goods. Plain beavers and friezes are popular, and golf cloths is another fabric that is meeting with favour. In gloves, hosiery and underwear there appears numerous high-class lines now leading in popularity, including the celebrated "Health Brand" of underwear. There is likewise a fine assortment of blankets, comforters, etc., and other needed requisites for housekeeping house furnishing. Lace and chenille curtains, portieres, table covers, etc., are in full stock.

In the mantle, millinery and dressmaking departments not only is there newness, but a wonderful variety of newness—there is an evidence of style, taste and fashion sufficient to warrant big emphasis. The styles are those that appeal to the particular wants of fashionable women, and all extravagance seem to have been taken out of the prices. The displays are even richer now than at the openings, and late novelties continue to come in as fast as introduced. The staff of trimmers and dressmakers have been kept unusually busy this season. Dress after dress has already felt the snip of the dressmakers scissors, who, instead of having their usual holiday this year have had to work at nights to keep up with their orders.

LINING UP

AFTER THE FAIRS.

Our Prize Clothing.

Our Clothing has had the call at all the Fairs. It was nothing new to find the Directors decorating our display with the Red Prize Tickets. The reputation of the big store was at stake, and we're more than proud to have deserved the good opinion of the directors as well as the thousands of men folk at the Fairs.

Now we're lining up for a rattling big fall business. We've had a good start already, but the price cards are becoming a more interesting study every day, and the figures startling enough to bring us the trade of the masses.

FASHIONABLE

DRESS-MAKING

Dress-Making was a woman's invention.

Never was the art of Garment-Making brought to such a point of fineness as that at which it has now arrived.

The house that would succeed must recognize this fact and work accordingly.

THE GOLDEN LION faced it when it inaugurated its Dress and Mantle-Making Department years ago.

Begun right as to designing, put together as it should be, trimmings, buttons and braids matched artistically, we can confidently commend this department to the patronage of the ladies.

Big sleeves are going out of fashion, but the ladies do not appear to mourn over it. Our lady patrons, however, have the advantage of ripe judgment and skilled help in faithfully carrying out to the minutest detail every suggestion of personal taste.

MISS NEILD who was installed as head of our Dress and Mantle-Making Department, thirteen years ago, still presides here, and the mutual confidence which has existed between her and our customers has always been of the most satisfactory character.

THE GOLDEN LION has always been a long way ahead in Dress Goods, Mantle Cloths and Trimmings. Fair's Dress Goods were the talk of the ladies for several years, and the supremacy secured then has been more than maintained in these latter years.

Remember there is only one Golden Lion in Peterborough and FAIR has made it famous. That's Fair's Way.

A WEIGHTY MATTER

Can Commoners Get Drinks at the Senate Bar?

THE CONSTITUTION IS STRAINED

If Members of the Lower House Cannot Refresh Themselves at That Bar They Will Demand a Rearrangement With the Caterer for the Commons Restaurant.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—A grave constitutional problem has arisen in connection with the action of the Senate in debarring Commoners from using the Senate restaurant. The members of the Commons claim that they are entitled to the use of the Senate restaurant without let or hindrance and that in passing its order the Senate was exceeding its authority. Unquestionably the Senate's order, if enforced, must lead to some rearrangement of the mode in which the Commons restaurant is now run.

Mr. Joseph Martin of Winnipeg again favored Ottawa with his presence to-day. In the course of conversation, he stated that he had definitely made up his mind to refuse the vacant British Columbia judgeship, but favored the appointment thereto of D. C. Fraser, M. P. for Guysboro. Mr. Fraser's name was mentioned for this position some weeks ago.

Commander Wakeham, in charge of the Government steamer Le Canadienne, reached Gaspe to-day from the Straits of Belle Isle. He states that the fishing along the Canadian Labrador has been good. All the fishermen are well off for the winter, except the usual drones. There is no sickness or distress. The Newfoundland-Labrador fishery has been bad, but the fishery on the south shore of the St. Lawrence has been remarkably good.

Ottawa has an interest in a divorce suit in high life in England. To-day in the High Court of Justice an order was made.

The Commons has cleared all private bills off its order paper.

Registrar Peter Ryan of Toronto was in town to-day, also Mr. Elias Rogers.

Hon. F. Peters, Premier of Prince Edward Island, is here, en route to British Columbia.

Assessment Commissioner Pratt states that the returns of the assessors show the city population to be over 51,000. The assessors' census last year placed the population at 49,674.

Mr. John Ross Robertson, M.P., entertained a number of his newspaper confreres at luncheon to-day. About 25 sat down.

The Ottawa Electric Railway Co. carried 250,000 people during exhibition week without a single accident.

Dr. Chamberlain, Provincial Inspector of Prisons and Asylums, is here on official business.

In the Senate to-day Sir Oliver Mowat said the British Columbia judgeship had not yet come before the council.

Mr. Debouchervile asked when prorogation would likely take place. Sir Oliver Mowat replied that, so far as the Government was concerned, it might take place at any time. Sir Mackenzie Bowell asked if it would be Saturday? Sir Oliver said the Government did expect to close on Saturday, but its hopes are not now so sanguine as when that hope was previously expressed.

The Debates Committee presented a report recommending that the debates of the Senate be translated into French, and that the chairman of the committee be entrusted to make arrangements for the work at a cost not to exceed $1.50 per page.

A lengthy discussion took place on the dismissal of employes from the P.E.I. Railway.

It is now understood that the Behring Sea Commission will not meet until the middle of November, and that Judge King will be able to attend the sitting of the Supreme Court.

IN THE HOUSE.

The Appointment of Translators Again Up—Another Whack at the Case of General Cameron—In Supply.

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—When Mr. Choquette at the opening of the House moved the adoption of the report of the Debates Committee, the question was asked by Mr. Foster if this was the report recommending the appointment of another set of translators. Being assured that it was, Mr. Davin strongly criticized the proposal to appoint three new men. Mr. Davin was called to order for describing the proceedings of the committee as scandalous, whereupon he said that, at least, now the facts are known, the action of those who had followed up and persecuted the translators with all sorts of inquisitorial devices was, in the light of this subsequent action, the most extraordinary thing that had ever come before any Parliament. It was proposed to appoint the law partner of one of the prosecutors, the son of another member, and without any question of their fitness.

Mr. Monet denied that the party in question was a partner of his.

Mr. Davin: My informant is the hon. member himself. (Laughter and cries for order.)

Mr. Monet explained that when he had business in Montreal he occupied a desk in Mr. Geoffrion's office, but he never said he was a partner.

After some further talk, Mr. Foster remarked that not a word had been said about the qualifications of these three candidates. Mr. Monet had practically admitted the partnership between himself and Mr. Geoffrion. So far as giving the position to Mr. Fiset's son was concerned, the Government might as well appoint the hon. member himself. He asked Mr. Laurier to give his opinion of the probable effect of this action upon the independence of Parliament. According to the newspapers, the committee, after in the first instance having asked the House to dismiss these translators, had, not being able to agree upon their successors, decided to keep them on for the session. And after all, these men, having been dismissed for partisanship, it was proposed to appoint partisans in their places.

Mr. Laurier replied that the Government had in no way whatever interfered in the matter. As a member of the House he simply stood by the rule laid down by the Tories in 1883. The House had nothing to do with the past political partisanship of the new appointees. It was only conceived that from thenceforth the partisanship should cease. He saw no impropriety in the son of the member for Rimouski being an officer of the House. Of Mr. Geoffrion's capability he was thoroughly satisfied.

Mr. Somerville said these dismissed translators had been retained for the remainder of the session out of pure benevolence.

Mr. Earle informed the House that Mr. Monet had certainly stated that Mr. Geoffrion was his law partner. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Blair rose and referred to the indignation which the Opposition had expressed at the brutality of the Government in proposing to dismiss, without enquiry, officers who took part in the federal elections. He read a letter from Sir Charles Tupper, addressed to James Ryan of Moncton, dated April 7, 1883, on the subject of the dismissal of Mr. Ryan's son from the service of the I. C. R., "For openly taking part in opposition to the Government at the last general election. This," said the letter, "as you will readily understand, no Government officer can be permitted to do—(Ministerial cheers)—and your son's action was so conspicuous that it could not be passed over." (Renewed cheers.)

The report was then adopted.

Mr. Pettit, one of the Patron members, complained of The Citizen's report that he had shirked the vote on Mr. Davin's motion yesterday. He said that, being a new member of the House, he was not aware that members sitting on the Government side were expected to vote first. He did not want to shirk the vote, and while he was a member of the House he hoped he would never be guilty of such a thing. (Derisive cheers.)

Mr. Borden read a telegram from Hon. W. E. Sanford disclaiming the truth of the statement made by the Minister of Militia in the House that the Sanford Manufacturing Company had the absolute monopoly of the scarlet serge made in the Dominion.

Mr. Borden said he willingly made the correction.

Mr. Powell, on motion to go into supply, brought up the case of the late Commandant of the Royal Military College. He said Gen. Cameron had two grievances, i.e., that he had been dismissed without a fair opportunity of making his defence; second, that, supposing the Government were justified in dismissing him, he had not been equitably treated. Mr. Powell enumerated General Cameron's honorable career in the Imperial service, as well as in connection with the Royal Military College. He pointed out that a professor of the R.M.C., desiring to leave that establishment, was required to give six months' notice. Surely there ought to be some mutuality in this respect. If General Cameron was to be summarily dismissed, he ought certainly to be given a year's pay; but the Government only proposed to give him a gratuity equal to two months' salary. In common justice to the General a year's pay should be allowed him.

Mr. Borden, Minister of Militia, said the report of the Board of Visitors, criticising the administration of the College, was made during the time of the late Government, by whom the board was appointed. If, therefore, any blame attached in that respect to any one, it was to the late Ministry. As regards the action of the present Government towards General Cameron, it had been taken in good faith and in the best interests of the country. He thought the Government had done full justice to the late Commandant.

Col. Domville asserted that cadets had come out of the college worse than when they went in, and charged that General Cameron had shown favoritism in his treatment of the cadets. He instanced the case of his own son.

Mr. Britton thought that Canadians should take pride in the institution and ascertain what was wrong, if anything, with a view to remedying it. There were many classes of critics. First, the student, who invariably knows more as a college cadet than afterwards; then the parents of the cadet, who, like Col. Domville, were perhaps hard to satisfy; thirdly, there were the taxpayers, but they should not be influenced by anonymous statements in newspapers—The Army Gazette, or any other. True, the management of the college might not have been perfect, but it lay with the new Minister to correct mistakes. The cost, $66,000, for the present year, was not excessive, the Royal Military College being a necessity.

As to Maj-Gen. Cameron, it was not fair, because he might not be regarded as the best man for the position, to condemn the institution on that account. Still speaking for himself, he (Mr. Britton) would assure the House that no officer could be more enthusiastic and conscientious in fulfilment of his duties. He was extremely anxious for the efficiency of the graduates. Now, of all four reports before the House, only one could have conveyed to Gen. Cameron a conception of the fact that his services might be dispensed with, and that report the General never saw or heard of until it was laid on the table of the House. Then came the letters of Gen. Gascoigne, asking Gen. Cameron's resignation. "If it were my case," said Mr. Britton, "I feel that I should consider I was not being justly dealt with." It was not well, in his opinion, that the Government should deal harshly in the matter of salary with an Imperial officer, whose services we had really borrowed.

Major Beattie wondered how the gentlemen who made the investigation would feel if the sapient rule, that an officer should not remain longer than five or eight years in one position, were applied to themselves. With this the subject dropped.

Next was brought up the Manitoba school question. Mr. Casgrain asked whether any settlement had been come to on this question, and if so, what it is. If not, he wanted to know if any negotiations or correspondence was now going on between the Government and the Government of Manitoba election campaign had been given the most solemn assurances that Mr. Laurier, if he got into power, would send a commission to Manitoba to settle the whole question. It was promised that Sir Oliver Mowat would be the chief of the commission, and that, by his good offices especially, a satisfactory settlement would be brought about.

Sir Richard Cartwright, in Mr. Laurier's absence, replied that as the Premier had stated on more than one occasion, there is every reasonable prospect of an amicable settlement. More than that he could not say at present. (Laughter.)

Mr. Oliver made a lengthy address on the subject of the expenditure upon the education of Indian children. He said this was not properly chargeable to the Northwest, because it was something the people did not ask for and did not want. He thought it anomalous that this country should spend $235,000 a year to educate 1000 Indian children—more money than the Federal Government spent on the government of the Territories, the education of its people and public works put together.

On the item of $3000 for a commissioner to investigate the penitentiaries, the Solicitor-General thought that the necessity for the investigation was shown in the large increase in the expenditure of late years, and that while in the penitentiaries the per diem cost was from 63c to $1.26, the per diem cost at the Central Prison was only 27c, and the annual per capita cost was only $99, against $224 for St. Vincent de Paul and $541 in Manitoba yearly.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper pointed out the difference in the cost of living and prices generally as between the east and the west and the large outlay of late years in machinery and supplies, whereby the revenue from the penitentiaries was largely increased. He paid a high tribute to the efficiency of the Inspector of Penitentiaries, Mr. Stewart.

In the course of further discussion, the Solicitor-General admitted that of the $20,000 due for binder twine it was now believed every dollar would be collected.

Mr. Foster was not convinced by the arguments of the Solicitor-General. He could not see any grounds for the granting of a commissioner and did not see how a commission would bring out any new facts.

Mr. Davies said the late Government had never justified the increase in prison expenditure. The facts were startling and required explanation.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper asked if it were true, as reported in the press, that Mr. J. B. Noxon was to be the commissioner.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said he had never heard the name before.

The discussion continued until a late hour, when the item passed.

On the customs vote Mr. Penny asked if it was the intention to appoint a board of customs experts.

Mr. Paterson said there were many recommendations in that direction, but he had not yet been able to look into the matter.

Mr. Quinn favored the appointment of a board of three judges to decide differences of opinion as between appraisers in the several ports.

The House adjourned at 12.45 a.m.

A MILITIA COMMISSION.

The proposition of Col. Domville, says the Ottawa Free Press, in favour of a Royal Commission to enquire into the organization and workings of the militia will commend itself to many interested in the force, though we are compelled to say once more that we are of the opinion that the objects he is aiming at could be attained as effectively by less cumbrous and cheaper means. The country has too many examples of the uselessness of these commissions. The Chinese, the Labour, the Liquor commissions are all monuments of fruitless expenditure, productive of nothing practical. But it is certainly important that the internal condition of the force should be looked into as it is not to be denied that events have occurred, and are still occurring, which show that everything in the way of internal economy and discipline is not as satisfactory as it ought to be. Such an investigation as Col. Domville desires to see made is the more to be desired just now as the country has wisely and generously, without regard to party, gone to heavy expense for the purpose of increasing the efficiency of the defensive force of the Dominion. With a new arm, new field batteries, and, we presume, new field equipage, it is essential that the force should be in a condition properly to avail itself of its new advantages. A competent board of the headquarters staff could ascertain without much difficulty the weak points of the system, and remedy them. But as long as the military administration of the force is not wholly removed from the arena of politics, satisfactory reform is not to be expected. The country can, however, console itself with the knowledge that it has an able and enthusiastic Minister at the head of the department, who intends conscientiously to advance the interests of the force, without fear or favour, and who has already shown a practical grasp of his administrative duties which gives earnest of better things yet to come.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Conservatives of South Essex have nominated Egerton Scratch as their candidate for the legislature. It is quite consistent with recent Conservative tactics that a regular candidate should be also a scratch candidate. If the electors can only be persuaded to come to the "Scratch" there is an assurance of Conservative victory.

A member of the Hamilton Herald staff was in Buffalo last Monday. When he went to the cashier of the restaurant where he dined, to pay for his dinner, he asked, "Do you take Canadian money at par?" "Certainly," replied the cashier. "It was reported that Canadian money was being boycotted over here." "That's all nonsense. We're glad to get it. The fact is, we prefer it to our own coin. We know that it's not only good now, but that it's going to stay good; but we don't know how much our own silver is going to be worth a few weeks from now."

THAT servants of the House of Commons must not busy themselves in politics and make of themselves offensive partizans is the lesson which the dismissal of three translators teaches. It is a lesson which, the St. Thomas Journal thinks, should be remembered by their successors as well as all holding public offices. This is the second time translators have been dismissed for offensive partisanship. The first time was in 1888, when a Conservative majority played the part of headman. This time it is a Liberal majority which declares that the servants of the House of Commons must not be offensive party politicians.

Some days nothing will "come out right," from the time you rise till you retire. Ten to one the trouble is with yourself. Your blood is in bad condition, and every organ consequence. What you need is the invigorating influence of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

DAIRY STUDENTS IN EASTERN ONTARIO.

A Visit to a Few of Their Factories.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

There are a few distinctive features of the dairy industry in Eastern Ontario which mark it as different from the west. First, there are more small factories in the east, many of which may be called struggling factories. A great many are what is known as "opposition" factories, and these are frequently not needed, but are a tax on the business. "Combinations" are frequently met with. These consist of several factories grouped together under the control of one or more persons, and when controlled by one person he is frequently designated as a "cheese-king." There are several of this species "down east," but only one in the west that the writer is aware of.

In the making of cheese the curd-sink, a part of the equipment in nearly every western factory, is dispensed with. The cheese are frequently sold subject to inspection at Montreal. In the west the cheese are inspected at the factory (the proper place) or at the point of shipment. There are more summer creameries in the east and they are nearly all on the separate plan, while the western creameries are chiefly cream-gathering, the milk being set at home in deep pails, with or without ice water. Lastly, dairying is more general in Eastern Ontario, as the land is not so well suited for diversified farming, and the agriculturist engages in that which will return him the greater profit, though he could well afford to specialize in dairying more than he does at present.

The work of the provincial dairy school extends over the whole province, and its instructors are as much interested in those from the east as from the west. All students who pass satisfactory examinations at the dairy school, who have been in charge of a factory for at least two years, and who send in monthly reports to the professor of dairying at the Ontario Agricultural College, are officially visited by some member of the staff during the factory season. If the factory is found to be neat and clean, with good cheese or butter on hand, and the student gives evidence of being a successful maker and manager, he is granted a professional certificate or diploma. To visit some of the boys in the east was the object of this trip.

EDMONTON FACTORY.

Seven miles from Brampton and about three from Edmonton is located the factory in which G. Kinney of '96 class is the maker. This is a new factory and well finished on the inside. There is more floor space than is necessary in the make room. I found it clean and tidy and good cheese on the shelves. The supply of milk is below 3,000 lbs. daily. The nearness of Toronto market and the number of good butter makers in Peel county make it difficult to conduct a factory. There are a number of Jersey cows and Jersey grades in the herds of this section, consequently the proceeds are distributed among patrons according to the butter fat as determined by the Babcock tester. Some who stop sending milk in the middle of the season forget that they work an injustice to the maker who engages to make cheese by the 100 lbs. It is not fair to him when the milk supply goes below what he can earn living wages.

VALENTIA FACTORY.

The nearest station is Mariposa, on the G.T.R. A drive of eight miles is necessary to reach the factory. Mr. R. Stillman, of '95 class, has charge. It may be called a "struggling" factory. The patrons are "struggling" to make dairying and grain selling pay. The milk haulers are "struggling" to make a living out of the small supply of milk to be drawn. The maker and the company are "struggling" to make the factory pay. So far as they have gone the factory seems to have done very well but the small make eats up most of the profits in running expenses. The factory was tidy and clean and the cheese of good quality. The August cheese were sold on the day of my visit. Some of these would scarcely be cured sufficiently by the time they were to be shipped. Salesmen and makers ought to examine the cheese on the shelves before offering them for sale, and "board" only those which are properly cured. Many of our factories sell too close to the hoop. The quality of cheese could be improved considerably by having the cheese properly cured before shipping.

HUFF ISLAND CREAMERY.

Ten miles from Belleville, in the county of Prince Edward, is the creamery owned by Mr. Wallbridge. His son, Louis, is the maker. This son first got a taste for scientific butter-making through the visit of the travelling dairy. He went home from the meeting with a desire to make butter on the latest and most improved plans. A course at the dairy school in 1896 was the culmination of his efforts in this direction. He now has full charge of the creamery. It is not a large one, being attached to the dwelling house, and many of the appliances are home-made. It illustrates the point that fine buildings or fancy appliances are not so important in the making of first-class butter as it is that the maker should have some "brains" and apply them to his business. This section of the country is well watered and capable of producing large quantities of cow feed, but the fences and implements in the "big shed" along the road indicate that the farmers are wedded to grain selling, and the dairy cow is a second consideration.

NAPANEE CHEESE FACTORY.

The Napanee factory forms one of the Bartlett "combination." J. A. Hill, of '95 class, is the master mind in making the cheese. Mr. Bartlett speaks quite highly of his capabilities as a cheese-maker. In former years the cheese from this factory have been troubled with particles of butter fat in the cheese. Mr. Hill has been enabled to overcome this to quite a large extent by not allowing the curds to become so warm during the ripening process. All the cheese made here are white and of first-class quality. Milk comes in early, as a good portion of it was at the factory before 7 o'clock on the morning of my visit. The supply was falling off a good deal. With the low price of grain and bran, and the cheapness with which corn may be grown, it is a wonder that patrons do not feed their cows better. One bushel of oats is said to contain 3 lbs. of butter. If so, it would contain about 7½ lbs. of cheese. Deduct cost of labour and cost of making cheese and the patron will find that the dairy cow is the best market for grain at present.

PREMIER FACTORY.

Tweed, on the C. P. R., is the centre of a large farming district. Between it and Thomasburg are a number of factories. The country is rolling and somewhat rough. Two milk cans on the stands along the road and large herds of cows grazing in the fields show the hope of the farmer here. Mr. W. Elliott, of '94 class, is the maker in this new factory. It has the boiler in the make-room, which I have not seen elsewhere. This is a convenient place for it, and it will keep the make-room warm during cool weather in the spring and fall. In hot weather it must be rather inconvenient. Whey is returned to the patrons, which is an evil difficult to surmount. Many of the July cheese were still in the curing-room. Where cheese are carried so long, they would be better in a cool place during hot weather. We have made some experiments this year by placing May, June and July cheese in a basement in boxes during the hot weather and when examined on Sept. 18th they were found to be in excellent condition. They point to the fact that it would pay all factories to have a basement or cellar to put cheese in during hot weather.

WHERE THE STUDENTS ARE TRAINED.

The dairy school does not claim to be able to turn out first-class cheese or butter makers from those without any previous experience, but it teaches general principles, together with sufficient practice to fix the truths in the minds of willing students. It builds the foundation and puts on the finishing touches, but the structure itself must be built by the learner.

Hoard's Dairyman, the leading dairy light of the United States, has this to say of the school: "The Ontario Dairy School is one of the best equipped and most successful dairy schools in the world, and should find its capacity for the accommodation of students taxed to the utmost limit, and, if a good sprinkling of students should go from the States, we are sure that great benefit would result."

We are receiving a good many applications for the course of 1897. Quite a number of Americans are enquiring. They come first after Canadians.

THE GREAT STRIKE.

Passenger Trains are Running But Not Much Freight Moving.

THE OPERATORS ARE HOLDING OUT

Hard to Predict What the Final Result Will be—Grain Men at Winnipeg are Feeling the Effect of the Trouble—The Vice-President's Statement.

Owing to the contradictory nature of the evidence concerning the strike of the C. P. R. operators obtainable from all sources, the journalist experiences considerable difficulty in sizing up the situation; but taking reports from all parts of the system into consideration one is bound to admit that unless some terms are at once come to between the company and its men at least a partial tie-up of the road is imminent.

Between Toronto and Windsor the strike has broken out again, and some stations which were manned night before last are now vacant. On receiving encouraging news from the east yesterday morning these operators again quit work.

From a reliable source at the Union Station last evening it was learned that a number of operators between Leaside Junction, near North Toronto, and Montreal yesterday left their desks. It was also stated that the six train despatchers at Smith's Falls had again gone out, but this latter assertion should apparently have been modified, for General Superintendent Leonard was able last evening to communicate with this important point.

To look in still another direction the fact that the evening express from North Bay was last night nearly five hours behind time may be taken to pretty accurately reflect the situation up north, and the C. P. R. authorities are willing to admit that things are in a pretty bad way west of the abovementioned important point.

Then, taking a glance at the existing status of one of the short Ontario branches of the system, the outlook is not very reassuring either. All the men but one are out at Orangeville, and that faithful employe, Charles Brown by name, has been at his post alone for more than 24 hours. The World received word from that terminal point that the lone operator is played out and sick at his desk, all the time in mortal fear of being subjected to violence by the strikers and a crowd of their sympathizers. It may be added, though, in justice to the road, that an operator was despatched last night to relieve the hard-pressed Orangevillian.

After this brief review of the position of the strike in this province, the only fair conclusion to be drawn is that, if all information to hand is "by the book," the C. P. R. in Ontario will within the coming 24 hours find itself in a worse position than it was last night. In passing, it is deemed only right, however, to pay a tribute to the energy and ability to deal with an emergency displayed by General Superintendent Leonard of the O. and Q. division and his intelligent coadjutors, Assistant Superintendent Williams and Chief Train Despatcher Price. So far, while other divisions of the road have been much more seriously affected, they have managed to run all their scheduled passenger trains pretty promptly, and yesterday well on time. And not only have they held up their own end of the line, but they have found it possible to despatch nearly 100 relief operators to fill vacancies east of Montreal and west of Port Arthur. Whether or not their strenuous efforts will henceforth meet with the same success remains to be seen.

The superintendents and ruling officials of other divisions have not displayed anything like the same ability to cope with the sudden difficulty. From Quebec come troublous rumors, while out west the situation is said to be extremely bad. On the north shore of Lake Superior and across the prairies to the Rockies and the Pacific coast most of the operators are out and all freight traffic is badly tied up.

A reporter obtained a little light on the western situation from Mr. W. Kirkland, of Indian Head, N. W. T., who arrived in Toronto last night on his way to England. Mr. Kirkland left Indian Head on Monday just an hour before the strike was ordered. On the way east, as far as he could learn, nearly all the operators had quit their jobs, and no goods trains were moving. He did part of the journey, of course, at night, but between Indian Head and Port Arthur the only thing in the shape of a freight he saw was a solitary cattle train.

Mr. Kirkland fears greatly the effect of the strike on Western Canada. Heavy shipping of grain was just about to begin when he left home, and the result of a continuance of the trouble might be that the farmers would not get the benefit of the present high prices of grain and would thus be subjected to serious losses.

In this connection it should be stated that Mr. Price sent fourteen men to North Bay yesterday and will dispatch fifteen others to-day. These will have to relieve the freight tie-up.

Another obstacle in the way of a speedy victory for the road is the open sympathy with the strikers expressed by the other employes of the company. Conductors and trainmen who have been talked with side unanimously with the operators. Yesterday a second meeting of railway men was held at Toronto Junction. About 130 conductors, engineers, firemen, trainmen and other employes attended the gathering and a fine body of intelligent fellows they were. Some men from outside points were present and others risked their jobs by refusing to go out on their runs in order that the meeting might be thoroughly representative. Those present were unanimously in favor of the strikers, and while it was decided not to take drastic measures at present, a number of committees were appointed to act in concert with the kicking operators. Mr. Pierson, the head of the strike, left Montreal for Toronto last night to confer with the men here.

A MUDDLE IN THE WEST.

The Grain Men at Winnipeg are Feeling the Effects of the Strike.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—As the telegraphers' strike is prolonged the effect on business in this country is becoming noticeable. Grain merchants are unable to get communication with their wheat buyers at country points. To-day wheat was up in price, but as the buyers could not be instructed the farmers delivering wheat will be the losers. With no freight trains moving and deliveries piling up it can easily be imagined the muddle the country's grain business is in just now. The strike could not have been brought on at a worse time, that is, viewing the matter from the standpoint of the country and the railway company's interest. The company is to-day despatching men from other departments of its service to guard and take charge of the various offices. As soon as the company secures control of the station houses and eject the strikers they think they will be in a position to restore a partial freight train service.

General Superintendent Whyte declared in an interview to-day that he was confident the telegraphers would lose the fight, and he added that many of the men would not get their places back, which statement emphasizes his confidence in the ultimate outcome.

On the other hand, the strikers declare that the company cannot get men to fill their places and any who come will not go to work when they learn the true situation.

SITUATION AT MONTREAL.

Vice-President Shaughnessy Issues a Statement—The Strikers Optimistic.

Montreal, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—If it was certain that the trainmen would remain loyal to the Canadian Pacific one could see the end of the strike, but until to-morrow it will be very difficult to make prophesies regarding the men's attitude. The company here treat lightly the resolution of sympathy which railway men adopted in Ottawa, yet on the other hand the strikers declare their certainty of winning.

Mr. Pierson left for the West this morning and was replaced here by Grand Chief Powell, so the climax will probably be reached within the next 24 hours.

The regular trains are moving fairly well and most of them are very little late.

A gentleman connected with a sister organization wired the vice-president to-day and the following reply has been sent out: "The strike of the railway telegraphers on the several divisions of the system was as stupid as it was unjustifiable. Our rules and regulations approved by the Governor in Council provide that an employe having a grievance must first communicate that grievance to the head of his department. A committee of the telegraphers from three divisions of the system came to Montreal a few days ago for the purpose of laying before the management their alleged grievances with regard to compensation, the duties which operators are required to perform and certain matters relating to discipline and promotion. They were informed that the management could not deal with questions of this kind, which had never been discussed with the officers responsible for the company's affairs on the divisions upon which the men were employed. As a result, a strike was ordered by one of the officers in the United States of the telegraphers' organization. Every locomotive driver, conductor, fireman and other employe connected with reputable organizations knows that the demand of the telegraphers in this instance was unwarranted, in violation of common practice, and of every rule of discipline. All of the men engaged in the present strike paid monthly salaries were entitled to two weeks' notice or dismissal and were required to give two weeks' notice of resignation from the company's service. They left without any notice whatever. There is absolutely no other question involved in this strike, excepting the question as to whether the Executive officers of the company shall ignore the rules and deal directly with an operator at Calgary, without regard to Mr. White, general superintendent of the division upon which that station is located, or with an operator at Ashcroft in British Columbia, without reference to General Superintendent Abbott. For the safety of life and property the discipline on a railroad must be of the most thorough character, and such action on the part of the management as these men demand would destroy everything in the nature of discipline. These men have quit work and we must fill their places, but we have to-day given those whose places have not already been filled, an opportunity to go back to work within a few hours if they desire to do so."

MR. PIERSON RETURNS.

9 p.m.—Mr. Pierson returned to town this evening, sooner than expected, and, although the organizer will give few details he declares that the prospect of a victory is brighter than ever before.

"What do you hear from your sister organizations?" he was asked.

"We are hearing something all the time, but cannot say anything at present."

SIR WILLIAM TALKS.

The C.P.R. President Used to Scrub and Be the Switchin'.

Montreal, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Sir William Van Horne was interviewed to-day and expressed his personal regret that the operators had allowed themselves to be dragged into the trouble, and hoped that they would avail themselves of the offer made to-day to take them back if they would return to work within the next few hours. Sir William had been an operator himself, and had a warm side for the men. They may or may not have had grievances, he continued, and if the men had come to the company through the proper channels their representatives would have been listened to. Continuing, the President said: "Every one of the things and every one of the so-called extra duties enumerated by the committee, I had to perform myself when serving in a similar capacity. It might have been degrading, but I did not know it. A very large proportion of railway officers on the continent started as railway operators, and I don't believe one of them ever kicked against being required to keep his office clean, to attend to station signals or to look after a water tank. Those who do are not the kind of men who secure promotion. For my part, I do not believe there has been any complaint of these special duties on the part of those performing them, but that the committee is simply using them to make the public believe that the telegraph operators are badly treated. As for the wages, they are adjusted to the duties performed, and they run all the way from $25 or $30 to more than $100 per month."

Proceeding, Sir William said the committee said something about the rules of promotion, but there can be but one rule of promotion—fitness; and the gentlemen telegraphers who object to keeping their offices clean and make themselves useful never will be deemed fit.

PIERSON AT SMITH'S FALLS.

Was His Mission a Failure?—Did the Other Employes Refuse?

Montreal, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—It is stated here this evening that Mr. Pierson's mission to Smith's Falls was a failure, and the alleged refusal of the engineers and firemen of that section to join the strike appears to coincide with the action of their confreres at Toronto Junction. Some of the strikers' fellow-employes have approached the company's officials and offer their friendly services with a view to bring about an amicable settlement. They have been told that any of the men who are now still out whose places have not been filled will be allowed to return and the divisional superintendents will be instructed to hear and deal with the alleged grievances in a fair and impartial manner, and if they fail the men are to have the right to appeal the matter to the higher authority.

The following has been sent out by the company:

"Train despatchers and operators who stopped work without the slightest cause at the instance of the most imprudent and incompetent committee have now had two days in which to consider their position and realize the magnitude of the blunder that they made. Nearly all the men on the Ontario & Quebec division and on the main line east of North Bay have returned to work. The company has employed some men to keep traffic moving on other sections, and can without the slightest delay secure very good men to fill every existing vacancy. Before doing this, however, the company desires to give old and valued employes an opportunity to return to their work. Therefore every despatcher and operator who was at his post when the strike was ordered, and who quit work in consequence of such order, may, if his place has not already been filled, return to his post, provided that he do so before 5 o'clock in the afternoon. He must not return, however, unless he be willing to conform to the company's rule that all grievances must be submitted to divisional officers before they are laid before the management at Montreal. This message is sent without prejudice."

At midnight it certainly looks as if the strike will end in the near future unless help can be obtained, and this becomes more and more improbable.

THE WOMEN TOO.

Back Talk Not Man's Monopoly.

Mrs. Jemima Cole, Havelock, told the following wonderful story:—"For a great many years I have suffered from disease of the kidneys. The pains in my back and side were sometimes excruciating.

"My limbs were so swollen that I could scarcely lift my feet from the floor, and I was in great agony nearly all the time. I thought that I would surely die from the pain.

"I have taken dozens of advertised remedies, but got no better during their use. I was also treated by several doctors, but am sorry to say they did me little or no good. In fact they stated that they could do me no good, which made me despair of ever getting better.

"When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised I sent to W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore and got a box thinking I would try them as a last resort.

"The change from the start was very great and now after one month I am free from all pain. The swelling has gone down and I feel quite strong and healthy.

"I was also troubled with rheumatism and neuralgia which have completely disappeared, thanks to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. In fact I do not think there is a medicine in the world that in such a short time could have taken me from the almost dying condition in which I was to the healthy and vigorous state that I am in now.

"I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for their wonderful virtues in curing kidney troubles."

Obituary.

Word was received in town yesterday of the sudden death at Bay City, of Mr. Patrick Savage, formerly of Peterborough. Deceased was born in South Monaghan in 1840, and was a son of the late Henry Savage. He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Ellen Galvin, of Peterborough, and the second Mrs. Dunn, of Bay City, but formerly of town, who survives him with six children. Mrs. Patrick Meagher, of No. 118 Lansdowne street, is a sister of the deceased, and leaves for Bay City to-day.

The Old Way and the New.

The old way of wall papering in spring, and in the spring only, is becoming a thing of the past. The fall is the better time for home decorating, because of the long winter nights, the Christmas season that comes and holiday visiting, when the new decorations are most appreciated by all who have to pass most of their time indoors. If requiring wall paper at present you'll find it most advantageous to visit the Peterborough Bookstore for artistic selections and lowest prices. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

A DEPUTATION.

Wheelmen Attend a Meeting of the Street and Bridge Committee.

The meeting of the Street and Bridge Committee was attended last evening by a deputation of wheelmen, headed by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.

The bicyclists were anxious to have the committee send in a recommendation to the council to repeal the bylaw regarding the prohibiting of bicycles being ridden on the sidewalks. It was pointed out by Mr. Dennistoun that, although the sidewalks would be dry for a month or so yet, the roads would be rendered impassable for bicycles very soon by the fall rains. The town wheelmen he felt sure would not abuse the privilege if they were again allowed to use the sidewalks and if any one was ran into by a wheelman the matter could be settled in court.

The committee declined to commit itself to the extent of making a recommendation to the council, but the matter will probably come up at the next meeting.

Took a Tumble.

A young lady living in the south ward met with a painful accident yesterday under somewhat peculiar circumstances. Whilst exploring a garret she came across a pair of very old-fashioned hoopskirts, worn "once upon a time" by a member of the family, and donning them she gleefully proceeded down stairs to astonish her brothers and sisters. When near the bottom of the flight her foot caught in the wires and she fell forward against a corner of the hall stove, cutting her head badly. That young lady will have nothing in the shape of a hoop about her waist hereafter.

Tuesday Nights Tornado.

One of the greatest scenes in "The Tornado," Lincoln J. Carter's second great scenic play, which makes its appearance at the Opera House, Tuesday night next, is the one in which six old tars are shown clinging to the yardarm of a ship and shortening sail, while the mast sways from side to side with the roll of the vessel, vivid flashes of lightning illuminate the scene, and one is in constant fear of seeing a sailor either blown away or fall to the deck, forty feet below. One forgets they are in a theatre, and for the instant all is reality.

Good Templars' Fruit Social.

Last evening the members of City Lodge No. 404, I.O.G.T., gave a fruit social There was a good attendance and programme. Rev. Mr. Grant acted as chairman. Several numbers on the programme were heartily encored, and the social, taken as a whole, was a very pleasing one. The following is the programme:

Instrumental Quartette.....Messrs. Hudson, Larmour, Freeburn and T Sabin
Recitation.....Miss Eva Rutherford
Vocal Solo (banjo accompaniment)...Mr. Adams
Recitation.....Miss H Holmes
Instrumental Duet...Messrs Ricketts and Warner
Vocal Solo.....Master H Taylor
Address.....Rev. Mr. Smith
Vocal Solo (banjo accompaniment)...Mr Adams
Vocal Duet.....Misses Pascoe

Messrs. Rickett's and Warner's selections on the mandolin and guitar were very warmly received and they received two encores. Mr. Adams also very pleasantly entertained the audience with his comic solos and banjo accompaniment. He responded to two encores, and the Misses Pascoe answered two encores. Rev. Mr. Grant made an address, in which he set forth the merits of the order. Refreshments were then served and much enjoyed by all.

GAUDAUR AND J. W. SMITH IN ENGLAND.

Where the Canadian Flag is Not — British Ignorance of Canada — A Canadian Flag Not to be Found in London to Hang Over the Canadian Champion's Headquarters.

This morning a representative of THE EXAMINER had a short chat with Mr. J. W. Smith, of the Crown Timber Offices, Peterborough, who was Jake Gaudaur's backer in the recent world's championship contest on the Thames, and one of the principal contributors to the $2,500 purse hung up for the occasion.

Mr. Smith and Jake sailed from New York by the steamer Paris on August 5th, accompanied by the latter's trainer, J. S. Harris, of New York. They landed at Southampton and were met at the station in London by a representative of the London Sportsman and escorted to Putney where they put up at the Duke's Head, a tavern kept by one Gus Brewer, which hostelrie was Jake's residence during his stay in England. This same "pub" is a good place but the Duke's Head is not quite level. Gus Brewer is a veritable John Bull for ignorance of his colonial possessions and for obstinancy.

On the arrival of the distinguished party, out of respect to the great oarsman, Gus ran up what he thought was Jake's national flag. With a sweeping continental ignorance Gus acted on the assumption that the United States embraced the whole of North America. He was asked why he ran up the American flag in honour of a Canadian. The reply was that there was no difference, the inhabitants of North America were all Yankees, and he couldn't or wouldn't be convinced that there was such a British possession as Canada. Mr. Smith, (with the spirit of a patriotic Canadian), and a reporter of the "Sportsman," quickly pointed out Gus' mistake and speedily hauled down the offensive bit of Yankee calico. Brewer was despatched to the office of the Canadian High Commissioner, to get a Canadian flag. He returned unsuccessful—Sir Donald Smith hadn't such a thing about the house that Canada keeps up at an expense of about $15,000 per year. Gus Brewer came back more convinced than ever of Canada's non-existence. No Canadian flag could it appears be found in London and Gus, loyal to Jake and to his own obstinate insular ignorance, again ran up to the Yankee flag in the oarsman's honour and in such a position that Mr. Smith could not get at it to haul it down again. This incident serves to show the dense ignorance that exists among a certain class of Britions, respecting the colonial possessions of England; but while this ignorance is by no means universal, there is an extreme mistiness in the public mind generally between the United States and Canada, the general impulse being to generously comprehend the two distinct nations under the conveniently comprehensive title of "Americans." A similar tendency exists in the Unnited States. When a Canadian or Canadians succeed, as they have a trick of doing in getting to the front in the old country, our good generous Yankee cousins claim them as "Americans."

Jake went into training at once and needed little to get him into condition, for his temperate habits and steady style of life keep him "fit" from day to day and year to year. He used J. H. Clasper's boat house as his acquatic headquarters. He pulled off the championship in one of the boats of Clasper, who took a great interest in Gaudaur's training and success. Mr. Wag. Harding, ex-champion, was Jake's pace-maker in his daily spins. The numerous Canadians in London frequently called on Gaudaur and Mr. Smith, and they, as well as the Yankee residents and visitors, sympathised heartily with Jake's venture, and backed their opinion by substantial collateral security.

The story of the race, and Jake's triumphant vindication of the confidence of Canada, Mr. Smith and his other backers in his ability, has been told with all the details, and Mr. Smith says that while Jake is, for the present, resting on his oars, he is ready for challenges—ready to dispute the title of champion of the world with all comers.

LACROSSE.

Great interest is being taken in the lacrosse match which takes place to-morrow afternoon at four o'clock between the employees of the EXAMINER and a picked team from the offices of the Review and Times. If you want to see a game of lacrosse as it should be played attend this great game. Anyone having a lacrosse to lend would oblige the boys by leaving them at the EXAMINER office. No admission will be charged.

The Orillia Times states that the semi-final game played in Orillia was the cleanest and most exciting ever played in that town. No fault is found with it, as Orillia won, but this is what they say of Tuesday's match here: "The return match in the semi-finals was played at Peterborough on Tuesday and resulted as above. The match was nothing like as good an exhibition of the game as the one played here, nearly every player on the Orillia team being more or less out up, and some of them seriously. The Peterborough team were treated like gentlemen when they came here and were beaten fairly. It is too bad for the interests of the game that the same treatment was not accorded the Orillias when they visited that town. Had the Peterborough team won on its own merits there is no one in this town who would kick in the way the match was won, and we believe the O. L. C. are going to take advantage of it. To begin with, Mr. Lionel York of Toronto, was agreed on for referee, but when the team went on the field they found Mr. Hugh McConaghy of Midland was to officiate. How the exchange was made is not known, but will probably be aired by the C.L.A. There is no doubt whatever in the minds of the Orillia team, in fact several of them have made affidavit, that they scored two games which the Peterborough umpire would not give them, and which both the referee and umpire were afraid to allow on account of the crowd. There have been a greaty many lacrosse matches played in Orillia during the last twenty-five years, but no visiting team has ever been able to say that Orillia spectators bull-dozed an umpire, while their team has suffered in other towns many a time from this cause. The Peterborough team had made two or three changes (ringers) on their team and had no certificates, but Mr. McConaghy let them play although in direct contravention of the rules of the C.L.A. A protest has been entered, and will be pushed through at once."

As far as attempting to bull-dose Referee McConaghy into giving the game to Peterborough no one knows better than Orillia how impossible a thing that would be as they tried that little game on him once before in Orillia. Appended are some of the comments made by the Times of Orillia on the first game:

"Dobbin the Peterborough goalkeeper, is one of the best in Canada. The Cornwall team have been after him all summer."

"There are not two better matched teams in Canada to-day, for size and weight, than Orillia and Peterborough, and on a dry day a game between them should be a rattler."

"In the good old days when Mayor Jupp was starring in lacrosse circles, Peterborough had a right smart centre fielder, one James Sheehey. The newspapers of that enterprising town invariably started their reports of lacrosse matches with the line, "Jimmy as usual drew the ball." Now it's our turn. Our Mr. Blain got the ball every time on the draw."

Rev. Father Murphy, formerly of Peterborough, who was ordained about two weeks ago in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, by Archbishop Corrigan, is in town on a visit to relatives. He is a member of the Paulist Order, and in all likelihood will assist in the services at St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday.

The Orillia Times says,—Mr. G. E. Whiten, who has conducted a successful photograph business in Orillia for the past twenty-five years, has sold his interest in the firm of Whiten & Stewart to Mr. B. F. Stewart, and will leave in the course of a week or so for Peterborough where he will open a studio. Mr. Whiten's long residence in Orillia has made him many friends, who regret to see him leaving the town. He has always been a prominent figure in sporting circles, particularly among the riflemen, and has served his town as an alderman. KEENE'S GREAT SHOW SUCCESS.

OTONABEE TOWNSHIP ANNUAL EXHIBITION.

A Most Successful Affair — Excellent Exhibits and Large Attendance — Last Year's Record Broken — The Most Successful of the Series.

Otonabee township has been recently celebrated for the discovery of interesting relics of the dead past and has taken prominence among other places in the importance of these. And in regard to the living present she has taken an equally pre-eminent position, as especially demonstrated by her unusually successful and excellent annual exhibition, which was a great success, ahead in every respect of any other year, and one to challenge comparison with the best township exhibition in the province.

The first day was, of course, one of mere routine, devoted chiefly to the placing of exhibits.

The second day was favoured with beautiful weather and there was consequently a very large attendance, in the history of the society, and about three hundred in excess of the large attendance of last year. And what was to be seen was as much ahead of last year also, the entries for 1896 being over 200 in excess of those of 1895. A good move was made in combining the inside exhibits under one roof, in the skating rink, instead of dividing them between the town hall and the rink, as has been done in former years.

AHEAD OF ANY YEAR

And the show made was an imposing one, well worthy the largest and wealthiest township in Peterborough.

The display of fruit, chiefly apples, was simply grand. The samples were magnificent, the quantity great, and the fruit tables were a centre of attraction during the day.

There was also a magnificent display of grains, numerous exhibits and of A 1 quality.

Roots and vegetables also showed up well, but, of course, the dry season made the display somewhat inferior to that of other years, for Otonabee is noted for what is got from beneath the ground, whether skeletons or roots.

There was a large and fine display in the domestic department, consisting of home-made bread, pickles, etc.

THE DAIRY DEPARTMENT,

however, was hardly up to the mark. Whilst there was a fair display of butter, it was to be remarked that a single cheese was no fair example of the large quantity of prime cheese produced in this township.

In regard to ladies' work it is only gallant and at the same time high praise to say that the ladies' work shown was in every way worthy of the handsome ladies the township produces. The ladies' work, both plain and fancy, was splendid in workmanship and of great variety and extent. The samples of fancy needle work and embroidery evidenced great skill and taste. In the more substantial department there was also a good array of warm quilts, home-made blankets and flannels.

A beautiful floral exhibit testified to the taste and skill in floriculture of the people of the village and township.

The fine art display was a most elaborate and creditable one. The specimens of landscapes and figure subjects in oils were exceedingly artistic, while the water colours and crayons were worthy of great praise.

The R. S. Williams Piano Company had an exhibit in the inside, in charge of Mr. T. Dann, Peterborough.

In the building there was a most remarkable display of carriage works, three establishments exhibiting a turn-out of about twenty carriages, cutters and waggons equal in appearance and style and workmanship to any city shops. Further on more detailed reference is made to these exhibits, which the reader is urgently requested to peruse.

Extended reference will also be found below to the fine display of clothing made by Grafton & Co., which was greatly admired.

On the Grounds.

The excellent grounds of the society presented an animated appearance. The most conspicuous object was, perhaps, the house on wheels of Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap men, which divided attention, with the well-displayed placards of Grafton & Co., or the swaying balloons of Oak Hall.

A run among the live stock revealed a good show of exceedingly fine thoroughbred stock, and a collection of grades of such high quality that many of them would probably won red tickets if shown among thoroughbreds fifteen or twenty years ago. Altogether the show of cattle was the best ever made at an exhibition of the Society.

A beautiful herd of thoroughbred Durhams consisted of the fine exhibits of Messrs. Stewart Bros., Gilbert Blezard and F. Birdsall & Son—about fifteen heads altogether.

The principal exhibits in thoroughbred Jerseys — St. Lamberts — was made by Messrs. Birdsall & Son, Asphodel, Mr. G. Eason and Mr. Jas. Graham of Otonabee. Among them was the well-known thoroughbred bull of St. George parentage, purchased by the Messrs. Birdsall from the well-known Jersey stock farm of Mrs. E. M. Jones of Brockville.

Holsteins also made a good exhibit, being shown by Mr. Andrew Cameron.

Ayrshires were represented well by the exhibits of Mr. Joseph H. Taylor (who showed a bull, Roy-Meadowsweet, purchased from Mr. Joseph Yuill of Carleton Place), Mr. Henry Humphries, Mr. Joseph Elmhurst and Mr. Adam Humphries. There were about twenty head of Ayrshires, all fine animals.

The display of cattle would have been larger but that on the way several of Messrs. Birdsall & Son's escaped from the drivers into an open woods on the way, and could not be recovered in time for the exhibition.

Grades, as before intimated, were unusually well represented. The chief exhibitors were: Messrs. J. H. Taylor, W. J. Miller, John Edwards, Gilbert Blezard, Jos. Howson, Gilbert Howson and D. Cruikshank.

In sheep there was a fine and large exhibit. Oxfords, about a dozen, were shown by Messrs. Jos. Elmhurst and F. E. Birdsall & Son. Shropshires by Messrs. W. J. Miller, Jos. Elmhurst, John Hoar and John Renwick. Leicesters, of which about 30 were shown, by Messrs. A. Cameron, D. Forsythe, David Kerr, Jas. Hanlon and — Elmhurst. Cotswolds were represented by the exhibit of Mr. A. Humphries.

Swine, Tamworth, Berkshire, Yorkshire, Chester and grades were shown by T. Walsh, H. Nelson, Jos. H. Taylor, Squire Breckenridge and David Forsythe.

There was a fair exhibit of poultry.

Horses.

There was a fine exhibit of horses in all classes, roadsters, carriage and heavy draught.

The speeding events were the centre of attraction. The track was in excellent condition and Messrs. Geo. Fitzgerald, Charles Stapleton and James Baptie acted as judges.

In the trotting races "for the fastest trotting horse" there were three entries, but the race was not very closely contested, the heats resulting consecutively as below:—

M Connors' Fred S	1 1 1
Ed Elliott's Little Vic	2 2 2
Chas Pogue's Hal Pointer	3 3 3

In the green trot, or the "fastest trotting horse that never won money," there were four entries, and the horses came in in the following order in the several heats:

Ed Elliott	1 1 1
W Manley	2 2 2
J Elmhurst	3 3 3
R Howson	4 4 4

In the novelty race the winners were Mr. S. McDonald and Jos. Elmhurst.

Grafton & Co.'s special prize for fastest walking team was won by Mr. R. A. Deyell.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS.

W. T. MATHER, MATHERS CORNERS.

Mr. Mather had a decidedly creditable exhibit of the carriage work capacity of his establishment in the main building. This consisted of a family pleasure sleigh, an extension top phaeton, an extension top surrey, a duplex carriage and a Whitechapel covered buggy, one square-box covered buggy and one covered Surrey, altogether seven splendid vehicles, finished in the most superior manner and good enough for the use of the highest in the land. A feature of the superior upholstery of his buggies is the use of spring cushions exclusively, in addition to the usual cushioning material, most of the upholstering, except when desired otherwise, being in leather. The excellent quality of the material employed and the fine finish of the work in these vehicles is one cause of the extensive patronage Mr. Mather receives. And the prices are extremely reasonable when the quality is considered. For solid and elegant work any one needing a first-class, neat, stylish and well-built turn out would not look at a factory-made buggy in comparison with those built by Mr. W. T. Mather, Mather's Corners, Otonabee. Remember him when you are thinking of buying a buggy.

MATHER, WEDLOCK & CRUIKSHANKS, KEENE, is a carriage-building syndicate that made a splendid exhibition at the fair. They showed two single buggies, a double carriage, two road carts and a fine farm waggon, the latter fitted with the latest improved tubular steel axles and brakes. The excellence of the material used is shown by specimens of unvarnished wood spokes and hubs, the hub wound with steel wire, giving great strength. A buggy fitted with these hubs was shown—a regular beauty. It had a Corning box and a spring curtain. The body was ornamented with elaborate carving and moulding cut into the body of the wood, and not glued on, as in cheap factory work. This is a sample of the work done and of the material used by the firm. Combined with the best material, is a most beautiful finish in all the vehicles. Every part of the work is reliable, as it is done by the members of the firm, who are specially competent men in their lines. Even the tops are made at their factory in Keene, so that every portion of the vehicle is reliable and of honest home make. Messrs. Wedlock & Cruikshanks can furnish a buggy, or any other vehicle in their line, as strong—if not stronger, as stylish and well-finished as any firm in Canada. Their shop is on Main street, Keene.

DAVID HASTIE, LANG.

The extensive exhibit of carriage work made by Mr. David Hastie, Lang, P.O., was greatly admired. Mr. Hastie had his training in a good school, succeeding to the long established carriage business of his father, Mr. Wm. Hastie. His exhibit consisted of three fine single top buggies, and one so-called double-seated democrat of unusual elegance, fit in strength for marketing purposes and in elegance for going to church, a splendid and unusually elegant Peterborough cutter, with sliding seat, plush trimmings, and spring cushions. The finish of Mr. Hastie's carriage work is superior, and as elegant and tasty as the work is strong and the material first class. He also showed an ordinary cutter, a handsome solid vehicle. One of his specially elegant vehicles was a folding top buggy, which, both in elegance and in convenience, is a very attractive buggy and was very much admired. Mr. Hastie's buggies are made under his special supervision, and every inch of work is guaranteed. And the guarantee of a local man is something to be depended upon; he is always at home, and the same cannot be said of the vendors of factory buggies. Patronise home industry and when you want a well built, honest and stylish turn out go to Mr. David Hastie, Lang P. O.

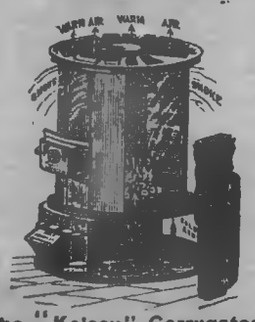
The Most Economical ..House Warmer



The "Kelsey" Corrugated Warm Air Generator.

Any ordinary Hot Air Furnace will produce heat if you will only supply enough fuel. The "Kelsey" has several special and valuable features but most important is that it will give more heat with less fuel and is the most durable heater made.

The "Kelsey" fire pot being constructed of several upright, tubular, corrugated, cast iron sections (see cut) around which the fire passes and up through which the cold air passes while being heated, and this entire section being wrapped with a heavy steel casing which becomes heated by the fire striking it when passing down outside of upright sections towards smoke pipe, it in turn warms the air that passes up between this steel casing and the galvanized iron casing, this explains why the "Kelsey" has three times more radiating surface and warm air capacity than an ordinary Furnace. The "Kelsey" heats every room evenly, wherever located, with a nice, mild, healthful warm air that will not injure your furniture.

The "Kelsey" will heat rooms 60 feet distant.

The "Kelsey" does not heat your cellar.

The "Kelsey" is absolutely gas and dust proof.

P. N. CORSETS

Are made with special reference to the needs of Canada's daughters. Fits you like a glove and you like to wear it. Sold by E. FAIR, 235 George St. eodw

Sometimes it seems to weary woman that she must certainly give up. The simplest and easiest work becomes an almost insurmountable task. Lassitude almost overcomes her. Nervousness and sleeplessness and pain harass her and life seems hardly worth the living.

That her sufferings are due solely to her own fault seldom occurs to her, but often it is so. Health, strength and vigorous vitality are hers if she will but ask and reach for them.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was made for her. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was made for her. The former is for the ills distinctly feminine, the other for her general system. Together they supply a scientific and successful course of treatment. The "Favorite Prescription" restores healthy, regular action to the organs distinctly feminine. It forces out all impurities, strengthens the tissues, allays irritating inflammation. The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes appetite, helps digestion, promotes assimilation, fills out the hollows in cheeks and neck with good solid flesh and brings back the gladsome glow of girlhood. Best of all, with these remedies there is no need of detested "examinations" and "local treatment" so abhorrent to every modest woman.

Thousands of grateful women have written letters like this:

MRS. SAMANTHA M. CRANMER, of Box 34, La Roy, Bradford Co., Pa., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write these few lines in favor of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription'—the medicines which have done me so much good. I was completely run down so that I could scarcely drag myself around the house, had been getting weaker and worse for several years until I lost all hope of ever getting any better. I took four bottles of each of your medicines and am now perfectly well."

Respectfully yours,

Samantha M Cranmer

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1000 page doctor book, profusely illustrated, of which 680,000 have been sold at $1.50 a copy, will be sent FREE on receipt of 31 cents to pay customs and postage only. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

YOUR PICNIC.

Some Suggestions That Will Help Make It a Success.

August, says Claribel, in Country Gentleman, is proverbially the month for picnics, and sandwiches and salads are in demand. Those upon whom falls the task to provide picnic dinners may be glad of some suggestions and methods which will enable them to vary the old time-worn formulas.

Meat sandwiches are more convenient to eat, and are seasoned more perfectly if the meat is chopped rather than sliced. Make the dressing for salads thicker than if they were to be eaten at home. A picnic dinner is not appetizing if the viands are "mussy" Bread for sandwiches should be two days old, that it should "hold its own" when cut, and not crumble.

Hanover Sandwiches—Beat together a teacupful of soft butter, the yelks of two eggs, three tablespoonfuls of prepared mustard, a teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of pepper. Spread this mixture on thin slices of bread baked in long, not round, tins. Place between the layers very finely chopped ham and corned beef (equal parts) moistened with a little hot water.

Toast Sandwiches—Are a novelty. Cut the crust from stale bread, slice and toast a delicate brown. Spread lightly with mustard butter, then with any chopped meat or fish. Put two slices together and with a sharp knife cut in long strips and serve on a platter. To make mustard butter, beat until well incorporated and perfectly smooth, two tablespoonfuls of mustard with soft butter the size of a large egg. For anchovy butter use a teaspoonful of anchovy paste.

Sandwich Rolls—Cut a slice from the top of each roll, carefully remove two-thirds of the inside, and mix with it chopped chicken seasoned with the following dressing: An egg, a teacupful of cream, half a teacupful of vinegar, a level teaspoonful of mustard, a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of pepper, beaten to a cream. Press this mixture firmly into the cavities, and when ready to serve, slice.

For those who do not relish meat, there are Labette sandwiches. Spread Devonshire cream on thin slices of buttered bread, then with strawberry or gooseberry jam, and press together. Devonshire cream is made by keeping a pan of milk in a cold place twenty-four hours, or twelve hours in hot weather, then setting the pan on the stove, where it will heat gradually to scalding; but do not let it boil. When the undulations on the surface look thick, it is done. Keep very cold ten hours and skim.

Children are fond of French sandwiches. Fill well-greased baking powder cans half full of sponge cake batter. When the cake is cold, slice and place between the slices currant jelly or red raspberry jam, and ice the top. Victoria sandwiches are another variety, and a general favorite with little people. Beat a teacupful of soft butter to a cream, add a teacupful of white sugar, two heaping teacupfuls of flour, beat three minutes; add a teaspoonful of baking powder, beat five minutes; then stir in four beaten eggs, and beat again thoroughly. Butter a long shallow tin, pour in the batter and bake twenty minutes. When cold, split, spread one-half with quince jelly, cover with the other half, press gently together, cut in long finger-like strips.

For salads use a wood spoon and silver fork. Keep the ingredients as cold as possible. Cream or softened butter is a good substitute for oil, but should always be added last. Serve salads in a salad bowl, or on a platter, not in glass, they give it a "smeared" appearance.

A mixture of eggs and cheese makes an appetising salad. Cut in thin, even slices six hard boiled eggs. Put a layer in a salad bowl, grate over a thick layer of rather dry cheese, then another layer of eggs, alternating with cheese until the eggs are used; sprinkle the top with a layer of finely chopped cucumber pickles; pour over a mayonnaise dressing, and cover with cheese. For the mayonnaise, beat a raw egg with half a teaspoonful of salt, add a teaspoonful of mustard mixed to a thick paste with vinegar, beat well, add a little at a time, half a pint of olive oil or melted butter. If cooked, this dressing keeps well.

Nasturtion Salad—Is a novelty, and has a piquant flavor. Shred the flowers, using them freely, season with salt and pepper, and pour over the mayonnaise dressing. The flowers, with the addition of a few of the tender seeds, placed between slices of buttered bread, make a dainty sandwich.

Sour Cream Salad—To be eaten the day it is made, a sour cream salad is nice. Put half a pint of vinegar, a tablespoonful of butter, and a tablespoonful of sugar into a saucepan; when hot add half a pint of sour cream mixed with an egg, and half a teaspoonful of flour. When it boils, pour it over two quarts of finely chopped, crisp cabbage, seasoned with a teaspoonful of mustard, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one tablespoonful of salft, and half a teaspoonful of pepper.

Sweet Potato Salad—Boil three large sweet potatoes, remove the skins; when cold cut into small pieces, not chop; season with salt and pepper, and pour over a French dressing of six tablespoonfuls of melted butter, a teaspoonful (scant) of salt, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and a little white pepper.

Beet Salad—Boil three good-sized beets, skin, chop fine, season with a little salt, a teaspoonful of sugar, a tablespoonful of mustard, and moisten with cold vinegar.

Potato Salad—Boil three or four potatoes; mash and season as for the table; dissolve the yelks of three hard boiled eggs in two tablespoonfuls of vinegar; pour this over the mashed potato, and mix with a fork. Garnish with lettuce or English mustard.

Codfish Salad—Is a nice picnic relish. Spread boiled codfish fine; when cold, mix with shredded lettuce and a mayonnaise dressing. Garnish with slices of hard boiled eggs.

Melon Salad—Makes a novel dish. Remove the rind and seed from muskmelons; cut in pieces, put in a salad bowl, and pour over a French dressing.

Tomato Salad—Peel round, smooth tomatoes, cut in halves, arrange on a platter, cut side up, and place on each a teaspoonful of mayonnaise dressing. The tomatoes can be prepared, the dressing transported in a can or wide-mouthed bottle, and the dish arranged when ready to serve. Rings of the whites of hard-boiled eggs, enclosing slices of carrots, or beets, are an attractive garnish. Celery leaves, parsley, etc., are used.

Here Are Some Conundrums.

What is that which no one wishes to have and no one wishes to lose? A bald head.

Why is a gate post like a potato? Because they are both put into the ground to propagate.

Why are coals in London like towns given up to plunder? Because they are sacked and burned.

What is that which is often brought to the table, always cut and never eaten? A pack of cards.

What moral lesson does a weathercock on a church steeple continually inculcate? 'Tis vane to aspire.

Why shouldn't a boy throw dust into his teacher's eyes. Because it may occasion harm to the pupil.

What are the most unsociable things in the world? Mile stones, for you never see two of them together.

What is that which Adam never saw, never possessed and yet gave two to each of his children? Parents.

Why is a restless man in bed like a lawyer? Because he lies on one side, then turns round and lies on the other.

Why is a chicken pie like a gunsmith's shop? Because it contains fowlin pieces.

Why is a clergyman's horse like a king? Because he is guided by a minister.

What word may be pronounced quicker by adding a syllable to it? Quick.

Autumn on the Farm.

The above illustration vividly shows what country boys and girls are doing at this time of year. In view of the joyous picture it is no wonder that there are many contented boys and girls on our Canadian farms, notwithstanding the assertions to the contrary. The movement cityward attracts so much attention that the multitude of rural homes in which content dwells is perhaps overlooked. A sensible girl writes to her home newspaper: "I am a farmer girl. I would not give my country life for all the towns." There is a "divine discontent" which sometimes impels to needed change to larger duties, but there is a divine content which accepts retirement and hard work cheerfully. It may be the crowning glory of a life that it was faithful in that which is least.

FOR THE PUBLIC GOOD.

Mrs. Liscumbe Makes a Statement for the Benefit of Others.

Mrs. Liscumbe is well known in Havelock and this is how she spoke to our representative:—

"I have been troubled for some time with severe pains in the side and back. I took many medicines of various kinds, but got no relief.

"The box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at W. H. Jeff & Co's. drugstore gave me wonderful relief from the start. The improvement in my general health is not the least of the benefits which I have derived from the use of this remarkable kidney remeny.

"I can recommend them very highly to anyone troubled with any form of kidney disease."

BRIGANDS KILLED THEM.

A Tilled Austrian and a Wealthy Greek Murdered Because the Ransom Demanded Was Not Paid.

Vienna, Sept. 30.—Advices received here from Belgrade say that the brother of the Austrian Consul at Seris, Macedonia, who was carried off by a band of Bulgarian brigands some two weeks ago, with a wealthy Greek landed proprietor and others, has been murdered with four of his companions because the ransom of $50,000 demanded by the brigands as the price of their liberty was not forthcoming.

Quarrelled Among Themselves.

AYER'S PILLS

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled.

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and are, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known."—Mrs. MAY JOHNSON, 338 Rider Avenue, New York City.

KICKING A FINE ART.

A FOOTBALL AND HOW BEST TO KICK IT ON THE FIELD.

A Concise Article of Instructions to Those Who Would Essay the Fascinating Game of Football—The Different Kinds of Kicks and Their Value.

Kicking is one of the fine arts of football. It requires considerable skill, which is only to be obtained by constant, painstaking practice. The requirements for good kicking are coolheadedness, a good eye, a good leg, and a good square toe shoe. There are three kinds of kicks—a punt, a place and a drop. Of these, the most important is the punt. There are two kinds of punts—a common punt, which is generally used, and a "twister," or "floater." The latter, which is not of much importance, is made by dropping the ball so that the longer axis will be horizontal, or at right angles to the body (ends resting to and away from the body), and giving the impetus to the ball a little to one side. As to the common punt, there are two styles, known as straight kicking and round kicking. The straight punt is made by facing the direction in which you wish the ball to go. The kicker stands from twelve to fifteen yards back of the line—that is, when the punt is made from a line-up. As the kicker receives the ball, he should step back with the right leg, and bring the body a little forward, and then he is ready for the swing. The kicker ought to be able to make his kick without moving out of his tracks, unless it is necessary to avoid a forward who has broken through; then he should step to the side. The ball should be adjusted quickly, the lacings being turned up, or out, away from the point of contact of the ball with the foot. There are three methods in vogue for holding the ball for a straight-leg punt. One way is to place the right hand under the lower end, and fingers of the left hand on the upper end, holding the ball either vertically or diagonally, with upper end canting away from the body. Second, hold the ball by placing one hand on each side, lacings up, the ends pointing to and from the body, the inner end being higher than the outward one, the ball slanting downward. The third is just the reverse of the second, the end near to the body being lower than the outer. The player should choose the method of holding the ball which is most natural to him, and in which he can attain the highest efficiency.

The round kick, or side kick, as sometimes called, is made by a round, instead of a straight, swing of the leg. The ball may be held in any of the three ways, generally the first. A step or two is taken to the kicking side and forward, a kind of right oblique, and the leg brought into contact with the ball in much the same way as a man makes a swinging blow with his arm, the aim being to get the weight of the body into the drive. The ball should be kicked at about calf-high.

A drop kick is made by letting the ball fall from the hands, and kicking it at the very instant it rises from the ground. If a drop kick is made from behind the rushline, the kicker should stand about fifteen yards back. The ball should be held as in the first case, by the ends, or by the sides, as in the second case. The ball should be directed towards the ground at just the angle you desire, and then let fall naturally from the hands. The exact spot upon which the ball should be booted will be obtained by practice. Just below the stringing is a good place, but here comer in again the angle at which the ball is dropped. Don't punt your drop kicks. Let the ball strike the ground first.—Harper's Round Table.

For Weak Backs, Lame Backs, Painful Backs or any kind of Bad Backs, Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound is the Great Back Strengthener.

Wm. Rogers, 8 Ottawa Street, Toronto, Ont., writes:—"For a number of years I have been troubled with a lame back. Some of the doctors I consulted called it Lumbago; others, Kidney Disease. I received no benefit from their treatment. Nine months ago I was lucky enough to try Manley's Celery-Nerve Compound, and, after taking two or three bottles, the pain entirely left me, and I have had no return of it for 8 months now."

Young Wild Birds

The thickness of the foliage on the trees, the high vegetation of the cultivated land, and the natural tendency of young birds to keep quiet and still, make the study of them a matter of some difficulty. In the hedgerows and by the woodsides unfamiliar notes and calls of birds are constantly heard—the notes of young birds which cannot be identified owing to the thickness of the foliage, and though in the large woods the cry of the young sparrow hawks and the flight of the pigeons and woodpeckers betray their presence, it is almost impossible to watch them or to ascertain their way of procuring food. Probably most of the larger species are fed by the old birds after they leave the nest.

Of game birds, young partridges are the most self-reliant and young pheasants the least able to take care of themselves. The present writer has never seen young quails, but as those coveys which are hatched in England often number as many birds as the quail usually lay eggs, it may be presumed that these, the smallest of all the game birds, are not less active and precocious than the young of the partridge. The latter are almost as active upon land as young wild ducks are upon the water. They run swiftly and without hesitation, even among thick vegetation, when they are no bigger than a wren, and follow or precede their mother through mowing grass, hedgerows, or the sides of furze breaks and copses, seeking and catching insects all the while and neither losing themselves nor betraying their whereabouts by unnecessary noise or excursions.—London Spectator.

Investigating a Spider's Sight.

Two investigators have published in Nature the results of their investigations extending over eight summers, as to the color, sense and range of vision of spiders. Twenty species were experimented with, the conclusions being that spiders see their prey, consisting of small insects, when it is motionless at the distance of five inches. They see insects in motion at much greater distances, and they see each other distinctly up to at least twelve inches.

Narrow Escape.

"One oyster lays a million eggs."

"Thank heaven the ocean is so deep we don't have to hear her cackle."

Breaking the Spell.

"This won't do," exclaimed Mrs. Bos excitedly, "there's thirteen at table."

"Never mind, maw," shouted little Johnnie, "I kin eat fur two."

Sometimes it seems to weary woman that she must certainly give up. The simplest and easiest work becomes an almost insurmountable task. Nervousness and sleeplessness and pain harrass her and life seems hardly worth the living.

Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription was made for her. Dr-Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was made for her. The former is for ills distinctly feminine, the other for her general system. Together they supply a scientific and successful course of treatment. The "Favourite Prescription" restores healthy regular action to the organs distinctly feminine. It forces out all impurities, strengthens the tissues, allays inflammation. The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes appetite, helps indigestion, promotes assimilation, fills out the hollows in cheeks and neck with good solid flesh and brings back the gladsome glow of girlhood.

Music in Niagara's Roar.

Mr. Eugene Thayer, the well-known organist, has published an analysis of the music of Niagara Falls. In an article in Trinity Record he describes at some length the compound nature of a given tone, and illustrates the overtones or partials of the lowest C of the thirty-two foot pipe of the organ. Then he continues:

"I had long had a suspicion that I should hear all this at Niagara when her wonderful voice should first greet my ears. It was just as I had supposed. I arrived at my conclusion, both theoretically and practically. Let me first call attention to the third and fourth notes, d, g, in the diagram. The ground tone, G, was so deep, so grand, so mighty, that I never could realize it or take it into my thought or hearing; but these two tones, only four octaves lower, were everywhere, with a power which made itself felt as well as heard. But it will be replied, these two notes were too low to be detected by the sense of hearing. How did you determine their pitch? I first caught the harmonic tones above them that were definite in pitch, and then counting the number of vibrations of these lower two notes, easily determined their distance below. And here comes a curious feature which proves that Niagara gives a tone, and not a roar. The seventh note (diagram), the interval of the tenth, was of a power and clearness entirely out of proportion to the harmonics as usually heard in the organ. Were the tone of Niagara a mere noise, this seventh note would be either weak and confused or absent altogether. Here it was clear and perfect and extremely pleasing in effect. What is Niagara's rhythm? Its beat is just once per second. Here is our unit of time—the chronometer of God."

Bismarck as a Joker.

The following incident in the life of the iron chancellor recently appeared in one of the New York papers:

"Bismarck and a friend, after a heavy day's shooting, sat together sipping their wine and comparing notes of their day's adventures. Bismarck's friend complained that he was excessively tired and would be unable to get up at 7 o'clock the next morning to join the sport. Bismarck assured him that he would see that he got up at the right time, whether he would or not.

"On retiring to their bedrooms, which adjoined each other, he barred and barricaded his door to prevent Bismarck from carrying out his threat.

"At half-past 6 on the following morning the chancellor knocked at the door, calling on his friend to get up. His friend didn't, but turned on his pillow to enjoy another snooze. Then Bismarck seized his gun, went into the yard and fired through the window of his friend's bed room, hitting the ceiling above the bed and bringing a shower of plaster down on the head and shoulders of the sleeper.

"In the greatest alarm, his friend arose and looked out of the window to see what was the matter. Seeing nobody, he hastily donned his clothes and ran down stairs. Here he met Bismarck, who gravely bade him 'good morning,' and added: 'I hope you slept well; it is just striking 7.'"

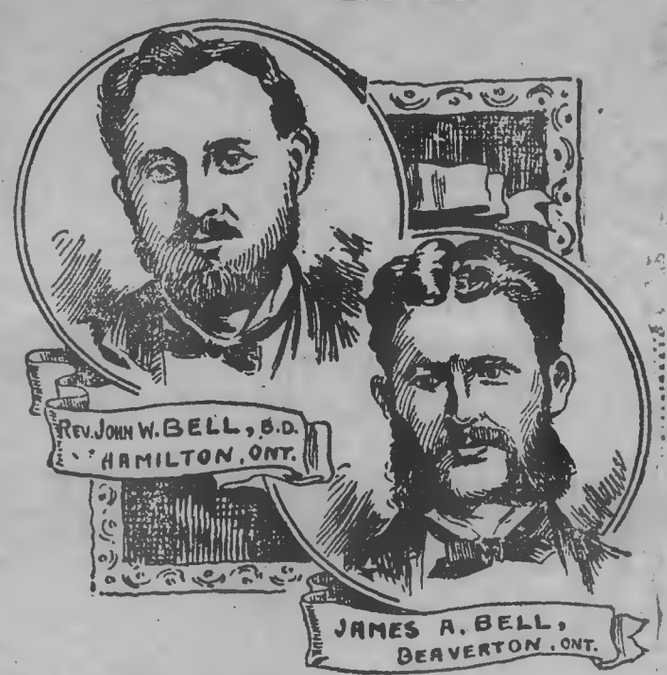
BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.



James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches

A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are better known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognized by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY HOUSE OF REFUGE.

The Manner of its Working—A Great Improvement on the Old System—Economical, Effective and Civilized.

The following has been received by a gentleman in town interested in promoting the adoption of a better system of caring for our poor than the unchristian practice of sending them to a gaol:

DEAR SIR,—Your communication is duly to hand. I have had a long experience as chairman of our House of Refuge, and will try to partially answer you; it is a very large question to answer fully.

We have one of the best poor houses in the province of Ontario, and in order for anyone to have a thorough insight into its workings they should personally visit it, and should you or any one of your town wish at any time to visit it, I would be pleased to entertain you here, and give you, as I have others, all necessary information, and in every case have succeeded in their adopting a poor house.

Yes; I consider it a great disgrace on our vaunted Christian civilization, to find the poor and old sent to prison because they are poor, when they can and are cared for at a far less cost, and are taken care of. You, sir, and I do not know but at any moment, or how soon, we may be dependent on others, besides it is our Christian duty to care for the poor.

There are scarcely any counties around here that have not adopted our system, and many deputations have been here to see our House. Around here are the counties of Elgin, Huron, Perth, Lambton, Welland, Waterloo, York, etc., and they find it economical by so doing. Our Home was built some 15 years since, and the amount required to be paid for maintenance is very much smaller than when each municipality supported it own poor. I have not the size of our buildings but know that a good house

CAN BE BUILT FOR ABOUT $15,000, including land and everything. Our home was built by Middlesex county and adjoins the boundary of this town. It comprises 48 acres and is worked by the inmates. I have known them to produce at current prices as much as $2100 in one year. In fact it is a garden. The county issued debentures for the money used in building. We received $4000 from the province to assist us and they have done the same to all the counties that have built a refuge of the class required. If the county is willing to assist you (as I take it you are separated from the county) by all means do and you will never regret it either as a Christian's duty or a matter of dollars and cents. I am sure you will all be more than satisfied after three years trial. We pay $350 to the caretaker; $200 to the matron, and two assistant matrons at $120 each; inspector, $100, and doctor $300. The number of inmates is from 75 to 110. The ladies of the W. C. A. hold a meeting every Friday to hold religious service and visit the sick and dying and at Christmas they entertain the inmates. Religious service is held every Sabbath by a minister of one of the denominations here. The annual amount required to be levied by the county for maintenance is from $6000 to $8000, which is not more than 10c a year for each 100 acres of land in the county. Now, my dear sir, I have given you, I think, as I have given many others, some information and will be pleased to answer anything further you may require as I can assure you it is impossible to give all information in a letter. If you are separated from the county I would with your petition to your town council and then have the town council pass a bylaw to join with the county to build and support a house of refuge. You could easily arrange the support of your poor—that is if you are separated—by the total number of days of the inmates which would cost so much per day, possibly 16 cents, and then you could pay for what number of days your inmates were there. Some counties charge each municipality for what number of days the poor from the corporation was supported, and thus each one paid only for their own poor. Now, my dear sir, I have had a large experience in getting the county councils to see the necessity and also their duty in providing for the poor, and I have found the only and greatest objection ratepayers have is the cost. I am sure if you were to go to the meeting of our county council at Middlesex, you could not find one of its members who would go back to the old system, and as the late Mr. Armstrong, the M. P. of South Middlesex, said at the opening of our house that when on a cold night we thanked God for all his mercies, we had the satisfaction of knowing we had made provision for God's poor. As you know I am not now in the county council, yet I take a great interest in the institution and often visit it. If I can be any service to you or have any information I can give you I will be pleased to do so. Wishing you all success in your laudable undertaking, believe me as ever,

Respectfully yours,
RICHARD P. SMITH,
Mayor of Strathroy, Ont.

COLLISION ON THE C.P.R.

Two Freight Trains Come Together in Yard—Both Locomotives Disabled.

Norwood Register.

The first smash-up that has occurred here since the C.P.R. was built happened on Tuesday at 11.20 a.m., when two freight trains collided at the Peterborough street crossing, near the grist mill.

Both trains were approaching the station about the same time, but as there is a curve in the track both east and west of the station neither drivers could see the other train until they were both in the yard. The east semaphore was up and as east bound trains have the right of way the west bound train approached the switch very slowly to take the siding. As she rounded the curve the driver caught sight of the other train going east and at once reversed his engine, but before he could start the heavy train back the east bound train was upon him and the engines came together with a crash.

The collision war due to the fact that the west semaphore was out of order and the order board was being used instead, which the driver of the east bound train claimed he could not see on account of a car which was standing on the slip just west of the station. Hearing the train coming on at high speed, baggageman McLauchlin ran out and signalled the driver, who at that moment saw the order board and reversed his engine, but as his train was a heavy one it was impossible to bring it to a standstill before reaching the other.

Both locomotives were disabled, though not damaged to any considerable extent, and, with the exception of the tender of the west bound one, both kept the rails.

The cars also remained on the track, and, except that the drawheads of the forward cars were driven out of position, were not damaged.

The disabled engines were No. 602, west-bound, in charge of Engineer Flood and Conductor Barnes, of Toronto Junction, and engine No. 630, east-bound, in charge of Engineer Connors, Freman Douglas and Conductor Hirons, also of the Junction.

Fireman Douglas, who jumped from the cab at the crossing east of the station, sprained his ankle very severely.

The auxiliary from Havelock arrived shortly after 12 o'clock, and the work of clearing and repairing the track was accomplished by 1.40 p.m. It is thought that $300 will cover the loss.

The noon express was delayed here about an hour and a half in consequence of the smash-up, and dinner was ordered at the hotels for the passengers at the expense of the company.

Roadmaster Gordon, who happened to be on board the express, saw that no time was lost in clearing the track.

This is how the Toronto World writes it up: "The accident was a result of the difficulty of handling trains occasioned by the quitting of the men. As some of the stations were manned by inexperienced men some misconstruction was put upon orders from the despatchers' offices, and as a consequence No. 50, a regular freight, and a special goods train came together. The damage sustained by the company's rolling stock was great, and an employee named Douglass received injuries which may prove fatal."

A Single Instance in Which Dodd's Kidney Pills Failed to Cure Kidney Disease.

Mount Forest (Special) Sept. 21.—The proprietor of the Queen's Hotel of this town declares that he has every reason to believe, that any claim made by the people who are advertising and selling Dodd's Kidney Pills is true. These people were the first to inform, and instruct him as to the cause of his long continued suffering from extreme nervousness. He says that "unable to obtain any relief from other sources, that it was on account of reading the particulars of other cures that his confidence was gained." Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills were all that were required to complete his cure.

FASHIONABLE

DRESS-MAKING

Dress-Making was a woman's invention.

Never was the art of Garment-Making brought to such a point of fineness as that at which it has now arrived.

The house that would succeed must recognise this fact and work accordingly.

THE GOLDEN LION faced it when it inaugurated its Dress and Mantle-Making Department years ago.

Begun right as to designing, put together as it should be, trimmings, buttons and braids matched artistically, we can confidently commend this department to the patronage of the ladies.

Big sleeves are going out of fashion, but the ladies do not appear to mourn over it. Our lady patrons, however, have the advantage of ripe judgment and skilled help in faithfully carrying out to the minutest detail every suggestion of personal taste.

MISS NEILD who was installed as head of our Dress and Mantle-Making Department, thirteen years ago, still presides here, and the mutual confidence which has existed between her and our customers has always been of the most satisfactory character.

THE GOLDEN LION has always been a long way ahead in Dress Goods, Mantle Cloths and Trimmings. Fair's Dress Goods were the talk of the ladies for several years, and the supremacy secured then has been more than maintained in these latter years.

Remember there is only one Golden Lion in Peterborough and FAIR has made it famous. That's Fair's Way.

His Explanation of the Cold Storage Scheme Drew a Compliment From Hon. Mr. Foster—Concession to Royal Military College Cadets—Other Ottawa Notes.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—Mr. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, is coming in for much commendation for the manner in which he handles the affairs of his department. In the House the other day it was a subject of comment amongst Conservatives that there was no man in the Government who seemed better acquainted with the details of his department than Mr. Fisher, and to-day Mr. Foster, who readily recognizes merit, took occasion to compliment Mr. Fisher on the manner in which he explained his proposals regarding the cold storage scheme.

The Minister of Militia has decided upon extending to all chartered universities in Canada the privilege that was granted to a few during Mr. Dickey's tenure of office in that department. Hereafter the passing of the matriculation examinations of any chartered university will be accepted as equivalent to the usual entrance examination at the Royal Military College.

An influential delegation, consisting of Mayor Morrison, Messrs. McKinley, Young, Berkinshaw, White, Sager and Bunter of Trenton; Mayor Yelland and Councillor Hughes of Peterboro, accompanied by Messrs. Lang, Corby, Bennett, McHugh, Kendry, Hughes, Cochrane, Rogers, Wilson, Bell, Taylor, Hurley and Pettit, had an interview with Mr. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, and Sir Henri Joly this afternoon, when a vigorous prosecution of the Trent Valley Canal construction was urged. Unquestionably the residents along the route of the proposed canal have become seriously alarmed, owing to Mr. Blair's declaration the other evening of the probable rejection of the enterprise, and no stone will be left unturned to press on the Government the importance of this enterprise. A peculiar feature about to-day's delegation was the fact that Patron Rogers, who the other day slated the Trent Valley project, having in the meantime seen new light, to-day heartily supported it.

Mr. J. Morrison of Smith's Falls, the fast bicyclist, who was given a position on the city police force yesterday, did not keep it long. He went on station duty for a few hours last night, and concluded that a constable's life was not a happy one. He informed Chief Powell this morning that he did not care to remain a member of the force, and was accordingly relieved of his duties.

Mr. Dube, chief messenger of the House of Commons, and Mr. Turgeon, assistant chief, were waited upon last evening by the sessional staff of messengers and each presented with a handsome gold-headed cane and address.

His Excellency the Governor-General has pardoned Louis Pare, who was serving a seven years' sentence in the St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. Pare had been found guilty of stealing silverware in the palace of Cardinal Taschereau in Quebec, where he was employed as a waiter. The prisoner was liberated Tuesday night.

IN THE COMMONS.

Cold Storage Discussed and Mr. Fisher's Deliverance Commended—All the Estimates Passed.

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—(Special.)—A suggestion was made by Mr. Fraser in the House to day that all private bills left over from the present session be considered as having passed the initial stages when taken up next session. He urged its adoption as a matter of justice to promoters of private bills, who, after having gone to the expense of advertising and printing them, were unable to get them through because of the shortness of the session. The only precedent was a similar action in 1867 in the Legislature of Canada.

Sir Charles Tupper objected on the ground of the confusion that would result. Mr. Laurier also objected and the resolution was rejected.

ONE ITEM KILLED.

The House then went into Committee of Supply on the further supplementary estimates. First, under the head of legislation, came the item of $1000 for salary for a secretary for two sessions to the Speaker of the Senate.

Mr. Foster thought this rather a strange innovation from a party that raised a howl against even a deputy Speaker. He thought the item ought to be dropped. Mr. Laurier agreed and the item was dropped.

There was some discussion on the item of $5900 for Senators' stationery. The Government was bantered about the failure of the great influence in the Senate to introduce ideas of economy, and when the committee came to the item of $10,000 for stationery for the Commons it was reduced to $4000.

Mr. Foster said it appeared from the estimates that there was to be a session of the Senate next year, but not of the Commons. How was it no provision had been made for the expenses of the House of Commons?

Mr. Fielding said the expenditure for indemnity and mileage was covered by statute, hence there was no necessity to vote it by Parliament.

Mr. Foster replied that the invariable practice since Confederation had been to include these sums in the estimate presented to Parliament. In order that the matter might go fairly before the country the requisite amount of $400,000 ought to be included in these estimates. Replying to a remark of Sir Richard Cartwright, that the late Government had intended to bring down supplementary estimates to the amount of $4,660,000, he explained that the document to which the Minister of Trade referred was merely a departmental estimate, which was subject to the revision of the council. When the late Government realized that there was no likelihood of the main estimates passing, then the consideration of the departmental supplementary estimates was not proceeded with.

Sir Richard Cartwright justified the exclusion of this $400,000 from the supplementaries on the ground that the Minister of Finance had no right to assume that there would be another session of Parliament within twelve months, although he admitted a session would be held early next year.

On the item of $20,000 for providing cold storage, Mr. Fisher explained the nature of the scheme which the Government had in view. It would cost about $15,000 to fit up a single steamer with cold storage accommodation, hence it would be necessary to make contracts for a term of years with steamship companies. It was also proposed to bonus all the creameries in the country for the purpose of encouraging them to provide cold storage at the creamery buildings. This would cost from $200, where there is cold storage at present, to $500, where it will be necessary to put in new storage altogether; and it was proposed to give a bonus of $50 this year, $25 the next, and $25 the third year. As to the benefit of such storage, sales were made in England last week from two creameries in the Northwest, the product of the one with cold storage netting 2c a pound more than the other. This, however, would consume $10,000 of the grant. Besides, there would have to be bonus for cold storage houses in the ports of shipment, but the plan was not complete. Another proposal was to spend money in advertising in England the results of our cold storage system, and to expend $1000 in stimulating the shipments of eggs to the British market. As to the cold storage scheme, he favored a fixed sum covering a contract with the steamships of five years, on lines running to Liverpool, London, Glasgow and Avonmouth.

Mr. Foster congratulated Mr. Fisher on his clear and business-like statement. He would, however, advise him to go slow in the matter of five-year contracts for cold storage in warehouses and steamships. He was only sorry that the Minister had not brought down a larger estimate and decided to keep his contracts down to three years.

Mr. Fisher answered that he would take care to make the contracts as short as possible. He had thought it wise to ask only for so much as he would absolutely need, for had he asked at once for larger sums his friends who expected these contracts would take precious good care that it would be all required (Laughter and applause.)

The item passed.

Dr. Montague inquired if Mr Tarte could state whether it was intended to grant a bonus to the inter-provincial bridge at Ottawa. He quoted from The Free Press, the organ of the Government, that in an interview recently Mr. Laurier had given assurance that assistance would be given.

Mr. Tarte said that it was not a matter pertaining to the estimates under discussion. Mr. Fielding, however, dashed the hopes of the town by observing that no bridge bonus would be brought down this session.

Incidental to a discussion upon a vote for a refund to a lessee of a timber limit in the disputed territory, Sir Adolphe Caron expressed surprise that no grant had been made for the sufferers by the Quebec landslide.

Mr. Laurier replied that it was certainly the intention of the Government to ask a grant for this purpose, but not until next session, as it was desirable to ascertain first what sum would be reasonable compensation for the losses sustained.

On the vote for Hudson's Bay expedition ($35,000) the Minister of Marine explained that it was not hoped to more than organize the expedition or provide the preliminaries with the sum. Captain Gordon's first expedition cost $72,000, the second $30,000, and the third winter expedition cost $10,000. He was determined that this investigation should be so thorough as to leave no doubt as to the period of navigation of the bay and straits.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper asked if the Minister had any scheme perfected.

Mr. Davies replied that he had not, having only looked over matters. The sum of $35,000 had been put in simply because the late Government had determined to commence organization of the expedition with that amount. He thought perhaps the Imperial Government might be induced to assist with the loan of a vessel.

The item passed, as did that of $3000 for the entertainment of Li Hung Chang, Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper complimenting the Government upon its choice of a representative in the person of Sir Henri Joly, whose services had been performed with credit and honor to the country.

The customs matter was under discussion for three hours, the discussion being enlivened by a wordy war between Messrs. Bergeron and Quinn on the one hand and N. C. Wallace on the other. The two former advocated that W. J. O'Hara, who acted as collector at Montreal during interregnum between Collector Ryan's death and the appointment of R. S. White, should be paid the difference in salary between that of deputy collector and collector. Mr. Wallace hoped the Government would not recognize this contention, as Mr. O'Hara was anything but a satisfactory officer. This observation seemed to settle the two Quebec members, and both severely condemned Mr. Wallace for his attitude regarding Mr. O'Hara. Mr. Bergeron charged that Mr. Wallace, when controller, on going to Montreal ostensibly to see merchants, instead of doing so attended Orange meetings in that city.

Mr. Wallace in his reply fairly convulsed the House. Replying to a charge that he knew nothing of law, he said he was too old to commence to study law now. Besides, there was another reason which might induce him to refrain from taking up law, and that was that he would have to keep company with the member for Montreal Centre. (Loud laughter.) Mr. Wallace proceeded to defend himself from the charges directed against him as controller.

Mr. Quinn rose to a point of order. He disclaimed having made any reflections on Mr. Wallace's integrity in the administration of his department.

Mr. Wallace said evidently Mr. Quinn did not know enough of law to know what a point of order was. (Loud laughter.) Alluding to his resignation as controller, he said he left the Government of his own accord.

Mr. Casgrain: Thank God. (Laughter.)

Mr. Wallace hoped if the hon. gentleman who had made that remark ever received a public position and desired to leave it, he would leave it with his own consent and not be knocked out. (Loud laughter.)

The item then passed.

Mr. Fielding introduced a resolution to allow members eight days' absence, for which no deductions were to be made.

The resolution carried.

By 1 a.m. all the estimates had been passed. The House adjourned at 1.30 a.m. to meet again Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

ON HIS IMPERIAL HONOR

The Sultan Promises—but No More Christians Shall be Killed—All His Subjects Safe.

New York, Oct. 2.—A special from Berlin to The Journal says: A letter from the Sultan to the Kaiser, which will be published Sunday, contains this phrase: "Upon my imperial honor, no Christians' lives are threatened now or will be in the future. All of my subjects, except anarchists, are equally safe."

Turkish officials propose to introduce old German laws against Socialists and anarchists into their country. They regard this as a compliment to the German Emperor.

The King of Roumania to-day said that the recent agreement with Austria was a guarantee of European peace. He added, with respect to the Turkish situation, that the Sultan's absolutism always was threatened.

A Frenchman Who Claims to Know.

Paris, Oct. 2.—The Journal des Debats publishes an interview with an unnamed Frenchman, who claims he is able to speak with full knowledge of the true attitude of the Sultan towards his Christian subjects. He says that the Sultan desires to abide by all the pledges contained in the treaty of Berlin. His Majesty contends that Europeans are too apt to forget the difficulty of effecting reforms, owing to the vast extent of the Turkish provinces in Asia, the variety of races inhabiting the provinces, and the lack of roads, railways and telegraphs. The Sultan is most anxious to effect the promised reforms in his Empire, and declares that the progress has not been stopped, but only hindered by the conduct of the Armenians.

GERMANS DO THE SNEAK ACT.

They Spirited Away the Imprisoned Sultan of Zanzibar, Who Was a Prisoner of the British.

Zanzibar, Oct. 2.—Khalid, who on Aug. 25, proclaimed himself Sultan of Zanzibar, after the death of Sultan Hamid Bin Thwain, and took refuge in the German Consulate, after the bombardment and destruction of the palace by British warships on Aug. 28, has been spirited away by the Germans, despite the British request for his surrender. At the extreme flood of the tide, when the water was almost level with the German Consulate, which is at the water side, Khalid was conveyed on board the German war sloop Zeadler, under the protection of a guard of armed German sailors. The Germans did not notify the British authorities of their intention to remove Khalid from the consulate, nor did they inform the British of the fact that his removal had been accomplished. When the British Consul learned of the affair through other sources he made a vigorous protest, which has not yet been answered by the German consular authorities.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1896.

THE REASON OF OUR BIG BILLS.

Our good Conservative friends now reveal an anxiety, very snugly subordinated during the past eighteen years, for economy and retrenchment in the management of public affairs. And the Liberal Government is denounced and berated because at one Cabinet meeting the effects of the late unlamented Conservative reign of extravagant and improper expenditure are not wiped out. It must be remembered, however, that the late government has left a large number of inconvenient legacies in the shape of obligations, to which the late government committed the country. There are onerous financial obligations that cannot be repudiated, which have been saddled upon the Laurier Government by its predecessors. Mr. Foster pharisaically prates of the duty of economy and retrenchment, and to exemplify his inconsistency it is only necessary to contrast his last supply bill, which amounts to over forty-one millions of dollars, with that just passed the House. Of course Mr. Foster's supply bill was not passed because the Parliament to which it was submitted had no right to existence. It had exceeded by the effluxion of time the statutory tenure of life, but if it had not been for the Liberal opposition the bill would have been passed, and judging by the past, millions of the supplies voted would have been directed to the exercise of influences for retaining the late government in power. But, and it is worth noting, the first election the late government went to the country upon unassisted by the occult aid furnished by a supply bill, they fell to pieces. The Laurier supply bill, largely based of necessity upon that of Mr. Foster of last session, was cut down over a million below what Mr. Foster proposed.
